Trade Minister Says Practice Being Corrected

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today that the practice of some Canadian firms reporters of filling orders with low-priced American items packed in Canadian bags is being "corrected."

Replying in the Commons to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who said the exports were being made under Canadian brand names and not under the "made-in-Canada" label.

"We are taking steps which we think will make it less attractive," the minister said. "It is being corrected."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who referred to U.S. and Canadian press reports of the practice, asked whether it is general. Also, would the minister deny that one reason for it was that Canadian low-grade wheat had less protein value than American wheat used for flour.

"I wouldn't like to advertise that," Mr. Howe replied.

Mr. Diefenbaker, amid rising cries from Liberal members, said that had been reported and if it wasn't true it should be denied.

Pressed further by Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Howe said he expects to make an announcement of "remedial action" within a week. The matter had been brought to his attention about two weeks ago and an investigation was started immediately.

Mr. Howe said Canadian millers, because of their ability to under-bid prices of U.S. wheat milled and sold under Canadian brand names, have not lost markets as a result of the practice. But he doubted they could continue to under-bid U.S. prices for long.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis:—Cloud spread across most of the Great Lakes area during the night. Occasional freezing drizzle was reported this morning in the vicinity of Lake Ontario. South of the lakes, freezing rain over a large area extending from Ohio valley to New York City, is causing hazardous driving conditions. By late morning, temperatures were expected to rise above freezing, and the precipitation change to rain or drizzle.

Colder air will push southeastward across Northern Ontario today. It is expected to reach Southern regions by noon Saturday. Snowflurries are associated with the colder air.

TORONTO (CP) — A tall, debonair man today held up a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on Main St. North in suburban Weston and escaped with $10,000.

Mrs. Evelyn Preston, 21, a teller in the bank, said the man approached her, flashed a smile and then demanded the money. She told police she did not know whether the man was armed.

Before any of the other bank employees were aware of the holdup, the man had nonchalantly walked out of the building and vanished.

Police said they believe he escaped in a car heading towards Brampton. Road blocks were set up between Weston and Brampton, 15 miles west of Toronto, in an effort to trap the car.

There were 41 persons in the bank at the time of the holdup, which occurred 15 minutes after it opened for business.

Yugoslav Faces Murder Charge At Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP) — Alexander Markovic, 33-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was remanded for a week when he appeared in magistrate's court today on a charge of murder.

Arrested Thursday while about to board a bus at Windsor for Detroit, Markovic was charged with the murder of Lela Lasich in her apartment here late Wednesday night.

Mrs. Lasich was killed when the bullets were fired at her by a man who smashed his way into her home.

In court Markovic was neatly dressed in a suit, topcoat and white shirt without a tie. He appeared nonchalant and relaxed.

Markovic was arrested here from Windsor by four Hamilton police officers after a midnight and two-hour search.

He was questioned for several hours.

DIDN'T LAST

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP)—A 72-year-old woman has been granted an annulment on grounds that her 86-year-old husband deserted her 41 days after they were married. Mrs. Lena Smith of Elizabeth told the court that she married her husband, Abraham Weiner, in 1954.

Get Rid of Scandal and Thus Kill Magazines Says Detective

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A private detective has told a state Senate investigating committee that the way to get rid of scandal magazines is to get rid of scandal.

The detective, Fred Otash, also testified Thursday that he once was Anita Ekberg's boy friend, and that he later supplied confidential information to a scandal magazine about photographs of the shapely Swedish actress.

Otash suggested to the committee, which is inquiring into sources of information used for articles in scandal publications, that Communists and sex deviates be removed from the movie industry, that male movie stars stay with their wives and female movie stars stay with their husbands, bands.

"If you do that," added Otash, "you'll have no scandal—and no scandal magazines."

The committee heard testimony about a proposed $350,000 movie industry fund to combat scandal magazines and about a pocket eavesdropping device that can pick up a conversation to a recorder in a panel truck three blocks away.

The Senate committee is investigating whether state laws need tightening to stop private investigators from selling information on their clients to expose magazines.

Otash, 35, said he was paid a minimum retainer of $1,500 a month by Hollywood Research, Inc., which he said "buys stories for publications such as Confidential magazine."

The weekly investigator said he went with Anita "for about seven or eight months" to Italy.

Democratic Senator Edwin Regan asked him about an article in the magazine concerning Miss Ekberg and British actor Anthony Steel. Otash replied:

"Yes, I assigned men to photograph Anita and her house," Otash said. "I had a bill and there was made at the beach where my men hid behind a bill and shot movies of her coming out of a beach house. He had a telephoto lens."

The proposed movie - industry fund was described by another private investigator, William S. Lewis, who testified that late in 1955 he had a "long conference" with Mervyn Leroy in the producer-director's office regarding a movie industry organization to combat expose magazines. The project was dropped.

GASOLINE TAX BILL APPROVED DESPITE BITTER CRITICISM

Division Forced on Bill's Second Reading

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Legislature Thursday approved in principle the government's gasoline tax bill despite a barrage of bitter criticism from opposition members who tried unsuccessfully to kill the measure.

A Liberal challenge to Progressive Conservative members "to stand up and be counted" forced a division on second reading of the bill which would authorize a two-cent gasoline tax increase.

All 57 Conservative members supported the bill on the second reading. The 11-man Liberal Opposition and three-member CCF group opposed it.

Premier Frost announced amid opposition jeers that the government's policies that plans are being prepared to establish a provincial department of transport to deal with highway taxation, licensing and safety.

He said the government is anxious that highway taxation should be fair and that certain classes of vehicles should not bear undue burdens.

TAX IMPOSED WEEK AGO

Although motorists started paying the new taxes for gasoline a line a week ago today—a few hours after the increase was announced in the new budget—the measure must still be finally approved by the legislature. The tax is 13 cents a gallon.

Liberal Opposition Leader Oliver said letters were being asked to pay an extra $20,000,000 in gasoline tax while the province's balance sheet indicated more money was needed.

Premier Frost McDonald said 90 per cent of the extra tax burden fell on owners of automobiles, and while the trucking industry was not paying its share, life itself

Major (Mack) Jack of This City Ordnance Chief With UNEF

At least two Belleville men are serving with the United Nations Emergency Force along the Gaza in the Suez Canal Zone.

They are Major Malcolm (Mack) Jack, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jack of Wellington Crescent, and L/Cpl. E. G. Heinmoo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Heinmoo, R. R. 5, Belleville.

Major Jack, 33, was one of the youngest majors in the Canadian Army, receiving the rank when he was but 22 years of age. He served three years with the Occupation Forces in Germany and was stationed at Halifax, when sent to Egypt with the U.N. force where is now ordnance chief. His wife, formerly Miss Adele Smith of this city, and his family live at Halifax.

A Canadian Press story by Jack Brayley describes Major Jack's duties as ordnance officer:

ABU SUWEIR, Egypt (CP) — Maj. Malcolm (Mack) Jack, 33, of Belleville, Ont., and Halifax, has a good-humored twinkle in his eye and he needs it.

For as ordnance chief for the United Nations Emergency Force he must untangle the varying equipment needs of the troops of 12 nations. Sometimes it's necessary to resort to cartoons or sign language to work out a requisition for a carburetor or a blanket.

"Many of the unit quartermasters don't speak English," he said with a wry grin. "So I'm becoming quite a lighting chalk artist in figuring out what they want."

QUICK DEMONSTRATION

Maj. Jack, responsible for the sorting and distributing of some 25,000 different items in his 75-acre depot, demonstrated his talents on the spot. An Indian NCO arrived and started making signs and grunting for emphasis. He made circles and then pantomimed the turning of a wheel.

"It's something to do with a jeep or a truck," said the major, clutching on in a hurry. He drew a picture of a truck. The Indian grinned and nodded vigorously. The major handed him the pencil and he pointed to the hood.

"Now it is just the process of elimination," said the major patiently. In less than a minute, the Indian was happily carrying off a fan belt.

One of the chief roles or ordnance, and its original exclusive purpose, was the handling of guns, armor and ammunition.

But in this peace - imposing army, this is the least of his jobs. In fact, except for an insignificant quantity of small arms and ammunition, UNEF ordnance is no more warlike than a big sporting goods house at home.

That is why Maj. Jack has only about 25,000 items compared with 48,000 at the depot of his last posting in Halifax.

PEAK OVER PAST

His original band of 10 men has been increased to about 200, including civilian staff and several from the representative nations. They are in charge of several millions of dollars worth of supplies ranging from nuts and bolts to 17-ton breakdown trucks and from coffins to water purification units.

In dealing out these stores in the original organizing rush, a few mistakes were made. A package marked "PB" went to the pay office as pay books, but turned out to be the chaplain's prayer books.

The stores spread out in the big sandy acreage behind barbed wire are guarded by the base defence platoon, which changes each week and represents the various nations. Unlike Korea, where desperate natives risked their lives to steal, there have been no attempts to break into the big compound here.

Capt. Joe Spoon of Yarmouth, N.S., took the original ordnance to Abu Suweir when the men had to scrounge their own meals, find a place to cook them and clean and patch makeshift sleeping quarters. They made out orders for equipment on toilet paper — the only paper available.

Capt. Lloyd Leonard of Camp Borden, Ont., and Glace Bay, N.S., is the local procurement officer.

There is no argument over the stores he needs until he finds what is called an "entitlement priority" from UNEF headquarters and that is the final word.

"The units take what we give them and we have no complaints," said Sgt. Victor Short of Calgary and Meaford, Ont., His big job recently has been to see that new vehicles are "depreserved" — cleaned of their shipping preservatives.

Ordnance's piece de resistance is a mobile workshop on a half ton, which is expected to be a big morale booster in the hot days ahead. It turns out troops clean in body and clothing.

QUICK SERVICE

The soldier will hand in his dirty linen and socks at one end, get a bath, be handed fresh linen at the other end, get a shave and haircut and even a shoe-shine.

"They come out smelling like a rose," said Maj. Jack with a grin.

What is the well-dressed Canadian—and UNEF—soldier going to wear this summer? Light headgear, desert goggles and light green Indian army bush shirt and trousers.

And by reason of their nearness to the supply areas at first to wear this outfit will be ordnance men such as Sgt. Maj. Walter (Ward of Belleville, Men, and Victoria; S. Sgt. J. Jones, Petawawa, Ont.; Cpl. Hank Leslie, Cobourg, Ont., and Sherbrooke, N.S., and L. Cpl. E. G. Hennessey, Belleville, Ont.

Canada Would Be Struck in Nuclear War

ARNPRIOR (CP)—Health Minister Martin said Thursday that in nuclear war, Canada almost certainly would be hit.

In any major attack, enemy aircraft carrying nuclear weapons for delivery on the United States or Canada might fail to reach their targets or be shot down over Canada, he said.

"In such circumstances, the bombs carried by such enemy aircraft would almost certainly either be delivered against our larger cities—as targets of first and choice—or, alternatively, jettisoned and detonated almost anywhere in Canada."

Mr. Martin, cabinet minister responsible for civil defence, addressed some 100 Canadian mayors gathered at the federal Civil Defence College here for four days of conference and instruction on defence of municipal centres.

He said that one thermonuclear bomb could have a destructive potential several times greater than the cumulative effect of all conventional bombing in the Second World War.

79 Books Denied Entry to Canada Says Minister

OTTAWA (CP) — Seventy-nine books were denied entry to Canada last year by customs regulations prohibiting obscene literature, Revenue Minister McCann told the Commons.

He gave the total in the Commons at the request of John Pallett (Peel-Wentworth) but he declined to give the titles.

Dr. McCann said the policy of various governments since Confederation, when the regulations were first drawn up under customs law, has apparently been "that there should not be used for the supplier of a selected list of this kind of literature."

Mr. Pallett said he could make the list available to Mr. Pallett MEMORY SPURRED

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) promptly said a sessional paper of 32 pages was tabled May 1, 1953, by the government which detailed the titles.

Dr. McCann said he had forgotten the document had been tabled in the Commons, but added that no better enlightenment for such "rot" could be made than to publish such a list.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) asked whether Dr. McCann, as "literary lion-hunter-president" read all the books before they were banned.

Dr. McCann said he would take the question under consideration.

Brer Groundhog has another two weeks of hibernation before venturing topside for his annual survey of the weather and the world.

On February 2 he poked an inquisitive snout through the frost-crusted surface and was met by brilliant sunshine. According to legend or myth, he saw his shadow and hightailed it back to his warm winter lair for a period of six weeks.

Indications today when the Windy Month was ushered in by anything but lamb-like conditions, were that spring has been detoured and like a lot of other winter-hating souls is probably sojourning down Florida way.

billing with the Lamb as stage hands in raising the curtain on March, very much in evidence although it must be said he had the lion's share of the weather drama.

Not by any stretch of the imagination did early morning tollers associate the weather with any lambish qualities.

A light snow had fallen during the night, and at six a.m. a thin blanket had mantled the city. The legendary Dame Nature was growing, was distinctly purring for temperatures had dropped to 24½ degrees above zero. At nine o'clock they read 24 above.

However the leonine tail may be in for a twisting, and the lamb may yet develop into a lion-tamer. The weather man says the temperatures will rise to somewhere in the vicinity of 40 degrees, and somewhere the sun will be shining all with occasional break-

Improved Methods Now Used To Control Diseases Says MOH

Changes and developments in the methods of controlling communicable diseases were explained in an interview with Medical Officer of Health for Belleville, Dr. Metcalfe, yesterday.

Dr. Metcalfe, who heads the department responsible in this area for the control of communicable diseases, said that medical science has changed the procedures of the diseases and the reaction of people to them. Also, there are improvements in the methods used to control contagion.

He said that it is required to report all diseases dangerous to public health and that such diseases varies from time to time according to developing knowledge about them. Included in the dangerous list are diphtheria, encephalitis, German measles, infectious hepatitis, meningococcus meningitis, paratyphoid fever, poliomyelitis, rabies, smallpox, scarlet fever, syphilis, tetanus or gonorrhea, tuberculosis of any form, typhoid fever, undulant fever and others.

Reports of incidences are made by the attending physician to the Department of Health, or if there is no doctor in attendance, the householder is in theory at least the person responsible for the report. If the diagnosis is made by a hospital or outpatient service the superintendent of the hospital is responsible for the reporting.

It is the responsibility of the Health Department to furnish the physician with laboratory diagnostic tests free of charge.

Dr. Metcalfe said that when the diagnostic is positive the health officer acts with a view to protecting the community from dissemination of the disease from factors, which may influence the course of the disease unfavorably.

MUST PREVENT CONTACTS

"After the patient has been isolated the next step is to consider the possibility of preventing disease among the contacts. Decisions regarding the use of immunization procedures rests in great part with the family physician who does everything possible to protect the family from danger," the Health Officer observed.

At one time whole families were quarantined for weeks but this procedure is now greatly curtailed. Now a thing of the past, "Quarantine was difficult to enforce and ineffective at best. It was a hardship on the family and only partially effective as the breadwinner could not be subject to restraint."

Placards or quarantine signs which used to be seen on front doors are giving way to education and co-operation as a method of preventing disease from spreading.

In commenting on this change, Dr. Metcalfe said "Placarding is useful in certain cases in that it gives a definite indication that an infected household is dangerous to the community. The Health Department is responsible for the decisions as to what diseases should be placarded. Most Health Departments feel that the placard has limited usefulness and should be used only in the more serious and highly communicable diseases.

In looking into the future, Dr. Metcalfe sees further lowering of restrictions due to the new policy on families for purposes of isolation.

"In recent years the development of new antibiotics which have a wide range of effectiveness against disease has resulted in extensive use of these drugs as measures of control. A good example is scarlet fever. Formerly family contacts were quarantined four to six weeks; under present conditions this quarantine is unnecessary.

"The specific antibiotics can be developed for control of carrier states as now seems feasible, then considerable progress can be made in the procedures for communicable disease control.

"The day may come when it will be unnecessary to report to the health department the incidence of what is now termed the communicable diseases of childhood," Dr. Metcalfe concluded.

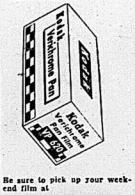
Quinte Juniors Defeat Trenton But Lose Round

By MAC HAIG

In the second game of their two-game home and home, points to count series, the Quinte L'il Saints defeated the Trenton Juniors 50-37. This was but enough, however, to offset the eighteen point lead Trenton had built up by virtue of their 42-22 victory in Trenton.



The final score of the series was Trenton 77, Quinte 72. Although this means that Trenton are the Quinte District champions, it does not eliminate Quinte from the COSSA playoffs, since two junior A teams are being sent from this district. The L'il Saints are playing the Picton Juniors, to decide which will be the second team in a sudden death game in QSS gym Monday afternoon at 4.00 p.m.

To get back to yesterday's game, Quinte grabbed an early lead as they had done in the first game. Trenton erased the gap by the end of the first quarter but the L'il Saints did not let them pull away, as in Trenton. In the fourth quarter, Quinte put on a determined rally to overtake Trenton and at one time were within three points of their objective. However their drive just fell short but still gave them a thirteen point margin for the game.

Roger Walters regained his scoring eye and led the L'il Saints with 18 points, followed by Brian Hobbs with 15, Dennis Clarke 6, Don Masters and Bill Green 4 each and Ritch Clarke with 3.

For Trenton Dowden was top man with 17 points followed by Stewart 10, Downing 6, Rog'ers, Jones and Spruston 2 each.

Quinte was again minus Ro. McBride who is out with the flu, but it is hoped that he will be back for the Picton game on Monday.

Maurice B. Button Retiring After 36½ Years of Service

The man responsible for doling out quantities of steel rails, rail bonding materials and maintenance equipment for track mileage in the Central Region of the C.N.R. is retiring.

He is Maurice B. Button, 28 West Bridge Street, who since 1940 has been store keeper for the C.N.R.'s Central Region at Belleville. The region takes in all Ontario and Quebec, extending into the Northern United States.

Yesterday afternoon C.N.R. railway officials and fellow workers tendered Maurice a send-off party. Today he is starting a month's leave of absence after 36½ years' service and on March 30 with Mrs. Button, will leave New York on the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth for a holiday in his native England.

Many of Mr. Button's old friends in the C.N.R. organization at Toronto were on hand to offer him congratulations on his retirement. Included were Frank Campbell, engineer of maintenance of way and his assistant E. R. Cowle; Wilfred Huddleston, assistant general storekeeper for C.N.R.; Stan Moore, district storekeeper and his chief clerk Nick Carter and Howe Williams, superintendent of welding.

On behalf of his fellow employees in the C.N.R. Mr. Huddleston presented Mr. Button with a purse of money, while Mr. Cowie presented Mrs. Button with a bouquet of flowers.

It was a wartime emergency which saw the C.N.R. stores department concentrated at Belleville and which brought Mr. Button to this city.

Previously he had been stores inspector at Toronto but with the Federal government taking over the railway's St. Malo stores department early in the war, all C.N.R. stores for the region were concentrated at Belleville. The present stores department at Belleville is an amalgamation of departments formerly operated at St. Malo, Val Royal, Leaside and London.

Previously the rail saw and frog shop operation were the only phases of department activities at Belleville. The stores department has no direct connection with Belleville as a railway divisional point.

"We started in Belleville from zero in 1940," Mr. Button recalled. "Today we employ anywhere from 100 to 175 men."

Building of new lines to service industrial expansion and delivering of materials for construction of new railway sidings constitute the big share of work today for the stores department.

For instance the new railway line to the Northern Ontario mining centre of Manitouadge including saw all materials except railway ties, either supplied from Belleville or contracted through the Belleville stores department. The department deals in railway rails for fastening materials and switching equipment.

Born in the Haywards Heath district of Sussex, England, Mr. Button was educated there and attended Ardingly College.

During his early school years he spent four years with his parents in South Africa where his father served as quartermaster with the Imperial Yeomanry.

He came to Canada in 1912, worked on a farm in the Eldorado district for a couple of years, then, at the outset of World War I joined the army and saw service overseas with the famed 21st Battalion. He won his commission on the field and following the war returned to his native Sussex where he married the former Gertrude Grace, a childhood sweetheart.

Canada again beckoned and with Mrs. Button he returned to this country. In October, 1920, he started with the C.N.R. at Leaside as a laborer. He worked at this job only for two weeks when he was given a job as a lumber issuer. He then became a foreman, a stores inspector, and relief store keeper at Belleville.

As store keeper keeping tab on the track requirements for thousands of miles of railway Mr. Button has been a busy man. But he still found time to serve his church and community.

Past member of Christ Church he was warden there for five years and served seven years as lay delegate to the Synod. He was also on the Synod executive for three years.

Mr. Button joined the Belleville Kiwanis Club shortly after his arrival in the city and served on various committees.

Mr. Button is an ardent fisherman, and takes a keen interest in lawn bowling activities.

Both he and Mrs. Button are looking forward to their visit to the Old Country. Their last trip to England was in 1933. They will return to Belleville in May.

Two of Mr. and Mrs. Button's three sons have followed in their father's footsteps as C.N.R. employees. Stewart is storekeeper at Bridgewater while Laurie is a railway fireman at Belleville; third son is Flight Lieut. with the RCAF at Montreal. A daughter, Mrs. R. (Gene) Guay, lives at Sarnia. There are eight grandchildren.

He told the house that the increased tax is not necessary because revenues are sufficient to meet ordinary government expenses.

FAVORS WEIGHT-DISTANCE

Mr. MacDonald said the weight-distance system is the only fair way on which to base highway revenues. He estimated highway revenues represent more than five cents a ton-mile on passenger cars, and dropped to below one cent to the big tractor trailers.

Mr. Frost did not give details of the new department of transport but said it will work close liaison with the departments of highways, attorney - general, treasury and municipal affairs. The highway transport board also may be transferred to the new department.

CONFLICTING VIEWS ON POWER SITUATION

A report of the attitude of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities on competition from natural gas makes strange reading.

On Tuesday these two associations united to endorse a resolution objecting to gas companies being allowed to refuse space heating to a customer unless he installed other gas appliances.

Now there is something to be said for such a protest if it were made on the grounds that every customer has a right to buy or not to buy any service which a utility company has to offer, that conditional sales of all kinds are deplorable.

It would appear, though, from another resolution, that the Hydro groups' opposition was largely based on concern at the effect that such a conditional sale policy might have on the use of Hydro power. This resolution urged the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to enlarge its advertising campaign on uses of electrical energy. It was stated that Consumers' Gas Company had spent more on advertising last year in the Toronto area than the HEPC had spent in the whole province.

Increased advertising would certainly be in order if the HEPC were serving itself by finding a market for all the power it can produce. We have been told repeatedly, however, that the demand for Hydro power is increasing at such a rapid rate that some day the undeveloped water power resources in the southern part of the province will have been utilized. Further increases in demand will necessitate turning to increased use of steam generation plants.

Electricity produced in coal-burning plants would certainly cost more than that produced at water-power plants. Atomic sites, nuclear energy may eventually provide cheap electricity but certainly not in the initial stages. It has therefore been generally assumed that the piping of natural gas to Ontario from Alberta will not only safeguard consumers against a shortage of power, but will actually protect those who continue to use electricity from the full effects of generating more electricity at higher costs.

Yet we have the OMEA and the AMEU alarmed at competition from natural gas! Bert Merson, chairman of the Toronto Hydro-Electric System, criticized federal and provincial officials for predicting a shortage of hydro power.

Faced with these conflicting statements, the layman is at a loss as to what he should believe. As the man who is going to foot the bill in any eventuality, he is entitled to a clear-cut statement on the facts from the highest authorities.

TRAFFIC LAW PUZZLE

Among the 23 proposed amendments to the Highway Traffic Act introduced into the Ontario Legislature on Monday were at least two dealing with speed limits.

One of the amendments would authorize county councils to set speed limits of 25 miles an hour on county roads in built-up areas. Only townships have this right at present.

Another amendment would allow the Department of Highways to set different speed limits for the same areas for day and night driving.

The amendments would appear to be an effort to make it possible for the speed limit to suit varying conditions. Insofar as this is true, the objective is worthy. Unfortunately any benefits that may accrue could easily be offset by new hazards. As a law, particularly a traffic law, is a good one unless it can be easily understood by those who are required to observe it. Is there not a grave danger that motorists may be confused by changes in speed limits, with one speed being legal in one area, another in a district adjoining it, a third limit being effective on a nearby highway during the day and yet a fourth limit being fixed on the same highway during night hours? If drivers do not know what limit they are expected to observe, will anything be gained?

Much the same problem, and the same objection, would appear to apply to yet another proposed amendment which would make it lawful for a motorist to pass on the right side of another vehicle while travelling on a multi-lane highway, or on a city street. The reason for this proposed change is obvious. It will make legal an existing practice which is necessary if traffic is not to become tangled in urban areas. Right here in Belleville, there are many occasions on which only by traffic passing on the right is it possible to avoid long delays at intersections while the car at the head of the left hand lane awaits an opportunity to make a left turn. One may be pardoned, though, for wondering whether the establishment of one rule for city driving and another for the open road may not lead to confusion, for there are areas where it is difficult for the average motorist to decide whether he is on a city street or a country road. We have no suggestions as to how this problem can be solved but merely desire to stress once again that laws varied to suit varying conditions are only good laws if they can be readily and quickly understood by those required to keep them.

There is something to be said for uniformity in traffic laws, and while complete uniformity might be an absurdity we ought to hesitate before we seek the solution of our traffic problems by resorting to the other extreme.

NEGLECT

When the mother slips away for a few days or a week
The home seems ghostly still and
It's lonely at the best.
At the door there's no goodbye and no evening glad, hello,
And the stack of dirty dishes
daily larger seems to grow.

I have said I'd get my meals and would wash the dishes, too,
But such tasks as that are new to no willingness to do.
And I never sweep the floor,
though I would I've often said.
Now it's been a week or more since I've thought to make the bed.

There are papers for a week I have dropped beside my chair;
I should pick them up I know,
but I choose to leave them there.
Now the sink is filled with plates
I have vowed to wash and dry;
Chairs and things are thick with dust, but indifferent am I.

She accomplishes so much, and I often wonder how.
I should straighten up a bit, but
I'm busy reading now.
Homes are sorry sights to see when they're left in charge of men,
And there'll be no order here until she returns again.

Howe Speaks a Truth

Ottawa Journal

Among many things that make Mr. C. D. Howe a refreshing figure in our public life is that so often he ignores political mythology to tackle the truth.

One of these occasions came in Montreal when Mr. Howe told the Canadian Lumbermen's Association that for its current troubles the Government had no cure. Said he:

"Government assistance should not be exerted. No government can guarantee prosperity or steady economic expansion."

Now this is course is completely true; taught by all experience. But governments unfortunately keep saving the opposite, put out the humbug that prosperity is their baby, conceived, born and raised healthy by their wisdom and care. We shall hear all about that come June when Mr. Howe's colleagues will be on the air.

But even more unfortunate than that Mr. Howe's colleagues will be saying will be the fact that so many in the hearing while they say — including so many businessmen.

Actually business leaders supposedly "rugged individualists", are odd, forgetting that when they make such requests they are not only throwing their beloved "free enterprise" out of the window but inviting the government to impose controls on the controls they say they fear.

A government may create a climate for prosperity. It may do this by holding down taxes or by helping to get world markets or by freeing trade — as far as it lies in his power — from unnecessary restrictions. But no more. The fact that a government possesses some magic by which it may turn the tap of prosperity on or off or that it is in any marked degree responsible for a country's prosperity or lack of it, is sheer nonsense.

Over the past five years Canada has been prosperous. But can any one really say that the prosperity has been due to this, that or some other thing done by the Government? Canada has been prosperous because blessed with a lot of things world needed, because her the world needed, because her people discovered rich oil in Alberta and rich ore in Ungava, because a lot of wealthy outlanders looking for good investments sent us their money, and because people for the most part had ambition and industry.

In the 1930's we had a depression, and many blamed Mr. Bennett. Actually Mr. Bennett was little more responsible for what happened than he was responsible for the sunspots. Canada's slump in depression was simply a thing of world condition and causes, which Mr. Bennett as powerless to prevent it as Mr. Mackenzie King was powerless to end the prosperity which came after he took office.

It would be nice to think that our politicians would be saying or publishing this in the coming election. But they won't.

What's Future Of 'Tv Aerial?

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Not many years ago the radio craze was with us, not radio for news and entertainment but as a sport. Much of the sport was in logging really distant stations.

Some people became amateur radio fans and pursue the hobby vigorously, but the average family is no longer even remotely interested in DX, a term that was once on almost everyone's lips. That is one of the reasons why once elaborate radio receiving antennae or aerials came down.

It is quite probable that television antennae will take the same course. Some technical development will make them obsolete. Already indoor devices replace them in the big cities where local reception is possible. There is a good analogy in the radio craze and the under-age offers some people used with their radio sets, before the makers built in the sets.

It was a simple matter to cut through the baffle to the insulating knob at each end, and roll it up. It will be a much simpler matter to unscrew the lead-in wire from each of old TV aerials. Just what possible use the owners will collect a few of them and build them into some ornamental fence. The aluminum tubing might lend itself to some uses around the house. But with the coming of TV to some, many a home will have a big corner of the garage or half of one and of the basement occupied by an old television antenna which nobody has any use for, but is considered too valuable to throw away.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When I was courting forty years ago, I used to buy my sweetheart a corsage of violets and lily of the valley. Saturday night to wear to church on Sunday. And I still get the perfume of violets in the church for pews and pews around.

For old time's sake the other day I bought her another corsage of violets, which, as I said before, was the sweetest perfume to them. Yes, there was a slight odor, faintly musty, cellary; but not a strong odor of perfume.

But even the young fool could detect no perfume. So I took the corsage back to the florist.

"You've left something out of them," I informed him.

He was very patient with me.

"Why, sir," he said, "You never saw more beautiful violets than those! See how big they are. Just look at the gorgeous color. And they are sturdy. You'll find them twice as long as the old fashioned violets."

"Mmm-hmmm," I encouraged.

"It is true, sir, that they no longer have the perfume of the violet of forty years ago. Certainly. But you must think of the improvements that have been made in all cultivated flowers, think of the years of study and research. . . ."

"Mmm-hmm," I persisted.

"Efficiency," he said. "What more can anyone want? When you set out to grow violets, you send and all your efforts to size, beauty, color, vigor, something is bound to be lost. . . ."

So I took the corsage out to the street and pressed it to an elderly newsboy who obviously had a bad cold in the nose and would never know violets from a no odor. He just thought I was daft.

And I walked the bright, tall streets amid the clangor and the rushing throngs, and thought of all the savors, the perfumes, the tangibles, the fragrance and the loveliness that is lost in the name of size and color and vigor; and I could think of no substitute for them.

And the more I counted, the lonelier and lonelier I got.

Times to Say No to a Wife

Wall Street Journal

There are times in a happy marriage when a husband must manfully assert himself—and say "No!" to his wife. Especially when the wife is:

Looking at a batch of new hairdos and she says, "Don't I take the most horrible picture"?

At a cocktail party and the hostess says, "I made this blonde over by the doorway. Doesn't she look refreshing?"

After a hard day of housework, and she says, "I think you should have married a millionaire."

Sitting at home by the fire toasting marshmallows, and she says, "I have the feeling you'd rather be out bowling with the boys."

She's jammed up the checkbook, ripped a border off the rug, bought a new hat costing $45, and she says between sniffles, "Sometimes I think you ought to divorce poor little me."

Why Johnny Attention

Harrision Review

The teacher at the little backwoods school was at this blackboard explaining multiplication problems and delighted to see that her dullest pupil was giving his complete attention. "At last he's beginning to understand," she thought. So when she had finished said to him, "You were so interested, Johnny, that I'm positive you want to ask some questions."

"Yes'm," drawled Johnny. "I got one to ask—where do them figures go when you rub 'em out?"

The newly created Belleville Public Utilities Commission, which succeeds the local Hydro Commission, which dealt with Hydro matters only, commenced to operate today when its first meeting was held in the local Hydro office, which from now on will be known as the Belleville Public Utilities office. The new commission will in future manage the gas and water departments of the city in addition to Hydro. Mr. Oswald H. Scott, who has filled the office of secretary and general manager of the local Hydro Commission, will fill the same offices with the newly formed Public Utilities Commission. Mr. Scott has been with the Hydro for many years in Belleville first as manager under the Ontario Hydro and since 1928 manager of the new municipal ownership plan of Hydro. The commission will be composed of the following: Messrs. Morley P. Duff, Geo. A. Reid and Mayor H. C. Thomas. Mr. Duff at the meeting today was elected chairman of the commission. The staffs of the three utilities, now under one management, will not be affected by the change. The creation of the Public Utilities Commission is the result of the election in January last when the citizens expressed their opinion in favor of creating the new commission to manage the water and gas departments of the city by the commission then in charge of hydro only.

Mr. H. J. Fairfield was the first chairman of the local Hydro Commission when it was first appointed in 1930. Other chairmen have been: Charles E. Hanna in 1931; H. E. Fairfield in 1932, Morley P. Duff in 1933; Geo. A. Reid in 1934; Morley P. Duff in 1935; Geo. A. Reid in 1936; and for this year of 1937, Morley P. Duff.

That's Telling 'Em

A famed poet makes the rather belated discovery that if you tell the people something is a chair, they'll sit in it. Also, if you tell a woman it's a hat, she'll wear it, and if you tell a man it's a salad he'll refuse to eat it.

Hernia Operation Proved Unnecessary

"Years ago," says Mr. S. G., "you saved me the painful operation for rupture. I read your article on physical exercises for rupture, began doing the exercises regularly, and in a few weeks my rupture, as large as an egg, disappeared. There has never been any sign of it since. Have a . . . "

No, that's all right. I don't want 'em. But if you have e'er a bit of tobacco about you, I'll try a pipeful.

I can't imagine what rare complication would make a hernia (rupture, breach) operation painful. It is no more painful than an appendicitis operation—and I know that's just good fun, for I had one.

Mr. G. does not say, but must assume that his hernia, rupture, or breach, whichever you prefer to call the protrusion or bulging of some structure from the abdomen partly through the abdominal wall so that it appears as a swelling or lump under the skin, was reducible. That is to say, the bulging or protruding structure, perhaps a portion of the intestine or maybe the apron of fatty tissue covering the stomach and intestines, could be returned to the abdomen by careful manipulation with the hand while the patient assumed a supine position with shoulders lower than the hips.

If a hernia is not reducible but protrudes always, neither truss nor exercise can correct it. Only operation will correct it.

Almost every article (ambulant) injection treatment which is only temporary in relief or in absence from regular work, is satisfactory in many instances. I am not prepared to name physicians who give such treatment. If your own physician doesn't, perhaps he knows one who does. If anyone implies that injection treatment is "no good," "dangerous" or "was discarded long ago," ask the practitioner to explain why he frequently prates several chapters in the best modern textbook on hernia? (Hernia, by Leigh F. Watson, M.D., published by Mosby, St. Louis).

Best exercises for spontaneous cure of small rupture are daily leg-raising exercises, lying down while you lie supine and always supporting the hernia or suspected hernia with the middle fingers of one hand while you do the exercises. Inhale, one leg to vertical slowly and smoothly, then lower it in like manner. The same with other leg. Then both legs together. Perhaps only one time twice daily at first. Week by week gradually increase to from three to a dozen times twice a day. In addition, as your strength increases, do a number of squats, always supporting the rupture or weak place with the fingers of one hand. Learn how to breathe, and form the habit of doing two or three inflations of the bellows several times during the day. Deep.

Child or adult-may get spontaneous cure of hernia (rupture) from wearing a suitable truss, selected and fitted by or under supervision of the physician. Not by an off-the-counter-again trial but by having the truss on hand always when up, removing it only after going to bed at night. Of course cure, if it occurs, is due to development and strengthening of supporting abdominal wall muscles. Therefore the truss or support is only incidental—it is not quite so important in the spontaneous cure of hernia as is careful support of the weak place with the hand every moment when one sits, stands, or takes any kind of exercise.

THE BETWIXT-AND-BETWEEN MAN

We are hearing a great deal today about the Near East. Its importance arises from the fact that it is a betwixt-and-between area of the earth's surface. It is the bridge between Africa, Asia and Europe.

When we examine the career of Jesus of Nazareth, we discover Him to have been a betwixt-and-between man also. He joined His ministry occurred at a time when the Roman empire was beginning to crumble and something new was being born. He was a betwixt-and-between the old and the new. Moreover, He was the end of Old Testament teaching and prophesy and at the beginning of a new spiritual era, for mankind.

Jesus was even a betwixt-and-between man as regards the color of His skin. He was probably not as white as white men are today, but as dark as other pigmented skin people. He was a member of a race which was the last pigment in His skin, as about three-fourths of the world's population have today and probably always did have.

Jesus was the first world citizen. He is the universal man. Everything about Him fitted Him for membership in the Race of all men and of all nations everywhere. He was and is for all men are and have. He shares our life. He imparts to us the glory of His heavenly nature, for He is both perfectly human and perfectly divine.

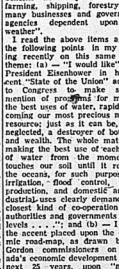
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE EASY WAY

There are those who are forever trying to find the easy way to do a thing. Unfortunately for them there are too many trying to find the same way, for the big city newspapers give pages to ads for competent help, especially appealing for trained salesmen. Also, young men, with character. Good men at any proposition.

Many years ago, on the way to my office, I stopped to view a great excavation for another skyscraper building, but what interested me was the crane and the contractor, and this line underneath. "Builder of Difficult Foundations." Right then I said I wanted the tough jobs, the "difficult" ones. There is a cry for the highly skilled and the competent.



There is no royal road to a genuine success. Usually it is a long hard road taking all the will and courage that a person has. Easy jobs wear out and there are about as many for periodic and undependable. Difficult jobs are the lasting ones. They are the ones to which a person should tie. There are many "get rich quick" propositions, and many failures along the way, but they harden one to keep growing better.

The long, hard ways bring the greatest reward and satisfaction. It means something to do a job well done. It has never been done before! A few years ago I came across a book by Hunt Betger which he called "How I raised myself from failure to success in selling." It was a fine and inspiring advice; which the author applied to himself, for he had failed in many lines before he found his own.

Read the stories of the great successful and you will learn that as! such plowed right through the difficulties times without wavering. They brushed aside all the easy ways! They wanted their work to be theirs. There is more in picking the hard way to do things. On the hard way is more interesting and you learn more that adds to you stature.

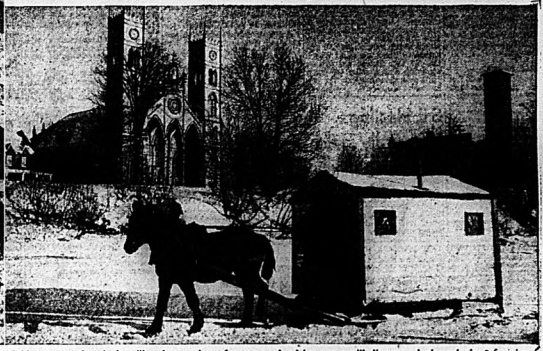
The Tommycod are Running



Old-timer, M. Sadoth Tessier, has been fishing the Ste. Anne River for 71 of his 82 years. He uses pork liver for bait. Best fishing is at high tide, which rises 12 inches at Ste. Anne.

A tasty dish, tommycod vie with brook trout for flavour and succulence. Fish markets set up on the ice have no trouble disposing of the catch at 20c a pound. Above, 3 competitors for the honour of "Carnival Queen."

The tommycod are running, and, at the quiet Quebec town of Ste. Anne de la Pérade, where narrow French-Canadian farms roll down like ribbons to the Ste. Anne River, a carnival spirit fills the air as townsfolk and tourists turn out to join in the fun of fishing through the ice. Cabins, some 600 of them, rent for $5-$10 a night, are equipped with electricity, stoves, radios, and, to meet modern demands, television. Cabins are carted to the ice village by a variety of means. Modern prefabricated ones are brought in by car, quickly assembled on the spot, where for a couple of dollars the local ice-cutter will slit a trench through the 2-foot ice. Veteran fisherman haul in over 1200 tommycod in a single night.

SPORTS FASHIONS

By VERA WINSTON

The spectator sports phase of casual wear is gaining increasing importance after a strong endorsement at the leading winter resorts. Apparently, the very casual sleeveless, bare-back outfit and the shirt and shorts is out except for actual sports use. Dress in a tweed weave is used for this nice dress, the color a white and tan mixture. Large disc buttons of brass march down the front band from top to hem — and the brass button is this season's fashion signature. There are white ribbon tabs at each button for further emphasis and a collar of white faille over the self collar. The setin sleeves are notched to complete

S.E. Hastings WA Rally Held At College Hill

The first rally of the newly formed section of South East Hastings United Women's Association was held at College Hill United Church on February 19 with 14 associations represented.

The president, Mrs. F. Davidson, opened the rally with a word of welcome and appreciation to all present.

An inspiring devotional was given by Kingston Road Association. The Scripture lesson was taken from Matthew V:3. The Meditation, "Sermon on the Mount," was given by Mrs. J. Farnsworth, assisted by Mrs. P. Reid and Mrs. J. Parrott.

A gracious welcome was given to all by Mrs. J. Thompson of College Hill Association who thanked each one for coming.

Mrs. McRae, of Canniffton Association, rendered a solo which was much enjoyed.

The roll call was answered by the president of each association giving a brief report of the past year's work, which included ways in which they raised money — catering, bazaars; quiltings; pot-luck dinners; birthday boxes; travelogues; pie socials and plant and bulb sales; also the ways in which their proceeds were used — building fund, redecorating their church, and other furnishings for the church, and needs of the parsonage.

FALL RALLY

Plans were made for the fall rally to be held at Eastminster, the officers for this rally were elected.

Greetings from Presbytery by Mrs. Jack Marsh, who brought an interesting and instructive message. She explained the dividing of the section, that due to the large attendance at the rallies, it was inconvenient for the smaller churches to accommodate the crowd, and that each association would have the opportunity to hold a rally and elect an officer. This will be done in alphabetical order.

13 S. E. ASSOCIATIONS

The South East section includes the following 13 associations: Bethany, Bridge Street, Canniffton, College Hill, Centre, East Eastminster, Front Road, Gilead, Halloway, Kingston Road, Plainfield, Point Anne, Roslin, Shannonville and Tabernacle.

The offering was received by Eastminster Association, and dedicated by Mrs. J. Kinnear.

Mrs. A. N. Pryer, a past Presbytery president, was guest speaker whose theme was "The Senses," and the part each sense plays in leading others to Christ.

Each Christian should be "living epistles known and read of all men." Doers of the word and not hearers only.

Her message was an inspiration and blessing to each one.

A lovely solo was given by Mrs. Cathers, of Bridge Street Association.

The president of the Halloway Association moved a vote of thanks to the College Hill association, to the guest speaker, to the soloist and to all who had helped in any way.

Mrs. J. Marsh closed with the benediction.

Refreshments were served by the College Hill ladies, with Mrs. J. Thompson and Mrs. E. Farnsworth pouring tea.

Each one left with a feeling of inspiration and enthusiasm for the work of the Women's Association.

A sincere thanks goes to College Hill Association, the officers for the first rally, and all who helped in any way to make the rally such a success.

Refreshments were served.

S. Hastings YPU Holds Fellowship Sunday

On Sunday, South Hastings' District Young People of the United Church of Canada held their annual "Fellowship Sunday" at Mount Pleasant Church, Rawdon, Ontario. There were approximately 70 Young People in attendance, representing 14 unions within the South Hastings' district.

The morning session began at 10.45 a.m. with Marilyn Wright, district recording secretary, in charge of registration.

At 11.15 a.m., the Young People joined with the congregation of the church in worship. The guest speaker was Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Frankford United Church. The Rev. W. G. Fletcher, district adviser and minister of the Mount Pleasant charge, introduced Mr. Clarke whose theme address was "Awake, Arise and Advance." Mr. Clarke pointed out that from the word, "Awake" rises the question — Lord, what wilt thou have for me to do?

"First, we must awake from spiritual slumber and rest [and do what is honoring and pleasing to God. "Arise" — bring what we have to offer, through personality, individuality, experience, prayer and supplication to teach others to learn of God's way.

"Advance" — go forward in God's name; do not leave it to the other guy, and remember — a going church is a growing church. Be willing always to advance with Christ."

SOURCE OF INSPIRATION

A source of real inspiration and guidance was derived from Mr. Clarke's words by all privileged in hearing them.

Mr. Clarke was also assisted by Ralph Swan, district president, and Marilyn Parks, faith and evangelism convener. In the morning service Ruth Lorn favored with a solo, accompanied by pianist, Mrs. McDonnell, both of the Rawdon Union.

Following the church service, Ruth Wright presented a wide variety of books which were available for use in local unions.

At 12.30 a fellowship banquet, catered to by the Mount Pleasant ladies, was the next item on the day's activities.

Marilyn thanked Rawdon Circuit for their hospitality shown. She heartily welcomed those present and introduced Margaret Dennis, of Rawdon, as the local union. Margaret, in turn, welcomed the young people able to attend and emphasized the responsibility and importance of the Young People's work.

Mr. Fletcher warmly welcomed the Young People and also expressed appreciation for having Mr. Clarke for their speaker. Mr. Clarke commended the executive on its Young People's work and expressed his thanks for being able to participate in the Annual Fellowship Sunday.

THANKS TENDERED

Bryce Philip, on behalf of the Young People, thanked the ladies for catering and complimented them on the fine banquet.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session was conducted by George Frost, vice-president, who also gave a word of welcome and thanks to all participating. George introduced Joan McCurdy, who led the Young People in a spiritual singsong.

Members of the Canniffton YPU took charge of the afternoon worship service. Floyd Milton, president of the Canniffton Union, presided.

George MacDonald gave the address which was entered on "Courage." He expressed that people are too willing to give up easily. "In order to do something with God's help, one must always try. Then, then fight for what is right. The worship service by the Canniffton Y.P.U. created an atmosphere of reverence and provided a most suitable introduction for Mr. Clarke's afternoon address on "Awake, Arise, Advance."

Mr. Clarke paid high tribute to the Canniffton Union on their excellent leadership shown in the worship service, and further to the Young People on a whole for their enthusiasm and interest shown in the day's activities.

GROUP DISCUSSIONS

The Young People were divided into five groups for a discussion on the theme addresses. The following were group leaders: Marilyn Parks, Shirley Finkle, Jean Finkle, Gregg Philip, Ruth McMullen and Gordon McInroy. It was realized that to be a true Christian and to experience the warmth of Christian friendship, the basis lies in the importance of prayer.

The day of fellowship closed with a communion service, Mr. Fletcher, assisted by the elders of Mount Pleasant Church, conducted the service which provided a most fitting end to a day of worship and fellowship.

"In all true prayer there must be adoration, confession, thanksgiving, perseverance and submission."

A reading was given by Mrs. J. Wright followed by a duet by Mrs. C. Hassall and B. C. Fleming.

DIAMOND HAS $2,000,000 TAG

For $2,000,000 anyone could buy this 128-carat blue-white diamond, the largest ever cut in the U.S. It is examined by Edna Rae who admits it might be a bit ostentatious as an engagement ring but would be just the thing as a pendant. BELAFONTE DIVORCED

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singer Harry Belafonte's wife, Frances, divorced him Tuesday on a charge of mental cruelty.

OTTAWA (CP)—Once a traditional and popular item on festive menus, the goose may return to consumer favor.

Agriculture department officials here say the goose's fat on geese was one reason why the bird has almost completely lost consumer favor as a festive delicacy."

But there's hope that the goose may regain its old status. E. S. Merritt, a geneticist at the Central Experimental Farm here, who explains that he is not a marketing research expert, said genetic studies and work to improve the strain may ultimately result in a slimmer and less expensive goose.

For the last six years Mr. Merritt has been directing research on the medium - size Pilgrim goose. He's trying to get the bird to lay more eggs and not put on so much fat.

BOOSTS PRODUCTION

Now the experimental farm's Pilgrims are averaging more than 30 eggs a season, whereas before the war they laid only five or six.

More eggs mean more goslings and consequently more geese for the market.

For the producer, geese actually have double attributes. A farmer can sell them for food, or use them as "mowers."

In ancient times, farmers regonized the working capabilities of geese. More recently geese owners have re-discovered that, set to work in a strawberry patch for instance, a goose will pull out weeds without touching a berry.

Agriculture department officials reported that a southern United States cotton farmer, with 50,000 geese just to weed his cotton fields.

Mr. Merritt said he hasn't put any geese to work as weeders. But he's working on the theory that if his research is a bird that one can work all summer and eat in the fall."

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ASK ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS TO HELP YOU

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I've been married for eight years and have had trouble with my husband's drinking since shortly after our marriage. I knew he was quite a heavy drinker before we married, but he assured me that, once he had a wife and a home of his own, everything would be all right.

However, things just didn't work out that way, except for a very short time. Then he began drinking again and has grown steadily worse. At times, he even abuses me physically.

Because he has been spending all his money on drinks, I had to get a job and have worked through the years. But it isn't always easy to get along on my salary alone, because after he has spent all his own money, he goes out and borrows, so that he is always in debt. Then he comes to me for money, and I give him what I can to avoid fights.

I don't believe in divorce, and I've tried everything I can think of to work out the problem, but I don't think I can take it much longer. — Mrs. L.T.

Dear Mrs. L.T.:

Even though you don't believe in divorce it doesn't mean you have to go on living with a man who drinks up all his own money, forcing you to go out to work to keep a roof over your head and food in your mouth, and on top of everything else, bulges you in fact, it seems to me foolish for you to go on that way indefinitely, when your husband shows no sign whatever of wanting to do right by you. It's true that alcoholism is a definite illness whose victim has not yet reached bottom, but a great many people with this kind of illness can be helped to cure themselves if they really wish to do so.

I suggest that you make a final effort to solve problem by writing to the organization called Alcoholics Anonymous. Tell them your story and ask what they suggest. Address your letter to P.P. Box 1475, Grand Central Station, New York 17, New York. I'm sure you'll receive a prompt reply telling you how to get in touch with the AA branch in your community, where you can go for help and guidance.

YOUR TIME JUST HASN'T COME YET

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 13, soon to be 14:

The boys in school all seem to like me as a friend. They laugh, and joke with me, but they never ask me to a school dance, movie, to go ice skating, or anything else.

At first, I thought it was because I was a bit overweight—about ten pounds—but a few girls I know are heavier than I am and yet they get asked to these social affairs.

I've thought about this quite a lot, yet I can think of no reason why I'm left out of the fun. Can you tell me what is wrong?

Dear A.P.T.:

My guess would be that your age is probably the reason why you haven't been asked out by the boys. Since boys of your own age are hardly likely to be inviting girls out on dates yet, the ones to which you refer are no doubt older than yourself and so they doubtless consider you a mere child.

Actually, that is what you still are, and you should be willing to wait a little before expecting to be dated. In the meantime, take off those ten pounds of overweight, and be alert to recognize the things that make a girl attractive in appearance and in personality. Then when the appropriate dating time does come, you won't have any trouble getting dates.

Mother's Helper

MINUTE-SAVERS are important in the full days you have when a small baby is ruling the household. If you can remember to rinse milk stains out of bottles with cold water as soon as a feeding is over, you'll find it much easier to get them sparkling clean at formula time.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

PLAN SPRING BEAUTY PROGRAM NOW

Friday nights devoted to hair care assure lovely, lustrous tresses over the weekend.

With Spring just three weeks away, according to the calendar, planning an efficient beauty program—that is, if you are not already following one. After all, you do want to look your best when you get into that new outfit, don your pretty chapeau and step out to the tune of a robin's song. And you'd be surprised how much you can accomplish in that short period of time—even if you have been somewhat neglectful. The idea is to be systematic, to plan a special beauty chore for each day of the week and then further, while you're doing it, to note how little time it really takes and plan some time-savers in your program.

If you're overweight, for instance, Monday would be a good time to check your diet—especially if you stocked up on high calorie food over the weekend. Make this a day of resolution to cut down the calories—not only for that day alone—but in the days to come. Consult a calorie chart—my weeks ahead. When planning them, make a note to eat a good breakfast, to get your day off to a good start. Plan a non-fattening lunch and a healthful dinner based on meat and vegetables. If you must have snacks in between meals, stick to skim milk, fruit juices or nibble on celery or raw carrot sticks.

On Tuesday you might concentrate on exercise—if your measurements need trimming. Start the program off with five minutes of bending and stretching in the morning and, as you do your bend-stretches and see how well you feel after them, make a mental note to get in a bit more during the day. This can be done, as we've outlined in previous columns, whether you're a home-maker or a career girl.

Devote Wednesday to your complexion. Give your face a critical once-over. If you note trouble spots, analyze your cleansing each night and, while you're thinking about it, make a resolution to follow up your few minutes of creaming or your soap-and-water facial with eight hours of sleep. No one can have a fair complexion without proper amounts of sleep, fresh air and exercise.

On Thursday, give a little extra thought to your make-up. This can be a day—or an evening—for experimenting. Have you mastered all the tricks of applying lipstick, mascara, rouge? If not, make it a point to learn how the experts do it and take your cue from them. Skillfully applied makeup can do so much to emphasize your best features, play down those which are not quite perfect.

Devote Friday to hair care. Not only is it time for your weekly shampoo and set, but it's time to check up on yourself. Did you brush those locks faithfully every night last week? If not, make a resolution not to skip a single night next week. Brushing is so important to the health and beauty of your tresses.

Saturday can be devoted to grooming chores—mending ripped hems and shoulder straps, etc. And, while you're about it, think: have you any lingerie to wash? You really shouldn't, you know, nightly sudsing of undies and hose is a breeze, so why let things pile up until the end of the week? And so, another resolution, yes?

Follow such a program for just one week and, enjoying your leisure with the family or guests on Sunday, you'll want to keep on with your program forever. And you should!

DUTIES OF MASTER AND MISTRESS OF CEREMONIES AT WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have been given the honor of being asked to be Master and Mistress of Ceremonies at the wedding of my niece. I've looked in several books for the duties of these, but I have found no information whatever. Will you please give me some guidance about what our duties will be? — Reader

First, and most importantly, you and your husband should ask for a meeting with the bride-to-be and her parents so that you can both be definitely informed as to what duties each of you is expected to take on. For smooth procedure this is most important, because, since it is not very usual to have a Master and Mistress of Ceremonies, the hosts of the wedding should decide what duties they may wish them to perform.

When there is a Master of Ceremonies, he presides over the prescribed procedure of the reception ceremonies. First he usually makes a few gracious remarks of hospitable welcome and some humorous comments on the importance and significance of the occasion. When there is a Master of Ceremonies, there is generally a pre-arranged procedure, and a pre-arranged sequence for the toasts and for the response to each toast. Before the wedding he is informed whom he, is to call on, and he, in turn, should inform each of these relatives and friends that he is to call on them, either for a toast or for a response.

You, as Mistress of Ceremonies, or perhaps you and your husband, would probably be given the responsibility of the forming of the receiving-line, and directing the guests to the line. You may also be asked to direct the guests to the room where the refreshments are to be served, and, if th wedding presents are to be displayed, to direct the guests to this room. A particularly important duty you may be given is to be sure that every guest signs the Guest Book. When it is time to cut the cake, you and your husband must summon all the guests to this festivity; and he should lead the singing of "The Bride Cuts the Cake!" (to the old tune "The Farmer in the Dell"). Then you may be asked to cut the rest of the cake, your husband passing it to the guests, or you may help a relative or friend do this. If you and your husband carry out your responsibilities efficiently and gracefully, you will be a wonderful joy and comfort to the hosts and to the bride and groom.

QUESTION:

Thank you very much for recipes and penned note . . . wondering if you have a cheese cake recipe . . . using cottage cheese . . . any additional suggestions of ways to serve this nutritional and economical food would be appreciated . . . Mrs. M. C.

ANSWER:

The recipe for Cheese Cake using cottage cheese which I am giving you will serve from 10 to 12. The recipe may be cut in half.

CHEESE CAKE

(Using cottage cheese). Two cups fine zwieback crumbs, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine, 4 eggs, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons each lemon juice and grated lemon rind, 1 cup cream or top milk. 1 1/2 lbs. cottage cheese, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup chopped nut meats (optional). Mix zwieback crumbs with 1/2 cup sugar, cinnamon, butter. Reserve 3/4 cup of mixture for sprinkling top. Press remainder of crumbs into 9-inch pan (preferably with removable bottom), lining bottom and sides. Beat egg until very light then beat in remaining 1 cup sugar until very light. Beat in salt, lemon juice and rind, cream, cheese and flour. Strain all through a fine sieve. Pour into lined pan, sprinkle with remaining crumbs and nut meats. Bake at 350 deg. F. 1 hour or until centre is fairly firm. Turn off heat, open oven door, let stand 1 hour or until cooled.

QUESTION:

Could you please send me your recipe for boiled raisin cookies and also for Cherry Winks? Isobel MacD.

BOILED RAISIN COOKIES

To 1 cup raisins add 1/2 cup water and simmer until raisins are well plumped. Drain. Cream together thoroughly 1/2 cup soft shortening or butter, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 eggs. Stir in 1 cup thick sour cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together and stir in 2 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon each soda, baking powder, salt. Stir in drained raisins. Chill dough. Drop from greased teaspoon 2 inches apart onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 425 deg. about 8 minutes. If these are not exactly what you want write again. I have mailed to you the recipe for Cherry Winks.

QUESTION:

. . . I have just been reading recipe for White Fruit Cake of Jan. 18/57. Calls for 3 cups sifted powdered sugar . . . was wondering if 2 cups granulated sugar would be better . . . made Emem's Chocolate Cake . . . was lovely . . . do you think 1 1/2 hours is long enough for that size of White Fruit Cake? . . . most cakes take 2 1/2 hours in slow oven. Miss E.D. Haverhill.

ANSWER:

The icing sugar gives a finer texture to the batter and the flavor is delicious. Substitute 2 cups granulated sugar. Since the cake is baked in 3 small loaf pans 1 1/2 hours are long enough, but if you bake this in larger pans 2 hours or 2 hrs. 15 min. suggested you should increase baking time to 2 1/2 or 3 hours.

Wants Donations To Community Chests Earmarked

CHATHAM (CP) — Community chest organizations throughout Ontario were urged Thursday to allow donors to earmark money for charities of their choice.

The suggestion was made by Jack Allin of the Chatham Cerebral Palsy Association at the annual meeting of Ontario Community chests.

He said if the charitable organization chosen by a donor had already reached its quota, the donor's money could be given to the most needy member of the fund.

Mr. Allin also asked that organizations be prohibited from sending more than 25 per cent of their chest funds out of their town or city.

Other delegates joined Mr. Allin in criticizing the Salvation Army, Red Cross and Canadian National Institute for the Blind, whose administration is not directed locally.

Could Start In October

TORONTO (CP) — Construction of a subway on University Avenue from Union Station to Bloor St. could be started in October, Allan Lamport, chairman of the Toronto Transit Commission told a closed meeting of civic officials Thursday.

He said the TTC feels that the subway can be started this year despite Metro financial problems. The Metro executive, he said, was not asked to make a decision on the subway plan—but, to review its 1957 capital budget to determine whether project construction funds can be inserted.

Will Not Publish

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Le Nouvelliste, Trois - Rivieres daily newspaper published for the last 47 years, announced Thursday it will not appear today or Saturday because of a strike by members of the International Typographical Union (CLC).

The newspaper said the dispute is over the status of three photo engravers the union contends it should represent. About 40 composing-room employees walked out.

The newspaper said the Quebec Labor Relations board has ruled any strike over the issue of the photo engravers would be illegal.

A representative of the ITU said the men will return to work if an arbitration board is set up to hear the dispute.

It was decided that the association serve refreshments to the choir following the choir concert to be held early in March, and Mrs. Ross was appointed convener. At the March meeting each member is asked to bring some article to be auctioned.

Interesting readings were given by Mrs. C. W. Neelands, and Mrs Ross Neal, which were enjoyed, also a duet by Misses Sharon Burley and Elizabeth Griffiths.

After the meeting was closed a social hour was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

WORLD SCIENTISTS COME TO CANADA FOR CONFERENCE

Canada will be the centre of the world for 1,500 scientists from 50 countries during the general assembly of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics. They'll meet at the University of Toronto to present papers on what goes on on the earth's crust, above it and below it. This year's conference is the climax of centuries of effort to solve the mysteries of the universe and to form a unified picture of man's physical environment. The conference will be the principal meeting place of the 5,000 scientists engaged in simultaneous studies as part of the International Geophysical year. In this photo, J. A. Jacobs, arrangements secretary for the IUGG, is explaining the purpose of the meeting to Sue Strickland.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison, executive secretary of the forthcoming Toronto meeting of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics, points to the date of the meeting, Sept 3-14 on a special calendar. Arrangements Chairman Prof. J. T. Wilson holds a program of the meeting which will be the focal point of International Geophysical Year. He is vice-chairman of the IUGG, which brings together in Toronto its seven international associations whose interests cover nearly 41 aspects of the IGY from the Vanguard earth satellite which will probe the secrets of the atmosphere to the structure of the earth itself. —Central Press Canadian Photos.

WASN'T RESCUED

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Doyle Roberts unwrapped the new auto licence plates he purchased Thursday and found a note between them which read: "Help, I'm being held prisoner." The licence plates are made by prisoners of the Texas State Penitentiary.

Ike's Cough Down in Lungs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower complained Thursday that the cough which has been bothering him for several weeks is "down in my lungs." Eisenhower made the remark at a Pentagon luncheon.

The cough is the aftermath of a cold Eisenhower caught while reviewing a parade last Jan. 21 when he was inaugurated for a second term.

After x-ray examinations a week ago, the White House said the examination showed his lungs and sinuses were clear. Maj. — Gen. Howard Snyder, Eisenhower's physician, has attributed the cough to tracheitis or inflammation of the windpipe.

Fall Fair Women Elect Officers

TORONTO (CP)—Ella Hamilton of Russell Thursday was elected president of the women's section of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies. She succeeds Charlotte McCullough of Georgetown.

Other officers include Mrs. William Dawson, Tillsonburg and Mrs. Alvin Stone, Dunchurch, vice-presidents, and Mrs. H. A. Dickenson, secretary-treasurer.

Senator Congratulated

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Arthur Roebuck of Toronto, hard-working chairman of the divorce committee, got congratulations from his upper house colleagues Thursday, his 79th birthday.

Senator Roebuck said all the congratulatory messages made it "almost worth while to grow old."

Principle of Free Expression Must Apply to TV--Dunton

FREDERICTON (CP) — CBC chairman A. D. Dunton said Thursday night that freedom of expression applies as much to television as to the press and the principle "But it had to be brought up to date.

Delivering the Founder's Day address at the University of New Brunswick he said:

"I think we need to bring up to date established conceptions of freedom of expression, apply them to modern circumstances."

Both broadcasters and the public had to be vigilant that different main ideas had reasonable opportunities to be heard.

The biggest flow of information and ideas reached society through the medium of press, radio and television, he said.

There were modern "King Canutes" who have wanted to wish away the popular newspaper, motion pictures, radio and television. Those developments were here to stay.

"But they should not be thought of as monsters with independent wills of their own. they are instruments, and very effective ones, for putting information, ideas and impressions and artistic effort of various kinds before the minds of most people. They are, or should be, instruments of society, not masters."

Control of both press and broadcasting, however, was failing into a diminishing number of hands. Also it was possible to import relatively cheaply much broadcasting material.

But if much broadcasting material was imported "it could not be said that there was much freedom for Canadian ideas and creative efforts or information to get on the airwaves and be available in that way to the people of Canada."

"We need to try to preserve reasonable, real opportunity for the output of Canadian minds to circulate among Canadians."

Freedom of radio and telegram from government control was as important as was freedom of the press. "As it stands now the (CBC) service is the responsibility of a public corporation answerable to all the people of Canada through the open forum of Parliament."

The statements were contained in the text of an address issued to the press before delivery.

Levy Income Tax on Pipeline Stock Given Top Executives But Only on Original Value

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government imposes income tax on profits in the type of stock dealings recently engaged in by top executives of Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. They are subject to the customary tax exemption on capital gains.

The transactions — debated in the Commons all day Monday—involved President N. E. Tanner's purchase of 55,000 common shares from the company at $8 a share and General Manager C. S. Coates purchase of 50,000 at the same price.

The shares are not yet listed on stock exchanges but are quoted unofficially in over - the - counter dealings at around $25. The company made its initial stock offering in mid-February.

Here is the way the tax works under a 1953 amendment to the Income Tax Act:

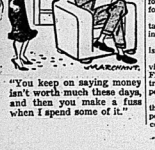
A company employee exercising the type of stock option given the Trans-Canada officials is liable for taxation on the difference between his purchase price and what the statute describes as the "value" of the stock at the time of purchase.

In the case of the Trans-Canada stock, it was not on the market at the time the officers bought it. A finance department official said that in such a case the revenue department likely would make a valuation of its own.

The difference between purchase price and "value" is regarded as taxable income, and the beneficiary becomes liabe for tax in the year of the purchase regardless of whether he cashes in. However, any further rise in value of the stock is a non - taxable capital gain.

Once the amount of taxable profit has been determined, the stock owner may elect to be taxed in one of two ways:

1. He may add the amount to his regular income and be taxed for the whole at the regular rate for the full amount.



2. He may have the stock profit taxed reparately from his regular income.

If he elects the latter, the tax is applied this way:

His rate of taxation for the previous three years is averaged out. From that percentage, 20 is subtracted. The resulting figure is the percentage tax on the profit.

For instance, if a beneficiary's three-year average rate were 30 per cent, he would pay 10 per cent of his profit.

Half Total Number of Jews In Poland Want to Get Out

WARSAW (Reuters)—Some 25,000 Jews are reported to have applied for permission to leave Poland because they see no future here for themselves or their families.

This represents about half the total number of Jews left in Poland. Of some 3,500,000 Jews in Poland before the war, only 130,000 survived the German occupation and 100,000 of these returned to Israel in the earlier post-war years.

Julius Burgin, writing in the review Przeglad Kulturalny, says that the majority of Jews have decided they are "unable to work, breathe or live."

He claimed that although the existence of official anti-Semitism is publicly denied, officials are given confidential instructions not to make any difficulty in issuing passports to potential Jewish emigrants. But, he added, "not any kind of passports—emigrant passports."

"It is well-known that citizenship must be given up to get a passport of this kind. In this way, the unloved Jews are got rid of for good and all."

Henry Kollat, writing in the newspaper Walka Mlodych, recalled how, during the war in Ponsko, then a German town, he and his friends used to pity the Jews who had to wear armbands with a Star of David on their backs.

Yet today, he said, in small towns in the province of Wroclaw (formerly Breslau), windows in Jewish homes are broken and doors are chalked upon, while strangers force their way into houses, asking "when are you going to leave, because we want this place."

Three writers in Po Prostu (pain talking), the newspaper of intellectual youth, said recently that this country is witnessing "the self-liquidation of the Jewish community which has existed in Poland for over 700 years."

They declared that the ghost of anti-Semitism was revived last year when Poland tried to throw off Stalinist methods and Jews were accused of occupying key positions in the security organization, the administration and the party and propaganda offices.

But, the writers continued, the Jews suffered as much as anyone else from Stalinism, and were equally powerless to prevent it.

Suggests Tourist Industry Under New Canada Council

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Harold Connolly suggested Thursday that perhaps the tourist industry should come under the purview of the proposed new Canada Council for promotion of the arts.

The former Liberal premier of Nova Scotia made the suggestion as the Senate endorsed a motion that its tourist traffic committee inquire into and report on the activities of various agencies concerned with promoting tourist travel in Canada.

Senator Connolly said federal tourist travel efforts mainly focus attention on Canada as a whole It was left to the provinces to put the spotlight on their own tourists areas and he wondered whether the Canada Council, which will administer a $100,000,000 fund to promote the arts, shouldn't also be concerned with tourist attractions.

The senator said the thing to do was to concentrate on the 180,000,000 Americans "who already have shown that they are our most valuable tourist customers without a doubt."

He spoke after Senator Nancy Hodges (L — British Columbia) said Canada should be sold to Canadians.

Senator Ralph Horner (PC—Saskatchewan) said American tourist dollars should be accepted at par in Canada.

Senator Hodges reminded him it wasn't so long ago that Canadians were paying as much as a seven-per-cent premium on the American dollar.

Senator Thomas A. Crerar (L—Manitoba) favored Canadians seeing Canada but that alone wouldn't be a monetary benefit.

"We can't get rich taking in each other's washing," he said.

Senator Norman Lambert (L—Ontario) said the capital is the greatest tourist-attraction city in Canada. The Senate committee should review what had been done in the recent joint Senate-Commons committee in connection with the national capital plan to make Ottawa a jewel among capitals.

Sunday School Lesson

Who Do You Say He Is?

By ROY L. SMITH

At the turning point in His public ministry Jesus of Nazareth put a question of extreme seriousness to His disciples: "Who do you say I am?" It was not that He was fishing for compliments. Rather, it was because He was trying to take the measure of His men. Their answers would define their own spiritual stature.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for March 3 is: "The Great Confession," Matthew 16:13—17:27.

Jesus of Nazareth is the one inescapable personality of all history. One does not need to make up his mind about Napoleon, Disraeli, or Chamberlain. Nor does one need to decide between the philosophy of Spinoza and that of John Locke. But every man has to make some decision relative to Jesus Christ.

The rather remarkable fact is that millions have decided without knowing that they have done so, and thereby hangs a tragic tale.

WORLD'S GREATEST TEACHER

It is a very common thing to hear it said that Jesus of Nazareth was the world's greatest teacher, and that the Sermon on the Mount was the greatest utterance that ever fell from human lips.

A rather considerable number of great minds have arisen among men to instruct mankind, and to be called the world's greatest teacher" is a great tribute. But even so splendid a word is inadequate as a description of Jesus of Nazareth. It leaves so much unsaid about Him.

Confucius, Buddha, and Mohammed — all these have furnished the world with splendid exhibitions of moral character. Men such at Mahatma Gandhi have inspired the race with their noble examples and their devotion to high ideals.

But it is impossible to describe Jesus of Nazareth, and do it completely, by saying that He is the world's greatest example. Socrates was a great example, as was also Zoroaster, both of whom exhibited many of the same virtues that Jesus revealed.

Examples do not save the world. They point the way, and they raise hopes, but they do not empower.

WORLD'S SUBLIME MARTYR

There is something thrilling about the sight of a man dying for a holy cause, Socrates drinking the hemlock has moved the finest and best minds and hearts through many centuries. But Socrates, in spite of his amazing mind and his heroic spirit, communicated no power to his followers.

Jesus of Nazareth hanging on a cross moves the world to shame. The race never showed up to worse advantage than it did the day He was crucified. But the contrast between the crucified and the crucifers does not furnish the power to bring crucifixions to an end. Martyrdom seems to lack something.

WORLD'S GREATEST REFORMER

A hundred reforms have flowed through the years from the fountain that the world calls Jesus. Slaves, children, women, and even soldiers owe Him a debt that human flesh and blood can never repay. Human rights are recognized and protected as they would have been, except for Him. But this is not His greatest work.

The young blind man came nearest to the heart of the matter when he said, "One thing I know. Whereas I was blind, now I see."

It is the power that Jesus conveys from God, and of God to the heart of man that sets Him apart from every other one who has lived. Only the Son of God could have done this.

CANADIANS CAPTURE WORLD FIGURE SKATING CROWNS

Long hours of practice for Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul gave them the top prize in figure skating, the world championship pairs crown which they won at Colorado Springs, Col. They have been skating together for five years and this season dropped out of classes at the University of Toronto to train for the event. They had previously won the Canadian and North American championships. With them is their coach, Sheldon Galbraith, right, who trained them at the Toronto Skating club. Central Press Canadian.

50 Bonspiels in a Row

Manitoba's Howard Wood, 66 Is Grand Old Man of Curling

WINNIPEG (CP) — Howard Wood might well claim the title of the grand old man of Manitoba curling. The 66 - year - old curler competed in his 50th consecutive Manitoba bonspiel this year and if a ranking of great players were compiled he would certainly be among the foremost.

He has had his name inscribed on the Canadian Championship trophy three times, as skip of the title - winning Manitoba rinks in 1930 and 1940, and as a member of the 1932 championship rink, also from the Winnipeg Granite Club, that was skipped by James Congalton.

His accumulation of trophies, medals and curling awards spans half a century during which the Wood family has made its mark in Canadian curling scene. This year, his son, Howard Jr., will represent Manitoba in the Canadian championships at Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Wood's father, D. D. Wood, an ardent player, was president of the Manitoba Curling Association during 1900-01. His curling fervor rubbed off on the entire family, but it was Howard who got by far the largest share. He also excelled at soccer, lacrosse and hockey.

His first curling experience was gained on a backyard rink using cedar blocks as stones.

In the 1906-07 season, when he was 16, his father bought each of three sons—Howard, Vic and Mel—a set of rocks and enrolled them at the Thistle Club.

The first trophy for the fledgling champion came in 1910, when he played third for Bill Carson's Thistle rink. The next year he teamed with his brother Vic, Mac Braden and Jimmy Congalton to win the aggregate title at the Manitoba bonspiel as well as three other events. They repeated in 1912, taking 32 of 33 games, finishing on top in three open competitions and losing in the final of the fourth.

The rink, now with Winnipeg's Granite Club, was again aggregate winner in 1913, took a single trophy in 1914 and came back for the aggregate and another cup in 1915.

Howard graduated to skip in 1916 and has been at the tee-hee ever since, taking aggregate t ties in 1925, 1930, 1933 and 1940.

Apart from the victories an m e d a l s, Mr. Wood's greate sources of pride is that his m ments of victory have been shar with other members of the famil Brother Vic was with him in t bonspiels, Howie, Jr., son Lon and even his wife and grandchil dren have been with him in on triumph or another.

He has been named an honorar life member of both the Granit Club and the Manitoba Curlin Association.

Of the past he says: "I've en joyed it. If I had it to do again, I'd do exactly the same thing. Of course, one man can't do i all. It takes four men to make a rink."

Mayfield, Palmer Share Lead in Baton Rouge Open

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Shelley Mayfield and Arnold Palmer led the field today into the second round of the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

Both fired four-under-par 68s Thursday for a one-stroke edge over the field.

Mayfield, 33, playing out of Westbury, N.Y., is out to win his second straight Baton Rouge open. In five previous tourneys, no winner has repeated.

Palmer, 27-year-old former U.S. amateur champion playing out of Latrobe, Pa., won the $30,000 Houston Open Monday and is out for his second victory within a week.

One stroke back of the leaders was Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., and Maunel De La Torre of Milwaukee.

Bunched at 70 were Stan Leonard, Vancouver and Lachute, Que. Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif.; Gardner Dickinson, Panama City, Fla.; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., and Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

Court Decision May Presage New Grid Laws

BOSTON (AP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, believes the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision on professional football will give rise to new legislation.

The Supreme Court ruled that professional football comes under the provisions of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

"We're all in the same boat," Campbell said. "Ultimately, I believe it's a matter for new legislation rather than a series of legal decisions," he added. "The basis of the whole affair, of course, is the reserve clause. And I don't see how you could operate any professional sport without the reserve clause."

Whitby Defeats Cleveland 5-2

WHITBY (CP)—Whitby Dunlops came up with a 5-2 win over Cleveland Barons in an exhibition game here Thursday night. It was sweet revenge for Dunlops, who dropped a 2-0 game to the American League team Wednesday night in Orillia.

CRU Officials Forget About 75th Birthday

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian rugby football union official faces were scarlet-hued Thursday night.

On the eve of the CRU annual meeting, the first held in Montreal, officials were reminded that this is the 75th anniversary of the founding of the union. No special plans had been made to mark the jubilee and unless someone comes up with a last-minute gimmick, it will go down as just another annual get-together.

Officials were told of the anniversary by a reporter.

Gerry James Gets 'Feeler' From NY Giants

TORONTO (CP)—Gerry James, National Hockey League forward with Toronto Maple Leafs, says he is "not sure just what I'll do" about a letter he has received from New York Giants, champions of the National Football League.

James, who two years ago gave up a professional football career with Winnipeg Blue Bombers and signed a two-year contract with the hockey club, said he is "not even sure I've won a job with Leafs."

Raymond J. Walsh, general manager of Giants, said Thursday his club had written to James but had not made him an offer.

"We heard that James might be considering returning to football," he said. The letter was "just a feeler."

James was voted the outstanding Canadian football player in 1955 as a fullback with Winnipeg. His hockey contract stipulated he had to give up football.

General manager Hap Day of Leafs had no comment on the player's possible return to the gridiron. James has been hampered by injuries this season, and has been used sparingly in recent games.

Win Hamilton Player Trophy

HAMILTON (CP)—Gerry Sullivan and Dave Amadeo have been named winners of the Jack Adams Trophy, a Hamilton Cubs' team award presented to the two top defensive performers over the Ontario Hockey Association junior A season.

Sullivan, recovering in hospital from an appendectomy, also won the award in 1955. It is based on a vote of press, radio and television reporters covering Hamilton home games.

Detroit - born goaltender Carl Wetzel won a fans' vote as the most popular player on the team.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

FUP, SHE'S HERE!

On the second day of this "Birthdays-of-Great-Men" Month," a woodchuck, or groundhog, took a look topside, saw his shadow and hightailed back into Mother Earth to sleep off the rest of his winter's log for another six weeks, at least. As far as the weather is concerned, the eversize gopher can stay packed pah surface.

Since that time a couple of alleged robins (one proved to be a Rhode Island Red rooster, the runt of the litter), have been seen: "Spring is sprung," tra-la-la'ed the voice over the phone, annquncing the great event.

Two weary travellers returning from a jaunt into the north country where men draw from the hip — and the gals help 'em drink it — swear they saw a trio of lizards cavorting outside their flat-rock home. "Dig out the ole tackle" they chortled between bites. "The species will soon be on the prowl."

Ginger, the family Persian, who has a comfortable bed in the basement with curb service, has suddenly developed a yen for the great outdoors after 10 p.m. and returning the same time the milk is delivered.

A couple of Elvis Presley addicts we know, have lost their St. Vitus Dance leg movements, and rock 'n' roll mumblings, and are crooning Guy Lombardo-type melodies with eyes glazed like those of a dying calf.

Our man Gary who lacks a year of voting age come Sunday, has written a new set of "Scopes," by studying at home "What a Young Man Should Know,' and is mumbling strange sounds that resemble the batting average of the Dodgers and the Yankees.

The sun and shop windows are beginning to advertise the new spring outfits. Three months from now you'll get the extra pants thrown in.

Years of experience with these well-known "harbingers of spring" have calloused this newspaper mind, which will not take anything for granted until the grass waves green; the posey-sellers are purring, the tulips are pushing verdant shoots through the earth, and the red flannels are laid away in their summer mothballs.

That was, up until this year. The other day definite irrefutable proof that spring's corner is not too far down the block came this way. And five simple words were the proof.

"What about baseball this year?"

The whispered words came out of the silence of the news room after the "baby had been put to bed." and the sports department was busy trying to figure out how Don Larsen would have fared against Goliath, star hitter of the Philistine Giants, without benefit of wind-up.

They were repeated "What about baseball this year?"

Then the first definite "sign of spring" made itself known. It was — you guessed it — big Al Kelleher, the Abon Ben Adam of baseball who lives, dreams, and sighs about the game all winter, and starts airing it two weeks ahead of the first draft of wild geese flying south.

Bil Al wore as big a smile. "I mean it," he grinned. "It's about time somebody was starting to do sumpin, if sumpin's gonna be done about it."

"Al, some other time . . ."

"How about this Border League you guys were talkin' about last year?"

"Listen Al, if you will . . ."

"I hear you are thinkin' of entering a team in it, if it is organized. Please?"

This went on for half an hour. Finally the big goodnatured oaf sauntered out of the news room, humming something about popcorn and crackerjack.

His parting shot was:—"Glad to have been of help to youse guys. Anytime you want any info about baseball, lemme know. Always willing to help a guy out. Seeya next time you sign for your Old Country remittance. S'long."

Men's, Women's Singles Mark Canadian Badminton Tourney

By GERALD LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITCHENER (CP)—Hopefuls at the Canadian badminton championships, fearing a round the courts morning, afternoon and evening since Wednesday, got the morning off today.

All major events are in the semi-final stages with play in the junior men's and junior women's divisions starting off the grind again this afternoon. Both those classes will have new champions by tonight.

FEATURE ATTRACTIONS

Feature attractions at the four-day tournament are the battles for the men's and women's singles crowns.

In the other, Jim Carnwath, also from Woodstock and a U of T student, is drawn against amazing Mvrtin Mendez of San Diego, Calif., a 40-year-old aircraft factory worker who just recently returned to badminton after a three-year layoff.

Thursday night MacTaggart defeated Moody; Ferguson ousted school teachrr Bert Fergus from Vancouver; Carnwath downed John Bouck, 25-year-old Vancouver lawyer and Mendez upset Toronto's Bev Westcott, Canada's No. 2 ranking player.

WOMEN'S TITLES

In quarter-final action Thursday night for the women's title, Mrs. Grant defeated Mrs. Thelma Wellcome of Pasadena, Calif., wife of the president of the American Badminton Association; Miss Judy Devlin, 21, won over veteran Mrs. Claire Lovett of Vancouver; Mrs. Lois Alston eliminated Avelelgh Hepworth of Woodstock, and Miss Shedd edged Susan Devlin, Judy's 25-year-old sister.

In the women's doubles semi-finals tonight, Ethel Marshall and Bea Massman of Buffalo, N.Y., will meet Mrs. Lovett and Maureen Bray of Vancouver and Miss Shedd and Joan Hennessy, Toronto, will face the Devlin sisters.

MERRITT MOVES ON

Rocket Richard Scores Brace As Canadiens Blank Detroit; Boston Cools off Chicago 4-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The oldest and probably still the most spectacular player in the National Hockey League may be the answer to Montreal Canadiens' recent problems.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, 35, and a 15-year campaigner in the NHL, scored two more goals Thursday night, leading Canadiens to a 3-0 shutout over the leading Detroit Red Wings.

The win cut Detroit's advantage to four points over Canadiens, who trailed by eight points only last week and appeared out of contention for the championship they won last year.

In the league's only other game — at Boston — the Bruins pasted Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 to stay three points behind the Canadiens. The shutout was rookie Don Simmons' third in 16 games with Bruins.

NEARING 500

Rocket's goals were his 27th and 28th of the season, and 487th and 488th of an illustrious scoring career which seems far from ended.

It was Montreal goalie Jacques Plante's eighth shutout of the season. He finally broke netminder Glen Hall by one goal in their fight for the Vezina Trophy.

The Rocket opened the scoring in the first period while Wings were two men short. He made it 2-0 in the second on a typically spectacular rush. Rookie Phil Goyette shot the last goal, also in the second.

The win was Canadiens' first in Detroit this season. They outshot Wings 30-19.

TWO FOR McKENNEY

At Boston, centre Don McKenney produced two goals and Jerry Cherevfelis. Stanley also contributed two assists.

Canadiens, meanwhile, announced that defenceman Bud MacPherson, recently called up to replace injured Dollard St. Laurent but sent down again to Montreal Royals, is being sent to Rochester of the American League to replace injured Bronco Horvath.

In Toronto, Leaf forward Gerry James said he has received a "feeler" letter from New York Giants of the National Football League. James quit a professional football career with Winnipeg Blue Bombers two years ago to sign with the Toronto hockey club. Giant officials said they have not yet made James an actual offer.

Marlies Within Point of Bilts In Junior Race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It will be a race to the wire for the championship of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. Only a few weeks ago, it was strictly no contest.

Toronto Marlboros moved to within a single point of league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Thursday night, defeating last-place Peterborough Petes 6-3.

At one point Marlboros, defending Memorial Cup champions, trailed Guelph by 13 points. Steady winning ways during the last six weeks have made them contenders.

Both Biltmores and Marlboros have two games remaining.

In another game last night, St. Catharines Teepees jumped into a third-place tie with the Toronto downing Cubs 3-2. The two clubs lead St. Michael's College Majors by one point.

40TH LOSS

At Peterborough, 1,700 fans saw Petes lose their last game of the season. It was the 40th loss of their freshman campaign in the OHA circuit.

At Hamilton, before 3,400 fans, goals by Ed Hoekstra, Bob Hull and Murray Cosburn won for Teepees. Brian Smith and John Roe scored for Cubs, who played their last game of the season.

Russians Whip Poland 10-1; Czechs Nip Fins

MOSCOW (CP)—The defending champion Russian team defeated Poland 10-1 Thursday night and Czechoslovakia took a 3-0 decision over Finland in the world amateur hockey tournament.

The other teams, Sweden, Australia, Japan and East Germany were idle as the championships reached the four-round halfway point with Russia in the lead, having won four straight games.

Surprisingly, the powerful Russians warmed slowly to their work against the Poles. They gave the impression they were saving their efforts for the biggest match, the final one against Sweden March 5. Sweden has won three games without a loss—only other unbeaten team.

Polish goalie Wladyslaw Pabis held the Russians to one goal in the first period, but the roof fell in during the second.

Czechoslovakia and Finland played a scoreless first period in the outdoor Olympic Stadium. Then the Czechs, with a slight edge in speed, began to take the upper hand. Jan Kastner, who got an assist in the 1956 Olympics when Canada defeated the Czechs 6-3, scored one of Thursday's goals.

ORFU Fate in Balance

Quebec Football Union Holds Solution to CRU Big Problem

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Rugby Football Union, the only intermediate-class voting component of the Canadian Rugby Union may supply the solution today to the big problem of the strife-torn parent body.

The Quebec Union is on the hot seat because it is the CRU swings into is two-day annual meeting. With its single vote the QRFU can "knock the props" from Rugby Football Union out of Grey Cup competition. The Big Four and the WIFU want to exclude the ORFU from further Grey Cup play.

It is known that the QRFU has prepared a definite compromise plan aimed at healing the breach between the powerful ORFU and the Big Four of the East and the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

The big leagues have six of the CRU's 12 votes. The ORFU has two, the QRFU one and the intercollegiate union one. The intercollegiate branch is sure to line up behind the Ontario Union. Seven votes are necessary to bring about the proposed change.

BIG FOUR UNSURE

Compromise plans boynoted the talks in hotel lobbies and gatherings in rooms, no matter how adamant the two leagues may be. There has been definite indication that the Big Four itself is lacking unanimity on tossing the ORFU out bodily, although as a unit it would cast the WIFU voting strength.

At least one high-placed delegate of the Big Four has been preaching the gospel of compromise. The chief concern appears to hinge on what compromise the QRFU proposes, but if it must vote for or against, it is believed the QRFU will side with the Big Four and WIFU.

The best guess is that the QRFU plan will entail agreement by the ORFU to hold in abeyance for a specific time its vested right to challenge for the Grey Cup.

The ORFU will want something in return, something to raise the playing calibre of ORFU teams. Whether this would be done through a modified version of financial help remains to be seen—perhaps through a generous supply of players cut from the two stronger leagues, perhaps through some-other form of aid or concessions, or by helping the ORFU get direct help in the form of a farm organization from National League clubs in the United States. There has been talk too, that the ORFU can do much to work out its own salvation by picking up NFL castoffs—and at moderate salaries—to make the maximum of 12 imports for each team.

The compromise talk also takes into account the general setup of the CRU in fostering development of minor-league football—peewee, bantam, junior and intermediate.

Two things regarding CRU finances became known Thursday night. The minors have proposed a whopping increase in money they want from the CRU. Last year junior and intermediate football alone was voted more than $20,000 by the CRU for operating expenses and playoff guarantees. The amount being asked was remade known but is believed to be somewhere around an additional $10,000. More money is being spent now on fostering intermediate football in the Maritimes.

It also became known that returns of the Big Four and WIFU to have the CRU's share of Grey Cup receipts cut will be quietly dropped. The resolution demanded that the 12½ - per - cent share be trimmed. How much was not stated.

The two major groups felt the CRU hasn't needed 33⅓ per cent. But the new demands of the minors are understood to have put a different complexion on things.

Champion Carol Heiss Retains World Figure Skating Crown; Canada's Carol Pachl Fourth

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo, (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Carol Heiss rules the world of women's figure skaters today with no serious challenge in sight.

The honey-blonde from Ozone Park, N.Y., successfully defended her international championship here Thursday night, receiving the first-place vote from each of seven judges.

"I'm just as excited at winning this time as I was last year," the youngster said after her victory. "The only thing I miss is my mother- not being here."

Carol's mother, who saw her capture her first world title in Germany last year, died in November.

Second to Carol here was European champion Hanna Eigel, 17, from Vienna, Austria, who beat her 16-year-old teammate, Ingrid Wendl, with a superior free skating program.

Carol Jane Pachl, formerly of Montreal and now of Toronto, runner-up to Miss Heiss in the recent North American championships, finished fourth with 1245.8 points to 1361.40 for the winner. Two Calgary skaters, Karen Dixon and Margaret Crossland, finished 10th and 14th respectively in the field of 20.

Miss Pachl, who was fourth in the school figures, fell while trying to executive a difficult loop jump during the free skating but managed to turn in a very fantastic applause.

Miss Wendl had placed second to Miss Heiss in the compulsory figures which count 60 per cent toward the title. But she fell during her free skating.

Miss Heiss also suffered a spill during her four-minute program. But she said she felt her performance here was superior to the one that brought the first crown.

U.S. skaters also stood an odds-on chance of grabbing the men's singles title. David Jenkins of Colorado Springs held first place with 298.5 points after the first three of six compulsory figures. The skating king will be determined Saturday night as the 28-year-old collegian rates as favorite to succeed his brother, Hayes Alan Jenkins, now retired.

Second was Tim Brown of Los Angeles with 293.4 and third came Canadian champion Charles Snelling of Toronto with 282.6.

Spring Training Season Opens With 30 in 'Holdout League'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly 30 players assumed the traditional "holdout" role today as the major league clubs officially opened the spring training season.

Milwaukee Braves were minus three important regulars—19-game winner Lew Burdette, relief pitcher Emil Conrado and centre fielder Billy Bruton. All were in camp at Bradenton.

Brooklyn's National League pennant winners needed to sign only Sandy Amoros to complete their roster. The other six senior circuit members had all players present and accounted for.

AMOROS IN TOWN

Amoros arrived at Vero Beach, Thursday. But vice president Buzzy Bavasi, who handles contracts, was out of town.

The American League picture was quite different. The world champion New York Yankees signed Don Larsen to close their ledgers Thursday. But the other seven clubs still had at least 20 blank contracts.

Heading the list in number was revealed with the Chicago shortstop Chico Carrasquel was the only missing regular. Rudy Regalado and pitcher Jim Pemanski, John Gray and Ed Gasque were still unsigned.

Sammy White, a catcher, infielder Billy Klaus and outfielder Jim Pisoni and Gene Stephens have not come to terms with Boston Red Sox.

HOEFT BIG PROBLEM

Southpaw Billy Hoeft was considered Detroit's biggest problem. But Eddie Robinson and outfielder Gil Coan were still unsigned. Kansas City's headscher were pitcher Maury McDermott, recently acquired in a multi-player deal with Yankees, pitcher Tom Morgan, infielder Hec Lopez and catcher Jim Smith.

Baltimore's Willie Miranda, who hasn't been heard from since he returned his first contract unsigned in January, is the Orioles only holdout.

Washington listed outfielder Roy Sievers, catcher Clint Courtney and pitcher Elvio Hernandez among the unsigned. Chicago's worries were pitcher Ellis Kinder, who is reported to have agreed to terms but has not signed his contract, pitcher Jim McDonald and infielder Tommy Brown.

Washington enlisted pitcher Chuck Stobbs, who had a 15-15 record last season, third baseman Eddie Yost and rookie outfielder Neil Chrisley. Boston signed Ted Lepcio, Detroit got the nod from rookie outfielder Roy Hawes and Pittsburgh signed outfielder Lee Walls.

Milwaukee came to terms with outfielder Wes Covington and first baseman Frank Torre and Baltimore took Bob Nieman, who batted .320 last-year and was fifth in the American League, into the fold.

Porkies Trounce Abitibi Eskys 8-3

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Ont. (CP) South Porcupine Porkies took a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven Porcupine Mines senior league semi-finals with the Abitibi Eskimos when they trounced the Eskys 8-3 Thursday night. Scorers for Porkies were Pat McKay, Billy Adamo, Eddie Kulik, Billy Pirie, Frankie Butler, Graham Savord, Doug Gordon and Hank Marchi. Next game in the series is scheduled for Saturday night.

MOORE TO FLIGHT

Nick Londes, Olympia matchmaker, and Anthony Moore's manager, Charles Johnston agreed on the June date. Spieser is the No. 1 lightheavyweight contender. Anthony is rated No. 3 challenger for Moore's title.

Larsen Signs For Estimated $18,000 Salary

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) Don Larsen, the unpredictable righthander who pitched a perfect game against Brooklyn in last year's world series, signed his 1957 contract with the New York Yankees Thursday only a few hours before he would have become an official holdout.

Estimates put Larsen's salary at $18,000, a $6,000 increase over his 1956 pact.

"I'm very satisfied and ready to go to work," said Larsen after reaching agreement with Lee MacPhail, assistant to general manager George Weiss.

The world champions thus completed their contract negotiations for the coming season. Players unsigned by midnight Thursday night officially are listed as holdouts.

Larsen, 27-year-old native of Michigan City, Ind., who makes San Diego, Calif., his winter home won 11 games for the Yanks during the regular 1956 campaign.

Played 26 Years Football's Longevity Record Held by Former Rough Rider

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — A couple of weeks ago Edmonton Eskimos got excited over the news that Frank Morris would start his 16th season in senior football this year, the last seven with the Grey Cup champions. The talk around the Alberta capital was that Morris' record was surpassed only by one-time teammate Bill Zock.

Far from it. There's a real peppy guy in the East who has a record we'll guarantee will never be surpassed by any senior player.

He is Edward K. (Eddie) Emerson, a successful Ottawa businessman who will be 65 years old next week. Eddy played junior football 26 years, from 1912 to 1937, and all with Ottawa Rough Riders.

HARDY PERENNIAL

This is nothing new to old-time football players and fans, particularly those of the capital. He was sure as the opening of the football season, Eastern newspapers will dutifully reminded their readers that Eddie would start his 20-somethingth year with the Riders.

Although he is reaching the age where most men think of golf and fishing or take it easy for the rest of their lives, Eddie says he has no thought of retiring. He weighs 220 pounds—just 33 more than his top weight in his playing days—and tells interviewers:

"Me, I'm still in tip-top shape."

There may be some argument from old-timers about who takes runner-up honors in the football longevity stakes, but Zock has a pretty good case. He started with Toronto Argonauts in 1937, later went to Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union and ended his career in 1954 with Eskimos.

There are a few 16 - year men and, oddly enough, all were best known for their association with one club—Toronto Argonauts.

Morris was a mainstay on the Argonaut line that Zock still he went west to Eskimos in 1950. Both Morris and Zock were wooed to the Western Conference by another one-time Argonaut standby, Annis Stukus.

Other 16-year men, who spent most of their playing days with the Toronto club were Les Ascott and Joe Krol, who starred in 1943, and Jack Wedley, who finished his career with Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1951, after a long stint with Argonauts.

SKINNER'S NEEDLE

Coach Jimmy Skinner of Detroit Red Wings, one of the best bench jockeys in the National Hockey League, tells Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll that the art of needling is a fine one. Jimmy apparently has made a study of the "art." Here's what he told Carroll about some NHL players.

Fern Flaman, Boston Bruins: "Flaman is one of those guys with rabbit ears. He can hear everything you shout at him."

Rocket Richard, Montreal Canadiens: "He used to rise to the needle, but he doesn't go for it now, perhaps because Tony Leswick, the fellow who used to jab him the oftenest, is no longer in the league."

Boom Boom Geoffrion, Canadiens: "He is the guy on the Canadiens you can needle now."

Lou Fontinato, New York Rangers, and Ted Kennedy, Toronto Maple Leafs: "Fontinato is the guy on the Rangers with a thin skin, and on the Toronto club its Kennedy."

Kennedy doesn't do anything about it, even pretends he doesn't hear you. But if you watch his face you know it bothers him."

'Swaps' Doing Very Nicely After Accident

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Owner Rex C. Ellsworth will not speculate when his famous race horse Swaps will return to competition but he says:

"Right now this horse is doing as well as could be expected to do—in fact, a bit better. Don't forget he went through a long, painful and almost fatal siege."

Swaps will make his first public appearance since he broke a bone in his left hind leg last fall when he parades along the stretch Saturday s a feature of Santa Anita Derby Day.

Of Swaps, voted "horse of the year" for 1956, Ellsworth continues:

"At present his weight is not far from normal. The left hip has not, of course, filled in entirely. He hung so long in the sling that all the muscles on the left hind side simply shrank away to nothing. They are now coming back rapidly, though the left hip is not yet quite as high as the right one.

"The lower left leg is still enlarged. The calcium formed by the break has not entirely dissolved, but it will in time, and then the leg will go down to normal size. It is now about half the right one.

"He is still in the process of growing a new left hoof. While the new one is on, the hoof could not expand and grow normally, and it simply pushed itself up into the contact, causing severe inflammation there. It also contracted toward the heel.

By BOB MYERS

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Longden went into work as usual today, totally unimpressed with the thought that a man who has just ridden his 5,000th winner on a race track should take a holiday.

The galloping grandpappy reached the figure in the fourth race at Santa Anita Thursday, another milestone in his 30 years of thoroughbred racing.

GOES FOR 6,000

Bert Thompson, western manager of the Jockeys Guild, pushed forward to congratulate him.

"You can now say you are going for 6,000," Thompson suggested.

"Why not? Pearson went for 64. I can go for six," replied Johnny. He referred to Billy Pearson, the jockey who won the $64,000 television question quiz last year.

Top seasons include Bob Steckle of Kitchener, who placed fourth for Canada in last year's olympics, and Bruno Ochman of Sault Ste. Marie, also an Olympic representative.

The total wins include victories in seven countries—Canada, the United States, England, Scotland, Ireland, Australia and Mexico.

Johnny sets a record every time he wins. Last September at Del Mar, he scored his 4,871, which broke the world riding record held by Sir Gordon Richards of England.

The son of a coal miner from Wakefield, England, a coal miner himself as a youngster in Taber, Alta., Longden rode many winners on the bush tracks of the northwest which don't show on the record books.

"Most of the races were Roman and relay races," he explained. His first thoroughbred winner was in 1927 at Salt Lake City.

Today, Johnny returned to work. He had six horses to ride, just another afternoon at the track for Johnny the Pumper.

GRAPPLERS MEET

TORONTO (CP)—More than 60 amateur grapplers from eight Ontario centres will tangle in the provincial YMCA team wrestling championships to be held here Saturday at central YMCA.

Top seasons include Bob Steckle of Kitchener, who placed fourth for Canada in last year's olympics, and Bruno Ochman of Sault Ste. Marie, also an Olympic representative.

The highest masters of bridge play must have something of the ball to get the top rating and billing. But their amazing ignorance of bidding accuracy is too obvious to be ignored.

Even when they all rate the same contract they may be wrong. Even when they all use the same bids to reach the same contract they may be wrong. As in this world championship deal number 30.

SOUTH

North and south were vulnerable; east and west were not. The American and European teams in both rooms got at the same table to the same contract of four hearts, like this:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

Opening lead from east in each room was spade seven. Declarer had time enough to stuff a novel club on south diamonds. He gave away a diamond, a spade, a trump and made four hearts; score 620.

Masters in west and east should hide their light. Instead, they opponents do not start diamonds quick, east can read the lay of the mond loser on spades and make five clubs; score 400, a swing of 1020.

Even if five clubs is doubled and down one it loses only 100 and saves 520. All of which could happen if west knows enough to double for takeout. Instead, he only simple overcalling with one spade.

Any Horse Sense beginner can count seven tricks in west and four in east. Defensively they know 11 tricks may not make. But the takeout double by west would announce the sacrifice advisability.

Maybe west was not so ignorant of the correct bid. Maybe he thought it was clever to hide his strength even if it fooled his partner. Either way it was wrong here. That's for sure.

Such masters must think they are too good to be true.

Mimico Club Quits Lacrosse After 40 Years

TORONTO (CP)—The Mimico Lacrosse Club, four-time winner of the Canadian championship but weakened by the spread of professionalism in recent years, has faded out of existence after 40 years.

The end came this week with the announcement that the lacrosse bowl, its partially-completed clubhouse and surrounding property, had been transferred to the Town of Mimico as a recreation centre.

The club, known as the Mounties, folded up and the executive disbanded. The town, a western suburb of Toronto, once again took possession of the land it donated to the club in 1933 in appreciation of winning the Canadian senior championship the previous year.

The club started downhill in the post-war years with its refusal to go along with the amateur tenet ideas of paying their players. The club withdrew from senior competition four years ago.

The last championship effort was last year when the juveniles captured the Ontario title.

Training Camp Notes

SKOWRON PLAYS THIRD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) Bill Skowron hit so well as a first baseman last year that the year Yankees have him playing third base.

It's all part of manager Casey Stengel's two - platoon tactics. Skowron, who after outlit or outhomered every other regular first baseman in the American League in 1956, was sent to third base as the 1957 drills opened. That gave Stengel a chance to look over Marv Throneberry at first base. The rookie from Savannah hit 42 home runs and drove in 134 runs for Denver last year.

PHILLIES TALK DEAL

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies officially denied Wednesday that any of the talk was of a possible deal for a shortstop with Brooklyn Dodgers.

Roy Hamey, general manager of the Phillies, and Buzzy Bavasi, Brooklyn vice-president, are reported talking about a trade involving Bill Lillis, a young shortstop who hit 18 home runs and batted .262 for St. Paul in the American Association last year.

KLUSZEWSKI OKAY

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Ted Kluszewski, batting question mark for Cincinnati's infield, appeared to season's hip injury, says he's taken off weight and the ailment has disappeared.

RICKEY IN ACTION

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Branch Rickey, the 75-year-old retired general manager of Pittsburgh Pirates, is back in limelight as a hitting instructor.

GIANTS PUSH ROOKIES

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Giants are looking up for New York baseball fans this year.

Manager Bill Rigney says that, as of now, rookie Orsie Virgil "is my third baseman." He also praises Andre Rogers, the eliminated Bahamian shortstop giving regular Daryl Spencer competition for the job. And the loss of catcher Bill Sarni following a heart attack gives Bob Schmidt, another youngster, an excellent chance to earn the No. 2 spot behind Wes Westrum.

Life at the U.S. Naval Academy Taking on With Many Viewers

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's not a leisurely life when you're producing five television film programs a month in a variety of places. Ask William Castle, producer-director of Annapolis, the series about life at the U.S. Naval Academy.

He says in a typical week he works six days and on the seventh day "I finally get home for a little while to see my wife."

Although Castle's wife may be tired temporarily, the navy isn't. Neither are numerous viewers who find the series on nearly 100 TV stations.

A board of officers at the academy and a review board in the navy department cull and scrutinize the scripts to be sure they're careful of detail are they, said Castle, that one set had to be pulled down because a joint of the floor was not exactly right.

There's some good viewing in the coming week. For example (all times Eastern Standard):

Sunday—5 p.m., CBS-TV, See It Now presents Edward R. Murrow; a filmed report on British attitudes since Egypt seized the Suez Canal last July.

Tuesday—8 p.m., NBC-TV, Maurice Chevalier is commentator for a filmed documentary about Paris and some of the pleasures and complexities of life in modern France.

Green Catcher Thrust Into Giants Roster

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A 23-year-old catcher who never has played higher than AA professional baseball has been suddenly thrust in the New York Giants' spotlight following the disclosure that a heart attack had cut short Bill Sarni's playing career.

The young man is Bob Schmidt, who very likely was ticketed for the minors but now will get an opportunity to win the Giants' No. 2 catching position.

"He's going to get a good shot at the first string job," said manager Bill Rigney. "Naturally we'd hope he can come all the way in a hurry. I've known him from Dallas is a big one...but it's been done before and Bob has the tools."

By the "tools" Rigney meant fine defensive quality, including a powerful arm, and a 200-pound frame. Schmidt, 273 for the Dallas in the Texas League last season and hit 13 home runs while driving in 66 runs in 111 games.

Everybody Loves a "Love Story", and Here's Why

Love stories have always achieved the top in popularity as screen vehicles. M.G.M. director, Sydney Franklin, explains it as being due to the fact that they are the entertainment world's only real audience participation shows.

"Comparatively few people can be or have been cowboys, detectives, gangsters, singers or dancers", he says, "but falling in love is something almost everyone has done at least once in his or her lifetime".

With a long list of love story hits to his credit, Franklin qualifies as an authority. His successful cinema romances include 'Random Harvest', 'Mrs. Miniver' and 'Smilin' Through'.

Recently he directed the famed love story, 'The Barretts Of Wimpole Street', for the second time. In 1934, Franklin directed the version which starred Norma Shearer, Fredric March, Charles Laughton and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Now he has once again directed a CinemaScope and color production of the love story of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning. Filmed in England, the new MGM picture stars Jennifer Jones, John Gielgud, Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna.

AT THE PARK — Bill Haley and His Comets, sensational rock 'n' roll group, give out with a torrid rock tune in Columbia Pictures' "Don't Knock the Rock" at the Park Theatre today and Saturday. Alan Dale, Alan Freed, the Treniers, Little Richard and Dave Appell and his Applejacks also star in the picture. On the same program "Rumble On the Docks". Both hits are first showings. Special feature for children Saturday Matinee, Gene Autry in "Indian Territory".

Vancouver-Born Vamp Playing Opposite Role to Clark Gable

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's a big jump from queen of the bar-a-sand epics to Clark Gable's co-star, but Yvonne de Carlo has made it.

The Vancouver-born vamp now is playing opposite the king in Band of Angels. A year ago folks would have said it couldn't happen. But that was a year ago.

Yvonne herself realizes the change in her career. She has always been realistic and down-to-earth. When we lunched, she shunned the Warners Green Room where actors generally eat in stuffy seclusion. She chose a joint across the street where she could play the juke box and relax.

"It has been a combination of circumstances," she explained. "For one thing, there was The 10 Commandments. And at the same time, I changed agents."

Changing agents is a popular pastime with stars who want action in their careers. In Yvonne's case, it worked. Her new agent was also Gable's and he was seeking a co-star for Band of Angels. But a great deal of handsome acting, and Yvonne's calm, workmanlike job stood out.

"I'm very glad I've been given a chance to do anything important over there," she said. "And I wasn't too selective when I got out. I loved travel, and when somebody said there was a picture I could do in Timbuktu, I'd start packing my bag."

Eventually she settled down, married stunt man Bob Morgan and had a baby son, Bruce. She also settled down to improving her dramatic abilities.

"When I'm able to, I like to have a couple of months before a picture starts to study the script," she said. "I work with a coach and I try to figure out how the character will react."

Little Benny's Notebook

I was taking a Saturday walk with pop, and he said, For Feet sake have you suddenly broken your neck?

Meening on account of me walking with my head bent down, and I said, No sir pop, I'm looking for something.

By the way you're acting you must be looking for a uranium mine, pop said. Have you got a Geiger counter in your Adam's apple? he said, and I said—Oh boy I wish I did. I'm not looking for anything special, I said.

That must make the operation more difficult, pop said, and I said, It's not hard for Lucky Leroy Shooster. He finds something almost every day. Everybody always wondered how he did it, and this morning he sold me the secret for a dime, I said.

Yee gods, what's the secret? pop said, and I said, You just keep looking down at the ground every second. Lucky Leroy has had so much practice he can keep looking without anybody noticing it, but I'm not that good at it yet, I said.

And you gave him a dime for that information? pop said, and I said, I didn't have a dime, but I owe him one.

For Feet sake here's a dime to pay him off, and here's another one representing compound interest on the silliest investment you ever made, pop said. That proves you're just naturelly lucky and can afford to walk with your head up and your eyes straight ahead like a proud citizen of a free country, he said, and I said, Sure, pop, G, oh boy, hurraw for me.

And I started to walk naturel, feeling the luckiest I've felt all week.

Israel States Withdrawal Plan Depends On U.S.

Jerusalem Reports Cabinet Reconsidering Decision

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israel announced late today her readiness to withdraw from Egypt will depend on "further clarification" of the United States position. government radio as the cabinet met to reconsider Israel's decision, announced Friday, to withdraw from Gaza and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The announcement said:

"The cabinet is meeting this afternoon in urgent session to discuss the situation arising after Israel made her statement Friday before the United Nations General Assembly which was followed by the statement of the American delegate."

The radio added: "It is clear that in any event Israel's readiness to withdraw will depend on further clarification to be requested from the American delegate.

Officials close to the cabinet meeting said it is unlikely the cabinet will order the withdrawal to proceed without clearer pledges from the United States and the United Nations that Egyptian forces will not return to Gaza.

The officials said the statement of U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge to the UN Friday left most of the American support expected here. This, they said, was the reason for the emergency moves today.

NO CONDITIONS

In the UN Friday, Lodge welcomed the Israeli announcement and said the United States did not consider "these declarations make Israel's withdrawal conditional." Meir had said her government had decided on immediate withdrawal on these "assumptions" that UN troops would take over in Gaza, that they would police the area, and that the UN would administer the strip with the signing of a peace settlement.

News of the request for a postponement came as Russia on the way from Cairo to Lydda for the meeting.

Burma has signalled all UNEF contingents to "stand by."

The UNEF and the meeting would be held Sunday. But official close to Ben-Gurion confessed doubt that Sunday's meeting would actually be held.

Harris Hints Action to Boost Farm Prices

CLINTON (CP)—Finance Minister Harris hinted that the impending federal budget may contain measures designed to bolster sagging farm prices.

Addressing 300 Huron County Liberals at the riding's nominating convention Friday night, he said that in the past four years the government has been aware that "farm prices have not been commensurate with those of industry."

"It seems to us," Mr. Harris said, "that this is not a condition that should pertain too long. It seems to us that the government, working in conjunction with farm organizations, can find a solution. . . ."

Andrew J. McLean, 47-year-old publisher of the weekly newspaper Huron Expositor at Seaforth, was nominated unanimously as Liberal candidate in the forthcoming federal elections.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Colder or six, which is pushing southeastward across the Great Lakes will cover all of Ontario by this evening. The cold air will bring snowflurries to the province. Sunday will be sunny but continuing cold over most areas.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Israeli troops in two sandy, desolate areas around the Red Sea stand between Egypt and withdraw to their home territory. Throughout most of the world their withdrawal was awaited as a first step in an eventual settlement in the Middle East.

In the United Nations, the withdrawal—and the steps which may follow it—were being regarded as a test of the world body's effectiveness in any dispute in the future.

The Arab world apparently was waiting to see whether the Israelis would keep their word precise made in the General Assembly here Friday, Egypt, in a brief statement following the Israeli pronouncement, said only that "we take it that the assembly is unanimous in expecting full and honest implementation of its resolutions calling for the immediate and unconditional withdrawal by Israel."

This statement raised hopes that Egypt would not block the efforts of the UN Emergency Force in taking over the areas evacuated by Israel. Military UNEF units in Burma or Canada was reported ready to move the force to promptly behind the withdrawing Israelis.

Burma! scheduled meeting today with the Israeli chief of staff to arrange for the takeover was postponed until Sunday. No reason was given for the postponement. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold told the UN Friday he had called for this meeting "as a matter of urgency."

External Affairs Minister Pearson said Canada was prepared hopeful that the withdrawal would be followed smoothly and swiftly by Burns' force. If this were achieved during the weekend, Pearson believed, they would be able to end the 11th UN assembly to adjourn the new Hammarskjold to carry out further negotiations.

The assembly was due to have wound up its business by today and adjourned — or at least recessed. However, the delegates were called back for a Monday session to hear a report on the UNEF plan to occupy the Gaza Strip and the Sharm-el-Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba came as the result of negotiations outside the UN. But agreement in the General Assembly here was seen today as the only way to get the Israeli came out of the efforts of the United States to break the deadlock with Egypt. Israel has insisted on occupation of the last two areas she occupied in last October's invasion.

EDMONTON (CP) — A splinter from the Social Credit government's almost-forgotten 1935 "dividend" platform turned up in the 1957-58 budget address in the Alberta legislature Friday night.

The new plan will see full wealthy citizens pay individual dividends to all Canadians over 21 who have been born in Alberta five consecutive years. The money represents one-third of the petroleum royalties paid to the government in the previous fiscal year.

In the budget speech, the amendments to those eligible will total approximately $20,000,000, about four per cent of the government's total estimated expenditures of $285,489,370, a record figure.

There were no details about the dividend in Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman's budget speech. He used only one minute of a 1½-hour address to sketch the plan, noting it will create a "new interest on the part of the individual as a shareholder" in oil resources.

Until the dividend legislation is brought into the House, there can only be speculation on the plan's scope. At this stage, it is believed the age and residence restrictions will eliminate close to 60 per cent of Alberta's 1,123,000 population, leaving payments in 1957-58 of between $60 and $80 for those eligible.

The dividend recalls the Social Credit's election platform of 22 years ago—a platform in which Premier Ernest C. Manning's hard made a never-fulfilled promise of $25 a month to every man in Alberta as a result of proposed monetary reform.

There is nothing in published Social Credit theory to explain the new dividend plan. It is—in Mr. Hinman's words—simply a distribution "being made in order that Albertans may share personally in the prosperity resulting from the development of our oil industry."

MAIL DELIVERY PROBLEMS AGAIN BEFORE COMMONS

Twice-Daily Service Asked by Opposition

OTTAWA (CP) — Mail-delivery problems—a few national but most in the Soo—occupied the Commons Friday.

Several members renewed demands for reinstatement of twice-daily delivery service urban areas as the Commons studied spending estimates of Postmaster General Lapointe. Others said that before this is done, all rural areas should get at least once-daily deliveries.

Members of all parties also urged that salaries of postal workers be increased.

A few suggested stamps to mark the 1958 centennials of British Columbia and of the first oil discovery in North America in Oil-fields, Ont.

CRITICIZE STAMPS

A series of four five-cent stamps to be issued next week—depicting the seasonal sports of skiing, fishing, swimming and hockey—came under some criticism. But the day's main theme was praise for various post office projects.

Mr. Lapointe, opening discussion of the $150,522,356 post office spending estimates for the fiscal year starting April 1, indicated his department will show a surplus of about $2,000,000 in the current year.

He estimated revenues for the current year at $169,658,000, an increase from $158,358,356 in 1955. Approved spending appropriations approved last year of $139,356,622, up $13,355 INCREASE

Frank Enfield (L—York Scarborough), urging higher pay for postal workers, said he doesn't know how a married man with a family can exist on the department will show a surplus of about $2,000,000 in the current year.

Frank Enfield (L—York Scarborough), urging higher pay for postal workers, said he doesn't know how a married man with a family can exist on the present starting salary for letter carriers.

A request for a stamp marking the 100th anniversary of the continent's first oil discovery came from Lieut.-Col. J. A. MacKenzie (L—Lambton-Kent) and J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West), both of Sarnia. Mr. Murphy said persons doubt the claim that the first North American oil discovery was made at Oilfields in southwest Ontario, but historical research proved the point beyond doubt.

Mr. Mackenzie said Oilfields is planning a celebration of centennial next year. An oil museum might be erected in the southwestern Ontario community.

HEARING MONDAY

OTTAWA (CP)—A royal commission investigating the dispute that brought a nine-day tieup of the CPR's transcontinental railway system in January opens hearings here Monday. The three-man commission is to make recommendations on the issue of using firemen on diesel locomotives, over which the railway and its firemen's union have been at odds for more than a year.

Father and Two Infant Sons Perish in Blaze at Preston

PRESTON (CP)—A father and his two sons perished in a spare-moment fire early today in this town near Galt.

Nine-month-old Robert Bodfield was burned to death in the flames. His brother, Harold, 3, and the father, William, a welder, were asphyxiated.

Firemen worked five hours at the scene in a vain attempt to revive the father and older son. They said the fire was restricted to the Bodfields' second-storey apartment, one of three in an old wooden building. Six other adults and four children fled the building without injury.

Mrs. Bodfield and her mother-in-law, Beatrice, had spent the night with friends.

Vincent Nevidon, 20, was awakened in an adjoining hotel by flames reflected in his window. He roused his father, Nat, 31, owner of the hotel, and together they raised the alarm.

Both ran to the building next door and broke down the door to the Bodfield apartment. They were driven back in the entrance with extinguishers but were unable to enter because of dense smoke.

Firemen found young Robert's charred body in a crib, those of the father and father on the floor in another room.

They said they are not sure what caused the fire.

Socialized Medicine Takes Thumping in Britain, France

LONDON (Reuters)—Socialized medicine took a thumping in Britain and France this week, with the medical profession blasting both governments and the public watching fearfully.

The British 40,000 doctors, all participating in the government's national health service, are demanding a 24-per-cent pay rise—at their first since 1951. If they don't get it, they threaten to walk out of the service and charge fees.

Their French colleagues are seething over the Socialist-led government's plan to reorganize the health service and for maximum fees for treating patients.

Basic idea of the scheme in both countries is to eliminate the burden of heavy medical bills.

Britons and Frenchmen pay for this form of social security in different ways, however.

In Britain, four-fifths of the cost of the service is met by the government. The remainder comes from contributions from all employed persons, their employers and local taxes.

When the plan was inaugurated nearly 10 years ago, it was hoped the annual health budget would not exceed £300,000,000 ($840,000,000). But despite attempts at economy, costs have risen to more than £600,000,000 a year. Contributions of the service will go up in the fall to help make up the deficit.

The doctors' demand for an extra £20,000,000 is on top of that another £20,000,000 to health service costs.

The government has said it cannot possibly meet their demand at this time, but has offered to appoint royal commission to look into the matter of doctors' and dentists' fees.

Medical men have not found this satisfactory, however. They say a royal commission could take three years making its inquiries, while the medical standard of living fell steadily behind that of other professions.

The average general practitioner in the health service has an annual income of £2,200 plus expenses, the public are afraid each year. A meeting of the British Medical Association is expected in April and any decision to withdraw would have to be endorsed by the membership.

In France, as in Britain, Frenchmen must contribute to their national health scheme. The main difference between the two is that in France the patient pays the doctor, and then claims reimbursement from the state through his local social security office.

U.S. Hopes Canal Settlement Follows Israeli Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials expressed hope today for speedy removal of British forces from areas taken from Egypt, and then for quick resumption of negotiations on operation of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli troop issue has been regarded here as the key to breaking the deadlock on a number of disputes. Of particular foremost among them the future of the canal which Egypt seized last summer.

Also awaiting solution is the major problem of achieving a stable settlement between Israel and the Arabs, with the prevention of starting repairs on one of the major oil pipelines which runs through Syria. Eleven pipelines are damaged, and the Suez Canal blocked, after the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

Arab envoys who conferred with State Secretary Dulles Friday came away telling reporters they would "wait and see" how the Israeli withdrawal develops.

The U.S. is anxious to convince the Arabs that it made no secret promises or concessions to win Israeli agreement to leave the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

The U.S. has taken the position that Israel should make an unconditional withdrawal from the disputed areas. But it has offered assurances of support for moves to back efforts to get free navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba blockaded by the Egyptians for the years before the Israelis moved in.

EMIGRATION HALTS

VIENNA (AP) — For the first time since the Hungarian revolution last October — November, no Hungarian refugee crossed into Austria Friday, police reported. Since the crushing of the revolution by Russian troops, about 200,000 Hungarians have left their homeland.

Irish Gunmen Send Empty Train Racing Down Line

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three masked gunmen held up a train inside the Irish Republic today, forced its crew to start driving the unmanned locomotive and 27 freight cars speeding into Northern Ireland.

The 90-ton engine—its throttle jammed open—roared past a railway signalmen tried to divert it from the main railroad terminus at Londonderry.

Gradually losing speed, the runaway train rumbled straight into the terminal and rammed into a concrete wall at the end of a dead-end form. The locomotive tore five feet into the concrete barrier while the freight cars telescoped and piled up behind it.

No casualties were reported.

Northern Ireland is a part of the United Kingdom. The outlawed Irish Republican Army has been conducting a campaign to make the six counties of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic a southern Irish Republic. The gunmen are believed members of the IRA.

SEEKS ASYLUM

GRAZ, Austria (AP)—An officer of the Yugoslav Air Force has asked political asylum in Austria after landing his military plane near Bruck in the Austrian province of Styria, Austrian officials identified him as Capt. Blaz Munkic, 35, of Zagreb. They said he blamed economic hardships in Yugoslavia as the cause for his flight. He flew across the border Friday.

ONTARIO HYDRO'S GROSS REVENUE UP $20,000,000

Change to 60-Cycle Power Nearly Complete

TORONTO (CP) — Preliminary figures show the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission had gross revenue of more than $186,000,000 last year, an increase of $20,000,000 over 1955.

The legislature was told this Friday by Ray Connell, second vice-chairman of the commission and minister without portfolio. He said total assets amounted to more than $2,000,000,000 while the long-term liabilities of the commission at the end of 1956 stood at about $1,392,000,000.

The program of switching the electrical frequency to 60 cycles from 25, now in its eighth year, will cost the commission about $279,600,000. The change-over program is about 75 per cent completed in Southwestern Ontario, Mr. Connell said.

He estimated it would cost about $6,000,000 to make the consumer cycle change in Northeastern Ontario. The project will be started next year.

AT THE LAKEHEAD

Mr. Connell told the House during the throne speech debate that the Lakehead is looking for the development of a thermal-electric generating station at the Lakehead in the future and that the plan will use coal and it will go into operation in 1962. No other details were given.

Construction was in progress, at present, on three separate projects which would add more than 2,200,000 kilowatts to the commission's system within the next four years. Electricity demand over the Hydro may be four to five times greater by 1980 than today. The commission's program of construction must continue at the same accelerated pace if the requirements were to be met and a safe margin of reserve reached.

Searing Explosion Occurs As Plane Nears Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the RCAF's top officers, Air Vice-Marshal Robert C. Ripley, and seven other service members died Friday night in the flaming crash of a B-25 Mitchell bomber 12 miles south of Uplands air base.

A searing explosion shattered the twin-engine plane and brought instant death to all aboard on a stretch of farmland and woodlots one mile from the village of Manotick.

The aircraft was headed for Uplands on the last leg of a 1,225-mile flight from Churchill, Man., the cold-weather base where air force supplies are tested. The tests are part of the operations of Air Materiel Command headed by the six-year-old Air Vice-Marshal Ripley, a native of Lethbridge, Alta.

KINGSTON PILOT

An air force spokesman said the pilot, Flt.-Lieutenant was flying co-pilot with his executive assistant, Flt.-Lieut. John D. Mawson, 35, of Kingston, as pilot.

He said the plane was "awaiting its turn to commence an instrument let-down at Uplands" when the crash came shortly after 9 p.m. EST. The Mitchell had stopped to refuel at North Bay on its way from Churchill.

The sky was overcast but no snow was falling.

Identification of most of the victims was early today.

Besides the pilot and co-pilot they were:

Wing Cmdr. Walter S. Johnson, 42, of Trenton, Ont., commanding officer of the RCAF's central experimental establishment at Namao, Alta., near Edmonton.

Lt.-Cmdr. Henry F. Utting, Ottawa and Woodstock, a member of the navy testing detachment at Churchill.

Cpl. Ronald Wesley Faulkner, 25, of Ottawa, crewman.

ANOTHER DIES

Minutes before the tragedy the Mitchell had circled low over Manotick, a community of 500 persons 11 miles south of Ottawa which lies in the main approach path for aircraft landing at Uplands. The base is joint civilian and air force field on the southern outskirts of the capital.

Indian Pow-Wow on Edmonton Streets Will Mark End of Eviction Threat

EDMONTON (CP) — Indians gathered in pow-wow in full regalia on Edmonton streets today to celebrate a court decision blocking threat of eviction from their reservation.

It will be more formal than the impromptu dance staged on the first hour since Friday to mark a decision lifting the threat of expulsion of 122 Samson band Indians from their homes on the oil-rich Hobbema reserve 55 miles south of Edmonton.

Chief Judge Nelles Buchanan of district court rejected a plea from the federal government that it had been negotiating with the Indians, should continue to be regarded as Indians.

The situation resulted in discussion in both the House of Commons at Ottawa and the Alberta legislature in Edmonton.

A one stage the Indians addressed a petition to the Queen but it was rejected by Ottawa on the federal government and the Commons discussion followed.

Pontiff Marks 81st Birthday In Good Health

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Pope marked his 81st birthday today and messages of greeting poured in from all over the world.

Today also was the 18th anniversary of his election as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

Early this morning Rome residents and tourists began gathering in St. Peter's Square to hail the pontiff. At the Vatican and Vatican buildings throughout Rome, gold and white papal flags were flown in observance of the occasion.

For the Pope himself, the double anniversary was little different than any other of his work days, Vatican sources said he followed his usual schedule, celebrating mass in his private chapel and then going about his regular work.

L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, and other Italian newspapers lauded the Pope's life work. A medal, commemorating the anniversaries, was coined by the Vatican mint.

The public observance for the double anniversary will be held March 12. That is the anniversary of the Pope's coronation.

Urged to Avoid Civil War Within Church

TORONTO (CP)—The board of evangelism and social service of the United Church of Canada Friday urged its members to avoid "civil war within the church" over the issue of abstinence from drinking.

It said abstainers and moderate drinkers should at all costs avoid the "unchristian attitude" of any enemy as powerful and aggressive as the liquor trade."

In a report the board urged abstainers to continue to maintain their position in a reasonable and friendly spirit."

'World in Marsh' Film Enjoyed By Members

The regular meeting of the Belleville and District Film Council was held at the Corby Library, Thursday evening. President Lloyd Kells welcomed the large crowd which attended.

A brief report was heard from Mr. Stan Wootton, the representative of the National Film Board for the area, which dealt with current Film Board activities. Council authorized the purchasing of a new screen and was informed of the preparatory plans for the forthcoming Film Festival.

Mr. Bruce Sills, representing the Moira Valley Conservation Authority, presented to Mr. Kells a copy of the recently produced film, "The Moira Valley". President Kells pointed out that this film was a welcomed addition to the Council library and that it undoubtedly would be well used by interested groups.

The guest speaker for the evening was William Carrick, a freelance photographer who has travelled far and photographed much. Mr. Carrick introduced a film which he personally photographed for the National Film Board, "World In A Marsh". This film, which was produced over a period of three years, depicted natural life as it existed in a marsh north of Toronto. Above surface and underwater shots of the continuous struggle for survival on the part of frogs, mosquitoes, beetles and dragonflies, in their various stages of growth, were extremely fascinating and informative. Mr. Carrick, by adding interesting sidelights on how the photography was executed, provided a viewing experience not to be forgotten. The guest speaker was introduced by M. M. Hackett and thanked by Robt. Hamilton.

Following adjournment, coffee and cake were served.

New Pathological Building For Hospital Considered

A recommendation that working drawings be prepared with a view to calling for tenders for a new pathological building was unanimously adopted at the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors meeting at the hospital yesterday.

The new one-storey building, fitted with the most modern equipment will furnish almost four times as much space as present facilities.

It will be located on the lower ground immediately behind the main building and will be connected by tunnel with the hospital. The stone and brick structure will also be attached to the central heating system.

In regard to consideration of a revision of room rates, Administrator Kenneth Box presented a schedule of rates charged by seven other Ontario hospitals showing that the charges here are slightly above the average charge. A decision on the question of adopting the new rates was passed on for further discussion by the finance committee.

Mr. Box said that the non-professional members of the hospital staff are presently negotiating a union membership. He recommended that personnel form a grievance committee to discuss their problems with management, and that the question of salaries be reviewed.

A motion that $300 be granted to the Nurses' Registry was moved by A. E. Hall and seconded by Mrs. J. E. Marsh.

Mrs. W. C. Mikel, who retired this year after 50 years' service on the Board of Governors, was presented with a gift from the hospital by chairman J. N. Yanover on behalf of the board.

Members of the Board of Governors attending the meeting were J. E. Buchan, Frank Donnelly, A. M. Haig, Dr. J. S. Loynes, Mrs. H. McCabe, McLaren, Mrs. J. E. Marsh, A. F. Whitehead, J. N. Yanover, and T. C. Graham.

Following the meeting, members of the board enjoyed lunch in the hospital's new cafeteria, which is rated one of the best in the province. This modernly-equipped plant was built last year as part of the hospital's continuing expansion and renovation program.

Dr. S. Loynes said that all beds are presently occupied and that further expansion will be necessary to meet the demands of the growing population of this area.

W.C.W.S. Johnson, Killed In Crash, Well Known Here

Wing Commander Walter S. Johnson, 41, one of seven RCAF personnel who died in the fiery crashing wreckage of their Mitchell bomber when it crashed near Ottawa Friday morning, was well known in the Belleville area.

He was the son of Mrs. George N. Johnson of Toronto, and formerly late George Johnson, former CNR conductor. Both lived for many years lived on Front Street over the Ontario Intelligencer office.

Wing Commander Johnson was born in Trenton and early in life showed a keen interest in the air force, becoming a member of the RCAF shortly after finishing school.

He served overseas in World War II with the ferry command and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Married, he lived with his wife and family at Namao near Edmonton, where he was commanding officer of the RCAF Central Experimental and Proving Establishment. Also surviving are his mother in Toronto and a sister residing in the United States.

A brother was killed with the R.C.A.F. in Burma during the war, and his body was never found.

IN MEMORIAM

LATTA. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Marian Latta, who passed away March 2nd, 1943. Memory wanders as twilight shadows fall.

Back in the quiet of happiness
Days beyond recall,
And a vision comes before us,
So calm, so dear, so sweet
Of those lips that now are silent,
And whose lids are closed in sleep.
—Ever remembered by her sons and daughters.

WELLMAN. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Wellman, who passed away March 2nd, 1953.

We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memories are the only friend that we can call our own.
We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh,
But all we could do was just stand by.
For when the time came we suffered too.
For you never deserved what you went through.
So you rest in peace, mother,
And suffer no more,
For you will never know a heartache,
Until you see Heaven's door.
—Sadly missed by husband Herb, son Ralph and daughter-in-law Ruby.

CARDS OF THANKS

I sincerely wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for lovely cards and gifts, also Dr. Bell and Dr. Ross, also the doctors, nurses and nurses' aides on 1st West, Belleville General Hospital, for all their kindness. Thank you for all. —Mrs. Harold Brennan.

Modern Block On Front Street Now Completed

The typical main street of the future, it has been predicted, will be a pattern of glass set in a framework of steel.

In erecting the new ultra modern Mayer block at 371-385 Front Street, owner Bill Mayer must have had this vision of the new wide look in view. The plate glass windows which run the entire width of the store on both floors, give the highest percentage of glass frontage of any two-storey office building in Belleville.

An contrasting mid-style of terrazzo tends to stress the tone and cool transparency of the steel-girded glass front.

Mr. Mayer, who is former owner of Delaney Furriers, recently more interested in real estate, is also looking to the future in selecting a site for ultra modern offices near the new federal government building, which is conveniently located in the rear.

The light-flooded front room is ideal for display or other purposes and the well-located suite of three offices facilitating rapid communication between sales and office personnel.

These modern display rooms and offices which are now completed and available for rent, can be divided according to the wishes of the tenant. Potential of complete floor space on the first or second floor is available at present.

Puppies Offered At Market Here

The market went to the dogs or rather the dogs came to the market here today as four seven - week old collie-spaniels awaited new masters at $25 each.

When asked "What's new today?" a veteran vendor who has braved the lowest sub zero temperatures throughout the winter, replied "The weather! It's wonderful!"

But for the first time this season there was a small fluctuation on apple prices with most vendors charging 75c and others 80c for six-quart baskets of Macs. On one stall, extra fancy Delicious were offered at 90c while fancy Delicious were more modest at 75c.

Sweets strung along with Delicious at 75c while some Macs were putting on an act at 80c along with Russets and Spys.

Eggs were fairly rising one cent to 48c for extra, 43c for large and 41c for medium.

Capons, ducks and fowl were for sale at 60c, 50c and 45c respectively.

Fresh hyacinth, geranium and baby tear plants were offered at 50c.

Parsnips were popular at 70c a peck, while no beet nor yam were won't miss the picture-taking opportunities ahead. Then see us again for fast, expert finishing when your pictures are taken.

Driverless Car Hits Two Others, Damage $200

TRENTON (Special) No drivers took part in an accident that involved three cars at Bridge and Dundas streets here Friday.

Robert Johnson, 35 of 83 Ontario Street, parked his car on the Trenton Country Club on King Street and went inside to visit a friend. He left his machine in second gear according to the report of the police incident books, facing downhill toward the centre of town. He happened to start moving off though one of the picture windows. He tried to stop it but by the time he got outside his car was racing down grade.

First the driverless vehicle rammed J. R. Comstock's parked car in front of 385 King Street, then it glanced off and crashed into Norman Robinson's car parked in front of the house next door.

Total damage was estimated at over $200 to all three cars.

A Lift for Living

Be Prepared for the Best

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

It is a common piece of proverbial wisdom that we should be prepared for the worst. But to be prepared for the best is rather a rare grace. We have a saying: "Expect the best, prepare for the worst and take what comes." Is it not true that in actuality the idea of preparedness connotes getting ready for the worst?

Take it in our national life. When we speak of preparedness, we think at once of armies and navies, of air force and atomic weapons. We get ready for the worst in other peoples. We talk about the family of nations but the irony is apparent when we think about the analogy of the family. Suppose we trained our children to live together in the family by showing baby how to use his fists if big brother comes near his bottle, or by giving Mary a package of pins to use if John picks on her. We talk about the methods by which we prepare nations to live together in the family of nations.

After World War I, a European statesman contended: "We were prepared for war but we were not prepared for peace." How tragically true that was again after World War II. Mounting billions are being spent in preparing against the expected worst in other nations.

And it would be folly for any one nation to lay down its arms while the others go on piling up armaments. But if half the effort and inventiveness now spent on weapons of defense were given to finding ways of cultivating friendship, we could further the cause of peace.

EDUCATIONAL VIEWPOINT

And take a look at education. We educate our children in order to prepare them for the future. Yet many have the idea reflected in the remark a mother: "We can't leave our children much money—but we shall give them a good education. That's something nobody can take away from them."

Lurking behind the wisdom of such a remark is the conception of education as a preparation for defense against a competitive society. The boy says to himself, "I'll go to college so I can make more at 40 than the fellow who does not go."

The word "educate" in its origin means "to lead out," and education should be a leading out of the mind to link itself with the best—not a technical preparation for defense against the worst.

Or consider the idea of preparedness in the realm of religion. Very well do I remember an evangelist of my boyhood days who had an arresting sermon on the theme "Prepare to meet your God." It was taken from the text about the rich farmer who was planning larger barns when suddenly he was called by death to meet his God. Again and again the preacher rang the changes on the questions, "Are you ready for the reckoning?" "Have you made your peace with God?"

Well, far be it from me to gainsay the truth of divine judgment. This universe is founded on justice, but my feeling as I read the Gospels is that Jesus was trying to prepare us not so much for a divine reckoning as for a divine beckoning—a beckoning to something bigger and better.

GOD'S PARABLES

Jesus told not only the parable of the foolish farmer who was unprepared for death but also the parable of the foolish virgins who were unprepared for the wedding feast. God wants His children to be ready for the best. And to be really prepared for the best is usually the most effective preparation against the worst.

"In my Father's house are many mansions", He said, "I go to prepare a place for you." The point for us is — Will we be prepared, if we have not learned to like the kind of things Jesus liked, if we cannot live without the earthly things we set our hearts on here, then that will be hell for us. Then they who are ready will "go in with the bridegroom to the marriage and the door will be shut."

Personally I think of death and judgment less in terms of a courtroom and more in terms of a school commencement. Life is a school, God has sent prophets and wise men and His son Jesus Christ to teach us. When we have finished our courses here, we shall go on to further growth and development. What we have done here will determine the direction hereafter, if we have prepared for the best, we shall be ready for God's Higher Heavenly School.

This week we enter the season of Lent. It is the period when Christendom prepares for the triumph of life over death.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

Most Canadian birds, even some that nest on the ground, are food trees. Though each species has own preference, certain kinds trees are particularly popular. Evergreens come at the top of the list, probably because they are good places in which to hide, offer the same protection winter and summer, and can be found farther north than other trees. They are useful both as home sites and for the food they are able to supply.

Pine grosbeaks, pine siskins, and pine warblers all acquired their names from their habits of frequenting pines. Both types of crossbills are absolutely dependent upon coniferous trees, their unique bills having been designed expressly for removing seeds from cones. Evening grosbeaks and ruby-crowned kinglets make their summer homes in our northern evergreen forests; golden-crowned kinglets find spruces necessary for nesting. Purple finches like to live in a tall conifer with overshadows all its neighbors whether this be in the northern forests or in one of our parks.

FAVOR BALSAM

Catbirds, robins, and chipping sparrows are not at all fussy about their choice of trees, but all seem to favor the balsam, building their nests on a branch which is practically covered by another branch so that the home is invisible. In winter, redbreasted nuthatches and golden-crowned kinglets find spruces necessary for nesting. Purple finches like to live in a tall conifer with overshadows all its neighbors whether this be in the northern forests or in one of our parks.

PRINCE CHARLES AT SCHOOL

The Ottawa Journal, borrowing from the London Spectator, which did the original legwork, has presented an amusing summary of London newspapers' reports of Prince Charles' first day at school.

The story is told in nine short sentences, but it would be a grievous error to suppose that, for that reason, it is a simple one to understand.

We reproduce here the nine sentences, with their variations as given by London newspapers. For the sake of simplicity we will number the sentences:

1—The school was — five storeys high (Daily Mail); six storeys high (Daily Telegraph); seven storeys high (Daily Sketch).

2—He (Prince Charles) arrived — in a black Ford Zephyr (Daily Sketch); in a green saloon (Daily Herald); at — 8.55 a.m. (Daily Herald); 9 a.m. (The Times) 9.15 (Daily Telegraph); 9.28 (Daily Mail); on the dot of 9.30 (Daily Express).

4—He paraded a silky mixture of black and red (News Chronicle); green (Daily Sketch); grey (Daily Mirror); which was — approaching Tower Bridge (Daily Mirror); passing under Tower Bridge (Daily Mirror); colored (Manchester Guardian); brown (Daily Mirror).

5—He was in a class with — 8 other boys (Daily Express); a dozen other boys (Daily Mail); 16 other boys (Daily Express); 17 other boys (Daily Herald).

7—The Prince is to be called — plain Charles (Daily Mail); Prince Charles by the headmaster and Charles by the other boys (Daily Express); Prince Charles by both staff and boys (Daily Telegraph).

8—The teaching staff — all female (The Times); has a number of masters (Daily Telegraph).

9—The day came to an end — at 1 o'clock (Daily Herald); at 3.30 (News Chronicle); soon after 3.30 (Daily Mirror); at 3.45 (Daily Telegraph); at 3.45 (Daily Express).

Editor's note on last sentence—and not a moment too soon, otherwise the poor Prince might have found school confusing.

CHURCH APARTHEID

The Cape Peninsula Church Council in South Africa has denounced a government proposal to segregate church congregations.

"Any attempt on the part of the state to control or limit attendance at worship is an unwarrantable violation of religious freedom," says the Council.

There will be many who will loudly applaud this statement and will happily conclude that, in its effort to extend apartheid to church attendance, the South African government has finally gone too far.

Yet one may reasonably ask whether the church's case would not have been stronger if it had taken a forthright stand against apartheid before its own ox was gored.

South Africa has many examples of apartheid in other spheres, who see nothing wrong with forcibly dispossessing the Bantu and "colored" families of their homes and moving them to segregated areas outside cities. They may not be adverse to accepting the official government explanation that racial segregation in churches is necessary "to combat certain malpractices and the use of religion for propaganda."

For the churches in the Cape Peninsula Church Council it may be another sad case of "too little, too late."

PEIPING UP TO NEW TRICKS

Peiping reports that Americans in Formosa are sponsoring a movement to oust Chiang Kai-Shek as head of the Nationalist government in favor of a "people's council" headed by a philosopher and a Roman Catholic cardinal.

These reports are seen as part of Communist China's present propaganda to persuade Chiang to settle his feud with the Communist regime.

What is not so evident is the manner in which this report will be used by the Chinese Reds.

Will they seek to persuade Chinese Nationalists to switch from Chiang to the group they describe as "so-called liberals?"

Or will they use the reported effort to oust Chiang as an argument to persuade him to accept their peace overtures?

These points leave out of the picture another important question — is the report of the formation of an anti-Chiang faction in the Nationalists' ranks true or false?

It would not be surprising if it were true. Certainly there has been widespread discontent amongst Formosans, who have seen their island, immediately after its liberation from lengthy Japanese control, taken over by a group from the mainland of China, with little or no representation in the government for the natives of the island. Nor would it be surprising if there existed amongst the exiled mainlanders themselves an anti-Chiang faction.

If, however, there is now a move to depose the Generalissimo there will be many who will regard it as yet another example of "too little, too late."

There were many Western observers who regarded the liberalization of Chiang's regime as a step which should have been undertaken during the last days of the Second World War, or immediately after its cessation, and who maintained that it was the only way to head off a Communist revolution in China. Whether it would have succeeded in preventing the triumph of the Communists will now never be known.

Massey Joins Confucius

Ottawa Citizen

From the point of view of the lazy writer, Mr. Vincent Massey is a disturber of the peace, for his Josiah Wood lecture at Mount Allison University, Governor-General made a most disturbing demand. He called upon those writers, themselves to be printed word to say precisely what they mean. If they refuse to do so, how ever many would have first of all to study the meaning of words and the structure of sentences. They would then have to clarify their thoughts before they allowed themselves clear to the reader. And the worst of it is that not infrequently they would find that if they had clear thoughts they lacked the courage to express them plainly.

What troubles Mr. Massey is that with the development of "mass media of communication" great numbers of speakers and writers are cajoling the public in a quantitative if coarse fashion, qualifying themselves to do so. Their fault may be ignorance, or worse still, they may prefer fawning to the people to being honest.

In the field of "officialese," the kind of utterance that frequently arouses even Parliamentary phrase-makers is like this example given by Mr. Massey:

The problem involves certain complex ethical aspects and it is anticipated that it may be deemed necessary to envisage possibly unpredictable reaction from various socio-religious groups more or less meticulous in this regard.

Being translated, this passage seems to mean: "I am not sure what is the right thing to do. What I ever I do, somebody will criticize and blame me for it."

To his aid in distracting bad writing — verbose, ugly, obscure or merely sloppy — Mr. Massey summons Truth itself. "If we interpret give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to battle?" Milton warned that when language becomes irregular or depraved a people may be degraded or civilized. Much earlier, Confucius had drawn the picture of this kind of slump into barbarism:

If language is not correct, then what is said is not what is meant; if what is said is not what is meant, then what ought to be done remains undone; so morals and arts will deteriorate, justice will go astray; and the people will not know about in helpless confusion.

That is why the Chinese sage said, that if a country were left to him to administer his first task would be to correct language.

Letter To The Editor

Says Bridges Needed More Than More Dams

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
This is just a line to answer the Moira Dam question regarding floods.

I was one of the families in the flood of 1936 on March 12 and know for certain that if it would have been kept open under the railroad bridge in the southern part of the city there would not have been a flood. Instead of more dams being built it would be to take over from the need a road across the river to connect with Dundas Street and cut out the sharp turn at Bridge Street up Front Street and also many dollars in damages.

If we also need a foot bridge in the southern end of the city. Piers are there already so why not take some of the money that would be needed for dams and build a foot bridge people some necessary conveniences and save a few lives, as many have been killed crossing the railroad bridge and the road crossing there at South Front Street.

There are many improvements needed in this city more than another dam. The price of a life is more worthy of consideration than the dam.

Interested Citizen.

Eight of Ten Met Hard Fate

(Fort. William. Times-Journal)

In 1929, an important meeting was held at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago. Attending this meeting were ten of the world's most successful financiers. Those present were:

The president of the National City Bank;

The president of the largest utility company;

The president of the largest gas company;

The greatest wheat speculator;

A member of the President's Cabinet;

The greatest "bear" in Wall Street;

Head of the world's greatest monopoly;

President of the Bank of International Settlements.

Certainly we must admit that the above group of men, a group of the world's most successful men. They had solved, they found the secret of "making money." Thirty-three years later, let's see what happened to them.

The president of the largest independent steel company—Charles Schwab, died bankrupt and lived on borrowed money for several years before his death.

The president of the greatest utility company—Samuel Insull, died a fugitive from justice and penniless in a foreign land.

The greatest wheat speculator—Arthur Cutten, died abroad insolvent.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange—Richard Whitney, was recently released from Sing Sing penitentiary.

The member of the president's cabinet—Albert Fall, was pardoned from prison so he could die at home.

The last two mentioned well the art of making money, but few of them learned how to live.

Pipes Might Change Tune

(The Cape Breton Post)

A brilliant future is offered musicians in the province of Quebec would learn to play some other instrument than the piano, according to Dr. Boyd Neel, Dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

"Nobody in this country will learn any other instrument than the piano," Dr. Neel complained in opening the University of New Brunswick's Arts Festival, School of the Arts in Fredericton.

The Conservatory he heads in Toronto has five thousand piano students, although already there are two pianos for every three in the world. "If Canada is going to have a musical future, we have to see that people learn all the instruments," said Dr. Neel.

All right, but not those so play the piccolo or the bassoon? Surely, Dr. Neel understands that one reason why there are more piano students than cello students is because a piano is more portable and easier to find in places other than the largest cities that have symphony orchestras.

Not all these piano students plan professional careers. They are learning to play pianos for the pleasure of acquiring the skill, for the entertainment of themselves, their families, and their friends. They learn because they have pianos in their homes an excellent possession worthy of encouragement, in spite of multiplication.

Should Dr. Neel come to Cape Breton he would discover bagpipes as well as pianos, and violins played as a hobby and skill in many a home. Oh, we have some very fiddling in homes tucked into the folds of these wooded hills, to spark the dance of life in many a heart.

If Dr. Neel feels a surfeit of pianos, he has but come to Cape Breton to get away from it all, to follow a wooded path toward a distant scene of piping.

After Fifty Wife Rules

Ottawa Journal

A lady sociologist of the University of Chicago has come to the observation that "a man loses his authority at home and his wife takes over" when couples reach the age of 50 years.

A man in that time has abandoned the struggle, quit the field. It is his wife who decides whether they will have a dinner party too dinner, whether they will play bridge or not, whether where they will spend their holidays — and she watches the speedometer like a hawk when they travel. The snow-shovelling days are over, see to it that he doesn't get too much golf, tells him when he needs a hair-cut, censors his ties and shirts, plans his diet and sees that is house decorating to be done, without his consent. Husband cuts short his tete-a-tete with that delicious little blonde at the cocktail party and capitalizes his dull drinks.

In the earlier years of married life a man may try to assert himself, may even try to instruct his wife on what she should wear, on such feminine affairs as hats and hair-do and finds her resistance so gradually it comes to him that the struggle not availeth and he accepts the inevitable.

In fact in the hands of a tactful wife the husband's every move in household has changed directors, no slow — and so pleasant — is the process. If he sits down one day to analyze the situation he decides that everything is for the best and anyhow there is nothing to be done. Privately he would say that Confucius was right when he probably she knows from experience what goes on.

Bad Plumbing Helps Reno?

We just hate to think of all the brain power, education, experience and research that sociologists, psychologists and a host of other jurists have been bringing to bear all these years" on the causes of divorce, without making a dent in the incidence of same.

For it is now clear to us that they have been missing the point. They have been looking in all the wrong places for the cause of divorce, whereas they had only to ask their plumber. He has the answer direct and gorgeously simple. Not enough bathrooms.

Bathroom trouble? Count your bathrooms. Only one? Don't be surprised if you get a pink slip pronto that it can be felt by all with no chance for conflict.

Many businesses carry an item on their books which they term as Good Will. We can do the same, but carry it in our character and instead of having it reduced from time to time, like a world.

Iodin Deficiency and The Color of The Hair

Wisconsin reader says she is 48 years old, and her hair is as blond as it was at 18. She continues:

"We take iodin ration and find it really makes us sweat a lot. When we stop it for a month or two, melancholy returns. I have noticed that during periods that I don't take iodin ration, white hair sprouts at the temple and forehead hair line, so it's back on the iodin ration and color reappears. My husband has rheumatism, but he takes his calcicaps regularly he has little or no trouble. If he doesn't he can scarcely walk. We pray . . . your teachings are a great blessing for poor people . . . God bless you and keep you . . ."

I wonder why the Wisconsin lady and her husband don't take the iodin ration or the calcium and D regularly if they want to hold back white or gray hair and joint disability. I have said here scores of times that these are essentials of good nutrition everybody needs every day in the year, just as everybody needs daily bread or butter or Irish potatoes. I might as well holler down the rain barrel. Ninety-nine out of a hundred will not heed the nutritional essentials regard them as rubbish and discontinue them after a few weeks, as the Wisconsin lady and her husband did.

Three reasons for this reluctance are apparent. First, the required vitamin and/or mineral supplements cost almost as much as cigarets, and it's a glorified mouth soap containing T-99; second, the matter of getting the habit; and, most important, the possibility of getting "deposits" of calcium or something in the bones, joints, or gizzard.

Calcium "deposits" are calcification or arteries, muscles, joints, crystalline lenses, middle ear and other internal organs occurs far more frequently and at an earlier age among people who have never supplemented their diet with calcium and vitamin D and among people who endeavor to correct this fault of modern diet.

As for the hypothetical "too much iodine"—may do, the fact is that I applies for the iodized salt in place of ordinary salt; or to the inclusion of iodin food (which supplies iodine) in the everyday diet, or to the regular use of the iodin ration which I recommend for every man, woman, and child. Remember, this is nutritional iodine — the wee bit you get in iodized salt or a shore dinner or a meal of salmon. Iodine or iodide in medicinal doses may give unpleasant or alarming effects. In any case the use of iodine or iodide as medicine should be left to the judgment of the attending physician.

Whether correcting iodin deficiency prevents premature graying or fading of the hair, or, as other correspondents have declared, restores more or less of the original color, I don't know, but I don't know. But I can't help being impressed by the spate of testimony from readers.

Common manifestation of iodin deficiency are fatigue, lack of vim, pep or ambition, tendency to drop off in a chair at any time or where, although they may keep long hours every night; to put be more or less nervous, to have a dry sallow skin, lusterless, dry, falling, premature graying hair, in some instances develop a melancholic outlook and manner which, to their friends, is so different from their former cheerful disposition.

JUDGMENT IS REAL

In the Epistle to the Hebrews, we find the words: "But after this the judgment."

Many people would like to take the idea of judgment out of religious teaching. But it will not come out—that is, not without rooting up the ethical structure at the same time. We sentimentalize over the goodness of God and declare that a good God could not possibly bring His erring children to judgment.

But can we not see that He must bring all people and all things to judgment, if He would save the larger part of His human family. We weak humans would find it hard to expel any member of our family even though he or she were poisoning the life of the rest. But the perfect God is not only perfect in His love but in justice also. His love is of such a nature that He will gently shake and thrust aside evil things and persons wherever He encounters them.

This, of course, is part of a continuous judgment and a final judgment. When the deeds of the whole human race will be finally adjudicated, the affairs of this world wound up, and a new order ushered in, in which will dwell righteousness.

What we should do is not to deny judgment but to face it squarely. And there is only one way to do that—and we all know it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GOOD WILL

What is your Good Will worth? A business is often gauged by it. Good Will. We can't see it, but it's applied to each one of us as human beings. Good Will is a subtle thing, like the soul it cannot be seen but it has a purpose. Good Will can be proved or pronounced that it can be felt by all who come in close contact.

The Good Will of a person may be so evident that it becomes an asset in friendship and business, and in all that we do. It's something from within, a spirit and attitude toward life and all its problems. It's an accumulative quality that grows and develops with years. It marks the man or woman.

Many businesses carry an item on their books which they term as Good Will. We can do the same, but carry it in our character and instead of having it reduced from time to time, like a business, it can grow more and more valuable as we develop in character.

There is another kind of Good Will that we associate mostly with the commercial one, and that is the one that is a silent measure of how we are regarded as we go from place to place carrying hope and cheer and leaving ourselves welcomed everywhere to all who may meet us.

Indeed, as Good Will toward all men" was the message sent down from the highest at Bethlehem, and it has given light and hope to all the world since that event. Influence is Good Will that has brought happiness to countless ones. Let us cultivate Good Will and be the means of scattering it far and wide. We can share our blessings making our own enriched. We can be a shining lighter in an often darkened world.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The wolf is slowly but surely finding friends amongst men. The Conservation Council of Ontario, which includes among its members a trained in the field of wild life management but businessmen with hard heads who are starting to look at wild life with unsentimental eyes, has prepared a booklet on conservation which deals among many things, with wolves.

Here is one of the startling statements it presents. In order to kill enough wolves in Ontario each year to keep the number of young reaching maturity annually at a normal level, 30,000 wolves would be necessary.

This gives some idea of the number of wolves that inhabit the province, though I venture to say that only 3,000 of the population of Ontario has ever seen a wolf, and only three amongst the dwellers in the backmost backwoods. In forty years of hunting and wandering the wilderness I have seen four, other than in traps or dead. It comes as a shock to learn the Conservation Council's estimate which is based on sound information.

But instead of an annual kill of 30,000, the bounties paid for all Ontario from the far northern corner at Manitoba, to the far southern corner at Quebec, were on 2,544 killed in 1950, an average of 2,000 in the intervening years, and 1,881 in 1954.

This is a drop in the bucket, and can have little effect on the part wolves play in maintaining in the scheme of nature. If wolves are really a menace to the deer population, then a better way of dealing with them than paying bounties for dead bodies and a handful of professional wolf hunters is called for. But wolves are now being raised in defence of the wolves, claiming that they are necessary to keep in the wilderness; where there are too many deer there is food supply, there will be too many wolves for the deer; where there are not many deer, there won't be many wolves; and where there is a plentiful food supply for deer, there will be a plentiful food supply for the wolves.

But man wants all the deer. So, to assert that, we kill 2,000 wolves out of 300,000.

The Face on the Stamp

The Great Explorer of Africa

By Nicholas Mika

Some eighty years ago the world was thrilled with a sensational news development: David Livingstone, the great explorer of Africa, had been found alive in the jungle after his mysterious disappearance. More than a year had passed since he was last heard from. The rumors were that he had been murdered or had perished in the African bush.

The man who had searched for him at the risk of his life was a reporter from the New York Herald. When he flashed his exciting story of the rescue across the ocean, he did not realize that his countryman would become known as a hero. Far less did he dream that his discovery would stir up one of the wildest controversies among the newspapers of the whole world. While they accused him of false reports and showered him with suspicions, a crowd of twenty thousand gathered to welcome his home when he arrived at New York.

He was tired and exhausted. But in his heart he felt content that he had completed his mission and made headlines for his paper. And what's more, he had a valuable possession to bring home. It was a box with notebooks of the great explorer. They contained the keys to many mysteries and secrets of the dark continent.

But he did not foresee that with these notebooks he had taken over a heritage. That he himself would want to return to Africa and continue the work that the old explorer had begun. Without knowing it, Africa had cast her spell over him. Her hidden beauties and strange adventures called him back and he could not resist the call. No longer did his work as a reporter satisfy him. When he first went out into the wilderness, he did not even know how to plan an expedition. But his strength and endurance, shown at him the way through jungle and deserts and lead him on the most exciting safaris.

He was born in England and knew neither his mother nor his father. As a boy of fifteen he went away from the place he worked to find a job on board a ship. When he arrived in New Orleans he decided to try his luck on land. And so he started his career in the states, a clerk at first in the Civil War and finally a newspaper man until one day he followed the call of the dark, mysterious continent and became an explorer.

He heard the drums of Cannibals in the bush spreading the message that "meat" was in sight and sometimes he barely escaped a mob of hungry savages. He fought with fever and tropical diseases. When food was scarce he killed lions and ate their flesh. His caravan mutinied and many died from starvation and some from the poisonous arrows of the natives.

But through hardship and peril he hit he cut his way through the bush, often step by step with an axe in his hand. And he succeeded in his task. With his adventurous, hazardous journey he opened up a waterway into the heart of Africa. He discovered the sources of the White Nile and the Mountains of the Moon. Many a time he risked his life to search for and rescue men who had become lost and likely would have perished in the jungle. And out of his tremendous efforts grew the great work of colonization that unlocked the wealth of Africa.

The natives called him Bula Matari, which means the Breaker of Rocks. And that he certainly was, a breaker of rocks, dangers and obstacles, the Lion of Africa —Sir Henry Morton Stanley.

Garden Notes

Bulbs, Tubers for Summer Blooms

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Many gardeners fail to realize the advantages to be had in the packaged deals of bulbs, corms and tubers. In these odd shaped bundles one may find the most exotic blooms and foliage imaginable. Large and small, single and double flowers, and all the colors of the rainbow can be yours in these plants. In size they range from six inch high oxalis with its clover-like leaves to six foot high pineapple lily (eucomis pole evansii). A few are hardy enough to remain outdoors during the winter but most of them will need to be dug like the dahlia tubers and stored over winter indoors.

Dahlias, tuberous begonias, and gladiolus come in in this class but each of these cover such a wide variety of types we will talk of new developments their separate fields later. Here is a list of some of the lesser known bulbs, corms an tubers achimenes are fast becoming quite popular, perhaps you know them under the name "cupids bower". The tubers are treated as gloxinias or African violets and may be grown indoors or out if treated as tuberous begonias. The new hybrids are much larger and have a lovely color range. Purple King is the best of the early ones for bedding and planters.

Acidanthera is a corm and is treated as gladiolus. The home of this plant is Ethiopia. Four inch white blossoms have a crimson star in the center. Good cutting material for August and September. Blue lily of the Nile (agapanthus) is not a real lily but tuber. The leaves are long strap shape and the flowers a brilliant blue borne on three foot stems.

REQUIRE RICH SOIL

Anemones require a rich soil and plenty of water. The St. Brigid strain are semi-double poppy anemones in lovely bright blue, rose red and other brilliant colors, and have a deep purple blotch in the center. Lovely for cut flowers or in the border.

Caladiums are easily grown from bulbs. The leaves are very large and strikingly veined and shaded in color from delicate pink, white and green to deep carmine red.

Cannas are not new but there are several new varieties which are more handsome than the older types. The flowers are larger and more numerous. King Humbert has large yellow flowers speckled with red and City of Portland has salmon pink blooms. One of the American catelogues list a new dwarf type canna.

The coral tree (erythrina) has beautiful light green foliage and two foot flower spikes of pea-shaped blooms in vermilion red.

The pineapple lily comes from South Africa and has huge spikes of cream colored blooms and handsome wide leaves. A Dutch strain of freesias has been developed for early summer bloom. We usually associate freezias with winter cut flowers from the florist. It will be a thrill to grow these fragrant sprays of bells in soft pastel shades.

Little more than a sunny position is required by the glorious lily (also called climbing lily). There are three different members in this family — two from Zanzibar and one from South Africa. The petals have wavy edges, brilliant color and curve back to form a reflex bloom of most unusual beauty.

Summer hyacinths (galtonia) have immense spikes of white flowers that look like hyacinths. Plant these in the perennial border in groups. The flower stocks are four to five feet high. Hardy gloxinias (incarvillea) have clusters of bell shaped blooms in June and attractive lacy green leaves. They are quite hardy but occasionally winter killed. Better dig them in the fall and store indoors over winter like dahlias. The colors are carmine red, blush pink and lilac pink.

The "sea daffodil" (ismenes) is from Peru, a fragrant addition to the garden with large lilies, some times four to a stem. Can be grown in pots or in the garden. There are two white ismenes one has a green stripe in the throat. A yellow variety called "sulphur queen" is a primrose shade with a green stripe in the throat.

Tigridias, often called "shell flowers" or "tiger flowers" have three large outer petals in clear shades of red, pink, white, or yellow. The three center petals are shorter and oddly mottled in contrasting colors. Their blooming season is long and culture is easy. Very good cutting material.

"Red hot poker" or "torch lilies" (tritomas) were in great favor in the old fashioned garden. They are back in favor again. The new hybrids are larger and offer a variety of colors. Parmenter is an unusual pink. Springtime is patented. This blooms in July with a rich coral top and lower section in cream. Plant this to bloom with delphinium and regal lilies. The colors will compliment each other. An English tritoma is W.S. Reeves 11 is a soft coral with five to six foot spikes of bloom.

Proper Tire Care Aids Road Safety

By EUGENE MILMOE

Proper tire care isn't just a good practice for the economy-minded. It's an important safety responsibility of every driver, and adequate proof of this can be found in each year's car accident records.

Bad tires are too often the fault of the motorist rather than the mechanical condition of his car. Those who persist in high speed driving, taking turns too fast and overloading the car are going all out to shorten tire life.

Then, there's the driver who thinks nothing of leaving rear wheel rubber on the road . . . he jams down on the accelerator to step away from every stop light. The opposite result, excessive front tire wear, is invited when you make a habit of braking-hard in order to "step on a dime."

The most common tire-wasting cause of all, however, is incorrect inflation, and this is a neglect which must be branded inexcusable.

M. T. asks: "We also welcomed your advice to the reader who asked about keeping leather upholstery clean, and intend to follow your care tips. Can you tell us how we should remove ice cream and chocolate stains?"

(A) Mild soap suds and water will make these stains disappear without harming the leather.

P. W. writes: "I know heavy oil can make starting difficult when the weather is cold, but in spite of this disadvantage I use it because it gives me better oil mileage. If I'm wrong about this, kindly advice."

(A) Heavy oil can decrease oil consumption and give a better seal, but it will reduce power and cause your engine to use more gas. Lighter engine oil does a more efficient lubrication job, actually. It also holds cylinder, piston and ring wear to a minimum.

From M. L.: "The original battery on my car lasted for three years. A month ago, while on an out-of-state trip, it began to fail, so I replaced it with a new battery. This new battery, however, doesn't seem to be charging properly. I have heard that a replacement battery which is different brand than the original may not work correctly. Is this true?"

(A) Sometimes, to assure a correct charging rate, the generator regulator, must be adjusted when you install a new battery whose type or make is not the same as the original.

P. Z writes: "Recently, I had my car in to a shop which specializes in renewing body finish. I had two or three spots on the right front fender touched up and the whole car was given a special polish treatment. It looks like new again, but when I drive it there is a creaky noise which it never had before. I am certain this noise comes from the front door on the passenger side. Can you figure out why?"

(A) Check the weather stripping around that door and remove any polish you find on it. Strange as it may seem, a little matter such as this can bring on mysterious noises.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

School Suggested to Aid Man In Adjusting to Retired Life

By THOMAS COLLINS

The country's schools, which diligently teach everyoody how to go out in the world and fight the dragon, had now better start teaching them how to let go of the tail.

This has become a primary problem of our time — letting go of the tail when age 65 and retirement finally come. Nobody knows how to do it. And who is better qualified to show them how than the high schools and colleges that in the beginning taught them how to grab it?

You who are old enough to be thinking of retirement know that it took you something like 20 years after finishing school to reach any sort of success in your business or profession. And all the time you were calling on your schooling for help. You were also calling on some fine traditions, things like being on time, being nice to the boss, and working hard.

But for retirement, which is harder to handle at 65 than a job is at 20, there is no training. Nor are there any traditions, except to go fishing.

One night this week a man who will retire on April 1 dropped by the house. He's been a travelling salesman all his life and will retire with a pension and social security of $275 a month. He had some positive ideas about this subject.

"Our educational systems are set up strictly for youth," he said, "and on the theory that they are preparing youth for life they figure they are doing the complete job. Life is not the same thing at 25 it is at 45, or at 65.

"Schools are doing just a third of the job. They attempt to do the rest, with night schools and adult education. But at my age you know these aren't the answer. It's grabbing the dragon's tail again, or it's hobbies, or it's association with lonely adults who have nowhere else to go."

His suggestions:

"I think both high schools and universities, each catering to its own economic class, should start teaching positive retirement to everybody past age 50. . . .

"I think they should do it by giving up the classroom and the school bell. They should go into the homes of people with corns, poudence courses, but more importantly should use travelling instructors who go into the plants and offices and teach the people on company time. I have an idea a lot of companies now worrying about compulsory retirement would pay the tuition for this. . . .

TEACH FIVE THINGS

"I think the schools should teach five specific things: (1) how to make a little money if the 'students' will have retirement incomes under $200 a month; (2) how to be philosophical and happy with what they've got if it's over $200; (3) whether to move or not after the pension comes and, if they do move, where to go; (4) what sort of relations to set up with the children; and (5) how to find in retirement some activity as vibrant as fighting the dragon."

In a land as smart as ours, it is puzzling that significant steps have ever been taken to teach the average man how to do what just about everybody now has to do—retire. Every retired man sorely needs a lesson in $150 economics, in family relations, in how to eat, and in how to draw a will and how to die sensibly.

He also needs a lesson in social security. Maybe that's asking too much. He'll need a master's degree from Harvard to understand that.

Death Sentence Discussed at Women's S.G.

"Capital Punishment" was the subject discussed at the February meeting of the Women's Study Guild, held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. Sexton, Bleecker Ave.

After a brief business meeting, presided over by the vice-president, Mrs. G. Williamson, the secretary read a letter from the Guild's Italian foster child. A letter was received from Mr. Frank Pellwell, M.P., assuring the Guild of his support of their recommendations in regard to the amendment of the Succession Duties Act.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL

The worship service, conducted by Mrs. Coulter was on the subject, "Thou Shalt Not Kill." Miss Elson read a selection from Romans 12. Mrs. Coulter stressed the fact that murder can be committed against the soul as well as the body and by omission as well as by commission.

The topic "Capital Punishment," was discussed by Mrs. Wells, and Mrs. Genesi. Mrs. Geneja explained that hanging is an Anglo-Saxon custom which was not finally abolished in Great Britain until one year ago. In the 12th century almost every crime was punishable by hanging. Today, in Canada, capital punishment is retained for only three crimes — treason, piracy and murder; but in practice it is applied to murder cases only where design or premeditation can be proved.

Mrs. Wells said that society approves of capital punishment on the principle of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." Many churchmen support this view, the Archbishop of Canterbury approves of life imprisonment on the grounds that a murderer must have time to repent of and atone for his sins. Some authorities believe capital punishment does diminish the risk to law enforcement officers, but lowers the moral tone of the community.

Mrs. Geneja concluded with a review of the present position of the government of Canada on the subject. It is felt that public opinion approves capital punishment as the most practical solution to the problem of dealing with dangerous individuals; but most people would like to see hanging abolished as a means of execution and a more humane method substituted.

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian textile buyers and manufacturers, involved each season in a frenzied guessing game with fashion, Friday drew a sigh of relief.

The reason, said the Montreal Fashion Bureau, a dress house information service: Pictures and stories just released of Paris spring collections show the Canadians have guessed right in predicting the season's top styles.

Textile companies must work a year in advance to design fabrics and prints for the next season. Manufacturers need to plan at least six months beforehand the styles they will send to retailers. If their choices are wrong—and it's acknowledged that styles heralded by Paris sell best—their economic future can be bleak.

Take A $10 Nightclub Tour To Beat Miami Beach Angles

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

If there is a key to the fascination Florida seems to hold for an ever-growing number of Americans, perhaps it lies in the utter, dazzling profusion of tourist appeals.

It's more than the warm sunshine (it's hotter in the Sin Grands Valley most of the winter) there's more native charm in the Caribbean Islands, and gambling too it's cheaper and more scenic in Mexico, and more cultural in New York.

But where else can you find so much quality available than a chef of the talents of Maurice Heiou, for instance, can run a dining room worthy of him, and of his salary, in a motel?

Maurice, who is the chef at the Chateau in Miami Beach and has a fabulous reputation for his duck a l'orange, says he can stand in front of, say, the Fontainebleau and tell you where fencing and outgoing hands an hour. Having been the operator of club dining rooms and distinguished restaurants from New England to Florida, he knows the two menus.

It would take most of a lengthy winter season to eat in all the really good restaurants and hotel dining rooms, or to see all the big name night club acts, or take a room each night in all of the hotels, or visit each of the smokey, parrot, fish and tropical jungle attractions, or fish in all of the bays, harbors and ocean coves, or bet at all the horse and dog tracks and jai alai frontons between Palm Beach and Miami.

Jai alai, one of two attractions found only in Florida among the states (stone crabs, a delicacy some hold superior to Maine lobster, is the other), is a lightning-fast Latin handball game played against three walls with the aid of a large scoop attached to the player's hand.

VEHICLE FOR BETTING

The ball weighs twice as much as a baseball and on some velodeys travels 150 miles an hour, but as far as most visitors here are concerned the game is essentially another handy vehicle for betting.

It's so handy that you don't have to leave your seat to put five dollars on a "quinela" (Spanish for daily double). Pretty girls come around and place your bet for you.

Miami Beach is still pretty much of a fast buck place, even for legitimate investors, who characteristically build hotels and restaurants, make a lot of money, then develop the firm conviction that it can't keep up, and sell out.

Half the restaurants in town seem to have either the name of the new owner appended to the traditional name, or a new name followed by "formerly."

At least one famed restaurant we know of now sports an additional name, but if either the former chef or former manager had any kind of following they've probably taken away their share of business. Both are at other establishments, each proudly proclaiming himself as "formerly of."

NIGHT CLUBS

The fast buck techniques reach perfection, naturally, in the night clubs. One offers two menus, one of them a reasonable table d'hote dinner and the other a typical a la carte clip, but the waiter keeps the good menu in his pocket and doesn't present it unless you saw the come-on ad in the paper and ask for it.

Another place has waiters snatch drinks off the table when you're not looking so that in the haze and daze of the night club atmosphere you'll think you finished it and order another.

About the best way to beat these angles, if you want to see the night club acts without spending your week's room rent, is to sign up for one of the popular night club tours, which take you to two or three of the best shows on a bus at only $10 a head.

For this you get one drink or a late supper in each place and a pretty good table, which is more than you can guarantee, even with a sizable tip, working on your own.

A few hotel and restaurant operators are beginning to realize that they won't be able to trim the joint over on the basis of the first year's business indefinitely, and as a result service and quality are developing a more consistent character than has ever been apparent in this area before.

Spinster M.P. Wins First Stage Of Her Campaign

LONDON (Reuters)—Joan Vickers, outspoken spinster MP, has won the first stage of her campaign to help 70,000 British wives deserted by their husbands.

Without a vote, the House of Commons Friday gave second reading—agreement in principle—to her private bill. It would enable courts to order employers to deduct alimony from the wages of runaway husbands refusing to pay up.

The bill also would allow women with illegitimate children to obtain maintenance money in the same way. Its provisions, covering England and Wales, already are law in Scotland.

Miss Vickers, 49, a high-spirited Conservative who unabashedly smokes cigars in public, received unexpected assistance from the government. Normally private bills stand little chance of becoming law.

In Friday's debate, the government said her bill is "in the public interest" because £10,000,000 of taxpayers money is used annually to support deserted wives and unmarried women with children.

Surgery History Topic at H-S Assoc. Meeting

The March meeting of Quinte Secondary Home and School Association was most disappointing as to the number of parents present but gratifying with the pleasant and profitable program which had been provided.

Before the meeting commenced the few parents present were amazed and proud of the student band (about 25 members) under the baton of Mr. Schroeder, the band had been heard before, but Belleville can be gratified for the marvellous work Mr. Schroeder has accomplished in less than three years. There were amost as many students in the band as their were parents to appreciate their efforts.

President Beeby presided. Following the band selections, the meeting was highlighted by the cutting of a birthday cake in commemoration of the seventh anniversary of the formation of the H. S. Association at Quinte Secondary. Mr. Beeby asked Mrs. F. A. Scott to cut the large birthday cake as representative of parents and Mr. Schroeder lighted the candles as respresentatives of the teachers, while a girl student from the band represented the student body. Mr. Beeby read the association creed. It was a simple and impressive ceremony which underlined the purposes and objectives of the H-S contribution in a school.

Mrs. Brown read the minutes which were passed and the band played two more selections. The band was excused so that the boys and girls who had turned out, could get back home and to their homework.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker, Dr. Austin Walters was introduced by the president. Dr. Walters delighted his audience with his now famous address dealing with the history of surgery. The speaker takes you with him back 5000 years to Egypt and leads you along the important mileposts to the modern miracles of science in the field of surgery.

Dr. Walters concluded by relating personal experiences with the first use of penicillin to save lives during the Sicilian and Italian campaigns in World War II.

Mr. Craighead, who is the teacher at Quinte Secondary in charge of Air Cadets, had come to the meeting to show the film of air cadets in actual training throughout Canada. It was a 20-minute film and playing for the parents the type of training boys receive at their camps. It was informative, revealing and interesting. The film was in color and left no doubt that the interested boy great opportunities exist in the air and in the ground departments.

After the film, the parents were entertained by songs by the Belleville men in the barber shop quartet group. Their rendition of this popular form of harmony was delightfully received as the audience indicated by their applause.

Mr. Beeby adjourned the meeting with a plea to parents to turn out in full force for "Rural Night — the Public Family Night" at Quinte Secondary School, March 14th. This is a night for parents, teachers and students to get together in the square and round dance and fatendly sociability.

This -- and That

BY HARRIET STEVENS

Not long after "This & That" was born, we happened to be talking with a distinguished member of the faculty of Queen's University. He was active in our time but is now enjoying his retirement. Anyway, he told us that he liked the "This & That." He went on to explain that it implied elasticity. In our words, he was telling us we were not fenced in. Occasionally, we come across a series of items, pithy, maybe unusual, always interesting, so from here and there we have gathered this and that.

From the Department of External Affairs: In 1956 Canada paid $3,000,000 in membership fees or assessments to the United Nations and to the United Nations Specialized Agencies. Besides the above, Canada contributed voluntarily another $3,000,000 and more to the four specific United Nations programs dealing with assistance in many ways to less fortunate countries — programs incidentally to which little assistance or cooperation is forthcoming from Communist countries. This more than $6,000,000 does not include the Dominion's great voluntary contributions from our people.

The department expresses it:— "As is understandable, political and security questions before the UN are widely publicized in newspapers, magazines, over the radio and on television. Not much public attention is given however to the quiet, valuable and constructive work of the specialized agencies and that done under the four special programs, which continues steadily with little fanfare and few newspaper headlines."

Recently Queen Elizabeth approved an alliance between the Royal Regiment of Canada and 8/7 Infanty Battalion, the North Western Victorian Regiment of Australia. Both Regiments are also allied with the King's Regiment (Liverpool) of the British Army.

Today millions of Roman Catholics throughout the world are paying homage to Pope Pius who was born this day, 1876. He was elevated to the papacy in 1939. Millions of prayers will be offered for the health and leader in Vatican City, for preservation, for his delicate health and for his voice in the interest of peace.

The Oath of Marriage is a significant month to lawyers in Canada because the Bar dates back to March, 1765. There were no attorneys or solicitors during the French regime.

Canadiens are justly proud of our skaters who are doing so well in the competitions this year. It is a natural thing for this country to produce great ice skaters. It is in our history and our tradition. On the 3rd of March, 1860, or nearly a century ago, A. G. Lord skated from Montreal to Berthier, a distance of 45 miles along the St. Lawrence River, and he accomplished this feat in three and one half hours.

Bellevillians were delighted this week by a piano team of two boys from Trenton. The artist concert at the Collegiate waiting for the arrival of their pianos when they turned to a member of the local Community Concert Association to remark: "My but the students in Canada dress well at High School." The visitors' hostess felt how nice it would be to let the impression remain, but being a woman of integrity she had to inform her guests that it was Gentlemen's Day at the Collegiate; that it was not a daily habit.

We think there is a moral in this simple Incident. How much closer would international understanding be if the truth was honored right down the line as it was by the local lady in this case. It is as basic as it is elemental, and just as important.

Great concern is being expressed over Canada's fantastical-ly high trade deficits or the serious difference between imports and exports. Comparison may be an odious weapon but it might be interesting to note Australia's position. Australia on December 31, 1956, enjoyed a trade surplus for the first six months of the 1956/57 fiscal year of 99,700,000 pounds sterling. This represents a great increase over the same period for the previous year. The importance of our sister Dominion in the world increases steadily and progress is the keynote. Sometimes we are overwhelmed by our own and our neighbors' prosperity, and in our self-satisfaction fail to realize that prosperity is not the natural right of the lot of North America.

Our thought for this weekend is taken from the monthly letter of the Royal Bank: "The danger (of the push-button world) is not in having push-button machines, but in being content with a push-button type of thinking."

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TAKE CARE OF YOUR LOOKS —NO MATTER HOW PRETTY YOU ARE

You don't have to be a born beauty to have a beautiful complexion. It's regular care that does the trick.

There probably isn't a woman in the world who, if asked as the fairy-tale princesses, what one wish should be granted by the wave of a wand, wouldn't choose "beauty." For, in the minds of most of us, beauty seems to be a passport to almost everything the earth's desirable.

His beauty such an unalloyed blessing, after all?

According to one noted beauty expert, the answer is an emphatic No!

Her surprising opinion, based on years of observation and experience in the cosmetic business, was explained in this manner:

"Girls who are naturally blessed with beauty begin to take it for granted," she said. "There's no work involved for them. They just go along looking lovely. They don't bother to preserve their blessings and, when they get older, they have the troubles.

"On the other hand, girls who have to work to present an attractive appearance get into good beauty habits early in life. And they're wonderful weapons against Time."

Think about some of the women you know who were really beauties in their youth but who have put a great deal of their looks into the passing of time. Then consider some of the Plain Janes who have grown more attractive with age. In their case it's, as our expert says, a matter of work. They don't "glow," but they "look."

They devoted nightly sessions to the care of their skin. Thorough cleansing and massaging were a ritual. They gave meticulous care to their hair. Brushing, frequent shampooing and experimenting with coiffures till they found the most attractive style for their face. They studied make-up, found the shades which were most flattering and learned the subtle tricks of application which helped to tone down their bad points, play up their good ones. They made an art of beauty. And that's one art that always pays!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

IT IS THE MARRIAGE THAT IS ANNOUNCED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please help me figure this out: If my wedding is very small and very informal, would it then be appropriate to send formal announcements of the wedding? In other words, is it correct to make a formal announcement of an informal wedding? — Bride-to-be

The point is that it is not the wedding but the marriage that is announced. No matter how small and informal the wedding was, the most formal engraved announcements of the marriage may be sent to relatives, friends, and acquaintances. As a matter of fact, when the plans are for a small wedding, no matter how informal, there is all the more reason to send announcements that the marriage has taken place.

HOW TO WRITE ACCEPTANCE TO INVITATION-FOR-THREE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our neighbor's daughter is to be married soon, and we have just received a formal invitation to the church ceremony and to the house reception. It was addressed to my mother (she is a widow), my brother (he's 17), and to me (I'm 20). We are all going to accept, but I would like to know if we should each send an acceptance, or is one reply enough? What form of acceptance do you suggest? — Edith

Since the one invitation included the three names, you may properly accept by one reply. Like this:

Mrs. David Leigh
Miss Edith Leigh
Mr. Thomas Leigh accept with pleasure the kind invitation of
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Neighbor
For Tuesday, the twelfth of March

(Write the acceptance on the first page of double-sheet letter paper, spaced as I have indicated.)

WANTS TO HAVE TWO JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman;

Our family has always had an especially close and devoted relationship, and in my coming wedding I would like to indicate this as much as possible. My father will give me in marriage. My mother will of course sit in the first pew on the left of the aisle. My only sister will be my matron of honor, and as my only two other attendants, junior bridesmaids, I would like to have her 15-year-old twin daughters. Some of my friends think that this is not a good idea, that I should also have at least two adult bridesmaids. Please tell me if you think the plan I have in mind is proper. — Elaine

Your plan is entirely proper.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

HE LEADETH ME!

He leadeth me! O blessed thought!
O words with heavenly comfort fraught!
Whate'er I do, where'er I be,
Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me.

Lord, I would clasp Thy hand in mine,
Nor ever murmur nor repine,
Content, whatever lot I see,
Since 'tis my God that leadeth me.

And when my task on earth is done,
When, by Thy grace, the victory's won,
E'en death's cold wave I will not flee,
Since God through Jordan leadeth me.

Chorus

He leadeth me, He leadeth me,
By His own hand He leadeth me;
His faithful follower I would be,
For by His hand He leadeth me.

"The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want,
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me. . . ."

One night, in Philipsila, a little band of worshippers met for a midweek prayer service in the First Baptist Church. The Twenty-third Psalm was the prayer theme and the meeting centered about a devotional address given by the Rev. J. H. Gilmore.

After the service, in "Deacon Watson's parlor", the pastor and several of the others continued the discussion. It was in that cottage meeting that the hymn, "He Leadeth Me", was born. Its first more himself describe the composition as follows:

"During the conversation, the blessedness of God's leadership so grew upon me that I took out my pencil, wrote the hymn as it stands today, handed it to my wife, and thought no more about it. She sent it, without my knowledge, to the Watchman and Reflector. Three years later I went to Rochester to preach for the Second Baptist Church. Entering the church, I picked up a hymn book, thinking: I wonder what they sing over here'. The book opened to 'He Leadeth Me'. That was the first time I knew that my hymn had found a place among the songs of the church".

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TRY BUTTERING THE MOTHER UP

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 22 and going with a girl 21. That is, I would like to go with her, but for some reason her mother has told her to keep away from me.

Once in awhile this girl is allowed to go to the movies with me, but only if she takes her younger sister along. I can't understand this, because I'm not the sort of chap who would treat a girl in anything but the right way. Altogether, I can't understand the mother's whole attitude, and I would like to get things straightened out, if possible, because I like this girl enough to really put up a fight for her. — Bill J.

Dear Bill J.,

Has this girl's mother never given her daughter any specific reason for opposing her friendship with you? Have you asked the girl about this, or have you just let it go because you're never alone with her for a private talk?

There are mothers, of course, who are simply against the whole idea of their daughters' getting married and leaving them, and some are so obsessed about it that they will go to almost any lengths to break up any friendship a daughter has with a beau, though it might turn into a real romance.

If this woman is one of these selfishly unnatural mothers, then I'm afraid you're out of luck as long as your girl continues to live at home. Still, a girl is old enough to leave her home, if she is unhappy over unreasonable grievances, and marry her own way independently. Since this girl is evidently very content to live at home, it may be that she prefers to remain under her mother's domination. Or she may be afraid of scenes if she should announce that she is going. What-ever her reason, she apparently still chooses to allow her mother to dictate what she may or may not do.

Under circumstances like these, the only thing that can be done about such a mother is to try buttering her up in the hope that she will gradually become more friendly. Perhaps if you were to send her some flowers at home, with a little note telling her how much you would like to be friends with both herself and her daughter, or took her a little present every night when you were going to take the girl on one of those occasions when you're alone, you might soften her up a bit, if you can stand it, you might even go so far as to offer to take her to the theater some night and invite her to accompany you and your friends and yourself. There would be a risk in this, of course, because it might also be an idea that it would be fun to go along with you all the time. But since things are the way they are, you haven't much to lose, and it might be worth a try.

If none of your diplomatic and friendly gestures come to anything, however, then I think you would be well advised to write the girl a note, telling her how much you think of her, but saying it seems to you that to develop your friendship any further, and let her take it from there.

Distinctive Suit

Ready for solo appearances later on but now quite content to be protected by a coat are some new and extremely handsome suits! Beni Claire has created thisone for the Paul Parnes collection, a suit that is very distinguished. The fabric is a soft gray and white shadow-plaid wool and the slim, trim, jacket sports three fine pearl buttons. A gold silk chiffon scarf tucks into the low, collared neckline. The sparingly cut suit still manages to achieve some softness, which is quite a feat.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Origination of the Mardi Gras

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Monday and Tuesday, March 4.

These two days are the last days before the long fast of Lent, and for centuries they have been given up to parades, feasting and all manner of merry nonsense. Partly the idea is to let everyone get it all out of his system before the quiet penitential season begins. Partly it must have had something to do — in the old days — with using up all the meat, fat, milk, eggs . . . before the Ash Wednesday deadline.

Tuesday is sometimes called Pancake Tuesday because people got rid of the goodies by pancake making and consuming great stacks of pancakes on that day. It is also called Mardi Gras, which, in French, means Fat Tuesday.

The general feasting and uproar of these two days is called "carnival" which means literally "farewell to meat." New Orleans is almost the only place in the predominantly Protestant U. S. where this festivity goes on, but from these two pre-Lenten days we have borrowed the only common speech two terms which many people use to describe any especially gay public party.

You are likely to see a sign advertising a carnival in the week before Gras at any time of the year. You may be sure the person who puts up such a sign does not even suspect he is advertising a "farewell to meat" or a "Fat Tuesday."

BUTCHERS' LEAP

One special piece of ritualized foolishness has been going on in Munich on the Monday before Ash Wednesday ever since 1517. It is called the "Butchers' Leap."

Four centuries ago a terrible plague struck the city and when it was over the people were too frightened to come out of their homes. They were particularly afraid the water and the outside air were contaminated. The situation was saved by some daring members of the Butchers' Guild who jumped into the fountain to show the water was harmless. People were reassured and morale was restored.

This happened to be on the Monday before Ash Wednesday. Now it is commemorated on this Monday with a formal program which includes the drinking of more than 50 toasts by the ten butchers' apprentices selected to make the leap into the ancient fountain. After 50 toasts the problem is probably not so much to get the apprentices into the fountain as to get them out.

THE WOMEN'S DAY OF PRAYER

Friday, March 8 — The first big Protestant event in Lent each year, usually always the Friday of Lent's first week, is the Women's World Day of Prayer, a global observance in which millions of Christian women will take part. In the United States alone, the ten million members of the National Council of Churches' United Church Women will participate.

Each year the women of the world will be praying for universal brotherhood. Their theme is "Who shall separate us?" from Romans, chapter 8, verse 35, provides the text for today's especially written service which will be translated into many languages. The use of this uniform service will mean that all over the world women will actually be praying the same prayer together, even though divided by physical distance.

This is a full 24-hour day of prayer. It begins when the day begins, at the international date line, where Fiji Island women gather not only in churches but wherever they conveniently can... in offices, stores, factories, schools—and so it continues until the sun, about to cross the date line again, sees the final group of praying women on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea.

Although prayer is and always has been of paramount importance on this day, the voluntary offering which has come to be a feature of real value. Keeping the emphasis on prayer, the women have nevertheless built up an income from this one observance that has made them able to back up their prayers by substantial health, agricultural and educational programs all over the world.

Rev. Nathan Bailey Conducts Alliance Morning Service

The Reverend Nathan Bailey, of Toronto, vice-president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Society of Canada and the United States, and superintendent of Eastern Ontario district will conduct the Sunday morning service in the Alliance Tabernacle, Coleman and Moira Streets.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance began as a missionary movement instituted some 66 years ago by the Reverend A. B. Simpson, D.D., a Presbyterian minister of Hamilton, Ontario, later of New York City, to spread the Gospel of Jesus Christ to the regions beyond. Today the C. and M. A. is responsible for 60,000,000 souls, with mission fields in 20 countries which include French West Africa, Congo, Tribes of Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Siam, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Puerto Rico, Chine, Hong Kong, Israel, Syria, Jordan, Japan, Philippine Islands, Indonesia and New Guinea, with approximately 800 missionaries and 2500 native workers in the field.

There are over 1,000 churches in the United States and Canada at the present time. The Society is endeavoring this year to send 100 new workers into the mission fields, with the objective in 1960 of doubling missionaries and 1500 churches.

Last year $3,000,000 was received for the work of evangelization. The Society is operating colleges: Nyack Bible College, N.Y.; Canadian Bible College at Regina, Sask.; the Paul Bible Institute in Minneapolis; The Simpson Bible College at San Francisco, California, and the Toccoa Falls College, at Georgia, which is an affiliated school.

Question . . . a friend of ours gave us a recipe for drop cookies: 1 cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 cups flour . . . this is a puzzle to me and I'm not any baking powder or fat of any kind . . . they have the flavor of spice and a greased cookie sheet . . . — Miss J. A.

Answer: The recipe is fine — the walnuts contain fat and there are enough eggs to make the cookies rise without additional leavening. I would like to know if the fat is supposed to be melted before measuring. My advice to you is to melt it before measuring. If the dough is stiff enough to drop without spreading before baking then all is well. What temperature did your cookies require? I would suggest 350 deg. F.

Question: I should appreciate it if you would print a recipe for English Muffins. I have seen several supper dishes which say use English muffins, but they call for eggs, etc. I am not sure what is called for — are they like popovers, or tea biscuits or a bread mix . . . Evelyn M.

The ones last guess was right, Evelyn. They are made like a very soft roll dough as follows:

ENGLISH MUFFINS

(This is the same as yeast roll recipe except for an increase in liquid.) One cake or package granular yeast, ½ cup warm water, 2½ cups scalded milk, 1½ teaspoons salt, 4 tablespoons sugar, 6 cups sifted flour, 4 tablespoons shortening. Soak yeast in warm water with 1 teaspoon of the sugar 10 minutes, then stir. To scalded milk in large bowl add salt, sugar and shortening and let stand until it is lukewarm, then stir in soaked and stirred yeast. Add flour and stir in. Turn out on floured board and knead 10 minutes. This is a very soft dough. Scrape down bowl let dough rise in bowl covered until very light; punch down and let rise again. Roll out to ¾-inch thickness on lightly floured board. Cut into large circles (4-inch) and let rise until light. Bake on hot ungreased griddle, turning when one side is golden brown. When one side is golden brown reduce heat and bake more slowly. Bake until usually finished in oven. This may be made thinner into a drop batter and baked in greased English Muffin rings on greased baking sheet at 425 deg. Turn rings over to finish baking.

WELL-DESERVED HONORS

They presented two members of the McFarlands senior "A" hockey club with trophies last night. And in this department's opinion "it" could not have happened to two nicer guys."

To Jean-Paul Payette went the Frank Folwell Trophy symbolic of the "most gentlemanly player." The handsome "mug" becomes Paul's permanent possession. To Maurice Benoit went the Bill Green Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the "most valuable player" to the club. This trophy is for annual competition.

That these selections will meet with the general approval of city and district fandom goes without saying, albeit there may be some who will disagree.

We are informed there was not the slightest hesitation on the part of the selection panel in adjudging Paul the "most gentlemanly" player. Not only was his sterling characterization on the ice taken into consideration but his fine deportment "where the line of duty" as well. The soft-spoken French-Canadian who hails Cornwall as his home well deserved the honor.

As a player Paul rates among the best to wear a McFarland livery. His point-getting ability is evidenced in his fine record. During the season he amassed some 74 points consisting of 22 goals and 52 assists. Always a team player, Paul never demonstrated the puck jealousy so often exhibited in centre players. He worked for team victory and not personal aggrandizement. His assist record of 52 clearly demonstrates this. Nor did he hesitate to fire the puck home when the opportunity presented itself. Paul is an outstanding stick handler and many individual goal sorties have been started with his weaving tricky style.

His penalty record is one of which he can be justifiably proud. He was assessed but eight minutes in the hoosegow and if memory is correct one or two of these were borderline sentences. He is a team, but aggressive player, a gentleman on and off the ice, and thoroughly deserving of his award.

It was a double honor for Paul too, out there last night. He was selected as the player-of-the-week for the week previous and was awarded the handsome Carlings Breweries silver tankard. Paul is one of the many players who have won one of these beautiful symbols of hockey prowess, thanks to the interest and generosity of the Carlings people.

Nor did the selection panel deal too lengthily with the "most valuable player" award. It was unanimous in its choice of Moe Moe Goldham, in this connection, and we do not have any trouble in rating all-star status should such a team be selected in the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league.

As a defenceman, Moe rates highly in the blueline stalwarts of the loop. He has been the backbone of the three-man defence of the McFarlands and this is no reflection on the fine work of Floyd Crawford and Lionel Botley. He has been the bane of opposing forwards all season, and many an insomniac has had to fill the bone-shaking jolt of his hard but legal body-checks.

The "Bob Goldham" of the McFarlands, Moe has been dubbed the Maes "second goalie" by opposition players and officials because of his ability to stop hard shots practically after they leave the stick of the point man. His all-round work on the defence has earned for him the respect of players of other clubs, and the admiration of those of his own.

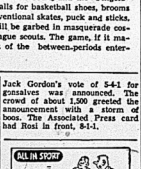
Offensively Moe rates highly too. He has a good points record as far as defencemen go having scored 8 goals and being credited with 29 assists. He is possessed of what has been called the most terrific slap-shot of any player in the league, while his ability to shoot from any angle always has opposing goalies on extra alert when Moe steps in.

Moe's value to the team, and again we are not depreciating the outstanding work of the two other members of the defence corps, has always been evidenced when he, by force of circumstance, has been unable to play.

THIS SHOULD BE GOOD!

The annual hockey game between the city police and fire departments, with the former augmented by Ontario Provincial Police puck stalwarts, has been set for Memorial Arena March 21st.

The big "battle" is again sponsored by the Belleville Shrine Club and the proceeds in their entirety will be turned over to the Shrine Club's crippled kiddies fund. Tickets will be on sale in the near future so don't forget to pick up one, two or a dozen and not only enjoy a night's hockey fun but help a very worthy cause.



Arrangements are also in the making for a Broom Ball game between the "Tonsils" of Radio Station CJBQ and the "Fingers" of this newspaper. This classic calls for basketball shoes, brooms and a football instead of the conventional skates, puck and sticks. It is expected the participants will be garbed in masquerade costume primarily to fool major league scouts. The game, if it materializes, likely will form part of the between-periods entertainment.

Rosi Verdicts Johnny Gonsalves

NEW YORK (AP)—Paolo Rosi, an unranked New York lightweight, bulled Johnny Gonsalves all-over Madison Square Garden ring Friday night to defeat the third - ranking lightweight contender from Oakland, Calif., in a 10-rounder. The defeat, by split decision, snapped Gonsalves' unbeaten streak at 13.

Rosi, 29, who came here from Italy a couple of years ago, handed the lanky, light-hitting Gonsalves as if Johnny was a prelim fighter. The lean Californian, noted for his boxing ability, showed absolutely nothing against the aggressive but often wild Rosi.

Referee Al Berl (63-1) and Judge Harold Barnes (64-1) each voted for Rosi. Their verdicts were announced first. Then judge Jack Gordon's vote of 54-1 for gonsalves was announced. The crowd of about 1,500 greeted the announcement with a storm of boos. The Associated Press card had Rosi in front, 8-1-1.

"If you think his footwork's good here you should see him tip-toeing out of the house on lodge nights!"

Decision on Play Eligibility Rests With East, West Unions; Little Chance for Ont. Body

By Jack Sullivan
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Rugby Football Union's compromise proposal by which the Ontario Union would retain its right to challenge for the Grey Cup goes before the open meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union today.

The compromise proposal appeared virtually sure of adoption but, so far as the Ontario Rugby Football Union is concerned, it would be a hollow victory.

Decision whether an ORFU team could actually play in the Grey Cup series would rest with the two big unions of the CRU—the Big Four of the east and the Western Interprovincial Football Union (WIFU)—if a change in the required vote.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED

When the CRU executive finished its two-day closed meeting Friday, president Ken Montgomery of Edmonton told newspaper men that the two big unions had submitted an amendment to their resolutions prepared some time ago.

Delegates of the Quebec and Ontario unions said the text of the amendment was submitted by Myer Cosky of Montreal, the official representative of the QRFU on the executive. It was supported by both the Big Four and the WIFU, each with three votes. It was opposed by the ORFU with two votes and the Intercollegiate Union with one vote.

The original resolutions of the two professional leagues, drawn up at their Canadian Football Council meeting in Winnipeg last January, called for exclusion of the OIRFU from future Grey Cup play.

BIG LEAGUES DECIDE

The Quebec compromise stipulates that during the CRU executive shall decide on the Grey Cup participants first. If a mutual month, carried 7-3 at the executive meeting, requires a two-thirds majority at today's open meeting.

If it is passed, a CRU executive decision on the cup participants each year would require only a two majority.

Since each of the two big unions has three votes in a total of 10, they would control the executive and there would be little chance for the ORFU to participate in the forseeable future.

Should the WIFU compromise amendment, the Big Four and WIFU seem to have won the big stick they sought.

They want — possibly as the Canadian Football Council will run their own show within the framework of the CRU and exclude participants in the number one sports classic, the Grey Cup.

ORFU UNHAPPY

ORFU delegates were plainly unhappy at the turn of events.

"Mark my words," warned incoming ORFU president Don Downey of Toronto, "if the pros get their way the Canadian Football Council (the body of the Big Four and WIFU) and not the Canadian Rugby Union will rule the game in Canada."

Today's meeting is expected to give formal approval to staging the 1957 Grey Cup game in Toronto Saturday, Nov. 30. The incoming executive will have a recommendation that the 1958 game be played in Vancouver and this is a foregone conclusion.

This year's east-west all-star Shrine game will likely be played the Saturday following the Grey Cup game in either Hamilton or Montreal. These two cities so far are known to be definitely interested although only Hamilton has made formal application to stage the game.

Biltmores Blank Baby Habs 3-0; Lead By Three

By The Canadian Press

Guelph Biltmores may have to win their one remaining game—a Sunday contest with St. Michael's College Majors—to win the championship of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series.

Biltmores, who at one time led the eight-team circuit by a healthy 15 points, defeated Ottawa Junior Canadiens 3-0 Friday night and now head runners-up Toronto Marlboros by three points.

Marlboros, however, have two games left to play. Two victories and a Guelph defeat, would give the defending Memorial Cup champions the title on the last day of the season. Guelph has been on top practically since opening day.

ST. MICHAEL'S TAKE THIRD

St. Michael's regained the third place Friday night, dumping Barrie Flyers 5-1 to jump past St. Catharines Teepees and Hamilton Cubs, one point behind them.

Majors and Teepees each have a game to play, but Hamilton has ended its regular schedule and will do no better than a tie for fourth.

At Barrie, Frank Mahovlich potted two goals to continue his role as St. Michael's top scorer. Other Major goals came from Daryl Sly and Lou Angotti, Jake Kana scored for Barrie.

Dominion Rinks Arriving for Big Tournament

KINGSTON (CP)—Eleven rinks representing the cream of Canadian curlers are scheduled to arrive here today to vie for the 28th annual Dominion curling championship which opens Monday.

The man responsible for their presence is R. Brodie Ness, Kingston curler and agricultural expert, whose campaign to have the city chosen as the site of the bonspiel began in 1949.

His efforts were rewarded in 1955 when the Dominion Curling Association pitched Kingston as the site of the 1957 championship and since then he has done everything to ensure that the bonspiel goes off without a hitch.

PARADE PLANNED

After the rinks arrive — the Western and Ontario competitors on a train from Toronto, the Eastern and Quebec rinks on a train from Montreal—there will be a two-band parade from the station to the hotel and a civic reception and dinner for the participants and delegates to the annual meeting of the DCA.

Sunday a press conference will be held at the 2,200-seat community centre, where play will take place, and later the annual curlers' luncheon at the hotel. In the evening Rev. Canon Minto Swan will conduct the annual church service at Sydenham United Church.

Play begins Monday at 2:15 p.m. EST after a parade to the rinks. There will be two draws a day, afternoon and evening, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday three on Thursday and two more on Friday, morning and afternoon.

During the week-end receptions and dinners are planned and each visiting rink has been assigned a host to look after transportation problems.

RINKS NAMED

British Columbia is represented by Ray Turnbull, Trail; Alberta Matt Baldwin, Edmonton; Saskatchewan, Gerry Campbell, Avonlea; Manitoba, Howard Wood, Jr., Winnipeg; Northern Ontario, Don McEwen, Port Arthur; Ontario, Stan Sarjeant, Orillia; Quebec, Ken Watson, Lachute; New Brunswick, K. H. Everett, Saint John; Nova Scotia, R. W. Simmons, Halifax; Prince Edward Island, G. (Jiggs) MacDonald, C. Fluke, Corner Brook.

Baldwin and Campbell are former champions. Stone, McEwen, McEwen, Simmons and Fisher have skipped in previous championships. Wood played with his father on the championship rink in 1940.

Five Canadians Qualify in Baton Rouge Open

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Lanky Bill Nary, predicting "two more 69s if I keep hitting the shots as well," today took a one-stroke lead in the third round of the $15,000 sixth annual Baton Rouge open golf tournament.

Close behind the 41 - year - old Wayne, Mich., veteran were two other old pros and a comparative newcomer. Nary opened with a 69 Thursday. Although he "all but" shot his way out of trouble for a five-under par 67 Friday and a two-day total of 136.

Jimmy Demaret, 45 - year - old Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., veteran, matched Nary's 67 to pull within one stroke of the lead.

Forty-two-year-old Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., and 33-year-old Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., a relative newcomer to the PGA circuit, were tied at 138. Both shot 68s Friday.

FIVE CANADIANS QUALIFY

Five of the eight Canadians were among the top 40 pros and amateurs to qualify for the final 36 holes.

Al Balding of Toronto led the way with 73-71—144. Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Lachute, Que., had 70-75—145; Bill Mehlhorn, Vancouver, 74-73 — 147; Murray Parker, Toronto, 75-73—148 and John Henrick, Ottawa, 73-75—148.

Three Americans, Lone Canuck Compete for Badminton Titles

By Gerald Lougheed
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITCHENER (CP) — Three American players and a Canadian were to compete this afternoon in the finals for Canada's two top badminton championships.

The men's singles title play is between 24-year-old Dave MacTaggart of Vancouver, the defending champion, and veteran Martin Mendez of San Diego, Calif., who was the U.S. titleholder in 1949, 1950 and 1952.

MacTaggart squeezed past university student Peter Ferguson of Woodstock, 15-13 in the first game of their semi-final Friday night but was in command all the way in the deciding contest, winning 15-8. Mendez, 40-year-old aircraft company worker, ousted Canada's No. 6 ranked player, Jim Carnwath of Woodstock, 15-14, 15-10.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

The battle for the women's singles crown was an all-American affair: Judy Devlin of Baltimore versus Mrs. Lois Alston of San Diego, Calif. The last Canadians bowed out Friday night, Mrs. Kay Grant of Montreal and Marj Shedd of Toronto.

Miss Devlin, 21-year-old college student who was born in Winnipeg, defeated Miss Shedd 11-6, 12-10. Miss Shedd, Ontario singles titleholder and ranked No. 3 nationally, was no match for the No. 1 U.S. player in the first game but held a 10-5 lead in the second before caving in under Miss Devlin's smashes.

Third-ranked in the U.S., Mrs. Alston downed Mrs. Grant, runner-up for the title last year, 11-3, 11-3, 11-3.

The championships here were opened on foreign entries for the first time in five divisions—men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles and the mixed doubles.

UPSET IN DOUBLES

An upset occurred in the men's doubles semi-finals, last year's champion pair of Toronto's Bert Westcott and Bill Purcell losing in a tough match to MacTaggart and Bert Fergus of Vancouver, Don Smythe and Budd Porter of Toronto beat the last American pair in the other side of the draw, Noel Pehm of New Haven, Conn., and Baltimore's Dick Ball.

The women's doubles division also will have new rulers—Americans.

Joan Hennessy and Miss Shedd who won last year, were eliminated by Judy and Sue Devlin, The sisters are to face Ethel Marshall and Bea Massman, Buffalo, N.Y., in the final. The Marshall-Massman combination advanced by defeating Mrs. Clair Lovett, Vancouver, and Maureen Bray, Victoria.

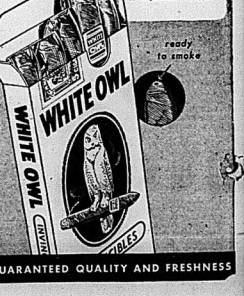
JUNIOR EVENTS

Play was completed in the junior events Friday night with 16-year-old Harvey Hard of Victoria winning the junior men's singles and Winnipeg's Anne Sawyer, also 16, the junior women's.



Hard defeated Larry Beeson of Niagara Falls, Ont., in a three game match and Miss Murray won over Dawn Coates of Montreal, also in three games.

Macs Whip Chevies 9-4; Minnie Menard Ties Senior A Scoring Record

Guidolin Fashions Hat Trick In Clean Free-Scoring Game; Winger Registers 50th Goal

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Minnie Menard, Belleville McFarlands fleet left winger and top-goalgetter in Ontario Eastern Senior "A" Hockey League now shares the all-Ontario senior "A" goal-getting record. Minnie scored a lone goal in the Macs/somewhat easy 9-4 victory over the Cornwall Chevies last night to bring his record to 50. The present record of 50 goals was established two years ago by Mickey Roth of the Stratford Indians who holds the points record of 161.

The defeat proved costly to the Chevies who have probably lost the services of flashy defenceman Joe Lepine for the rest of the playoffs season. Lepine is reported to have fractured a bone in his left foot during a scramble in front of the Cornwall net. He was rushed to hospital for treatment. Bob Bingley of Cornwall was also injured but he said not to be seriously hurt.

Featuring the game were the presentations of three awards. To thunderous cheers of approval Moe Benoit was presented with the Bill Green Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the most valuable player to the Macs while Paul Payette was awarded the Frank Follwell Trophy, symbolic of the most gentlemanly player. Paul was also presented with the Carlings Breweries silver tankard player-of-the-week award.

The Chevies were minus the services of Kikoute Joanette, their star centre and Mort Milmore. The Macs played without Ike Hildebrand who is sidelined with a groin injury.

The game was a cleanly-fought wide open affair with the Macs except Benoit and Gordie Bell fattening their goal average. Coach Bep Guidolin headed the points-getting parade with three goals and an assist with Minnie Menard getting one and three. Paul Payette had one and two assists while Wilma Menard, Johnny Muretich, and Keith Stredsonld one and one. Davy Jones two assists, Ron Hilaire, Botley and Floyd Crawford single scores.

The Macs almost completely dominated the play especially in the first and second periods when they held a 7-0 lead at the end of the first, split four goals in the second and outscored the Chevies 2-2 in the final chapter. They outshot the Chevies 35-22.

St. Jean was the chief trigger-man for the Chevies scoring two of their goals with the assist hungry Macs swarming all around him. He was beaten cleanly on all nine goals that whistled past him.

The Macs played heads-up hockey throughout the game. Payette ates in a successful effort to eon-solidate their third-place position in the league by moving four points ahead of Kingston providing they don't play more than one game tussle against Pembroke.

The Macs first line of Guidolin, Benoit and Minnie Menard stole the points-getting spotlight coming up with two final and four assists. The line of Willie Menard, Keith MacDonald and St. Hilaire played outstanding hockey as Johnny Muretich, Bobonie and Davy Jones along with Floyd Crawford and Moe Benoit were towers of strength on the defence with Lloyd Botley turning in another fine game.

Referee Ned Vitarelli handed out but seven penalties,six going to the Macs, one a misconduct to Guidolin late in the third period. Two of the Cornwall goals were scored when the Macs were a man short.

Minnie Menard strove valiantly to break and create a new scoring record. He narrowly missed when one of his scorching drives at was not until early in the third period that flashed a brilliant echo effort to tie the scoring record.

In an all-out first period the Macs took over and never let up the entire twenty minutes, outshooting the Chevies 15-5. Paul Payette opened the scoring after 15 minutes with Guidolin and Minnie Menard assisting. Bobo Bobenie made it 2-0 then Willie Menard put the Macs three up two minutes later and Guidolin scored his first two period effort.

Keith MacDonald blasted home the rubber to make it 5-0 in the second, and halfway through the heat St. Jean broke the Chevies scoring ice. Guidolin scored his second goal but Moe Savard got that one back for the Chevies to make it 6-2.

Guidolin with his third and Minnie Menard scored with 18 seconds early in the third chapter to put the Macs up 8-2. Davy Jones got the margin for Cornwall but Minnie Menard finished with the status quo minutes later. St. Jean scored his second goal of the night with a shot from the blue line on the way it ended. 1525 paid customers saw the game.

Grid Delegates Warned Against Radical Changes

MONTREAL (CP) — Delegates to the Canadian Rugby Union's annual meeting here were warned by president Leo Dandurand of Montreal Alouettes not to propose any radical changes in Canadian football rules.

The subject is one dear to Dandurand's heart and he took the opportunity to spike any guns when delegates gathered for a luncheon Friday.

As chairman of the host club, Dandurand said in a brief speech "if we bring U.S. football rules in their entirety into Canada some teams will go bankrupt."

At the same time CRU officials disclaimed any major changes will be proposed. They said that only minor and clarifications will come up for approval or rejection.

Dandurand didn't enhance its product with the rabbit ball," said Dandurand. "Cold! didn't either when it provided a shovel-like club to get out of sandtraps."

"Soccer, on the other hand, a universal game, has had no rule changes in 50 years and it is the biggest spectator sport in the world."

Dandurand said he was warning against changes because "already the thin edge of the wedge has been started."

In an afternoon meeting Friday, the Big Four and Western Interprovincial football Union were defeated in their efforts to abolish their representation on the Canadian Rugby Union rules committee.

They proposed that they be allowed to appoint a certain number of their groups to the present seven-man committee. Two-thirds majority of seven votes was necessary to bring about the constitutional change. The vote was 6-4, all the smaller unions voting against the two big unions which had three votes each.

Tangible tributes were paid to two Belleville McFarlands players at the Belleville - Cornwall senior "A" hockey game last night.

Their consistently excellent performances over the gruelling schedule, December to mid March and centre Jean-Paul Payette were presented with handsome trophies during the first - second period intermission, as nearly 1,-600 fans thundered their approval.

Benoit was presented with the Bill Green Memorial Trophy, symbolic of the "most valuable player" to the club while Payette was awarded the Frank S. Follwell Trophy emblematic of the "most gentlemanly player".

That the choices were popular with the fans was evidenced in the cheers that shook Memorial Arena rafters following the announcement of the awards winners.

It was a double honor for Payette. He was also presented with the Carlings Breweries Silver Tankard for being adjudged the "player-of-the-week" for February 17-23.

McFarlands manager Drury Denyes at a microphone in mid-ice announced the awards. Both teams lined up on their respective blue lines pausing the presentation ceremonies.

Johnny Hibbard, president of the Belleville Hockey Oldtimers Association made the presentation of the Bill Green Memorial Trophy to Benoit. After congratulating the player he said "This trophy is in memorial to one of the greatest hockey players Belleville ever knew, Bill Greeg."

Mr. Follwell presented his trophy to Payette. He congratulated the McFarlands for a splendid season of hockey stressing the valuable publicity it has brought to the city.

"Paul", he said, "lives in Cornwall but I hope he will be back again with Belleville next year".

The Belleville Oldtimers Association however presented Benoit with a beautiful silver cigarette case as his permanent memento of the season. It, as was the Follwell Trophy, was engraved with the player's name and the occasion for which they were presented.

American Holds Big Lead in Skating Singles

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The men's singles title of world figure skating will, in all probability, remain in the United States with the Jenkins family.

Neve- before has a skater succeeded his brother as world ultra title but David Jenkins, 20-year-old collegian, holds a solid advantage going into tonight's free skating finals. Should he win, he'll take over from his brother, Hayes Alan, who retired four years ago at the top.

With young Jenkins a British ice-dancing team of Courtney Jones and June Markham leading the way into the two final and four the championships.

Jenkins topped the field of 17 skaters from nine countries in Friday's compulsory figures event, which counts 40 per cent toward the title.

Carruthers, 23, and Miss Markham, 19, a smooth-skating pair from London, were judged best in the compulsory-dancing. They will do their free skating dance tonight.

SNELLING THIRD

The Toronto dancing team of 18-year-old Wilma McLachlan, and Geraldine Fenton, 21, headed the British leaders who also received all the free-skating votes. In third place were Bert Wright and Sharon McKenzie of Los Angeles.

CAN'T INVITE RUSSIANS

OTTAWA (CP)—G. A. Regan, Halifax sports promoter, has been advised by the Canadian government not to invite a Russian hockey team to play in Canada.

A spokesman for the external affairs department said Friday this is in general line with the government's policy of not encouraging exchange visits between Canada and Russia since Soviet troops put down the Hungarian rebellion.

Regan now is in Moscow where the world hockey championships are being played and is believed to be trying to make arrangements for a Swedish team to tour Canada. He has left the external affairs department before making plans for Moscow the possibility of inviting a Russian team to this country.

Sweden Swamps Austrians 10-0; Japs Defeated

By ED SIMON

MOSCOW (CP) — "Banzai"—shouting Japanese fell before a furious onslaught of East Germans in the eight-country world amateur hockey championships Friday night.

East Germany's 9-2 win was their first victory in the tournament, and came as the fourth round in the seven-round events came to a close.

The big Germans used a simple technique. They bulled in to a series of pinpoint passes in Japanese goal and then banged away at the rubber until something happened.

The smaller Japanese put up a good battle but stood little chance despite their speed.

Sweden, for the first place with defending champion Russia, idle Friday, showed greater finesse in trouncing Austria 10-0 in a surprising nobody. Austria has so far managed to pick up only a tie with the Swedish newcomers to the game.

Unbeaten Sweden was given the only chance of tanning the Russians, who also have four straight wins.

The Swedes had it all their own way against Austria, with Hans Mild-enberger leading the list with Eilert Maatta two, Sven (Tumba) Johansson and Sven Tumba. Sweden's scoring when his team went down to defeat against Canada in the 1956 Winter Olympics, helped in both goals.

Albert Basketball Teams Oust OSD Qualify for COSSA Championship

Taking both ends of the final double-header for the Bay of Quinte "B" championships, Albert College won the junior game 39 to 38, and the senior game 100 to 37, on the O.S.D. floor yesterday afternoon. Both Albert teams are now eligible to proceed to Toronto on March the 9th for the COSSA Championship Tournaments.

The Junior game turned out to be a real thriller affair right from the starting whistle. O.S.D. went into an early lead that soon reached 10 points. O.S.D. played a consistent slow passing game, while the Albert boys were content to sling the ball around. The officials were calling them close and perhaps the feature of the first half was the number of fouls shots awarded. O.S.D. ended with O.S.D. leading 19 to 11.

Dever Jenkins led the Albert attack in the second half and netted 3 fast baskets to have the score back into contention. Play ranged even from then until the end of the game, for the lead changed and go the score was tied, both teams got two baskets in the final minute, and with some 30 seconds to go Don MacKenzie was fouled and sank the shot that won the game, but the winning one.

Albert College 39 — Franklin 9; Anderson 2; Schwab 3; Mackenzie 1; Dever 12; May: Safe 6; Robinson 5; Rawlins; McCuaig 1; Errington; Murdock.

Ontario School Fr Deaf 38 — Yates; Wright 9; Armes; Enman 6; Wilson; Broley; Barron, Fowler 10; Hawkins 2, Cyopeck 2; Leblanc; Wynon 8.

Britain's Best Heavy Prospect Is Promoter Jack Solomons

By ED SIMON

LONDON (CP)—Even die-hard boxing enthusiasts are reluctantly concluding that the most promising heavyweight prospect in Britain is promoter Jack Solomons.

The destruction of British champion Joe Erskine by Nino Valdes in the first round, latest in a series of disasters suffered in international competition, can scarcely be considered an upset. But the behavior of London boxing writers on the eve of the battle was a tribute to Solomons' promotional skill.

In defiance of the 3-to-1 odds and all considerations of logic, almost every writer in town picked Erskine to defeat his Cuban foe. With startling unanimity they suddenly discovered the unimpressive record of Valdes against selected opposition, losing sight of the fact that Erskine's unblemished record against major opponents was entirely due to the fact that he had never met any.

In previous weeks, everyone had been bullish on the Cuban, who emerged from the sports pages as a combination of Joe Louis, Rocky Marciano and Hermann.

After the fight, the irrepressible Solomons announced plans to treat London to a title bout between Valdes and Floyd Patterson, professing to see the Cuban as the logical contender. But, the idea moment, the crestfallen London writers are more interested in the details of native heavyweights.

Most of them tried to be as kind to Erskine as is possible when a fighter spends 123 seconds in the ring before the referee comes to his rescue. The referee Jack-Hart, was less friendly.

"I was disgusted with our champion," Hart said. "I don't think he gave us any value. I thought he was too soft. He wasn't tough enough."

The writers sadly agreed.

Solomons felt Erskine and other Britons don't do enough training. J. Onslow Fane, president of the British Boxing Board of Control, thought they train enough but don't do enough fighting.

Bobby Neill, a Scottish featherweight, said it's all mental—"the shameless adulation of fans who they are better than us."

Ingemar Johansson, the Swede who holds the European title, said the 23-year-old Erskine was "very slow in the head" against the Cuban, who would like a shot at the Cuban himself, is 34.

American League Lines Sights on Western Players

NEW YORK (CP)—The American Hockey League will consider a proposal next week to enable it to extend its player limitations on players in Canada's Western Hockey League, a league official said Friday.

He said the extension would enable the AHL to draft WHL players affiliated with a National Hockey League club if that player has been with a WHL team for more than three years.

Under AHL rules claiming the player's services would pay the WHL club $7,500.

He said the AHL now has the right to draft WHL players not affiliated with the NHL for $7,500.

TO A FEW MORE

Effect of this proposed extension would do is give them the right to a few more players."

He added that the "probably only a half-dozen" players in the WHL who would be affected by the change.

"The NHL loans or farms players to the WHL and we thought they're playing out there they're our property, it's time for the AHL or the NHL to look at a player's prospects, but after three years they should be able to decide if he's NHL calibre or not.

"If he isn't, we think we should be able to draft him so he can play in the AHL, which is a better league than the WHL."

The spokesman said the NHL has agreed to informal talks to back the extension.

Rochester Wins Six in Row; Nudges Leaders

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(AP)—Rochester's red - hot Americans moved within two points of the American Hockey League lead Friday night by blanking pace-setting Providence Reds 4-0.

It was the sixth straight success for Rochester and boosted them into sole possession of second place just a month from the season.

Earl Balfour shook loose on solo dashes at 5:14 and 7:19 to beat Johnny Bower in the second period. Then Ed Mazur, rifled one in front straight on at 19:54 to make it 3-0.

Americans' final tally came at 9:41 of the third session when Gordie Hannigan converted on a pass from Mazur.

Leafs Contract Two Players

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs announced signing Friday of defenceman Carl Brewer, Jacobs and outfielder Russell Rae for the 1957 International Baseball League season.

Jacobs is a righthander who played with the 1956 team which in 28 games, finishing with a 3-5 record. In two years with Rochester in the AA Three-I League, the 27-year-old batted .312 and .294. Last year he hit 17 homers and drove in 81 runs.

General manager Rudie Schaffer also announced Leafs have completed arrangements for a farm team in the class D Florida League. This year the Cornwall club will have the assignment, replacing Orlando, last year's farm team.

Cal Gardner Lines Sights on NHL Consecutive Games Mark

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In a season when mysterious blood diseases and moody goalkeepers have robbed National Hockey League clubs almost as much trouble as fractures, Cal Gardner must be a refreshing change to the Boston Bruins.

When he skates out today in Boston against the New York Rangers, the thick - shouldered, red-haired centre will be beginning his 435th consecutive game, probably a modern record for hardiness.

It's difficult to find figures for comparison, but the consensus is that the 33-year-old's only contemporary rival for longevity was Tony Leswick, now 32 and playing 420 consecutive games when he bowed out of the league last season.

That leaves Gardner with the all-time record to shoot for and he is still a fair distance away. The mark is 906 regular games set by Murray Murdoch, who played every New York Ranger game between 1926-27 and 1936-37.

But Lynn Patrick, Bruins' general manager, who saw Gardner play 270 games in a Boston uniform is due a new boss. thinks Cal's achievement is even more remarkable than Murdoch's.

"Remember, Patrick says, "when Murdoch was playing with New York the schedules were only 44 to 48 games. A player could be hurt and still not lose any playing time, with as many as five, six or seven days between a game. Today it isn't unusual to play four games in five nights."

And Gardner didn't set his record by backing away from shy fights either.

The Transcona, Man., native has been a digging, dogged checker ever sigge he broke in with the Rangers during the 1945-46 season and was traded to Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks and Boston he has maintained his reputation as an honest, two-way forward.

During that time he's absorbed enough broken noses and stitches to stock a hospital ward. A heavy, slight heavyweight boxer, but his 175-pound body still has lots of wear in it.

Gardner has never been a high scorer—his top year was 1950-51 when he scored 22 with Leafs—but he's always got 10 to 15 goals and 20 to 25 assists and the assurance that Gardner will nearly always be in the line - up unless skates is a valuable asset to any team.

With the Training Camps

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitchers Mike Garcia of Cleveland Indians and Art Fowler of Cincinnati Redlegs have been in training only one day. But already each has come up with a gimmick to fool the enemy batters.

For Garcia, the situation is serious. He has won 11 games in each of the last two years, so it is imperative that, at 33, he produce a winning season.

He has developed a knuckle ball and on the strength of it, he said, he thinks he can make a comeback.

"I think I threw it in a game with Boston in late August last season," Garcia said. "I forget who the batter was, but it sure surprised him.

"It surprised me, too. I go it over the plate."

Fowler appears ready to join the no-windup club of New York Yankees' Don Larsen.

"It isn't any idea," he said at the Redlegs' camp in Tampa. "The manager (Birdie Tebbetts) and Tom Ferrick (pitching coach) want me to try it out."

HANDICAP IS HITTING

And on the subject of pitchers, Granny Hamner may not be one, after all. Hamner, Philadelphia Phillies' former shortstop, showed up at Clearwater, Fla., as a pitcher after a shoulder injury hampered his batting.

But he has been taking batting practice daily and swinging as though he never had an injured shoulder. The suspicion around camp is the either he has had a sudden change of heart and the injury has disappeared or the Phillie brass is trying to act cagy about the club's shoulder problem.

This will be a good news item to the Yanks bigwigs who were worried about the slugger when he played in the players golf tournament a couple of weeks back. At that time, it was reported that he was being bothered by a recurring knee injury.

PLACES NO BLAME

Elsewhere on the training circuit:

Milwaukee Braves outfielder Bobby Thomson, 33, says "I can't blame the club for trading me. . . I'm not ready to hang up my glove yet."

Thomson adds that "the fans have a right to be down on me." But "a guy can drive in 74 runs, hit 20 homers and does the defensive job I thought I did last season isn't too bad."

Paul Minner, 33, veteran southpaw pitcher picked up as a free agent after his release by the Chicago Cubs, is confident he'll make the Pittsburgh Pirate pitching staff.

FELL IN TUB

Minner suffered a fractured collarbone once in a bathtub fall last summer. Dr. Joe Finegold, Pirate physician, says the injury appears to have healed and "there is no reason at all Minner can't pitch."

Bob Friend, ace of the staff, Roger Sawyer and Joe Trimble came down slightly lame during the morning as they practised fielding grounders and covering first base.

MINNIE IS LATE

And at Tampa, Fla., outfielder Minnie Minoso reported at the Chicago White Sox camp two days late, touching off comment among the veterans that he is the only one who can get away with it.

All Sox under contract were instructed to report Feb. 27.

Minnie at first said he had driven most of the way. Then he said he had flown from Havana. All anybody knew was that he was in camp regardless of how he came.

"I'm right on time, like always," he quipped. "I don't know nothing about Feb. 27. They tell me March 1, and here I am."

Marmora Midgets Tie Round With Campbellford

MARMORA (Special) — Battling thirty minute overtime, Campbellford and Marmora Midgets failed to reach a decision in their second game of the OMHA goals-to-go playoffs here. The score was 7-5 for Marmora with the first game ending in the same count for Campbellford.

The matter of a deciding game has been placed in the hands of the OMHA. The referee-in-chief Fenelon Falls in the next round.

The home team got off to a one-all tie in the first period with Marmora scoring four goals in the second session. Campbellford came back with a pair in the third chapter to tie the round at ten-all.

The teams battled through two scoreless ten minute overtime periods and with a minute to go Marmora's Dean Lavender put his team in the lead, Campbellford roared back and with seconds left Wayne Kerr scored for Campbellford to again deadlock the series.

Lavender was scoring tops for Marmora with three goals, with Beverly Osborne, Peewee Holland, Don Bedore and Harold Maloney also scoring.

Minor Hockey

The Maple Leafs, Canadiens, Barons and Rangers advanced to the semi-finals of the peewee hockey league this morning in the second game of their two-game, goals-to-count series.

Barons and Wings played a 0-0 tie but the Barons take the series on the strength of their 2-1 victory last week. The Canadiens won this morning 3-2 over the Bruins and win the series 6-4, the Maple Leafs defeated the Browns 7-2 for a 6-1 edge while Rangers edged the Black Hawks 2-1 and 4-2 on the round.

Jimmie Woodcock and Carl Boomhower tallied for the Rangers this morning with Jimmie Hoss earning a single assist, Billy Hunter scored for the Black Hawks assisting.

Fred Spafford spearheaded the Canadiens' attack, scoring two goals and helping on the other. Jimmie Rutherford also scored and earned one assist while Brian Skinner also had a single assist. Wayne Branton and Michael Murphy bagged the Bruin markers with Lawrence Cain drawing an assist.

Arthur Lucas netted both Maple Leafs' goals while Ken Tydman had a single helper. Gordon Pollard scored for the Browns with Jackie Boyle assisting.

AT THE McCARTHY — —Three teenage killers, John Barrymore, Jr., Corey Allen and Gerald Sarracini terrorize Betty Garrett in Columbia Pictures' "The Shadow on the Window," starting Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Phil Carey, Miss Garrett and Barrymore are co-starred. "Wicked As They Come", featuring Arlene Dahl, Phil Carey and Herbert Marshall is the 2nd feature.

AT THE PARK — The seductive beauty of Martine Carol, France's most glamorous star of the screen, is revealed in all its glory in this scene from "Sins Of the Borgias," mighty Technicolor spectacle recreating the sinful and sinuous days of the Italian Renaissance, which opens Monday at the Park Theatre. On the same program: "Nightmare" starring Edward G. Robinson. Both dramas are first showings.

Senior A Hockey

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

All the home crowds went home happy last night in Ontario's top senior hockey leagues.

At Kitchener, 3,563 fans watched Dutchmen rout Stratford Indians 8-3 to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven finals in the west-ern division of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A series.

And Chatham Maroons treated 3,500 home fans—the largest Chatham hockey crowd in four seasons —to a 4-1 victory over Windsor Bulldogs in the other half of the semi-finals. The teams are tied with one victory each.

It was the same story in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A southern group where Sudbury Wolves trounced Soo Greyhounds 7-3 at Sudbury in the third game of the double round-robin semi-finals.

WOLVES LEAD SERIES

Wolfey left Wolves with three points in three games, Greyhounds with one point in two games. North Bay Trappers have two points to show for their only game.

In the OHA's eastern division, where the regular schedule has not ended, Belleville McFarlands produced a 9-4 win over Cornwall Chevies at Belleville.

At Kitchener, Paul Knox scored three goals to pace the Dutchies. Jerry Theberge shot two, singles going to George Scholes, Don Rope and Jack Taylor. Mickey Roth, Tommy Walker and Dinny Pete Flanagan counted for Stratford. The teams meet tonight at Stratford.

PLAY ROUGHHOUSE

Six majors and a misconduct were among 25 penalties called in the roughhouse game played at Chatham. The locals' net had two goals for Maroons, Copper Leyte and Lloyd Ferguson getting the others. Ches Warchol scored for Windsor at 17:11 of the third period to avert a shutout. Third game of the series will be played Sunday at Windsor.

At Sudbury, Wolves led 3-0 after the first period and 7-1 after the second.

Jimmy Logan scored two goals for the Wolves, while Frank O'Grady, Armand Lemieux, Bill Eninkel, Norm Gustavson and Len Speck shot one each. Don McLean fired two markers for the Soo Greyhounds, Ron Morock getting the other.

At Belleville, Minnie Menard treated a gathering of 1,545 fans to his 50th goal of the season, including a career OHA record held by Mickey Roth of Stratford Indians.

Playhouse 90 Is Nominated As Hit Show of TV-Season

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If there were any doubts about the hit show of the 1956-57 TV season, the Emmy nominations dispelled them.

Playhouse 90, CBS' Thursday night hour-and-a-halfer, racked up 12 nominations, twice the total of the next nearest contender. And that's not all. The program has consistently managed to come up with attractions that stir up talk in and out of the trade.

Why has the show been so successful?

"It's a combination of elements," said producer Martin Manulis. "One very important factor is the enthusiasm of the directors. They have been able to do a variety of important plays, and they react with eagerness. They instill this quality in the actors. Also, the writing has been of high quality."

BIGGEST HITS

Manulis cited as his four biggest hits: Requiem For a Heavyweight, the bitter saga of a has-been fighter which won Emmy nominations for Jack Palance, Ed Wynn and author Rod Serling; The Ninth Day, story of the desolated postatomic world; The Miracle Worker, about young Helen Keller; and The Comedian, with Mickey Rooney doing a dynamic job in the title role.

Has he had any misses?

"Certainly," he replied. "I don't believe we've had any out-and-out flops, but you're bound to have some shows that don't come up to expectations. Dismissing those one of those. It was the kind of show that should have had six months of preparation; it was the equivalent of putting on a Broadway musical."

Jennifer Jones Tops Great Cast in "Barretts of Wimpole Street"

One of the world's great love stories is brought to the screen in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", with a cast headed by Jennifer Jones and John Gielgud and co-starring Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna.

Based on the Rudolph Besier stage play in which Katharine Cornell scored one of her greatest successes, the M.G.M. picture was filmed in England in Cinemascope and color under the direction of Sidney Franklin, the director who gave the screen such memorable pictures as "Mrs. Miniver", "Smilin' Through" and "Random Harvest".

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" in Color and Cinemascope, is playing today for the last times at the Belle Theatre. A short subject and Jerry Color Cartoon "Down Beat Beat", precedes the Feature Attraction. Continuous showings, come anytime!

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Pursuits in which you have talent should run smoothly, profitably, but you will have to use your wits, be accurate and consistent.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Work, all activities in which you are trained or for which you have taigat can pile up gains, lead to fresh opportunities if you adhere to your usual systematic and intelligent procedures.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn)—Be on guard against fraud, deception of various kinds, but be acquisitive and justly ambitious, too. You can handle the unsuspicious periods as well as the more serious. Do your best now.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — You may not find all wishes gratified immediately but day will yield according to the efforts expended. Essential matters, daily duties and routine, your specific occupation favored.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Condemn nothing that may have value, promise. Do not judge too quickly, perhaps pass up benefits. You can make headway where many would just come out even.

You born today are intellectually inclined and highly talented. You have fine personal qualities—sympathy, understanding, logic, sincerity but may have to urge yourself forward at times because of a too retiring attitude. Promote your splendid God-given talents and assets, so long as you recognize and rightly appreciate others' potentials. Seldom does a true Piscean boast or become intolerant. Exert your personality more at times in order to gain the fullness.

Birthdate: Count Casimir Pulaski, Polish Gen'l in U.S. Revolutionary War; Sir Henry Raeburn, Scottish portrait painter.

LEADERS TALK

President Eisenhower and French Premier Guy Mollet issued a joint communique calling for "free and open passage" through the Suez Canal "without discrimination."

The two leaders met for three days in Washington while the Middle East Flower Conference met.

The U.S. visit of Mollet, who then went on to Canada, was the first in a series of get-togethers of Western statesmen. Later this month Eisenhower meets the British prime minister, who then meets Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada.

PERON FOILED

The Argentine government reported that an automobile accident enabled it to nip in the bud an attempt by conspirators to put Juan Peron to regain power.

The government announced the arrest of scores of military men and civilians allegedly involved in the plot which was aimed to reinstate Peron, now in exile in Venezuela, by invading Argentina from military bases in Paraguay and by staging an internal revolt.

An automobile collision unmasked the Peron plan, officials said. Police near the Bolivian border, conducting a routine check, found quantities of propaganda revealing Peronist commands in Bolivia.

Israel, wary and watchful in the political system.

POLAR PASSAGE

Two Scandinavian airliners met over the frigid spaces at the top of the world, inaugurating the world's regular air service across the North Pole.

The Copenhagen-Tokyo plane and the Tokyo-Copenhagen plane exchanged greetings as they met near the pole on the flight that cuts the air distance between the two capitals to 8,000 from 10,300 miles.

ROYAL SACRIFICE

The Duke of Edinburgh made oblique and sardonic reference to rumors of a rift between him and his wife, the Queen.

Prince Philip, speaking at a luncheon during his Gibraltar visit, told of his round-the-world tour that began in October and noted that it was completed exactly on schedule — "perhaps rather unfortunately, as it turned out."

There had been criticism of the tour's planning. Prince Philip flew from Malta one week to Gibraltar instead of flying to London to join his wife, the Queen, on her state visit to Portugal.

Philip said his trip meant the sacrifice of separation from the Queen and their two children, a sacrifice which "seems to him by very happy family reunite."

FATAL FUSILLADE

Detective Constable Charles Houe, 31, father of six, was shot in the stomach as he chased two burglary suspects and died in hospital. One of the fugitives was killed by the police, the other killed on the spot. He was William J. Liddle, 31, Bill Shiller, who was released in January from penitentiary.

SEARING WIFE

Leon Sauve, 44, charged with stealing his wife's salary said he'd rather stay in jail than go home while waiting for his trial.

"My wife just lords it over me," he complained. "She's the one in the job and she pays the rent."

It was when Leon, who is unemployed, became master of action that he got into trouble.

"I tossed her out of the house," he said, his jaw firm.

Madoc Defeats Campbellford 6-1 To Win Series

MADOC (Special) — Madoc Intermediate "C" hockey team earned its way into the Northern Section finals here last night by whipping Campbellford 6-1 in the fifth and deciding game of their semi-final series before a packed house.

The win gave Madoc the series by a 3-2 margin in games and they will now meet Marmora for the championship honors in a four-of-seven series. The first game is slated for Madoc on Monday night with the second in Marmora on Wednesday evening.

The big Madoc line last night consisted of Carswell, McLellan and Wardhaugh. This trio combined to provide Madoc jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first, made it 4-1 in the second and tallied the only two goals of the third period.

Smith, Carswell and McLellan each dented the twine in the first and Wardhaugh added it 4-0 before Herrington tallied for Campbellford in the second.

Carswell, Madoc participated in five of the winner's six scoring plays. He had a hand in seven of ten four-others, while Jackie Wardhaugh and McLellan each had a brace of goals and an assist.

Smith tallied the other Madoc marker, while Bill Semeryk each drew one helper. Herrington was the lone Campbellford marksman, with Field claiming an assist.

Referees Stan Scrutton and Ken Parris, both of Kingston, handed out but eight minor penalties, with Madoc drawing five.

SEARING

Cause of the crash was not immediately known. Reports of some residents in the area indicated there may have been an explosion in the air before the crash.

In the early hours today a board of inquiry was set up and began investigations. It is headed by Group Capt. J. C. Scott of air force headquarters, with commanding officer of the Aylmer, Ont., RCAF station.

The first statement said:

"The aircraft was last heard from just before 1 a.m. was on schedule and in contact with the tower at Uplands airport. It had been cleared to maintain height before commencing an instrument letdown."

UNDER INSTRUMENT

The spokesman said all aircraft in the area were under instrument flight rules at the time.

The worst previous air crash in the Ottawa area occurred last May 31 when an RCAF CF-100 jet interceptor plummeted into a convent about 20 miles east of Ottawa, killing 15 persons.

U.S. Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt and four others died in the crash of a United States C-47 transport in 1948 in the general area almost seven years ago—March 18, 1950—at Shirley's Bay, Ramsayville, 11 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Monday night's accident spread bits of wreckage and remains of the passengers over a distance of 200 yards square. It happened about three-quarters of a mile west of Manotick, on lands beside a country road. Most of the wreckage was at the edge of a small wood and bordering a small gully.

SEARCH CONTINUES

At midnight, Ontario Provincial Police reported parts of seven bodies had been found. The search was continuing.

Lights flickered off and on in the village at the time of the crash and it was believed parts of the plane hit hydro wires.

A fire engine and ambulance from Uplands went to the crash scene but there was little for them to do.

It was the second crash within two weeks of a Mitchell—a type no longer in use anywhere—that made its name in the Second World War. One crashed Feb. 17 in a residential area of St. James, Man., but there were no deaths.

The broadcasting is continuing into the St. James crash. Earlier this week the afternoon was informed that the plane apparently ran out of gas.

FROM FUSELAGE

Largest piece of debris was a 10-foot-long sheet of fuselage, just north of the country road. On it was the RCAF maple leaf rounded and the words "Air Material Com . . . ."

Nearby was a piece of a wing, but no engine was readily identifiable among the scattered chunks of debris.

South of the road, an open field was scattered with pieces of debris. A brave farmer braved the flaming spray of debris seen by witness William Findlay, 36.

He said he was sitting watching television in his home one mile west of the crash when the aircraft circling overhead. He said it seemed to be in trouble.

He reached to turn down his TV set but the picture faded and lights flickered and a flash of lit the room. He heard an explosion.

SAW FLAMES

"I reached the window in a second and saw flames spraying out over the fields. The plane seemed to have hit from the north and the tumbling wreckage skipped ahead southward."

He ran to the crash scene. Returning later, he found his TV picture tube had burned out.

Earl Nolbaugh, 45, also a Manotick carpenter, said he heard a small explosion and then a big explosion accompanied by a flash of light.

William Miller, who lives a mile from the scene—one of the nearest homes—said his own house "shook like a leaf." But he heard no explosion.

One body was found high in a tree 50 yards from the apparent crash scene. Parts of it hung down the tree, hung a shredded parachute.

WAIT FOR ISRAEL

The final result of these negotiations came Friday. With a 24-hour advance billing, Israel told the assembly that she was ' in a position to announce . . . plans for a full and prompt withdrawal" in compliance with the UN's latest resolution passed Feb. 2.

The setting for the announcement was the most dramatic since the midnight emergency sessions of last fall from the Israeli invasion and the Hungarian revolt. Speculation on the withdrawal announcement had ranged from high optimism over its breaking the Middle East deadlock for good down to pessimism over its resulting in the forced ending of the UN's mediation efforts—which would include the withdrawal of the UN Emergency Force.

When the session was called to order, Golda Meir, Israel's sternfaced foreign minister delivered the withdrawal statement. She made one major set of conditions—the Egyptian and Arab contention has been that the withdrawal should be unconditional—but made a reference to "assumptions" by her government on what should follow the withdrawal:

The assumptions on the future of the Gaza Strip were that the UN Emergency Force should be deployed there, and "that the takeover of Gaza from the military and civilian control of Israel will be exclusively by the UN Emergency Force."

Ottawa To Act On Hospital Insurance Plan

Martin Places Motion On Plan On Order Paper

Will Authorize Payments When 6 Provinces Qualify

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today gave notice that it plans to go ahead with its hospital-insurance scheme at this session of Parliament.

Notice was contained in a resolution placed on the Commons' order paper by Health Minister Martin. It was scheduled to be proposed in the House today.

The proposed resolution says:

"Resolved that it is expedient to introduce a measure to authorize contributions to be paid out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund to provinces in respect of costs incurred by them in providing insured hospital and diagnostic services pursuant to provincial law and to agreements made in accordance with the said measure, to commence when at least six provinces, containing at least half the population of Canada, have entered into such agreements and qualified for the receipt of such contributions."

The federal health insurance proposal was made in the throne speech in January, 1956. Officials said they now consider that five provinces have agreed to enter — Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland. They believe that Nova Scotia and possibly New Brunswick may also come in soon.

The federal government would pay half the cost of the scheme, estimated to total about $400,000,000 if all the provinces enter. However, Ontario has indicated it would be difficult to get its plan ready to operate before January, 1959.

KEYSTONE PROVINCE

This central province is considered the keystone to the over-all plan and therefore it appears unlikely that there would be any federal expenditures for the scheme in the 1956-57 budget.

Federal informants said the main purpose of the current government action is to indicate clearly that it is ready to proceed with its health proposal.

Charge Israeli Raid

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)— The Jordan army said today an Israeli patrol crossed the armistice line into Jordan Sunday night and that fire was exchanged.

No casualties were reported on the Jordan side. A complaint has been lodged with the armistice commission, the army said in a statement.

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters) — Dr. Israel Kastner, wartime leader of the Jewish community in Hungary, was shot and severely wounded in an attempt on his life here today.

His assailants fired three shots at him as he was returning from the editorial offices of the Hungarian-language daily newspaper where he works as news editor. One of the bullets hit him in the chest. The others missed.

One eyewitness said police the shots were fired by two assailants who later got into a car. Police said they had detained four suspects.

Kastner became a controversial figure in Israel as a result of a libel case brought by the attorney-general against Malkiel Greenwald, who accused Kastner of collaborating with the Nazis in Hungary in 1944 and thereby aiding them in the extermination of the Hungarian Jewish community.

25 Cars of CNR Freight Derailed Near Field

FIELD, Ont. (CP)—Twenty-five cars of a 68-car Canadian National Railways freight train were derailed Saturday near this community 10 miles northwest of North Bay. No one was injured.

THREE JUSTICES START PROBE OF CPR DIESEL ISSUE

Commission Expected To Sit Several Weeks

OTTAWA (CP) — Three high court judges open an investigation here today into a dispute which resulted in a nine-day tieup of the CPR's transcontinental railway system early in January.

The judges constitute a royal commission which will make recommendations on the issue of using firemen on diesel locomotives. The railway and its firemen's union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), have been at odds over the matter for more than a year.

The commission is headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada who has been involved in previous railunion disputes as conciliator or arbitrator. Other members of the commission are Chief Justice C. C. McLaurin of the Alberta Supreme Court trial division and Mr. Justice Jean Martineau of Quebec Province's Court of Queen's Bench at Montreal.

SEVERAL WEEKS

The commission is expected to sit for several weeks, holding most of its sessions in Ottawa. After opening statements by both sides today, the CPR will start the presentation of its case.

The main issue in dispute is a CPR proposal to remove firemen from freight and yard diesels over a period of years. They would be retained on passenger trains.

The firemen's union contends firemen are needed on freight and yard diesels for safety and efficiency. However, the company argues they can be eliminated without affecting either factor.

The union called out its 2,000 members on the CPR Jan. 2 to enforce its protest. The CPR simultaneously shut down all its rail operations in Canada.

TEMPORARY HALT

About 25,000 persons were idle until Jan. 11, when Prime Minister St. Laurent's personal negotiations with the parties brought about a temporary settlement. This provided for the commission inquiry and granted the firemen a 12-per-cent wage increase that will remain in effect regardless of the outcome of the diesel issue.

However, the diesel issue is subject to reconsideration after the commission has submitted a report to the government. The dead-line for this is Feb. 28.

Any recommendations by the commission will not be binding. However, Mr. St. Laurent has expressed the view that the findings of the commission will carry such weight that it will be difficult for either side to reject them.

Living Costs During January Rise Another Fifth of Point

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs in rose again in January, pushing the consumer price index to a record 120.5, an increase of one-fifth of a point from 120.3 in December.

Main propelling forces for the rise—which followed a slight decline in December—were higher prices for gasoline, drugs, personal care items and alcoholic beverages, the bureau of statistics reported today The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

A substantial advance in hospital room rates also contributed to an increase in the other commodities and services sub-index from 123.1 to 123.6.

The overall index figure of 120.5 at Feb. 1 represents a gain of 4.3 points over the same date in 1956.

The food sub-index in January rose to 117.2 from 117.1. The only food item to register a significant price increase was sugar.

The shelter sub-index moved up from 133.6 in December to 133.8 in January as a result of small increases in both the rent and home-ownership components.

Ghana Leader Sees Freedom As Step Toward Socialism

LONDON (Reuters) — Dr. Kwame Nkhrumah, prime minister of the new West African nation of Ghana, sees the emergence of this former British Gold Coast colony into self-government as another step towards his vision of a socialist Africa of independent states.

The publication of the book coincides with the inauguration of full independence on March 6, making Ghana the first British colony in West Africa to attain self-government within the Commonwealth.

This autobiography is the story of the rise to power of a village goldsmith's son, of his introduction to "underground" political work in Britain and America, where he knew poverty and hunger, and of the bitter inter-party struggles in the Gold Coast from which he emerged as a national leader who negotiated with Britain for the independence of the colony's 4,125,000 people.

Much of Dr. Nkrumah's political thought and action is dominated by hatred for the colonial system. He says "it is far better to be free to govern, or misgovern, yourself than to be governed by anybody else."

He regards the achievement of independence in Ghana, not as an isolated objective confined to the Gold Coast, but as part of a general movement toward the abolition of colonial rule throughout Africa.

"From now, it must be pan-American nationalism, not the ideology of African political consciousness and African political emancipation must spread throughout the whole continent," he declares.

"The African . . . has been awakened and the struggle for freedom will go on . . ."

Father Killed Crossing Street, Struck by Car

DETROIT (AP)—Lewis Hill of Toronto came to Detroit with his dad, a friend and his dog. They were full of hope.

Lewis' father, David Hill, brought the boys and his son's dog here for the Detroit Kennel Club dog show. The dog, a handsome boxer named Joe, was going to enter the show.

Saturday night Hill left Lewis, 15, and his friend Harvey Shepard, 13, in a motel with Joe.

"I'm going down the street to call mother," he said. "I'll be back in a little while."

At 2 a.m., the youngsters were awakened by patrolman William Tufts.

As gently as possible the patrolman told Lewis his father had been killed by a car while crossing a street near the motel. The patrolman took the boys to his home and spent most of the night getting in touch with the family in Toronto.

Lewis decided to keep the dog in the show. "That's the way dad would have wanted it," he said. Monday Joe won second prize in the open division.

MOLLET SAYS INTERVENTION IN SUEZ JUSTIFIED

French Premier Near End Canadian Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—As uncompromising as a convinced prophet, France's Premier Guy Mollet today winds up a three-day Canadian visit, part of a North American tour intended to restore pre-Suez relationships.

From two broadcast interviews here and a press conference in Quebec City Sunday he already has made it clear that France has no apologies to offer for intervening, alongside Britain, in the fast-ebbing hostilities last November.

He said France considers Egypt's President Nasser a type of Hitler, that she had no stomach for Munich-type appeasement of him and that it was to avoid a repetition of Europe's difficulties with Hitler that she intervened.

He says French public opinion was largely behind him and that France still insists upon two United Nations Security Council recommendations on the Suez Canal: 1. Unrestricted navigation; 2. Inability for any country to oppose free passage through it.

A Socialist, he is France's most durable post-war premier, with 13 months in office.

Mr. Mollet arrived from New York Saturday with Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and 15 officers of the Qual d'Orsay to continue the fence-mending started earlier in the week with President Diefen.

There was ample opportunity for his task here, where in Parliament last November, Mr. St. Laurent spoke sharply about great powers that take the law into their own hands.

Oppose Jesuits' TV Applications

WASHINGTON (AP)—A predominantly Protestant organization representing 1,000 Radio-TV Communications Commission to deny television licenses to Jesuit universities in New Orleans and St. Louis.

Protestants and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State (POAU) said it based this appeal on a contention that the Jesuit Order—the Roman Catholic Society of Jesus—is a religious organization and thus ineligible for licenses.

The licence applications involved are by Loyola University in New Orleans, Channel 4, in that city, and St. Louis Telecast, Inc., for Channel 11 in St. Louis.

Israeli Premier Orders Army Head To Meet Burns

Dramatic Announcement Made at Mid-Day Monday

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion gave the final orders today directing withdrawal of remaining Israeli troops from Egypt. The decision brought bitter demonstrations in Jerusalem.

The demonstrations broke out as Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli chief of staff, met Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of Force, to work out details of the UN takeover in the Gaza Strip and along the Gulf of Aqaba.

A government spokesman announced Ben — Gurion instructed Dayan to invite Burns to a meeting this afternoon "to discuss measures necessary to carry out the withdrawal of forces in accordance with the statement by the foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir."

The official said Israel also is ready to withdraw her civilian officials from the Gaza Strip.

The dramatic announcement was made to reporters at mid-day as Ben-Gurion was engaged in non-stop conferences with leaders of political parties, including the leaders of the two parties in his coalition who threatened to quit over the withdrawal issue.

Ben-Gurion ordered the withdrawal to proceed even before he reported to the Knesset or held a "final" conference with his cabinet.

The official spokesman said the reason for the go-ahead was that "latest clarifications" of the American position had been received from the United States.

Simultaneously it was announced Ben-Gurion will report to the Knesset Tuesday instead of tonight as previously scheduled.

After a weekend of cabinet meetings and conferences, informed sources said the premier had finally obtained the full government's permission to pull the troops back.

Informants said a majority in both the cabinet and parliament had decided reluctantly to go ahead with the troop withdrawal provided it got UN sanctions and a rift with the U.S.

Ben-Gurion's announcement was to be followed by a Knesset debate and probably a vote of confidence.

New Antibiotic Shows Amazing Power Against All Germs, Fungi

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A new antibiotic from yeast is showing amazing power against all kinds of germs and fungi, and even holds promise of licking cancer, scientists report.

Nobody suspected its action that it's been named maludicin—meaning in the Hungarian dialect of Transylvania, "mad."

Human studies with it are just beginning. It will take time to learn its precise value in treating human afflictions.

But in animals, maludicin has and fungus infections. A tiny rose knocked out many kinds of germs in test mice, rendering them immune to certain infections for one to four months.

In animals, too, it shows promise of overcoming or suppressing allergic reactions. It might become a treatment for controlling hay fever and other allergies.

Maludicin was discovered by Dr. Ivan A. Parfentjev, research associate in microbiology, Yale University Medical School.

The drug was obtained from brewer's yeast after it has been fermented.

Dr. Parfentjev found it while seeking an anti - allergy drug. cough vaccine.

There are no known allergies caused by yeast, he said in an interview. And for 2,000 years, since the time of Hippocrates, yeast has been thought to protect against anti-infectious agent.

Numerous crude extracts have been tried as drugs in the past, but with generally poor results. Dr. Parfentjev recently isolated a yeast protein which may be the answer.

It kills or stops the growth of all kinds of bacteria and fungi, he said.

Fungus infections are becoming more and more troublesome, only a few drugs hit them effectively. One particular theory advanced is that certain fungi—normally existing in the body—proliferate only when antibiotics are used to kill germs. The fungi have less competition as germs are killed, and spread or cause new trouble.

The drug may become an anti-allergy boon. It appears to be able to de-sensitize animals made sensitive or allergic to protein materials. Possibly it could protect children from many unknown reasons, become allergic to whooping

Youth Arrested After Theft of Car in Kingston

Recovery of stolen cars has been a matter of full time activity for provincial Constable Gordon Oliver during the past few days. During the past three days the officer has been responsible for arrests which not only solved the thefts of five autos.

The latest was Saturday night when Constable Oliver picked up the trail of a stolen auto east of Kingston. He tailed the wanted car into the city and ran the driver into a dead-end street near the Stephens Adamson plant where the driver took to his heels.

He called for the assistance of city police and following a brief foot chase Gary Buck, 18, of Stone street, was arrested and charged with theft of a car in Kingston. Receiving treatment at Belleville General Hospital and then released were Mr. and Mrs. William Dunlay, both 27, daughters Marie, 5, Joan, 4, and Mary, 3, all occupants of the Dunlay car.

Police said the Dunlay car was northbound when a southbound delivery van driven by Norman Easton, East Dundas street was forced to apply his brakes to avoid striking a vehicle which had slowed in front of him.

Easton swerved into the path of the Dunlay car, then skidded around and struck a second delivery van driven by Fred Coveney, Station St.

Damage to the Dunlay car was estimated at an estimated $1700, and the delivery van driven by Easton about $600.

Provincial Constable R. Kowal investigated.

Toronto Man, 25 Held as Burglar

Nora Kennedy, 20, of Toronto, was arrested Sunday with aiding and abetting the escape of a second wanted man. Police said he is Mike Mcmahon, 24, apartment Sunday by a window, crossed a second-storey roof to an adjoining building, dropped 20 feet to the ground and fled.

Detectives said Shaw was arrested after a fingerprint had been found on a window at the scene of a break-in. They said they have recovered jewelry and cash worth $1,000 from the seven break-ins he is still missing.

TORONTO (CP)—Robert John Wilson, 82, veteran comedian and song writer, died Sunday.

Mr. Wilson was a vaudeville entertainer for more than 50 years. He made tours of Western Canada on the Orpheum circuit with Nellie McKay.

To mark his 50th wedding anniversary in 1952, he wrote his best known song, If You Smile, Smile, Smile. It was recorded by several companies in Canada and the United States and became one of the most popular songs of the years.

Mr. Wilson was born in Cobourg, Ont., and came to Toronto at the age of five. He was educated here and began his appreniceship as a machinist in the printing business in 1891. He followed the trade for more than 40 years, retiring in 1932.

Hundred Mayors Urge Ottawa Pay Defence Costs

ARNPRIOR (CP) — A resolution urging federal responsibility for the defence costs of municipalities in Canada was endorsed Saturday by 100 mayors of cities and towns as they wound up a four-day meeting here.

The resolution said it was the view of the municipal governments of Canada, as reflected through the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities that municipal governments "have a grave and direct responsibility for establishing a well-trained civil defence organization."

But the resolution added that while municipalities should expect to "share the local costs of civil defence, the major cost of civil defence in all its aspects should be the responsibility of the federal government."

Two 'Canadian' Cats Enjoying Life in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Two "Canadian" cats, purring with characteristic feline contentedness, have leaped gracefully from the safe deck of a sea-going ship into the opulent surroundings of one of London's most luxurious homes.

Guiton and Puce, who came ashore at Cornwall in August after a stormy Atlantic crossing in a raft, now are snug on the 3,000-acre estate of the Duke of Duchess of Bedford.

They were installed recently at Woburn Abbey, the duke's home in Befordshire. Today, The Daily Telegraph carries a picture of the beautiful duchess holding the two cats in her lap. Inserted is a smaller picture showing Guiton and Puce, before they gatecrashed the world of the wealthy and famous, on the raft l'Egare II—the Lost One —which brought them from Canada to England. They were brought here by sailor adventurer Alain Gerbault, Captain Vlaackere and Marc Modena, all from Belleville. The sailors have since returned to Canada and the raft is following in a cargo liner. A model of the craft, five feet long, will be on display in a pond at Woburn Abbey.

Naturalists Hear Report on Annual Meeting

The Quinte Field Naturalists held their regular meeting in the conference room of the Entomology Laboratory.

After welcoming the good attendance of members and visitors, the president, Miss Frances Young, gave a short resume of the annual meeting of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists held recently in Peterborough. Five new directors, including a member of the local club, Mr. Warner McFaul of Consecon, were elected to succeed the five who retired at the end of 1956.

Mr. Hedley James, who attended the field outing at Burnham Provincial Park, found it most interesting.

Illustrated talks on subjects of interest to naturalists were heard in the afternoon. The one given by Mrs. F. Wallis, Trent Road, Belleville was most excellent.

The early morning meeting in Queen Mary School, Mrs. Wallis was awarded a blue ribbon for second place in the identification slides exhibition.

Mr. W. J. Baldwin of the National Museum of Canada, Ottawa described the biggest bog in the world which is situated in Ontario near James Bay and Hudson Bay.

All who attended this conference from Belleville commented on the splendid program and how well it was planned and conducted.

TALK ON BITING FLIES'

After this report Miss Young introduced the speaker the evening, Mr. Hedley James, who described "The Natural History of Biting Flies." Later, he showed the prize winning film "Biting Flies" from the science service of the National Film Board.

There are three groups of biting flies, first the deer flies and horse flies, second, the black flies and, third, the mosquitoes.

The deer flies and horse flies which have short antennae, lay large quantities of eggs on alder leaves, sedges or other aquatic plants on the outside edge of a marsh or between the marsh and the shore line. As these larvae hatch, they fall into the water and burrow into the mud, gradually working up toward the shore where they go into the pupal stage. On emerging, these flies become active as well as but usually prefer to bite animals. In some places, especially in the west, they are harmful to cattle.

The other two groups have long segmented antennae. The mosquito eggs are laid in damp depressions which soon expand. In Canada, disease transmission by mosquitoes is rare now. The female mosquito does the biting to feed on blood. In fact, she is especially designed with instruments to penetrate well into one's capillaries. However both the male and female do feed on nectar.

The bite of the mosquito is felt at once while that of the black fly may take some time to become noticeable. The black fly bys its bite in turbulent waters. The larvae attach themselves loosely to the rocks but spin threads to guide them back to the same spot if they fall away. They have exceptionally long salivary glands which enable them to spin the threads and later make cocoons. When cocoon opens, each new adult rides in luxury to the top of the water in an especially provided air bubble.

Much research is being done, especially in the far north on the habits of biting flies. Studies are being made of the effects of different repellents, which should be effective yet do the minimum amount of harm to other creatures such as the natural enemies of the flies or to fish.

Miss Young expressed the appreciation of all the audience to Mr. James for such an interesting program.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dawe and her committee.

Education Week

Here are Linda Whaites, Patricia Mueller and Heather Orr, students at Queen Mary Public School, mixing up a batch of cookies, while their home economics teacher, Mrs. D. Blakely, looks on.

Can She Bake a Cherry Pie, Billy Boy? Of Course, Because She Learned at School

This is Education Week — a time to ask questions and seek answers.

Let's try a question.

What are little pigs made of? An ancient nursery rhyme tells as they are made of sugar and spice and everything nice.

Proof of this pudding may be seen during a visit to either Queen Mary public school or Queen Alexandra public school. Here public school girls in grades seven and eight attend regular weekly classes in home economics — a subject which teaches Belleville's young ladies today how to be good housekeepers and mothers tomorrow.

Someone once said, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Apparently the Department of Education has some faith in that quotation because these girls are becoming excellent shortorder cooks. (As this male reporter found out after he sampled a few muffins and puddings made by the classes at Queen Mary).

Schools on the west side of the Moira River that have grades seven and eight send their cooks-to-be to Queen Mary at a certain time each week, while public schools on the east side of the river send their grades seven and eight girls to Queen Alexandra. These are the only public schools in Belleville equipped to teach home economics.

Not only do these girls learn cooking, but also housekeeping, baby-sitting, household management and sewing.

PREPARE MEALS

It is nothing for the grade seven girls to whip up a delicious breakfast, make an apron or clean house. By the time June rolls around and they are due for promotion the girls are veterans at this sort of work.

Their seniors (the grade eighth) are equally proficient. But because they have already had a year's experience, they are instructed in the more complex methods of preparing tasty dinners and suppers, complete with dessert. By this time they are ready to enter high school, they are accomplished makers of short-sleeved blouses and the like.

It's no trouble at all to get a qualified baby-sitter. These girls, although quite young, are capable of changing diapers, bathing baby and preparing his menu. They have learned responsibility, too.

How are the girls able to learn such things? With instructors like Mrs. D. Blakely at Queen Mary and Mrs. E. Emery at Queen Alexandra, there really isn't any problem at all. Besides, they have modern kitchen conveniences to work with.

FINE CLASSROOM

Queen Mary public school, for instance, boasts of a fine home economics classroom, equipped with twin kitchen facilities, a combination dining - living room, laundry and bedroom.

The kitchen is equipped with running hot and cold water, a refrigerator, two ranges, an assortment of china, pots, pans, dishes and cutlery. These implements are housed in ample cupboard space.

Colonial — type tables, chairs, china cabinet, drapes and coffee table decorate the dining - living room.

One of the duties of the girls is to polish this furniture so brightly that you can see your reflection in the surface.

The pride of the room is an unbroken set of Wedgewood china, which was presented to the school about 11 years ago. With the hundreds of girls who have passed through the school, not one dish or cup in the set has even been cracked. The set is kept in readiness for use should a distinguished visitor drop in.

Off to one side are an electric washing machine and an ironing board. The girls use these to keep the curtains and tea towels clean and also to put the finishing touches on a garment they made.

The floors, too, are kept spotless. Part of the girls' training is to learn how to properly use a broom, and by now they are quite adept at it. Twice a year the school caretaker waxes the floors, the girls are only required to sweep them clean.

TAUGHT SEWING

For the enterprising young seamstress, the classroom is equipped with two electric sewing machines and one treadle-type. No more sewing by hand for these young ladies. But just in case a machine breaks down they know how to thread a needle so that they can finish the job the old-fashioned way. They can knit, too.

The "bedroom" is really a place for storing blouses and other garments that are being made. However, this room does contain a single bed and vanity table. Mrs. Blakely shows the girls how they should make their beds at home. These also have the same pride in, and care of, their home economics room that they would if it were their own home.

Grade seven girls soon become expert dusters. It is their chore to dust every nook and cranny in the room, because they know that dirt breeds unhealthy germs. They are grade "A" dish washers, too. No need for an automatic dish washer with these eager hands available.

Don't get the idea that the girls are taught the easy way to bake. They don't practise opening boxes and pouring the contents into a pan to create a tasty dish. However, late in the year they touch upon this modern method. The Department of Education insists that the homemaker of tomorrow should know how to prepare meals from scratch. They are there to mix just the right proportion of ingredients to come up with a tasty product. Instruction is given, also, on the right oven temperature for each dish.

Another phase of their training includes management of the household budget. By the time they are ready to walk up the aisle these girls will know quite a bit about handling the purse strings in their new home.

SWITCH CLASSES

Last December School Principal H. R. Fink instigated "Operation Mary," whereby the girls in grades seven and eight learned how to hit a ball on the head and the boys learned to wield a rolling pin. Both students and teachers agreed that the operation was very successful. It apparently was very successful because Mr. Fink plans to do it again in June, after the exams are over.

Mary, a visitor to Queen Mary — and Queen Alexandra, too — has gone away refreshed in appetite and mind after sampling a cup of tea and a few cookies made by the little homemakers. Principals Fink and M.M. Hackett (Queen Alexandra) are the justly proud of their home economics teachers and pupils.

It's used to be that education consisted only of the "Three R's". But times change since then. Today more emphasis is placed on the human element, so that pupils now have classes that not only educate but entertain them as well. However, late in the year they touch upon this modern method. A GOOD SLOGAN RETAINED

Education Week is here again.

This year the theme is: "Education is Everybody's Business."

This is the same slogan as that used last year.

Generally slogans for "Weeks" are changed from year to year. The decision to stick with last year's slogan for Education Week, though, deserves praise rather than criticism. One of the end results of education ought to be the ability to recognize a good thing when one sees it. And the slogan "Education Is Everybody's Business" is a good slogan. It was true last year, is still true this year and will remain true as long as we have a state-supported, tax-financed system of education.

That does not mean that the average person's only interest in education is its effect on taxes. Some thought ought to be given by all of us to this phase of our educational problem, but much more important is a lively interest by all adults, regardless of whether they are grandparents or parents or still unwed, in what is taught in our schools, how it is taught and the effects on society of this instruction.

Home and School and Parent-Teacher organizations may be regarded by many as fulfilling this need for adult interest in education. That they serve an extremely useful purpose is true. That they would be even more useful and influential if all parents and all marriage children belonged to them can be granted. But even if every parent took an active part in their programs, that would not completely satisfy the need for adult interest in education. Not all those who should be interested in our schools have children attending them. Moreover, as with any organization, there is a danger that the voice of the majority may drown out dissenting opinions. Dissent is essential if the future development of our educational system is to be based on a careful consideration of all its aspects and implications. Criticism is the spice which will assure us that our schools are lively institutions; that their staffs are people with inquiring minds; that the products of the system are not cast all in the same mold, with their beliefs and prejudices formed by rote, but, rather, that they have been equipped with the mental tools to do their own thinking, reach their own decisions and acquire their own beliefs.

The past few years have been a period of evolution in the nature of the physical school plant. Our population is growing. The proportion of school children in this population is increasing. New schools have been provided in many like communities. In the interest of efficiency and economy the trend has been towards amalgamation of several small schools into one big one. School buses now gather children from throughout many municipalities and deliver them at the door of the same school every morning. It is almost as if scholars were being mass-produced.

These changes in the school plant will certainly be reflected in teaching methods. In the little red school house pupils were personalities, not just Jones — Mary, and Smith — John, or perhaps even numbers on a roster. The good teacher was able to give every pupil exactly the treatment he or she needed. The bad teacher . . . well, the bad teacher is always bad, no matter what the system. The danger is that today the good teacher may find it more difficult to teach the pupil, rather than the subject.

Assembly-line schools and mass-production teaching methods create the danger that the product may be like the product of any factory, . . . that every little John and Mary will graduate not only with the same haircut, the same dress and the same slang, but the same ideas and ideals, the same convictions, the same hopes and dreams.

Should that happens, the slogan "Education is Everybody's Business" could be discarded. Because everybody will be the samebody, and onebody's ideas will cover the whole range of contributions which the whole population can make towards the solution of any problem.

And that is why, today, the slogan "Education is Everybody's business" is such a good one. Those who sponsor Education Week are to be congratulated for their decision to use it for another year, rather than trade it in for this year's model in slogans.

MIRACLE WITH THE KNIFE

Greg Clark, whose "Packsack" daily enlivens this page, said the other day that movies and TV have the wrong idea about villians. While the villians are usually tall, dark and thin, and the female of the species short, fat and blonde, in real life, says Mr. Clark, villianes are short, fat, blondish and bug-eyed and villianesses tall, dark and slender.

We have no desire to argue this point with Mr. Clark, but if wickedness is typed in this manner it strikes us that the surgeons in those operations in Denmark does something more miraculous than merely changing the sex of a patient; it also reverses the character, making the wicked virtuous and the virtuous wicked.

We are forced to the conclusion that the only safe thing to be is a redhead. They, apparently, are never wicked, a point of view which may be disputed by some who've had auburn competition and some men nursing bruises for competing with redheaded men.

TOMORROW

Tomorrow is the day to be
I'm sure I won't be here to see
When I make plans some bill to pay,
It always seems to be today.

I think when comes tomorrow then
Some bitter bit of verse I'll pen,
But when I settle down to write
It is today or else tonight.

I've talked tomorrow down the years,
But never that good day appears.
Whene'er I wake, let come what may,
It always seems to be today.

The letters I have planned to write
Will not be in the mail tonight.
Tomorrow should I live to see
Perhaps my desk will tidy be.

Tomorrow is an easy word,
Ridiculous and quite absurd.
However great the need may be,
It is a day we may not see.

Tomorrow from my cozy bed
I never yet have raised my head.
When I am dressed and on my way
Somehow it always is today.

Tomorrow when with life I'm through
There'll be a lot I meant to do.
But since tomorrow fall me may,
I'd better get to work today.

Dangerous Period Here

Ottawa Journal

Prof. Donald Creighton emeritus historian of Sir John Macdonald, says that Canadians are entering "the most exciting and dangerous period of their political existence."

There is testimony, perhaps all too much of it, for such warnings.

And yet, on the eve of a general election, when we are about to choose the men who will rule us for the next five years, how excited are we?

Parliament drags through one of the dullest sessions in memory. We neither see nor read of prominent citizens anywhere attending party conventions to nominate candidates. Our leading industrialists, bankers and magnates of finance, go about their respective tasks as though nothing unusual. Few voices of controversy, of protest and criticism, are heard to counter-balance sign of an election we see is the Government bringing in an social fect of a wrong and dangerous turning.

"The most exciting and dangerous period in our political existence!"

But not a sign, not a shred of excitement.

Urges Unions Ask Price Cut

Industry, Canadian Manufacturers' Association urged.

Mr. Creighton is one of the most respected and senior of British trade union leaders. He leads the faction of Post Office Workers, and he is a past president and influential member of the executive Council of the Trades Union Congress.

All of which establishes him as a man who has the interests of organized labor at heart, and one who can be suspected of no bias on behalf of the employers. It is for that reason his cautionary rising prices are a real threat to our prosperity, that Canadians take note with more than passing interest at what is becoming known in Britain as the "wage freeze."

Details of the "Plan" first appeared in Toronto as extra special in the Mr. Geddes for the Sunday Pictorial, a national tabloid with a five-million circulation. And it is a bold proposal which departs radically from traditional trade union policy, and it has been widely discussed on all sides, not least in the British labor movement.

Briefly, it calls on the unions to help in the battle against inflation by negotiating in future not for wage increases but for price cuts. Mr. Geddes he coordinated action to ensure that increased productivity in the country was followed by some reduction in prices.

Thus railwaymen and bus operators would press for lower fares; industrial workers would seek a cut in the price at which their products were sold; miners would demand cheaper coal. And so it would go, on — to the great joy of housewives, who would at last find their dollars buying more and not less.

Associates of the Geddes Plan contend that, since wages and raw materials are the chief cost factors in production, it is as easy to get prices down as it is to get them up. They say that if basic industries alone were to initiate reductions, the effect would be a reduction in the cost of many commodities. Even if the cut in a attendant evils, would be dealt a real body-blow. Savings would get a boost and there would be a real incentive to add to them.

Whether you like or feel the benefit of such a policy — if it was carried far enough — would be the same. Increased productivity and cuts are on fixed incomes. But we are in unanimous agreement on one thing without buying the products of industries other than our own.

The Geddes Plan does put it mildly, replete with interesting possibilities. But whether or not anything remains to be seen. But once put into effect . . . even on an experimental basis — by any country in the world, we should watch the results.

Would it work in Canada? The answer to that question would seem to be that it has a good chance of working in any country which is resolved to overcome the psychological and other objections to it.

Certainly, Canada — in the field of exports no less than in the domestic market — is in urgent need of a policy which will not merely prevent prices rising any further but actually set them down. Of these grounds alone, the Geddes Plan deserves to merit serious examination and not a derisive snort on this side of the Atlantic.

Place for Cranks

Vancouver Sun

Should we encourage individualists and cranks in our social system? They too are necessary, else progress is likely to stop especially progress toward human freedom. But it is hard to do this today when, even in our schools, educational emphasis stresses the desirability of childish traits fostering "co-operation within the group."

Split Logs By Using Gun

By R. M. STALEY
For Ontario Lands and Forests

A New (to this writer) method of log-splitting was seen on a pulpwood operation up in the district. Large logs, up to 30 inches, were split into halves or quarters, but not by using axes and wedges, but with a "gun."

This "splitting-gun" was a 12-inch-long metal cylinder with a tapered conical point and a special solid metal in the rear half. Approximately one-third back from the front of the "gun" from a small hole and a short fuse about five inches long. The hollow front end was then sledged into the end of the obstinate log. After bracing a smaller log on each side of the gun, the fuse was ignited and — "boom" — the cleanly cleft sections lay flat and docile!

This is certainly a far cry from the days of slugging away with axe and wedge, but it is doubtful whether one will work up any sweat, let alone muscle.

This method is not recommended to every operator, as it is seemingly quite dangerous if you don't know exactly what to do.

Ferris Wheel For Parking

Victoria Times

German engineer Paul Schumacher has developed a new parking device in Dusseldorf. When completed it will take the form of a ferris wheel. The wheel compartments cars are driven. As a compartment is filled, the wheel will revolve to provide another parking space for the next car.

Occupying a space 21 feet by 70, the wheel will provide accommodation for 51 vehicles.

The Victoria car owner, now accustomed to the heart-breaking scoring of meters, finds his problem complicated by simply the removal of curb space as streets are torn up for underground wiring and new pipe installations. He has the strong feeling that he's being taken for a ride, on the parking issue, but not on a ferris wheel.

THE PACKSACK

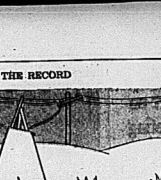
By GREGORY CLARK

Our so-called American and Canadian Indians—Redmen they are, really—must be watching the situation in Israel, Egypt, and specially North Africa, with an interest not unmixed with a wry and ironic humor not to say a sense of tragedy.

They saw the true Indian recently throw the intruding white man out of India. They saw every native one invaded eastern lands slowly and surely taking back their Malayan islands and continents into their own hands' keeping. They saw the Israelites, after many centuries, regaining their ancient homeland.

It is probably too late for our Redmen to form a league and appear before the United Nations to demand the retirement from their lands of the white men who, like termites, have swarmed so possessively and destructively all over their ancient continents from pole to pole.

But no one who definitely will not be here to see it, I can still envisage the day when world councils such as the U.N. dominated by triumphant nations, other than white, that have wrested mastery of their own destines, might very reasonably investigate what happened to the Redmen of the two Americas, at the hands of the vastly acquisitive white races.



If Israel can return to Zion, cannot the Redman return to his ancient heritage? What's left of the Redman that inspires the calm and enlightened attitude of our Canadian governments, both federal and provincial, towards him? We ought to be saying to him: live up to our standards, or out you go! Return to our continent, or you are doomed.

Fear, our fear, may be the true reason why Canadian governments are not being taken to educate our Redmen in a way our educators are wholly capable of designing. A body of educated Redman citizens that would proceed to us the full tragic glory of our dealings with them, of the pompous swindles we perpetrated on them in the days of the Great White Queen, the Great White Father, the Great White Mother, the Great White Chief, and the Great White Everything else.

Then we could begin to use that knowledge to enlighten them. And what can we say to him, to save that we wanted it, and took it?

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

March 4, 1937.

From our file copy at this time in 1937: The police commissioners have appointed Constable John Newton to the position of chief of the local police force; he succeeds Chief Hugh McKinnon, who left here to become chief of the city of Hamilton police force. Chief Newton will get $2500 per annum; this is a reduction in pay as Chief McKinnon received $2900.00 per year. The following now compose the force: Chief John Newton, Sergt. John McCroden, Sergt. Thomas Downs and Constables Patrick Hayes. The last is a short one constable.

Little Miss Helen Yorke entertained a number of her young friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Yorke, Ridley Ave., last Tuesday afternoon, March 1st., the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walkerville, formerly of this city, is spending a few days in town and is staying at the Hotel Quinte.

Dr. R. W. Tennant has left on a trip to Western Canada.

Miss M. H. Affison of Picton is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Alice A. Kelly, Dundas St.

Miss McLeod of the millinery department at the Bickle Store has returned from Toronto where she visited the millinery openings and other style shows.

40 YEARS AGO

March 4, 1917.

Managers of the Bell Telephone Company from Districts 7, 8 and 15, met in conference here yesterday. The meeting was held in the office of the provincial manager and a cordial welcome was extended to them by the latter, Mr. Fred Ketcheson. About forty managers were present. The head men had accompanied by Mr. Fred resented by Mr. P. A. MacFarlane of Toronto, the commercial Manager of the company. This division was represented by Mr. C. T. Smith of Toronto, Messrs. C. S. Hudson, by simply-worked auditors, represented the audit department. All present were entertained by the hospitality extended to them by Mr. Ketcheson, the genial manager of the company's Belleville branch.

From our file copy at this time in 1897: A meeting of the Humane Society and Children's Aid Society was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Duncan. The president, Mr. Curtis Bogart, gave a brief address on the aims and objects of the society. Mrs. Dr. Smith of St. Thomas' Church rendered several fine selections on the gramophone, which was operated by Mr. Dickens, delighted the audience. The Rev. Vernon H. Cowaert, pastor of the Baptist Church, gave a short reading. Mr. J. J. B. Flint reported on the various cases which had been dealt with by the society.

The bakers in this city will refuse to give credit commencing April 1st.

Aid. Thompson is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Mae Eastace has returned to the city after visiting friends in Toronto and Buffalo.

Messrs. John and William McIntosh are in New York City on business.

Time Saved But for What?

Christian Science Monitor

It is recorded that a half century ago a distinguished guest from China was given a tour completed link in the New York subway. "This," he said, "will save three minutes on a trip from Brooklyn to the Bronx."

"And what will you do with the three minutes?" was the visitor's serenely courteous response.

Scientific progress in question will be asked of motorists-to-be by a campaign against highway speed as such under discussion at the recent fifth annual meeting of the Southeastern Conference of State Safety Coordinators. Travel conditions are now cooperating, and the conference anticipates a 48-state effort within two years.

From Ohio come a few answers to the question put speed by motorists: Hurrying home to a favorite dish at dinner; racing to make the baseball game; to join TV show. Other drivers ingeniously use cruising speed as a way of beating the best-known time for a pleasure jaunt.

More and more are safety officials pointing to speed and lightness as the biggest killers on the highway. Both must be fought relentlessly and on every front. But it is valuable to understand speed separately now and then. For there are many who eschew drinking and driving for themselves and condemn it in others, yet blithely "burn the wind" without concern for the law or for the safety of others.

Brockville Loves Art

Brockville Recorder and Times

If anyone has any ideas about Brockville's residents dwelling in culture they have only to consult the survey conducted Wednesday and Thursday of last week by Queen's University. The survey was conducted by board members of the local branch of the Canadian Federation of Nurses in an effort to determine the possible interest here in an art show. "Brockville scored an unusually high rating," stated Mrs. F.H. McGillivray, president of the group conducting the survey. "It is doubtful if many other cities of comparable size could equal the number of homes here which are graced by a good painting on the walls or over the mantel-piece."

Personal Health Talks

The Major Modern Atrocity

The ever-ready operators boast that when they operate they "get every bit of tonsil." The truth is that no matter who operates, portions of tonsil remain in the throat after most tonsilectomies.

Tonsillectomy is properly called a major operation because it subjects the patient to all the dangers that attend serious operations — shock, hemorrhage, "cardiac arrest" (as the coroner explains sudden cessation of heartbeat), and anoxia. Besides these dangers of any operation under general anesthesia, tonsillectomy is attended by additional hazards, such as inhalation of a bit of tonsil tissue or blood clot, which lodges in bronchial tube or lung and perhaps causes atelectasis (collapse of a portion of lung), and pneumonia or, weeks later, lung abscess.

The perpetrators of the atrocity strive constantly to sustain in the popular belief that removal of the tonsils is a minor operation, that the child can come home in a day or two, etc. Every little while an aggressive operator who thinks medical ethics is for the birds persuades some parents of limited intelligence to let him remove the family's tonsils en masse — and this is always worth a picture and a few humorous line in the paper. Every little while, too, some child send me clippings of stories of tragic hemorrhage in nurseries of or soon after attempts to "get every bit of tonsil tissue."

If this operation were necessary, I'd never refer to such tragedies here. But, although I am painfully aware that most of my (former) colleagues despise me for it, especially those who string along with the AMA, I am bound by conscience and fear of God to say that in my judgment the attempt to remove tonsils in their entirety is rarely justifiable.

Prior to the conversion of practice from a profession to a business by the many sick specialists (with due apologies to the thoughtful and well-motivated scientists) the minor operation called tonsillotomy (instantaneous enucleation by slicing off the obstructing portion of tonsil) was the standard, comparatively safe and generally effective method of dealing with enlarged or hypercrophied tonsils.

After all, there's nothing malignant or harmful in tonsil tissue. On the contrary, there is reason to believe such tissue (called round-cell, adenoid, or lymphoid tissue) in the tonsils, the pharyngeal tonsil or adenoid body, in lymph nodes, in the spleen and elsewhere in many parts of the body, may be functionally concerned in protecting against infection. Anyway, if you are a parent, grandparent, uncle, aunt, or guardian of a child who has enlarged tonsils, I beg you to give the child a break.

This time of the year it is well to remember that in most school children the tonsils are larger than they are in the summer time. If some kind soul does not take a look at a child's throat and exclaims: "Oh, my, those tonsils!" and suggests, by implication, or very bad — they'll have to come out right away," you don't let the medical merchant rush you. Wait a reasonable while to see if the tonsils don't shrink. Likely the tonsils will shrink to about normal size when the child gets outdoors again.

GOD'S GRACE AND MAN'S SIN

John Newton was a slave trader. On one of his voyages he picked up a copy of "The Imitation of Christ" by Thomas A. Kempis, and these words written centuries before came to him and which he found help, especially in two verses: "How much more easily your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask it!" and "If any man shall do his will, he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God or whether I speak of myself."

Years later, Newton became an outstanding religious leader and wrote the hymn which begins with the words, "Amazing grace! How sweet the sound."

The 10th day of March is a day much to be remembered by me, as he wrote, "and I have never suffered it to pass wholly unnoticed by me; it is the day on which that the light dawned and he became a new man."

The first hymn reads as follows:

"Twas grace that taught my heart to fear,
And grace my fears relieved;
How precious did that grace appear,
The hour I first believed."

YOUR COMPETITORS

Competition is always good. Free enterprise is the American way of life and it has astonished the world! You gain nothing, and lose much, by fighting your competitors. Better men, however, are making your product. Keep competing with them. Ideas, more confidence and good will. Friendly rivalry is profitable.

Love your own competitor! Be a leader, not a follower. Your competitors are an asset. They keep you on your toes, as the saying goes, and spur you on. With little or no competition a business is liable to get in a rut and cause the organization to get stagnant and get careless.

Competition is the life of trade. The worthy and competent keep forging ahead, regardless of competition. The maker of the better mousetrap has few worries because he dismisses them from day to day. Study your rivals and be glad to hoin recognize merit and wish to make it their own! Nothing is "just as good". Competition proves it. When the test has been made the user will be full attention to his own business is the winner! Your competitors may even help you make your own without their realizing the fact. For all are conscious of the forces that drive us on. By creating the best that we know how to create we strive to honesty, enterprise and vision.

You gain many valuable lessons just by watching the moves of your competitors and avoiding some of their mistakes. Ideas are rampant. No matter how good the organization is there are competitors may have there is always something to learn. This fact is illustrated all about us in growth and progress.

Profit from whom to learn is that one who is doing a better job than you are! Study him well. He may even be working on an idea of your own!

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Mareb, Where Queen of Sheba Once Reigned in Legendary Splendor, Now Waste

MAREB, Yemen (AP)—This is the city where the Queen of Sheba once reigned in legendary splendor over a million subjects.

To lay Mareb is hidden so remotely in the desert sands that our plane was lost for more than half an hour trying to find it.

A bare 10 miles away is the dead empty quarter of Arabia, a vast stretch of desert so inhospitable that the primitive Bedouin tribes here are convinced it is inhabited only by demons and jinn. Into the one Aladdin brought forth when he rubbed his magic lamp.

Once Sheba was a key point on the spice routes, a lush, green land of fruit and plenty. That was when the famed Mareb dam, one of the wonders of the ancient world, made irrigation easy.

But now, as far as you can see is sand and more sand, broken by a few scrubby thorn bushes and an occasional tiny oasis.

CITY ON CITY

The present - day successor to Sheba, Mareb is a little town sitting on a hill, its tall, sun-colored mud buildings rising into the sky like the ghost of its past. The hill on which Mareb sits is a "tell"—a mound formed as city after city was built on the ruins of its predecessor. If you could slice into the hill with a giant carving knife, you could lay open a cross-section of 3,000 years of history.

Remains of the dam stand a couple of miles away, a towering structure which made Sheba one of the world's richest kingdoms in the days when Solomon ruled in Palestine.

The dam and the land around it are fabled in legend, but few human beings have laid eyes on it in modern times. My wife and I were members of a group of reporters invited to tour the ancient kingdom of Iman Ahmed, the present king of Yemen. Also in the party were a Russian and eight Egyptian reporters.

GIANT RUINS

To reach the dam from the town, our jeep puffed and groaned across the trackless sand to the site where its two ends still stand, anchored in mountains, remains of a structure of stone so well finished that it apparently needed no mortar, stretching for more than a mile and in places 100 feet high.

The dam stored the waters which poured down from the Yemen plateau in a vast reservoir, still partly lined with loose stones. Spillways still can be seen in the mountainside, leading to canals which nourished the soil for miles around.

This was the centre of a flourishing kingdom which spread across southern Arabia from the Red Sea to the Persian Gulf. Historians say it supported millions of people from 1200 to 400 B.C. Then, one day, the dam broke. Sheba was never the same.

TELL OF PAST GLORIES

We saw several fallen pillars lying beside the remains of the Mareb dam. Inscriptions on the pillars spoke of the glories of Sheba, the victories its armies had won, how it surpassed all nations in greatness and splendor.

Remains of the old wall of the city of Sheba show what a vast place it must have been. Today you drive two miles from the edge of the town of Mareb before you reach the ancient limits of the city. Here you find the remains of Sheba's wall. An ancient gate rises out of the sand, built of smoothly - finished rectangular stones, bearing inscriptions in the Himyaritic alphabet, an ancient Semitic alphabet very close to the original Phoenician.

When this gate was in use, the present town of Mareb was only the citadel of a city whose population could have reached a million.

An Egyptian archaeologist, Dr. Ahmed Fakhry, once visited this area and reported his belief that numerous cities lie buried under these sands, waiting for the modern historian to read their records. A few miles from the dam is the ancient temple of Balkis, the sun - worshipping Queen of Sheba.

The temple of Balkis has been only partly excavated but enough to show it was an expensive structure — circular and resembling from the outside the Pantheon of Rome.

CLAIM AMERICA DISCOVERY

Yemenite Minister Sayed Ahmed El Shamy, who accompanied us on our visit to Mareb, told of local legends which say that subject of Sheba took their sailing vessels as far as the "Sea of Darkness," the Atlantic Ocean. These stories tell of Sheba's sailors discovering strange lands across the dark sea, and many Yemenites today believe their ancestors discovered America 2,500 years before Columbus.

The day the Mareb dam broke, however, Sheba died. What caused the break is not definitely known. Ancient legends say rats had burrowed under the dam and caused it to collapse. Modern historians say it simply was neglected, easy prey for a flood or earthquake.

The city of Sheba was drowned, and the kingdom never recovered. Its population drifted away, leading tribes moving to Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine.

Around Mareb live Arab Bedouin tribes of the most primitive sort. Nominally Moslem, they know little of the meaning of Allah. They are filled with superstitions dating from the Arabia before the prophet Mohamed.

Most of these Bedoins are darkskinned, looking fierce and wild in their clothes of animal skins their coarse jet-black hair hanging down over their necks. They tint their skin blue, which once gave rise to reports that blue-pigmented beings inhabited eastern Yemen.

Charlie Baker One of Few Living Veterans at Relief of Ladysmith

TRENTON (Special) — Charlie Baker is one of the few veterans in Trenton who lives to tell about the Relief of Ladysmith and a multitude of experiences he survived in the South African War and subsequent campaigning with the British Imperial forces on active service abroad.

Thursday was Ladysmith Day, one of the very special occasions Mr. Baker sets aside for celebrating. On this date in 1900 a besieged garrison of British dishards besieged for months, were rescued from certain annihilation.

Cpl. Baker was with Gen. Smith Dorien's 19th Division that forced marched 100 miles in two nights and a day before the decisive victory. Although he never got to the town of Ladysmith itself the force he was with reached Modder River and stood by to reinforce the relief force.

NINE YEARS IN ARMY

Charlie, as his many legion friends affectionately call him, spent 9 years in the British army before returning home to Enrland. He came to Canada to work on a farm in 1908. The beginning of the First World War found him back in uniform again, and going overseas with the 39th Battalion recruited in Belleville under Col. Preston. He saw four years of action this hitch and earned a distinguished record under fire. His proudest moment however came on January 21, 1955, when he was presented with a life membership to Trenton Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion.

But Charlie's heart was saddened this Ladysmith Day when the time came round to talk about his great friend and South African War veteran S/Major E. Almey who died last summer. These branch members became inseparable legion pals after a reunion here after not seeing one another for some 20 years.

Charlie Baker, who does not show his age, will be 80 in a few weeks. He still works untiringly for ex-servicemen and any cause deserving help.

Belleville Presbyterial WMS Meets in Bridge St. United

At Bridge Street Church, Belleville, on March 1st, some 256 delegates of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, from Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington Counties, attended the annual meeting of Belleville Presbyterial.

Preceding the regular meeting, the executive members of Bridge Street Auxiliary, W.M.S., Thursday evening, graciously entertained the Presbyterial executive at the supper hour, following which a meeting was held to make final arrangements for the next day, appoint committees, and meet in conference with Rev. Ralph Sewell, Dominion Board secretary for younger groups, guest speaker, for the presbyterial meeting.

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott of Tweed, president of the Presbyterial, opened the morning session on Friday with a cheery and inspirational greeting. The 1st vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Hallam, of Belleville, presided for the afternoon meeting and Mrs. Elliott again chaired the evening meeting.

WORSHIP

Built around the challenging theme, "Christ's In Faith and Witness", were the three worship services of day. Morning worship was in charge of Moira Affiliated (W.A.) with Mrs. Ross Ketcheson as leader. "Made Fit For Witnessing" was stressed by reading of Christ calling His disciples, Mark 1:16-20 Comments and prayers were made by Mrs. Wesley Farrel and Mrs. Milton Vanderwater. Afternoon devotions, led by women of Eastminster Federation, Belleville, showed the "Urge for Urgency" in the work of the Kingdom. The Scripture lesson was again read from Mark 1:16-20. Mrs. George Maybe, Mrs. Linton Reid and Mrs. Norman Hall took part in conducting the drama book last in the time of Christ, the world is asking for something to transform lives. The women were reminded that prayer was the secret of Jesus' sustained life. It can be the same secret, today for mankind.

Evening worship, with the C.G.I.T. of Bridge Street Church conducting the service, reading the lesson, telling the story, and offering the prayer. "The Importance of Harvest" was shown by the story of the sower, as read in St. Mark's gospel. Five girls took part in the service, Anne Blakely, Gloria Maxwell, Marianne Hayman, Ginny Anderson and Mary Jane Johnson.

A musical number by a C.G.I.T. choir and a solo by Mrs. W. Burgess added greatly to the worship. They were accompanied by organist, Mr. Alec Gordon.

MORNING SESSION

Business consisted of the following reports:

The treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Jones, of Tweed, reported the sum of $25,700 sent to Branch Treasurer. This was $700 above the year's allocation and was requested to be used for "Gifts for Building Advance", to be equally divided between scholarships for home and overseas students and TV and radio for religious programs.

In life membership there was an increase of 38 in Auxiliaries, 16 in Mission Bands and ten in Baby Bands.

Christian stewardship secretary Mrs. R. G. Coulter, of Belleville, asked the women to stand and sing the doxology, in gratitude to God for the year's accomplishments in missionary endeavors. She again emphasized the method of freewill giving and the practice of tithing, but should failure be seen, try some other method to help the church rather than fall to do so. "Be aggressive", urged Mrs. Coulter, "seek out new members and be welcomers in your locality. What does Jesus say today, 'Follow me' in your life — your church — your town?"

Two G. B. L. projects were chosen for 1957, — as the goal for that "second mile"; Scholarships for home and overseas students, and — the new hospital to be built at Burma Church, Columbia.

Mrs. Pierce Jones, of Picton, the literature secretary, gave her customary report of new books and for missionary and devotional study for all ages. Her well-stocked book corner was a busy place. A total of 1,000 books and periodicals were sold. Literature reading awards went to the following best read auxiliaries in order of merit, — Bloomfield Evening, Bloomfield Afternoon, Hazards; Eldorado Union; West Lake; Picton Evening; Wellington Afternoon; Tweed.

The best read section was Maple, with Prince Edward as second best.

"No secretary needs to be ignorant of her job for lack of good literature, and much of it is free.

"God gives all time. What do we give of it, for His work?"

Mrs. Burton Morton of Stirling, secretary for Mission Bands reported an enrolment of 1107. Awards of excellence went to 4. Four Bands received their 8th. year awards for secretary, Elizabeth Ross Church and Holloway Street, Belleville. This was a most commendable achievement.

Mrs. W. D. Grant, secretary for Girls and Explorer groups presented four groups with award certificates.

From mimeographed reports further evaluation of the work brought out some interesting facts: 8189 calls were made in homes and hospitals, to the ill, aged, bereaved and new comers. 5,509 pounds of clothing and bedding were shipped to Needy; 6,000 sewn relief with $498 to pay for further shipping overseas. Many parcels were also sent directly to missionaries. A bale was sent to Mistassini, Quebec, via spitfi. Edmonte, Alberta.

Suitable leadership for younger groups is still the number one problem.

PANEL DISCUSSION ON MISSIONARY EDUCATION

Members taking part in the discussion were: Mrs. C. McLellan of Tweed, assisted by Mrs. L. Jones, Miss J. Boswell, Mrs. T. Colder and Mrs. Don Williams.

Mrs. McLellan traced the development of the Missionary movement and explained what today is meant by missionary education. It is not something to be formerly thought of it, not just getting Missionary information concerning India or the Philippines or some other land and its people; it is meant to interest the people of the world to one another, that we may sympathetically understand each other. It is meant to interpret Christian faith. Our Christian faith is at the centre of all our relationships and attitudes.

"We must remember that God speaks to people in different ways and to people of different areas in different ways. God's purpose for this world is that all men shall be reconciled to Him but there is still an unfinished missionary task if all men have not yet received His salvation."

The panel members voiced the thought that parents are the first interpreters of world-mindedness. Begin at home to stamp out world prejudices. Missionary work is slowed down, often, by the attitudes of many of us. We interpret our Christian faith by our daily lives. One loving heart sets another aflame. We should have a more earnest study of our Bible.

Miss Barbara Jewell, Dominion Board secretary for younger groups, took charge of the meeting and divided the women into discussion groups to talk over this question of what missionary education means to them and make practical suggestions for a better understanding of it.

Re-assembling, Miss Jewell checked the results of this lively discussion thus: Missionary education is more than world friendship; missionary education is more than just information about people; missionary education is vital and develops right in the home; missionary education is rather than fall to do so. "Be aggressive", urged Mrs. Coulter, "seek out new members and be welcomers in your locality. What does Jesus say today, 'Follow me' in your life — your church — your town?"

For instance, this costume is an example of these smart outfits. It consists of a tailored top in pimento red wool fastened with little gilt buttons. With the jacket is a pair of slender charcoal gray wool slacks.

Departmental secretaries: Christian stewardship, Mrs. F. C. Nesbett, Belleville; Mission Bands, Mrs. Burton Morton, Harold; Baby Bands, Mrs. W. Wilkins, Stirling; Mission Circles, Mrs. Lyal Hicks, Cherry Valley; affiliated C.G.I.T. groups, Mrs. Pierce Jones, Picton; affiliated Explorer groups, Mrs. W. D. Pierson, Wellington; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Ritchie McKibbon; press, Mrs. C. E. Eggleton, Stirling; candidates secretary, Mrs. Don Baxter, Bloomfield.

Mrs. F. C. Adsett, on behalf of the Missionary family of Bridge Street church, gracefully welcomed the delegates and invited them to the dining hall for dinner. Here, greetings were extended by the Rev. H. M. Davis, minister of the church, and Mrs. J. E. Marsh, president of Belleville Presbytery W. A.

At supper time the Evening Auxiliary acted as hostesses and again a splendid meal was enjoyed.

The Rev. R. A. Rowley, presbytery of Belleville Presbytery brought greetings and spoke an encouraging word, complimenting the women on their fine missionary work, and urging them to raise their goals for this is no time for pessimism. The Lord demands it. The Rev. Rowley closed with prayer.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes of Belleville, presided, and called upon Mrs. Dr. Reynolds to introduce the guest speaker, Miss Constance Wagar, principal of the St. Augustine High School, Port of Spain, Trinidad. Miss Wagar's sister, Marion, also present, was welcomed. These missionaries are from Peterborough and are well known here.

ADDRESS

Miss Wagar told of her desire to go to Trinidad as a missionary and their trip there by train and boat — of the trip if you wish to be rid of the cold and snow "for there the temperature is usually around 90 degrees.

You do not realize what real poverty is until you have seen it as such as Trinidad. It is quite a shock to return home and see the difference between the people of that country. No folk here have to sleep on the street, or on mud floors. Women do not have to plant rice, in water waistdeep, or carry heavy burdens on their heads, anything from fruit, fowl, vegetables and one day a sewing machine was seen balanced on a woman's head. Sixty cents a day is an average wage in Trinidad.

In the high school, only one girl in nine applicants can be accommodated. This shows a pity for education means a great deal to them.

There followed some interesting personal notes of the little faithful Bible woman, the Hindu cleaning woman who wanted her grandchild baptized a Christian, the T.G.I.T. girls and their appreciation and friendship, and the work of the Religious Educators.

These stories adequately answered the question, "Is Missionary work worth while, and is it needed here after all these 80 years?

"Though you did not accompany us on that trip to Trinidad, yet you have a share in our work there," said Miss Wagar.

You may share by your interest, becoming concerned with conditions there and doing something about it, in financial assistance; by sharing in real friendship with these people, not just have a passing interest. In your Sunday School and Auxiliary, by the pictures, papers, hymn books, so different from ours. Sunday schools. All may share in the work by prayer for it. In that, none is exempt.

"I bring Thee all I am, and all I would be. And all I can be in my spirits might: For Thou canst teach these hands Thy sweetest service And keep these feet more steadfast in the right."

Again in the evening, Miss Wagar addressed the audience, and Marion, her sister, assisted by showing some most beautiful kodachrome slides, scenes in Trinidad.

Gowned in a lovely Indian sari, Miss Wagar again took her audience on what she called "An Adventure in Friendship", an imaginary trip to Trinidad, to complain, to laugh, and to make consolation. She told how she and her sister left six years ago, on board the "Lady Nelson", headed for Trinidad. People thought they were crazy to leave good positions to go on what many termed "a wild goose chase"; but they felt called to service and God seemed to promise help. The words of a benediction kept reiterating "Unto Him that is able, according to the power that worketh in us."

The pictures showed this land of contrasts, with its mixed population of Chinese, French, Indian, and Portuguese; the Easter pageant carnival day; the water buffalo; gathering rice; the sugar cane industry; that is one chief source of support; also the great pitch lake — source of much material, and of course pictures of the school of St. Augustine.

Educational work in Trinidad under the church comprises the Canadian Mission school; five high schools; a theological College; a teachers' training college; the Archbald Institute; a vocational school for girls.

To further her address, Miss Wagar asked, "Will you, by your love interest and prayer, share with us this great adventure in friendship?"

Miss Wagar is the author if a splendid book, "Treasure in Trinidad".

ALBERT COLLEGE STUDENTS ATTEND MEETING

Another highlight of the evening meeting was an informal panel talk in which Mrs. J. D. Deneza of Belleville chatted with three students of Albert College, Alfred and Brian J. of Hong Kong and a girl, Curling, B. of China. They spoke of their country, why they came to Albert, what they hoped to fit themselves for in vocation, and where they planned to make their future contribution to mankind. They are fine young people. Two intended to study medicine, the other boy engineering.

Mrs. Fred Wilson, candidate secretary, introduced them and told that the boys had indirectly been influenced to come here through influence of Dr. Margaret Brown. She spoke further of the year's fruitful fall time workers in the church, nurses, social workers, teachers and doctors.

Mrs. J. Williams, on behalf of the delegates, expressed appreciation to the hostesses who had made the day one long to be remembered. To the Rev. H. M. Davis and the combined board of his church for the use of their beautiful sanctuary, to the women of the church for their bountiful hospitality and delicious meals, the organist, Mr. Alec Gordon, pianists Mrs. K. Bird and Mrs. F. Houston, the C.G.I.T. and various auxiliaries for their inspiring worship services, the outstanding president, Mrs. Elliott, and all members of executive who had put so much time and effort into the day's program, the guest speakers for their splendid addresses. Miss Marion Wagar for her service in running the pictures, Mrs. Marsh and her band members for their stimulating addresses, the people present from different and any others who had contributed in any way to a most successful time, to one and all, "thank you sincerely."

Your hair is practically a mirror of your health. If your vitality's low, your hair becomes dull and lustreless; when you feel radiantly alive, your hair gleams with shining light. This is one of the reasons why your diet is so important. For the same well-balanced diet—including lean meat, fish or poultry, plenty of green and yellow vegetables (especially the leafy types), fruit, eggs, and dairy products—which keeps you non only fit, slim and trim, also keeps your hair in healthy condition.

Diet, however, while the prime factor in the achievement of beautiful hair, is not the only consideration. Even those of us who are scrupulous regarding our diet sometimes find that our tresses become dryer than they should be. This is particularly true at certain seasons of the year—after a long winter when they have been exposed to overheated rooms and during the summer when the sun gets in its deadly work.

The solution to these seasonal hair care problems requires a little feminine know-how that starts with daily brushing. Choose a natural bristle hair brush and use long sweeping strokes from the scalp to the end of your hair, lifting upward and outward. At least once a week, supplement brushing with a stimulating scalp massage! Place your thumbs at the back of your neck and extend your fingers over your head. Relate your fingertips as they move your scalp. In a few minutes you'll feel the exhilarating effects of the massage.

Helpful as they are, these brushing and massage routines are not the most important conditioning aids, however. Thorough shampooing is even more essential. So wash your hair weekly, or more often, with a non-lotion shampoo. Remember before shampooing, it's best to work the brush around the hairline to dislodge dust, flaky particles and makeup. Then use lots of suds and floods of water.

Faithful creme rinsing after the shampoo is especially helpful in correcting a dry hair condition. Use "Dreamy" hair and split ends. This brief beauty ritual takes only 20 seconds but the results last right through to your next shampoo. Simply add one tablespoon of creme rinse to one cup of warm water. Pour through your hair and work the solution in gently. Then rinse with clear lukewarm water.

For excessively dry hair and to get bleached, dyed or tinted hair in condition for a permanent, start creme rinse steam "treatments." Given once a week for at least a month, they will counteract excessive dryness and restore new life and luster to your hair. Use creme rinse in the same measure as before; work it slowly through your hair. Then, wrap a steaming towel around the head turban fashion and allow it to cool. Complete this routine three times. Finally, water rinse and set your hair.

If you have not yet discovered the many benefits obtained from following a plan of hair conditioning, try it and see how quickly your hair responds with new beauty and vitality.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU ASKED HIM AND HE TOLD YOU

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 20 years old, and one of my troubles is that I never seem to hold a young man's interest for long.

About four months ago, I was introduced to a young man who is attending college. He is a wonderful person and I like him very much. Until recently we saw a lot of each other.

I asked him point blank to tell me what I did wrong, and he did. He told me I was a "real sack" and that I was always moody and indifferent. He said that men like and enjoy the company of a girl who is full of life, who is energetic and vivacious. He added that I should develop some worth while interests by joining clubs or by participating in different activities. He said that by being active I may be able to develop a different outlook on life and also a well rounded personality.

What I want to know is, is he correct? If he is, can you suggest any books or help that you may aid me?

One more thing is that I spoke to him in a way that is quite unlike myself. How should I go about apologizing? — S.J.

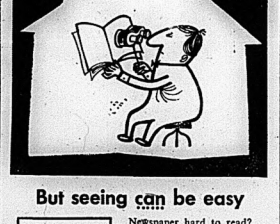
Dear S.J.:

From what you say, I assume that you got angry at this young man for being so frank about yourself and let him know it in no uncertain terms.

Well, you asked for it, didn't you? So it seems to me that, instead of getting angry, you should have been grateful to him for doing exactly what you asked and pointing out where you need self-improvement.

Since you've cooled off enough to feel you should apologize for your reaction, I suggest that you write him a note and thank him for his suggestions and say that you intend to get busy on them. Not only would this be a decent thing for you to do, but I would say that it would be a smart thing, too, because the fellow may be interested enough to look you up to find out how you're progressing. And if you've done a good job on yourself, you may find him taking a whole new interest in you.

In my opinion, this young man has given you some very good advice and I would think you would be extremely silly not to follow it.



You certainly should join some clubs, take an active part in several different kinds of activities and acquire some brand-new interests. If you select all these with care, you will be absolutely bristling into them and show-your self to friends that you'll have the satisfaction of making many congenial friends, you cannot help but develop a new outlook and no one will be glad to know and enjoy being with.

As for books that will be helpful to you, go to your public library and look in the file under the heading "Personality."

You might look, specifically for the following: "How To Enjoy Yourself," by Albert A. Ostrow; "Win Your Man and Keep Him," by Jean and Eugene Benge and "Ways To Improve Your Personality," by Ballord and Strang. While the latter book is written for a slightly younger age group than your own, it is so full of sound, practical advice that I'm quite sure you'll find a great deal in it that will help you.

If you would like to have my own suggestions on "How To Be Popular," send me a stamped self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper and I will be glad to send them to you.

Lines Long

Sure, the short-jacketed suit is very much in evidence this season but the suit with the longer jacket isn't doing badly at all. Many very fashion-wise women are addicted to the longer lines and for them the leading designers turn out simply beautiful suits. Edith Small does one of these and for it has chosen a golden beige wool twist, the silhouette given extra emphasis by a three-tone horizontal inset banding. Low-flap pockets further emphasize the style.

PARKDALE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Parkdale Women's Institute held its February meeting last Wednesday with 50 members and visitors present.

The president, Mrs. G. Palmer, opened the meeting and extended a welcome to all new members.

The secretary Mrs. N. McKibbon read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer gave her report. Thank-you notes and letters were also acknowledged.

During the business period, four group leaders were chosen and committees formed with 12 members on each group. A committee meeting is being held on March 6 at Mrs. G. Palmer's.

Mrs. Palmer introduced the district president, Miss Geraldine Mowers, who gave a most interesting talk on the meaning of Women's Institute.

The president was thanked by Mrs. D. Burley and the meeting turned over to Mrs. Burley, convener for the evening.

Current events, prepared by Mrs. H. Hodgson, were read by Mrs. R. Rolston. The motto: "The Young in Heart However Old are Wise Enough to Play," was prepared and read by Mrs. G. Priest.

Mrs. Burley introduced Mr. R. Temple, well known city lawyer, who spoke on the "Theory of Capital Punishment". Mr. Temple was thanked by Mrs. C. Kochie.

A contest, conducted by Mrs. Burley, was won by Miss Geraldine Mowers.

Mesdames Palmer, Hexsman, Cone, Street, and Hutt served refreshments and a social half hour was much enjoyed.

Survey Purpose to Get Reasons Why Women Choose Their Work

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of women teachers list the "endless marking of papers" and too much report-keeping as difficulties encountered in their profession.

The group probed into the satisfactions and the reasons for their choice of teaching—are outlined in a study of university women's occupations made recently by the women's bureau of the federal labor department.

Of some 1,000 members of the Canadian Federation of University Women in 79 local branches who replied to the bureau's questionnaire, nearly 400 were teachers.

EXPERIENCED GROUP

Also contributing to the survey were nurses, librarians, home economists, dietitians and women in scientific, medical and office work.

Reports on the survey now are being published monthly in the department's Labor Gazette.

The real purpose of the survey was to get some authentic reflections on the reasons why women choose their jobs, says Marion Roy,e, bureau director.

The CFUW membership is comprised of older graduates and members of other universities, but their professional experiences and their reasons for choosing careers are still valid, the report said.

Although the teacher answering questionnaires represent only a fraction of the total in Canada, they seemed to echo the ups and downs of the profession generally.

SOME DRAWBACKS

This group listed low salaries, struggles for education standards and limited opportunities for advancement—men are still preferred for administrative posts—as major drawbacks. Average salary for the group was $4,000 or $5,000 annually.

In daily teaching, "the difficulties encountered reflect the realities of the modern classroom," the report said.

Teachers complained of classes too large to enable them to give students individual attention, and said that repeating the same lesson to several classes was monotonous.

Others noted a sense of frustration or failure in trying-to teach the gifted or disinterested child. Many teachers were critical of parental concern with monetary rather than academic and cultural achievement.

The survey found "striking evidence" that older women had a limited choice of careers, particularly in the depression years or the years when fewer teachers were required.

Many older teachers followed members of their family into the profession. Others went into school rooms because parental opposition barred fields such as law, once thought unsuitable for women.

Younger teachers were influenced by summer teaching jobs, training camp counsellorships and encouragement from school principals.

Despite the fact that since the Second World War married women have returned to classrooms in increasing numbers, the single teaching offers ready employment, they are still limits to teaching opportunities.

Science graduates, for example, show a tendency to regard science as a man's field, with only secondary posts open to women science teachers.

Home economics, however, has become increasingly popular subject and one that fits well into the career of teacher, or housewife.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: ABOUT A DANGEROUS HABIT

You're being very unwise if you let the habit grow on you of constant criticism of people and things. This is really a poisonous habit to have, and it "grows by what it feeds on." Don't mislead yourself by thinking that such criticism will give others the impression that you are an extremely discriminating person, very forthright too. On the contrary, it will convince them that you are opinionated, that you are sure you know all the answers" . . . and (watch out!) that it would be dangerous to cultivate you and your destructive habits.

HOW HE OFFERS HIS ARM TO PARTNER FOR GRAND MARCH

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm a man, 27 years old, and for the first time in my life I'm going to a Costume Ball, a benefit for a large service organization here. I've been told there is to be a Grand March. When my partner and I enter, shall I offer her my arm do I offer her? — Dave W.

You offer your partner your right arm — at the elbow, as an usher at a wedding offers his arm to a woman guest before escorting her up the aisle. I suggest you take a bit of homework on this offering-of-the-arm, possibly putting a bit of traditional ceremony into it!

CONCERNING THE SENDING OF WEDDING PRESENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For several years we have known a family who lives in the suburb next to ours, and who in the summers have a cottage near us at the shore. We enjoy knowing them, but they are not at all close friends of ours. They have two daughters. About three months ago the older daughter was married, with only the two families present, no reception, no announcements, simply the write up in the newspapers. Under these circumstances, we did no send a present. Now the older daughter is to be married, and we have just received an invitation to the church ceremony and to the reception at the Country Club. My husband and I are inclined to think that this invitation calls for a wedding present. But don't you think it would be unfair for us to send a wedding present to this bride, since we didn't send one to the sister who was married such a short time ago? If we send a present to this sister, would you suggest we also send a "belated" present to the other sister? — L.U.

I can't detect in your letter any particular interest in giving a wedding present to either daughter, and it really isn't at all necessary that you give a present to either. It depends on your wish, your inclination. It isn't required that you send a wedding present because you have received the invitation to the wedding . . . the idea is, or at least should be, that you send a wedding present because your close relationship or friendship to the bride or groom or either family makes you want to make this thoughtful gesture.

STIRLING

West Hastings District W.I. Celebrates 60th Anniversary

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — On Wednesday evening a memorable anniversary party was held in Stirling community hall when approximately 150 Institute members, husbands and friends gathered in honor of the 60th anniversary of Institute achievement.

Representatives were in attendance from the seven branches in the district, Wallbridge, Chatterton, River Valley, Bay of Quinte, Uxbridge, Pinegrove, and the hostess Institute, Stirling, which furnished the hall for the occasion. Institute friends were also in attendance from Wellington W.I. and Belleville Institute in North Hastings' district, also guests from various nearby points and from the western provinces, who were holidaying in this area.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Will West, on behalf of the Stirling branch, while Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, president of Stirling W.I., was in charge of the lights.

Mrs. Louis Rodgers, president of West Hastings district W.I. presided over the program, and was in charge of arrangements and decorations.

ANNIVERSARY CAKE

The long, central table was nicely appointed with a lace-edged cloth, centred with the anniversary cake which was artistically decorated and lettered in a color scheme of pink and green with royal blue candles.

The cake was flanked with a large basket of cut flowers containing daffodills, tulips and snapdragons also candelabra with blue and white tapers.

A picture of Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, founder of the first Women's Institute in the world, at Stoney Creek, Ontario, in February 19th, 1894, was prominently displayed.

A vase of flags adorned the piano, and on either side of the long table was placed the flag of our country and a picture of Queen Elizabeth the Second.

The program was opened at 8.30 p.m. with Mrs. L. Rodgers giving the welcome, on behalf of the hostess branch, Stirling, and the other six branches in the district. She especially welcomed the friends from far and near, the men folks and the children at this auspicious party. The Institute motto is "For Home and Country," and she said "May we be worthy of our heritage and live up to past achievements." She also paid tribute to Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, and outlined how she had founded the organization and the movement has spread to 27 countries, all linked into one organization, "The Associated Country Women of the World."

This is the largest and most important woman's organization in the world. Its affiliations include the Y.M.C.A., the United Nations, the Health League of Canada, the Canadian Association of Consumers of Canada, Canadian Citizenship Council, and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

She said, "Tonight West Hastings' W.I. members are commemorating the work of this worthy organization, and so let us sing together the Institute Ode."

Mrs. Harold Phillips, secretary-treasurer of West Hastings' district, graced the platform with the president. Mrs. Ed. Heasman took several flash pictures during the evening as a special record of the event for future days.

Mrs. Blanche Reid held the flag and Mrs. E. Foster the picture of the Queen as the group sang, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall," and the national anthem, with Mrs. Philip Conley officiating at the piano.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE DISTRICT

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, a past provincial president, gave the highlights of West Hastings' district W.I. as far as records are complete. She stressed the necessity of every organization keeping accurate records for future years.

The record of the past 60 years reveals self-sacrificing efforts of many women in the district who have carried on the work through the various changing conditions. The successes of past years only increase the responsibilities of the future. The standard of rural living has been improved through education, health, culture and such, and the fields ahead abound with opportunities to be grasped, emergencies to be met and tasks to be done. She challenged the younger members to use the past as a guide to advance the Institute work in their own branch.

Mrs. Holmes gave a summary of the organization of the various branches and said, Wallbridge was instituted in 1905; River Valley in 1909, and the youngest group, Pinegrove, in 1940. In 1921 the first district annual was held, and she outlined how grants were received from council, and told of various charities, and hospitals that had been given assistance throughout the years. In 1924 the Institutes were responsible for the teaching of music in the schools.

TRIBUTE PAID

She paid tribute to Adelaide Hoodless, who inspired and stimulated interest and stressed the motto and the ode as ideal guide posts for future work.

Mrs. Holmes read the list of past presidents, and those in attendance came to the front and were given a corsage, with Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Phillips doing the honors. These women were: Mrs. E. B. Finkle, Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Mrs. Will West, Mrs. Fred Heasman, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. George Hazelitt, Mrs. John Reid and Mrs. L. Rodgers.

The secretary-treasurers of the district were honored and each also received a rose corsage.

Mrs. Mary Vandervoort, (who served 20 years); Mrs. E. B. Finkle and Mrs. Harold Phillips were those in attendance at the party.

At this juncture, Chatterton W.I. conducted a brief memorial for the departed sisters and following a period of silence Mrs. G. Irving read a lovely poem, "The Rose That Grew on the Other Side."

Miss Marea Heasman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heasman, delighted with a tap dance number and Miss Cheryl Usman, with her mother, Mrs. Ralph Usman, as accompanist, rendered a vocal solo. These two little girls represented River Valley Branch.

Mrs. Leslie Finkle, of Pinegrove branch, led the group in a sing-song of old favorites.

BOARD DIRECTOR

Mrs. George Burkitt, provincial board director, gave the highlights of that group. She told of its institution and all that it embodies. It was formed in 1919 by federating 900 branch Institutes then functioning in Ontario into one large and forceful organization.

The province has 20 sub-divisions, and each of these elects one director to the provincial board. The provincial board members formulate policies for future Women's Institute activities.

Each director serves a three-year term. Mrs. Burkitt gave a list of those who had served on this board, two of whom were in attendance, Mrs. Clarence Holmes and herself. She told of the first publication of the Institute magazine "Home and Country."

In closing she read a clipping sent to her by Mrs. Sam Lloyd, who served as president of West Hastings' district for the first three months before her departure from this locality.

Wallbridge branch contributed vocal selections. Uxbridge branch delighted with two selections, a reading, and a vocal selection, "Whispering Hope."

THE VISION THAT GREW

Mrs. Reid, with a past president of West Hastings' district, gave an interesting address on the theme, "The Vision that Grew." She told of past achievements and urged the group assembled to have a clear vision of the importance of the Women's Institute organization, and to ever be alert to the requirements of day to day living. She outlined what had made this a great organization "tick" down through the years, and paid tribute to the founder.

The speaker gave a brief glimpse of the courage and selfsacrifice of those early pioneer workers who gave of their time, their strength, money and materials to carry on the high ideals of Mrs. Hoodless, who was first and the vision she had, when took action. Through the efforts of the founder, "MacDonald Hall" was a reality at Guelph O.A.C. She had faith in her cause; faith in herself, and a determination to succeed.

Mrs. Bush gave a few highlights of the late Agnes Macphail who was one of the early speakers. She told of another pioneer, Laura Rose Stephen, who was the first government appointee, at the 50th anniversary celebrated at Guelph in 1947.

Mrs. Bush stressed to the younger members to ever remember the first phase of the motto, "For Home," and to let that take precedence over the second phase, "Country." Women should always bear in mind that the first is the foundation on which the second is built.

Tribute was paid to Mrs. Alfred Watt, Sr., (now A.C.W.W., and to Emilie Quest, Dr. Helen McKercher and last but not least, Ethel Chapman, editor of Home and County."

At a token of flowers to the living, Mrs. Bush read a recent poem entitled, "Welcome" from this magazine, referring to the large amount of war work accomplished and the pictorial book, "Fifty Years of Achievement." She quoted several interesting items and pointed out that "a nation cannot rise above the level of its homes, therefore women must work and study together to raise our homes to the highest possible level. This is the real purpose for which the Institute was organized. Mrs. Bush pointed out that "no one, and no one else," and an organization is only as strong as its weakest link."

She closed with the words of the former Queen F. Lewis, "We, the daughters and granddaughters of the first Institute women, face the future with courage, determination and faith."

The speaker urged the members of West Hastings district to be worthy of their heritage, for there are boundless opportunities in the future that lies ahead.

Mrs. Don Rodgers of Stirling W.I., with Mrs. Vernon Matthews as accompanist, contributed a vocal selection.

FILM STRIPS

Mrs. Percy MacMullen was introduced and presented with a corsage. She told of the A.C.W.W. film strips which can be ordered from London, England, and the one chosen for this occasion was "The Homes We Live In". Mrs. MacMullen also paid tribute to Mrs. Rodgers for her untiring efforts in making this anniversary party a success, and outlined some of the expenses for flowers, birthday cake, advertising, and film, and expressed thanks to the local agricultural office for use of projector and screen, also to the Ontario Intelligencer, Belleville, for publishing the various A.C.W.W. news flashes, which she receives by airmail from England, fresh after an executive meeting and which appears under Rawdon news.

Several ladies wore their A.C.W.W. badges at the anniversary party, and every Institute woman is entitled to that privilege.

The A.C.W.W. believes that seeing your fellow countrywomen all over the world, by means of a film strip, will stimulate interest in one another, and they also feel that through publicity of various kinds a string link of understanding can be forged.

Mr. MacMullen was in charge of the projector, and she gave an outline of the 39 pictures. The film strip opened with the A.C.W.W. badge, which over 6,000,000 women have the right to wear if they choose to do so.

Alphabetically, the first country visited was Black River, Australia, the home of Mrs. Medwin, whose husband is president of Tasmania state.

ACROSS PACIFIC

Then across the wide Pacific and half across a continent to Saskatchewan, Canada, the home of Mrs. W. J. Adams, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada; across the Atlantic to Eire, County Wexford, Ireland, the home of Mrs. Margaret Stamp; across the Irish Channel to Crossways Farms, Surrey, England, the home of Dame Frances Farrer, general secretary of the National Federation of Women's Institutes. George Meridith, the Victorian novelist, took the name of this farm for his book entitled, "Diane of the Crossways."

The group then travelled to Finland, and viewed the home of Mrs. Ahlstrom, and to Northern Rhodesia to see Mrs. Matthias Wowen's institute.

The film strip also included a picture of the Finnish lady who won the essay competition three years ago.

The pictures of East Africa included the home of Mrs. Fane of the East African Women's League; on to the more northern part of Holland near the German border.

The group then travelled 12,000 miles to New Zealand, to visit the home of Mrs. S. Willett, who is secretary of the North Otago Federation of Country Women's Institutes. She is also a member of the district re-ordinating committee; then to the home of Mrs. Davidson, of County Down, Northern Ireland. She and her daughters are all members of Killinchy W.I. From here over to Norway where a typical Norwegian farm building was shown.

CHANGE OF SCENERY

A complete change of scenery followed when the audience viewed the home and surroundings of Mrs. McConchie, president of the Women's Institute Association in New Guinea.

There were seven views shown of the home of Mrs. Black, at Woodwell Farm, Perthshire, Scotland, who is a member of the Central Council of the Scottish Women's Rural Institutes.

Mrs. M. J. Stofberg, president of the South African Women's Agricultural Union, and also area vice-president of A.C.W.W. for the African region, was shown with her pioneer farmhouse built in 1777 at Worcester, Cape Province, South Africa. The scenes included their abundance of grapes, and on to the Rhodes Estate and the comfortable home of Mrs. S. Hammond, who is past president of the Federated Women's Institutes in that area. Then on to a view of the home that of Mrs. W. Berry, Australia, president of A.C.W.W., walking in the garden of her home at Devonation by the audience.

The group then crossed the Atlantic and viewed as a closing picture, the lovely home of Mrs. Raymond Sayre, in Ackworth, Iowa, U.S.A. Mrs. Sayre is past president of A.C.W.W. and paid a visit to Belleville a few years ago.

These pictures represented only a portion of the total, but it gave a half hour glimpse of Institute women in other lands.

Miss Shannon Jeffrey, Bay of Quinte Branch, sang two vocal solos, and Mrs. T. A. Tucker delighted with two readings, "A Song of the Market Place," and "A Scotch Sermon."

Mrs. Albert Carson, Chatterton Branch, contributed a vocal selection, with Mrs. Berson Mills as accompanist.

CLOSING CEREMONY

In the cake ceremony, Mrs. Mary Vandervoort lit the candles; Mrs. E. B. Finkle placed the knife, and Mrs. Clarence Holmes extinguished the tapers. Mrs. L. Rodgers read a poem in tribute to the founder, Adelaide Hoodless and said: "And is she dead, whose glorious mind still lives in our hearts. No, she is not dead, she has left us a goal to strive for through prayer, study and action to make the best better."

At this juncture the Institute members sang, "A Goodly Thing It Is to Meet in Friendship's Circle Bright, Where Each Shall Seek the Good of All Mankind."

The offering was gathered by Mrs. Harold Phillips and Mrs. Harry Coulter, and dedicated in gratitude for all our blessings. It amounted to over $25, and thus all the expenses of the 60th anniversary party will be completely cared for, for which the president was deeply thankful.

Mrs. Harry Coulter, on behalf of all the other branches, voiced thanks to Stirling, the hostess branch, and to Mrs. Rodgers for the grand party.

Mrs. C. Field, Trenton, voiced appreciative thanks to the speakers, also for the film and the varied program.

The evening closed on a note of appreciation "to Home and Country" and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Mrs. E. Foster and members of Stirling W.I., also three members of each of the branches, and Mrs. Rodgers served bountiful refreshments of sandwiches, cheese, pickles, cookies, cakes, tarts and anniversary cake.

Thus the 60th anniversary party closed with a deep realization of the debt of gratitude these pioneer leaders had bequeathed to posterity through the W.I. organization.

Jimmy Demaret Victor In Baton Rouge Open

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret whipped a rain-soaked course with deadly putting and steady iron play Sunday for a one-stroke victory in the $15,000 Baton Rouge open golf tournament.

The 45-year-old veteran from Kinnesha Lake, N.Y., had a one-under-par 71 for a 278 total to take the $2,000 first prize.

He beat out Peter Thomson of Australia, whose two-under-par 70 Sunday was not quite good enough.

Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., and Al Balding of Toronto tied with four Americans for eighth place. They each picked up $211.66.

Leonard's final score was 70-75-70-73—288. Balding had 73-7-70-68—288.

Other Canadian scores were Bill Mawhinney, Vancouver, 74-72-72-73—291; John Hemlick, Ottawa 73-75-71-79—298; Murray Tucker, Toronto, 75 — 73-78-75 — 301.

Boxer Recovers After Operation

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A 206-pound heavyweight who narrowly missed death in a fight with a 335-pound South African was reported recovering in a hospital today.

Doctors said a 2½-hour operation saved the life of Bruce Olson, the six-foot-four Kent, Wash., fighter who suffered a brain hemorrhage in his bout with seven-foot-two Ewart Potgieter.

Olson, who was fighting for the third time in less than three weeks, was knocked out in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout Saturday night. Helped to his feet after the count, he took a few wild swings, sank onto his stool in the corner and collapsed.

At a hospital seven tiny holes were drilled in his skull before a blood clot was found, said Dr. Clinton McGill, Oregon boxing commission physician, who assisted a team of neuro-surgeons in the operation.

RATIONAL—ABLE TO EAT

The clot was removed and later Sunday Olson recovered consciousness. McGill said he was rational and was able to eat.

McGill said it would be several days before they could tell whether recovery would be complete.

Olson will never fight again anyway, said his manager, Maxie Weisbarth of Seattle.

These Czechs Didn't Bounce; Tie Russians 2-2

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia's Olympic champion hockey team was given a stiff jolt Saturday when a suddenly - powerful Czechoslovakian team fought the Dynamos to a 2-2 tie in the fifth round of the world hockey championships.

The tie knocked the Russians out of a tie for first place, as the fast-skating Swedish entry overwhelmed Japan 18-0. With only two more rounds to play, Sweden's chances of a victory appeared brighter.

In other matches Saturday, Finland defeated Austria 9-2, and East Germany swept past Poland 5-2. Poland defeated Austria 5-1 Sunday.

The race for the championship enters its final stages today, Sweden meets Finland and Russia meets East Germany. Then in the final game Tuesday, the two top teams clash.

The Russian team looked only a shadow of its powerful self against the determined, red-shirted Czech crew. The hard-fought first period was scoreless. At 7:05 of the second period, Vaclav Pantucek scored for the Czechs on a sudden rush. This was the first time this tournament that the Russians have trailed an opponent.

Russia evened the count while shorthanded, when Nikolai Sologubov broke into the clear to score at 11:04.

Irji Pokorny skated through the Russian team to score the Czech's second goal, at 4:01 of the third period. The Russians then started to find their skates, and applied pressure until Alexei Gurichev slipped in the tying marker from a wild scramble in front of the Czech net.

The Swedish team, as the score indicates, had it all their own way. Sven (Tumba) Johansson got the first goal in less than a minute, before the public address system had finished announcing the line-ups.

'Sir William' Wins Rich Derby At Santa Anita

NEW YORK (CP) — Lightly-garded Sir William, a colt from Washington State, won the $143,000 Santa Anita Derby Saturday while Bold Ruler held on in the stretch to whip six other Kentucky Derby nominees in the $131,400 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park.

Sir William, with jockey Henry Moreno aboard, came up in the stretch and held off a determined challenge by Swirling Abbey and Round Table to win by a head. The time on a slow track was 1:54 1-5 for 1⅛ miles.

One of Sir William's dubious claims to distinction is that he has no upper front teeth. They were kicked out by another horse when he was a yearling. But toothless or not, he came up from near dead last at one stage to take down the derby.

KHALED SCRATCHED

Gen. Winston Kratz' Prince Khaled, California main Derby hope, here and in future races for the 3-year-old division, was scratched when a small cut on his right knee, suffered in a workout, became infected.

Miami, Eddie Arcaro guided Bold Ruler masterfully to a neck victory over Willie Hartack on Gen. Duke in track record time of 1:47 for the mile and one eighth. Another Calumet horse, Iron Liege was third in the select field of triple crown hopefuls.

At New Orleans' Fair Grounds, Chrisanaker, a chestnut stretch-runner, took over when the pace-setters failed to win the $50,000 New Orleans Handicap.

The four-year-old, owned by Bayja Hill Farm, stayed close in the early stages before making his move. Full Flight also came up fast, but had to settle for second with Speed Rouser third.

'Hurricane' Is Central Figure In Plane Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—Drama at the airport: or one more day in the life of Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, the slightly eccentric, top-rated challenger to heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson.

An unhappy Tommy, who has flown before, was on his way by plane to a Monday night benefit dinner at North Bay, after this sequence of events:

Boarded the plane after much persuasion from his companions. Bolted out of the plane and refused to re-enter, commenting "This isn't my lucky day."

While photographers swarmed around, the flight took off and Tommy and his party retired to the waiting room while new reservations were sought.

This achieved, Bimstein, Breidbart and the friend spent another hour talking to their heavyweight. Finally, Jackson went aboard and the plane took off. Said the friend: "He's moody."

American Star Seeks to Marry Czech Champion

VIENNA (AP)—A romance of two Olympic champions that began in Melbourne has pierced the iron curtain, Prague Radio says.

Harold Connolly, Boston history teacher who won the hammer throw at Melbourne, arrived in Communist-ruled Prague Sunday and announced he is seeking government permission to marry Olga Fikotova, the Czech girl who won the women's Olympic discus throw.

Connolly told American diplomats in Prague "We could have married in Melbourne but we postponed it to abide by Czechoslovak law. Olga is a patriot who loves her country."

Czechoslovak law provides that Czech citizens who desire to marry foreigners must have the permission of their government. Connolly said he and Olga had appealed to Czech President Antonin Zapotocky for this permission.

Connolly added that his Czech visa expires next Thursday "and so we are doing everything we can to speed things up because we want to be married in Prague." He hopes to take Olga back to Boston.

CURTAIN TIME!

The Eastern Ontario Senior 'A' Hockey League, which in one season has grown from a toddling infant to a sturdy, and what seems to be, healthy growing youngster, can look back on its first year of operation with justifiable pride. We say that with more or less reservation, and mainly from a standpoint of caliber of play and fan reception. What the financial condition of the loop is, we are not in a position to comment on, for the simple reason we are not aware of the facts and figures of any team in particular and the league in general.

From a point of conjecture, however, we'll hazard a guess that the eastern loop will be somewhere around the top if and when final statistics of the western and northern senior leagues are released.

Whatever the financial situation of the league is at the present, the forthcoming playoffs should be productive of handsome additions to both club and league exchequers, not counting the annual toll of the Ontario Hockey Association.

With the playoff chips on the table, arenas in the participating centres, Belleville, Whitby, Cornwall and Kingston, should bulge at the seams when the clubs clash in the "money" series, both finals and semi-finals.

With rivalry at its peak between Kingston CKLC's and the top-spot Whitby Dunlops, a feeling that has been fueled by recent club differences regarding playoff dates, it is within reason to assume that crowds approaching the 4,000 mark will pack the eastern club's Community Centre in the semi-finals series. The Dunnies, who estimate the Whitby Arena holds a capacity 2,000, will probably turn 'em away.

Here in Belleville the Cornwall Chevies, the Maes' foemen in the upcoming playoffs, should attract crowds numbering in the vicinity of 2,400 and 2,500, especially if the series attraction tilts into the Belleville Memorial Arena out-affair. Down Cornwall way, the Chevies who have been drawing an average of 1850 to their latter-schedule games, should boost this number to well over 2,000.

The league, we are informed, sanctioned at its last meeting, a general increase in admission prices for the playoffs. Here in accordance with other arenas of the circuit, admissions have been increased to $1.50 for reserved seats in the first three rows; $1.25 for other seats and a dollar general admission. Better consult the prices ads for details.

The semi-final series gets under way tomorrow night in Whitby where the Dunlops pay hosts to the Kingston CKLC's in the first game of their best-of-seven series. The second game, also, will be played in Biderville on Thursday with the third scheduled for Kingston on Saturday night.

The McFarlands-Cornwall best-of-seven duels start in the Cheviot home town on Wednesday night with the second beat scheduled for Memorial Arena Friday evening starting at nine o'clock.

The eastern senior "A" circuit rang down the curtain on its first year of operation yesterday. The Whitby Dunlops rounded out a colorful season; winning 34, losing 16, and tie-less two for 70 points in the 52-game schedule. In second slot was the Cornwall Cheviots with 25 wins, 23 defeats and four ties for 54 points.

The McFarlands, on their potential alone, a strictly second-place club (Ole Homer Carver) finished safely in third with 22 wins, 25 setbacks and five stalemates. The Mans, however, spent breathing down the Cheviots necks, some 5 points in arrears, and had they not hit that back-stretch slump would have been a sure bet for second-place honors. Kingston CKLC's finished water under the bridge, spilled milk, or call it what you may, it doesn't mean a thing now.

The Kingston CKLC's, whose stretch drive for successful playoff berth honors was the come-back feature of the season's play, finished comfortably in fourth after an eight-game winning streak by Pembroke Saturday night when they bowed 9-3 to the Kings. The Kingston club wound up with 20 victories, 27 defeats and five draws to finish with 45 points, four behind the McFarlands.

The Pembroke Lumber Kings finished the season with a last-minute brace of victories after battling valiantly for that fourth-place spot but bowing to Kingston in the drive to the wire. The Kings had a season record of 17 wins, 31 losses, four ties for a points total of 38.

The Ontario Canadians, who played a twenty-game schedule with the other five clubs, won eleven, lost seven and tied two for a total of 24 points.

So now its "every man fer limself, and the divil take the hindmost."

The Whitby Dunlops are favored by the "boys in the back rooms" to take the group championship, but our undercover ones inform us the odds are even money. In previous years both Whitby and Kingston clubs have proven in playoff series they are terrific "chips-down" clubs. The unpurred Cheviots and McFarlands should not be any weak sisters either when it comes to the "money" series. All-in-all with all clubs at full strength and using their fullest potential, the upcoming playoff battles should stretch the series to the limits and fans in the four centres should an senior "A" hockey as "she has never been played before" in these parts.

DOUBLE DUTY

Turk Barclay, spare goalie of the McFarlands, is doing double duty these days. Since Lum Carson, the club's officials trainer, resigned the Turk has taken over "looking after" the Macs and according to Manager Dorsey Keyes, is doing a fine job. The "Turk" hasn't been called on to do much emergency duty this season, but like the good sportsman he is, was always available with the club in case he was needed. In fact on one occasion, he filled in for an opposing club and came up with a fine performance against his own team-mates.

Combine Tie, Loss for Point As Boston, Habs Divide Wins; Rangers Pace Leafs by Eight

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit Red Wings, who seemed to have their eighth National Hockey League championship in nine years all but in their grasp 10 days ago, are scrambling desperately now, to hold on to the league lead.

Ten days ago the Wings were in a hot streak that had seen them win 10 and tie four of sixteen games. Combined with a Montreal Canadiens slump it left them into an eight-point lead over last year's champions.

Today, the Wings have a three-point margin over the Habs, though they have played one less game, and have gone winless in their last six games.

Saturday the Wings lost their fourth straight, a humiliating 5-1 beating from Canadiens in Montreal, and Sunday just managed a 4-4 tie with Boston Bruins, who had been easy meat in previous games.

BRUINS BEAT HABS

The resurgent Canadiens' hopes were given a stiff jar Sunday, however, as Boston Bruins won an 8-2 victory in Boston. The Bruins stayed three points back of the Habs in third place, and moved to 3-2 loss to Rangers Saturday.

New York Rangers' weekend put them eight points ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs in the race for the fourth Stanley Cup playoff spot as Leafs lost 4-3 to last-place Chicago Black Hawks in Toronto Saturday and then played a scoreless tie, the second of the year, with Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

In the third period Saturday, after Billy Dea had scored for Detroit—the 11th goal of his rookie season — Chicago's Ab McDonald's fast one past Glenn Hall. Montreal Canadiens' Jean Beliveau, Bert Olmstead, his 15th, St. Laurent, his first, Maurice Richard, Dickie Moore and Jean Beliveau. It was the 29th goal of the season for each and Beliveau, Canada's lifetime regular season total to 489.

Sunday Leafs were even wild when Andy Hebenton put the Rangers up 1-0 after two scoreless periods. It was the 20th goal here Gordie Howe tied it less than a minute later.

CAPACITY CROWD

Before a capacity 13,909 fans Sunday, Real Chevrefils killed Montreal's hopes with Bruins, fifth goal at the nine-minute mark of the third period. It was his second of the night and 20th of the year. Don McKenney also scored twice, his 19th and 20th this year, and Ed Fleming Mackell got his 20th.

For Montreal, Beliveau got his 30th of the season and Andre Pronovost added his ninth.

Saturday Lorne (Gump) Worsley and right winger Andy Bathgate were New York stars in their 3-2 nationally-televised win over the Bruins before 10,542 Boston fans.

Worsley, who has been feuding with coach Phil Watson, made 31 saves and Bathgate, fourth in the scoring race, assisted on all three New York goals by Larry Popein, Ron Murphy and Larry Cahan.

MACKELL AGAIN!

Mackell got one to open the second period and rookie winger Larry Regan got Bruins' second his 14th this year.

Chicago and Toronto fought on even terms through two periods in Toronto Saturday before 12,875 fans. In the third, with the score tied 2-2, Eddie Kachur and Gus Mortson made it 4-2 for Hawks and Toronto was kept to Ron Stewart's goal at 18:14.

Rudy Migay scored the scoring for Toronto in the first and Elmer Vasko tied it in the second Eric Nesterenko and Tim Horton scored.

Hawks' Al Rollins was hot Saturday, stopping 32 shots to Ed Chadwick's 19. He was again Sunday before 14,676 Chicago fans, the largest crowd of the season there. He needed only 20 saves for his shutout. Chadwick once again made 19 stops.

Quebec Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals and Chicoutimi Saguenees fought to a 3-3 overtime draw, while cellar-dwelling Shawinigan Falls Cataracts gave Trois-Rivieres Lions a 4-1 trouncing in Quebec Hockey League action Sunday.

Montreal remains three points behind the second-place Saguenees, but moved a point ahead of the pursuing Lions. League leading Quebec Aces were idle.

Royals and Saguenees made their single tallies in the second period, Kelly Burnett scored for Montreal and Jackie Leclair tied it up.

Shawinigan Falls' four scorers were Ernie Roberge, Jean Paquin, Leo Amadio and Reggie Fleming. Norm Corcoran supplied the lone Trois-Rivieres marker.

Met—but he had to be helped on stage. Hiner, 35, and six-feet-six, was carried on and off stage on the shoulders of assisting "priests" in Mozart's Magic Flute.

Mighty United Nips Bournemouth In Soccer Classic

LONDON (CP) — Mighty Manchester United, playing one man short for most of the match, overcame tough little Bournemouth 3-1 Saturday and advanced into the semi-finals of the English soccer cup competition.

The three other quarter-final matches ended in ties: Birmingham and Notts Forest scoreless, Burnley and Aston Villa 1-1 and West Bromwich and Arsenal 2-2. All three will be replayed this week. The cup final will be at Wembley Stadium in mid-May.

A total of 200,000 persons paid £28,000 ($78,400) to see the four cup matches.

Third division Bournemouth took the lead against English champions and European Cup semi-finalist Manchester United in the 35th minute on a goal by centre forward Brian Bedford. That was 10 minutes after Manchester centre half Duncan Edwards left the field with a leg injury. Manchester battled with one man short for more than 79 minutes. Under English soccer rules no substitutes are allowed for injured players.

Bournemouth still led 1-0 at halftime and fans started wondering whether the "Busby Boys," who had defeated first division teams Wolverhampton Wanderers and Tottenham Hotspur, were going to do it again.

But Colin Berry put Manchester even at the 60th minute and scored again on a penalty goal in the 64th minute.

Biltmores Whip St. Michael's 4-1; Habs, Marlies Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series outdrew the National Hockey League at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens during the weekend.

A Sunday twin bill—in which Guelph Biltmores whipped St. Michael's Majors 4-1 and Toronto Marlboros and Ottawa Junior Canadiens played a scoreless draw was witnessed by a capacity crowd of 14,509 fans.

Saturday's NHL contest between Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks drew only 12,875 fans.

HOT PENNANT RACE

The heavy junior turnout was probably due to the colorful Canadiens, and a hot pennant race. Guelph emerged champions of the regular season's point-a-game title on Marlboros, who dropped a Saturday game to St. Catharines Teepees 4-3.

The victory shot Teepees ahead of St. Michael's into third place. Fifth and sixth respectively are Hamilton Cubs and Barrie Flyers.

Guelph spotted Majors the first goal, by Bob McMaster, then bounced back with three unanswered scores for the victory. Biltmores to beat goalie Bob Savage were Ken Broderick, two, Bill Sweeney and Doug Brown.

LEADER HELD SCORELESS

The league's top sniper, St. Michael's Frank Mahovlich, was held scoreless. He ended the season with 32 goals, three more than Sweeney and four more than Shack.

The 0-0 duel in the second game had the crowd clamoring for action. Only a second-period fight livened up the program. Candidates outdone Marlboros, the defending Memorial Cup champions, 16-15.

At St. Catharines Saturday, rookie Bob Coyne scored at 2:26 of the sudden-death overtime play to give Teepees the win.

It was St. Catharines' first win of the season over Marlboros, after seven straight setbacks.

Canadians Win Two Titles In Dominion Badminton Tourney

By GERALD LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITCHENER (CP)—Fifteen foreign entries competed at the four-day Canadian badminton championships here last week and six of them went home with titles. Or did 178 Canadians who competed in the senior events, only three won championships.

The Canadian victories were in the men's singles and men's doubles events as play wound up Sunday. American players cleaned up in the women's singles and doubles, the mixed doubles and the men's veterans doubles.

The Dominion championships were opened to foreign players for the first time this year and 14 Americans and a Norwegian responded. The Norwegian was Hans Myhre, his country's open singles champion and now a student at the University of Iowa.

Ted Hazegraft of Vancouver, 24, made some almost unbelievable returns to wear the net to retain his men's singles championship, coming from behind to defeat old-timer Martin Mendez of San Diego, Calif.

A three-time winner of the U.S. singles title, Mendez, 40, returned to badminton recently after a three-year layoff. He won the first game 15-7 and appeared ready to turn in an upset before MacHargart steadied away to take the next two, 15-12, 15-7.

The men's doubles title went to a Toronto combination for the second year in a row. Don Smythe and Bud Porter displayed fine coordination in downing MacTaggart and Bert Fergus of Vancouver 15-5 scores.

Last year's champions, Bill Purcell and Bev Westcott, were eliminated in Friday night's semi-final action.

Stocky Judy Devlin, 21-year-old Baltimore college student, won the women's singles crown with an easy 11-2, 11-3 decision over Mrs. Lois Alston of San Diego. Born in Winnipeg, where her Irish father was a professional badminton coach before moving to the United States, Miss Devlin also holds the U.S. singles crown.

She combined with her 25-year-old sister Sandra to take the women's doubles, 15-5, 10-15, 15-3, over Ethel Marshall and Dee Mastercard of Buffalo, N.Y., in the current American champions.

Defending champions in the mixed doubles went into the discards. Miss Sheila Bell and Bill Purcell of Toronto lost by 15-8 scores to an accurate team from Buffalo, Miss Marshall and Bob Williams.

In the final of the men's veterans doubles, the amazingly agile Mendez and Wayne Schell of Boston downed an Ontario twosome of Bob Traquer, Niagara Falls, and Grant Henry, Peterborough, 15-7, 15-4.

Play in the junior events—confined to Canadians—ended Friday night with 20-year-old Wendy Hunt of Victoria taking the junior men's singles and Ann Murray of Winnipeg, also 16, winning the women's.

NEGROES MISSING

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— may notice it, but some of the sounds in the annual tumult of Mardi Gras will be more minstrel this year—Negroes, for the most part, are not participating. A Negro organization has led a drive to call off carnival balls and cocktail parties and spend the usual money on the fight against segregation.

East, West Football Unions Hold ORFU Grey Cup Fate In Voting Hands

Post-Season Exhibition Games Mooted to Measure Strength Of Ontario's Junior Union

MONTREAL (CP)—The Ontario Rugby Football Union, weakest of Canada's three professional pigskin leagues, is at the mercy of the other two as far as participation in future Grey Cup play is concerned.

This was the gist of a decision taken Saturday at the closing session of the Canadian Rugby Union's annual meeting.

The ORFU made its constitutional right to challenge for Grey Cup play but its entrance will be subject to annual decision of the CRU executive.

The stronger brothers—the Big Four of the East and the Western Interprovincial Football Union — control enough executive votes to decide whether the Ontario League will be strong enough to compete.

SUGGEST TRIAL GAMES

As a measure of that strength, the CRU suggested pre-season and post-season exhibition games between teams of the Ontario union and the Big Four and WIFU.

Had it not been for the Quebec Rugby Football Union—only intermediate voting-class member of the CRU—the ORFU would have been barred from future Cup play on competition by a change in the constitution instituted by the Big Four and WIFU.

The Quebec union held the deciding vote when it appeared that the CRU voted 7-3 in favor of a constitutional proposal by the Quebec league — an amendment to identical resolutions of the Big Four and WIFU.

The vote was more than the two-thirds majority of the CRU's 12 votes required to carry an amendment dealing with a regulation in the CRU constitution.

The WIFU and the Big Four each cast its three votes for the amendment and the Quebec union, too, then ORFU opposed it legal to the votes and the intercollegiate union, with its one.

Only the ban vote majority will be necessary to determine whether the ORFU is ready to compete in Grey Cup competition. Six of the 10 CRU votes are held by the two Big leagues.

GREY CUP AT TORONTO

The annual meeting formally ratified Nov. 30 as the date of the 1957 Grey Cup game and named Toronto as the site. The incoming executive was left with a recommendation that the 1958 game be played in Vancouver—the year British Columbia will celebrate its centennial.

Decision as to the site and date of the 1957 east - west all - star Shrine game was left to a special committee, expected to report within a month. Hamilton has put forward the only invitation for the game so far.

The CRU's decision as to the Ontario League's calibre in future Grey Cup play was taken bitterly by some delegates.

Harold Bailey of Toronto said it was "the most unfair ruling ever put forward."

BACKWARD STEP

Maurice Chilton of Sarnia said he felt the ORFU should be the one to decide its strength.

Don Downey of Toronto, elected CRU president, said he thought the decision meant a backward step.

The windup meeting left club rosters at 50 and approved the use of 30 players in home games and 28 away. Each team again will be limited to 75 players in the Grey Cup game.

Cut-off date for American imports this year—the limit for each club remains 12—is Oct. 18.

Downey, an ORFU member, succeeds Ken Montgomery of Edmonton as president.

Toronto is the site of the 1958 annual meeting.

Industrial Hockey League

National Steel midgets qualified for the Industrial hockey league finals over the weekend when they edged Holway's 4-3, thus taking the semi-final series two games to one and a tie in the best-of-three series.

Osterhout Shells, the top team during the regular schedule, and the Canada midgets will also meet in a two-of-three series for the championship of the group won last year by the Ontario Intelligencer. The series opens next weekend at pan.

Ducky Ethier paced the winners' attack in yesterday's close, hard-fought fixture, scoring twice while the others went to John Brennan and Jack Boulter.

Bill Storms fired a pair for Holway's while Tom Feenay had the third.

The lead changed hands several times with the result in doubt until the final whistle.

The playoffs got under way at Memorial Arena Saturday morning. The Browns shut out the Maple Leafs 1-0, the Red Wings blanked the Black Hawks 4-0; Rangers shaded the Barons 3-1, while Canadiens edged the Bruins by a 2-1 count.

John Hoasar tallied the game's lone goal for the Browns, while Bill Ryan in the nets earned his shutout. Stu Muirhead assisted on Hoasar's marker.

Ricky Donovan was backed by a strong offence as he shut out the Maple Leafs. Bobby Dupuis scored twice and Ted Hook and Gordon Scott once each. Cam Walbridge and Gerry Dafoe each drew a brace of assists while Paul Zakos had one.

Sonny McGlennon tallied the deciding goal for the Canadiens. Garry Duval had their other goal, with assists going to John Graham, Ed Reid and Bradley Lee. Terry Boyle scored unassisted for the Bruins.

Americans Win Figure Skating Singles Crowns

By JACK STEVENSON

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—No upsets and few spills sent the 1957 world figure skating championships into Saturday night with titles in the United States, Canada and England.

As expected, Carol Heiss of Orone Park, N.Y., retained her women's crown. David Jenkins of Colorado Springs topped men while pairs title went to Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul of Toronto and London's June Markham and Courtney Jones gracefully gave away with the ice dancing championship.

Miss Heiss and Jenkins, who succeeded his brother Hayes as skating king, outclassed the field here after winning the North American titles last month. Carol fell once but it didn't detract from her overall brilliance.

SEVENTH STRAIGHT YEAR

Wagner and Paul also won those competitions for the British Isles, European champions, kept the ice dancing gold medal in England for the seventh straight year.

Jenkins became the first man to succeed a brother as world champion. He took over following the brilliant career of brother Hayes, skating of Hayes, four times the world titlist.

David, a pre-medical student at Colorado College here, went through a dazzling performance of jumps, spins and turns to outclass the field. Hayes was the last to win skating after earlier scoring first in the involved compulsory figures competition.

Jones and Miss Markham virtually clinched their title Thursday and Friday night in the compulsory dances and added the crowning touch with an exhibition of their own creation.

Miss Heiss, a member of the Royal Air Force recruiting division, gained the championship with his 18-year-old blonde partner in perfect unison with him. There was little doubt that the pair would through their first dance that they'd go back with the championship.

Second place in the men's singles went to Hans Gerschwiler, Tim Brown of Los Angeles, a student at the University of California. Like Jenkins, he studies a pre-medicine course. The same is true of Charles Snelling, who took third place.

In the dancing, Geraldine Fenton, 21, and William McLachlan, 19, both of Toronto, nailed down second place for Canada while the Los Angeles team of Sharon McKenzie and Bert Wright placed third among the 11 couples from six nations.

Toronto's Beverly Orr, 16, and Hugh Smith, 17, were eighth, but only 10 points behind the winning team.

Junior 'A' Playoff Dates

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Hanley, business manager of the Ontario Hockey Association, announced impartial dates for the three junior A playoff series Sunday.

The Memorial Cup best-of-seven final between Guelph Biltmores, who finished the schedule atop the Eastern Canada standings, and St. Michael's College Majors, who ended up fourth, opens Friday in Guelph.

Other dates and venues for this series: March 15, Toronto; March 18, 19, Guelph; March 17, Toronto; March 18 (if necessary) Guelph; March 20 (if necessary), Toronto; and March 22 (if necessary), Guelph.

The series B best-of-five quarter-final is between Toronto Marlboros, the defending Memorial Cup champions who finished second in the OHA group title race, and Hamilton Cubs, who ended up fifth. It starts in Toronto Tuesday.

Other dates: March 7, Hamilton; March 9 (afternoon), Toronto; March 10 (if necessary), Hamilton; March 13 (if necessary) Toronto.

Third-place finishers, St. Catharines Teepees, and Barrie Flyers, who finished the season in the last playoff spot—sixth—meet in the C best-of-five quarter-final. Only the opening date of this set has been set—Tuesday at St. Catharines.

The series B winner meets the winner of the C best-of-five semi-final. The club surviving this set goes against the series A winner for the OHA junior A championship and the right to advance into the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final against Ottawa Junior Canadiens.

WINS TWICE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Delsay, a running machine who defies description, won both the 1,000-yard and the mile runs in a meet record two-day total—entered by coaches, rather than individuals—at the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Indoor Track Championships. He tried both meet and field championships Saturday night.

Four Wheat Farmers Favored For Canadian Curling Crown

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP)—Four wheat-farming brothers from the prairie hamlet of Avonlea, Sask., were favored to win the Canadian Tobacco Canada curling championships started here today. They had about cleaned up everything in sight so far this year.

The Hill boys, 29-year-old Garnett Campbell, came here with their 1956-57 record showing that of the 44 curlers competing in the "world series" of the game. Eleven skip-led rinks—Canada has two, "Ontario" and "Northern Ontario"—will battle for second honspiel which ends Friday.

The Campbells, who this year added the name of Lloydett Lindsay, Governor's Trophies and Kenny Lindsay Cup to their Quebec international bonspiel to their provincial title, even have the draw made for them.

EXPECT 2-0 RECORD

They open the first round against Prince Edward Island, never a serious contender in the tournament, and follow with a second-round game against New Brunswick. Unless there's a major upset, they'll end the day with a 2-0 won-lost record.

The Campbell brothers, who won the Canadian title in 1954, give Saskatchewan its first championship since the bonspiel started in 1927. They defeated ground bye Tuesday morning and face their first big test Wednesday afternoon's fourth round against Ontario. Ontario skip, Gerry Amiel, of Hamilton, is skipped by Stan Sarjeant, a veteran of 25 years in the game.

One old face missing from action is here. Matt Baldwin from Edmonton, who skipped the Alberta rink to victory in 1954 with only one loss in the 10 games, has an entirely different crew from this title-winning rink. It is his third try for the big prizes, he's made it amongst the best last year with an even 5-5 record.

Baldwin's third man is Norris Ken Weldon's Quebec rink from Montreal. He is the first round and has a comparatively easy second-round match on tap with Newfoundland, which has been competing in the Canadian championships since 1951. Newfoundland has played only four games in 60 in that period.

The Alberta rink, doesn't receive a bye until the seventh round, scheduled for Thursday morning.

CRU Approves Changes in Eight Rules

MONTREAL (CP)—Eight rules changes, most of them comparatively minor, and a number of clarification, were approved Saturday at the closing session of the Canadian Rugby Union's annual meeting.

One change, making the rule the same as that in the U.S. code, provides that the ball is dead when any part of the ball carrier's body other than his hands or feet touches the ground. The same rule "crawling" was more clearly defined as illegal advancement of the ball.

The old time "tandem buck" by "two or more" players was definitely made illegal. "No direct assistance by direct contact shall be given from the rear to a player carrying the ball."

THIRD-DOWN KICKS

A rule regarding offences on third-down kick was revamped to read "any offence by the attacking side" rather than confining the offence to certain only.

The rule regarding "piling on" was given a section of its own and piling on can no longer be interpreted as unnecessary roughness.

A change in the rule regarding the shovel-pass or screen-pass has the general effect of making the play a running play—with interference as permitted under a running play—except during the time the ball is in the air "and only for the length of the ball receiver."

CHANGE OFFSIDE RULE

The present rule regarding offside on a scrimmage play imposes no penalty if the player receiving the onside position before the ball is snapped. It was changed to provide for 5 yards penalty if the player makes contact with an opponent unless the player's return to onside.

An old rule against high tackles was worded to read that "any form of "scragging" is considered legal, but if deemed necessary no rule against rough play can be invoked.

A change in the rule regarding clipping has the effect of "charging the penalty from point of point of infraction, point ball held or point of scrimmage, whichever is greater."

In addition to these rule changes the meeting passed a resolution whereby the diagram of positions of players in the scrum at the start will carry both American and Canadian designations of positions.

OUTDOORS with John Alden Knight

Bandit of the Alcan Highway

It is not unreasonable to suppose that every sportsman has a yearning to drive the length of the new Alcan Highway which has been constructed through the wilds of British Columbia, right into central Alaska. It is an interesting trip through hitherto untouched territory.

While there are service stations, motels and restaurants along the route, the trip is not without its hazards, the outstanding of which be Old Joe.

Old Joe is a buffalo. Evidently he resents the invasion by man of territory which was once his exclusively. Not only does he refuse to give way to the machine age in the form of automobiles; also he takes charge of matters now and then. During the past few years he has wrecked beyond further use five automobiles.

His last antagonist was a territorial police cruiser. U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service reports that the car was demolished. No mention is made of what happened to the occupants but it is no doubt safe to assume that they escaped injury. Evidently content with battering the car into complete submission, Old Joe snorted his contemptuous defiance at the wreckage and ambled away into the wilderness.

HUNTING, FISHING LICENSES

That "hunting on both statewide and" nationally, of hunting and fishing is something which no right-thinking person can ignore. Time was when a man, who spent what money he made, considered to be "too much time" hunting and fishing, was frowned upon by his neighbors and business associates and considered to be somewhat irresponsible.

Today that sort of reasoning will not hold water. Far too many highly successful people go in for the outdoor sports in a large (and expensive) way. Hunting and fishing now are completely respectable pastimes.

This growth in popularity reflects itself directly in the annual totals of license sales. It is also time to put these figures together and as per the 1956 figures are not available but the 1955 totals will serve to illustrate the point.

In that year 18,856,000 persons in the United States bought fishing licenses and 14,191,522 bought hunting licenses. In addition, there were permits, tags, stamps, licenses other than the actual hunting and fishing varieties, etc., but all stemming from hunting and fishing, sold to total 2,820,857.

Adding up the gross sales, both in state treasuries and nationally, the grand total comes to $82,292,-825. That is a great deal of money all of it spent only for the legal right to indulge in hunting and fishing.

If you are a hunter or a fisherman or both, you know what a comparatively small part of your annual outdoor expenditure is taken up by the cost of licenses. If you have the time, patience and inclination to take up fishing and, using your own experience as a yardstick, estimate the total national expenditure, including travel expense, dog expense, etc., you are due for a big surprise. Even ultra-conservative estimates develop into astronomical figures. Small wonder that the outdoor sports—hunting and fishing—have moved into the-realm of big business.

DEATH TOLL OF THE HIGHWAYS

The time of the year was late May and a friend and I were driving to a resort which was 400 miles away. We passed a dead raccoon, evidently freshly killed and lying in the grass beside the road. A few miles farther on we passed another and then another.

Then, being curious,we kept accurate tally. In that 60 miles of road there were 14 dead coons, 7 dead opossum, and the usual number of rabbits, birds, etc.

Keeping score on the number of variety of wildlife, killed by automobiles on our highways, is dismal but useful business. If you do so, by the month or by the year, and then send your report into your state conservation commission, it gives those men a check on the annual wastefulness that the automobile takes from our wildlife supply.

An account has just reached me of a man in Missouri who travels a set route each week. His "mile route," so to speak, takes in 67 miles of road. Last year, in a total of 3,953 miles over that same road, he counted 451 animals killed on that road. Not bird, mind you—animals only.

If you travel country roads to any extent, a good way to kill time is to record the number and kind of animals you see that have been killed by cars. Then send your report to your game commission, being sure to list the roads travelled. You will be in for an unpleasant surprise at the end of the year and I am sure that your commission will be grateful to have the information.

NOISE AND FISHING

Several years ago, around 1950 I believe, I took it upon myself to express some views on noise and the quality of sport. I told the story the matter of outboard-motor noise was the major bone. Brother, did we get our ears pinned back!

Now I come a letter-a long one-from the Outboard Boating Club of America, of which I am an honorary member. According to the fellow who wrote it, I was a charlatan, a quack and even a traitor to the organization.

Next came identical fellows who troll with outboards, telling me I was talking through my hat. If outboards are so noisy, how come they catch fish while trolling with an outboard?

Of course, there were quite a few fellows who sided with me. They cited instances of fishing being ruined by outboards. The boneheadiness of the Florida Keys were the most emphatic. Bass bug fishermen came next. We had quite a time.

To clinch matters and clear the record for posterity, the Biological Department of the University of Michigan sent an entire summer to controlled-condition experiment to prove that motor noise had no effect on fishing. They proved it — to their own satisfaction anyway, but not to mine. In my book, motor noise can ruin certain types of fishing completely.

Now comes a news release from the University of Wisconsin which makes a strong bid to document that Michigan experiment. This is what it says, in part:

"Madison, Wis. — The next time you fish your favorite lake without so much as a nibble on your line, don't place all the blame on yourself. Scientists are finding out that fish probably see, smell, feel or hear you coming.

"This bit of information, gleaned from studying one of nature's biggest riddles — the mysterious migration of the fish — may help explain why there are some days when fish just won't bite.

"A University of Wisconsin biologist claims it is just a matter of the fish using its 'senses' such as hearing the creak of an oar lock or the drone of an outboard motor, or seeing the shadow of a boat."

Well, maybe we weren't so far wrong after all. There will be more about this later on.

ROYALTIES AND RECREATION AREAS

A couple of years ago there was a great commotion in Florida over the fact that oil drilling was sanctioned in the Everglades. All the interior, to be done within the sacred confines of Everglades National Park. We joined the forces of those who objected.

And that was as it should be. Everglades National Park is one of our few remaining wilderness areas. In other words, this huge area of swampland and prairie is just as it was in the beginning. It should be kept that way, and the wildlife within its boundaries should not be disturbed.

Here in Pennsylvania the picture is somewhat different. With the possible exception of Pennsylvania's Black Forest, there is very little wilderness. On the other hand, there is a great deal of undeveloped mountain area and much of this belongs to the Commonwealth.

Under a fairly recent piece of legislation (Act Number 580) the Department of Forests and Waters can grant oil and natural gas leases to interested concerns, permitting drilling on State lands. On such gas and oil as may thus be procured a royalty is paid in to the State Treasury. This money is earmarked for use by Forests and Waters for the development and maintenance of public recreational areas.

So far the figures for 1956 are not available but those for 1955 are impressive. In that year more than eleven million people visited the State recreational areas. And during the first six months of 1956, $2,693,690.34 was paid to the State in royalties. Estimates indicated that total royalties for 1956 would top the four million mark.

These funds are needed badly for expansion and maintenance of Pennsylvania's park areas. Being indirectly under State supervision, little damage is being or will be done in wilderness areas. The whole business seems to break the old rule about being able to have your cake and eat it too.

PRINCESS CHRISTENED

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) The six-week-old daughter of Princess Grace and Prince Rainier was christened Sunday in the fifteen-hundred Cathedral of Monaco. A thousand guests jammed the cathedral to hear Bishop Gilles Barohe pronounce the traditional words: "Caroline Louise Marguerite, I baptize you in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost." The little princess squalled lustily in the arms of her godmother, 19-year-old Margaret Davis of Philadelphia, niece of Princess Grace.

Two Baseball Leagues Merge Into 6-Team Loop

BRANTFORD (CP)—The newly-formed Great Lakes Baseball League and the Niagara District Senior Baseball League have decided to test an amalgamation program, with an interlocking schedule, and probably a single champion advancing into Ontario Baseball Association playdowns.

Team promoters agreed Sunday on a six-team loop — London, Brantford and Hamilton representing the Great Lakes division, and St. Catharines, Welland and Niagara Falls, Ont., the Niagara District division.

Robert Speaight, British actor, producer and author, will adjudicate the Dominion Drama Festival finals at Edmonton May 20-25. Speaight, 52, will judge eight plays selected by regional adjudicator Cecil Bellamy, another British author and producer, brought to Canada for the festival. (CP Cable)

Cyril Ritchard Leading Showman Of Broadway Theatrical Season

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Showman extraordinary of the Broadway theatrical season is a man of impish elegance and impetuous energy named Cyril Ritchard.

He does two things at a time—and has two reasons for everything he does.

Ritchard has skyrocketed with sudden brilliance as the star and director of a new surprise comedy hit, Visit to a Small Planet, and as director and star of La Perichole, a standout event of the year at the Metropolitan Opera House.

On occasion, Ritchard has appeared in both shows on a single day. When the Met goes on spring tour, he will dash out of town for La Perichole performances in Boston and Cleveland and perhaps other points, then hurry back to the Booth Theatre there where "Small Planet" is regaling capacity audiences.

PLAYED CAPTAIN HOOK

Ritchard has also been busy recently in several television spectaculars the first became remembered as the delightfully-evilish Captain Hook of Mary Martin's Peter Pan.

When he has a few spare hours, the Australian star likes to hurry off to watch someone else's dress rehearsal.

"Actually if was an accident," he comments in discussion of his current two - way existence. "Small Planet' was first planned a year and a half ago and schedule changes caused the collision with the opera."

The increased activity is just what Ritchard seeks.

He explains one reason for his energetic drive.

"I feel that it is tremendously important, particularly in these tense times, to be able to make people enjoy themselves," he says. "It is terribly important for those who have the ability to make people laugh."

FEELS KEEN LOSS

The second reason he explains more cryptically:

"These days I hug my work to myself."

His eye moistens as he speaks and he swiftly rushes on to other topics.

A friend put it in words later: Through constant work Ritchard strives to dull the loss he has felt since the death of his wife, 18 months ago.

Ritchard himself is speaking again of the way he works, the objectives he sets:

"I'm an extraordinary pessimist about every show. It's the black Irish despair in my nature. When an airplane lands me anywhere I'm utterly amazed. . . ."

"I've always been a rather outside actor—I stand outside of a character and make fun of it. I've always been lampooning something that is pompous."

The main thing is, if you can give an audience the feeling you are having the time of your life, you are being successful."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

Tuesday, March 5, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Mercury and Venus aspects are fine for accomplishment in private interests, mental work, writings, journalism, secretarial chores; planning, etc. Be most careful about making sudden changes, however.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your Venus, favorably situated, should encourage those in the artistic professions — especially in painting, sculpturing, the theatre, designing. Teachers, students also highly favored.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Grand indications for a vigorous, full day, but don't make hasty decisions, needless changes in important matters. Accent your best qualities now. Strong, good aspects.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Friendly influences encourage your interests now. Familiar matters, promising new ideas, methods, materials and equipment should be given a chance. A day for attaining benefits.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Don't be harsh and uncompromising or you will offset the friendliness prevalent now. This is a generous day — one in which the solution of problems can be attained through gracious, intelligent co-operation.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Heed advice to Gemini. A time for advancement, personal gain, striving toward recognition for good ideas and efforts. Promote, advertise, exploit talents.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — Good reasoning, ambition, incentive encouraged today. Don't refuse sound advice; try new methods, be progressive. Benefits available.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — If won't pay to dissent where the interests of the many are concerned for, in the end, your own best purpose can be strengthened. Listen, head and go along with those who know the answers.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Keep discipline in your heart — and mind. It's amazing what you can accomplish through a happy outlook. A pleasant day in which to work.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Co-operate with others where possible but not at the expense of principles. Streamline your thinking to keep in step with progress. Advantages indicated.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Do not weaken in purpose or permit opportunities to slip by. Attend to important matters promptly. This is a day for action as well as planning. Benefits likely.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — This day's aspects are intriguing, perhaps challenging, but they are also encouraging. Work for, but do not worry about, profits. They will automatically follow good endeavor.

You Born Today are smart, though not showy. Intuitive, inspired, imaginative; often sense coming events beforehand. You should heed these unusual gifts and talents and cultivate them daily. Never acknowledge defeat or quit an objective for patience, determination. Have more confidence in your capabilities and possibilities. Don't be indecisive or try to go in two directions at one time. Enjoy good fun often.

Police Hunting Six Escapees From Prison Farm

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Police are searching for six prisoners who escaped from Oakalla prison farm here Sunday night at the end of an exercise period.

The men apparently sawed through a screened and barred door on the north side of the east wing earlier in the day. About 7 p.m., during confusion resulting from the exercise period and the changing of the shifts on the wall, they escaped through the door, crossed the road to the north and dropped onto a road running by the east side of the prison.

A police car traced them to a brick south of Oakland Street and lost them. Police said a search team would head for Vancouver, some six miles from the prison grounds.

The escapers were identified as John Conway and Allen Bonnett, both 20, serving sentences for breaking and entering; Frank Schlossen, 46, in Oakalla for possession of house-breaking tools; Gilbert Eyo, 24, charge arising from the Drug Act.

MOLLET SAYS

A luncheon at Mr. St. Laurent's residence, attended by the visiting and Canadian dignitaries headed by External Affairs Minister Pearson, was followed by long conversations in the east block of the Parliament Buildings.

FLEW TO QUEBEC

Sunday was no day of rest. The entire French party was flown to Quebec City in a Canadian government department Viscount aircraft that flew it from New York Saturday.

There, after a welcome by Premier Duplessis of Quebec—who said his province is one of the few places in North America where the visitors would feel really at home—they lunched at the Bois de Coulonge, the lieutenant-governor's residence.

The President looked aplomb in traffic snarls was shaken when their convoy tangled with 75,000 Quebecers jamming the ancient city's quaintly-narrow streets, celebrating winter carnival.

"C'est etonnant. (It's astonishing") commented the startled French premier.

They attended a Laval University reception, conducted a press conference, met the provincial cabinet-general and dined, again at the Bois de Coulonge, before the three-minute flight had them back in Ottawa, where at 9 a.m. today final conferences were to resume in the east block.

GHANA LEADER

"Our task is not done and our own safety is not assured until the last vestiges of colonialism have been swept from Africa."

Dr. Nkrumah also attacked the capitalist system as "too complicated" for a newly-independent nation and advocates a socialistic society, in which democracy may need the support of "a one-party state" or "emergency measures of a totalitarian kind."

He confesses that he once thought armed rebellion was the only way to win freedom from rule of self-government. But he was turned from this course by a study of Mahatma Gandhi's philosophy of non-violence, which he sought to apply in practical terms in the Gold Coast.

Like Gandhi and many other revolutionary leaders who changed their country's government and economy, Dr. Nkrumah knew the humiliation of imprisonment. In 1948, when he was general secretary of the United Gold Coast Convention he was arrested and detained following riots in Accra, the capital.

Shortly afterwards, he broke away from the convention group to form his own Convention People's Party and again underwent imprisonment as a political agitator.

He was still in prison when his new party swept into power in the 1951 general election. He was released and invited by the governor, Sir Charles Arden-Clarke, to form a government.

ISRAELI

The Jerusalem Post said it was believed "a strong desire to preserve labor unity would cause both left-wing groups to remain in the government." If they stuck with Ben-Gurion, any opposition motion of no confidence would be beaten down.

However, reports later said the two parties' ministers probably would abstain when the cabinet met to discuss withdrawal, and that deputies of both parties probably would abstain also in the parliament vote. This could reduce Ben-Gurion's majority without causing the government's defeat.

In a four-hour session Sunday, Ben-Gurion and the cabinet studied a message from President Eisenhower accepting how the troop pullout would "go forward with the utmost speed." Eisenhower pledged the U.S. would work to realize Israel's hopes for peace and security in the Middle East.

Israel's sudden indecision about carrying out its pledge to withdraw was prompted by apprehension over a statement U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge made in the United Nations Friday after Foreign Minister Golda Meir announced the troop pull-back would begin.

AROUSED FEARS

Lodge's statement that the future of Gaza should be worked out within the framework of the 1949 Israeli-Egyptian armistice aroused Israeli fears the way was being paved for return of Egyptians to the strip and a renewal of border attacks. Israel wants the UN to administer Gaza.

The withdrawal issue raised a storm in the Israeli press. Nationalists newspapers described the U.S. terms for evacuation as "decent" and "reasonable."

Tel Aviv's Maariv charged that Lodge's statement was prompted by UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, whom it accused of trying to torpedo the Israeli-American agreement on withdrawal.

The organ of the opposition Herut party demanded Ben-Gurion's resignation for what it called a "cruel and disgraceful surrender."

Greater Liberalism Seen In Spanish Cabinet Struffle

MADRID (Reuters) — Spain's cabinet changes suggest the Franco regime is becoming more flexible and tending toward greater liberalism in politics and trade.

Political observers say the Falange has lost its monopoly in Spain's political life. And the way now is clear for a reasonable collaboration of the Falangists, the Roman Catholics, and the monarchists.

A feeling of change is in the air, with the middle and upper classes expressing frank approval of the cabinet shuffle.

But the workers show reserve. They are wondering whether the disappearance of Jose Antonio Giron from the labor ministry means a harmful change in policy.

Giron introduced radical social, health and labor union reforms during his 4½ years in office. Women wept and children kissed his hand as he came out from the labor ministry building last week to again become a private citizen.

The change that makes clear the Falange has lost its monopolistic character is the removal of Jose Luis Arrese from the political post of secretary-general of the party to the ministry of housing.

Gen. Franco recently rejected Arrese's proposed laws to give the Falange party a key control of Spain's political future.

A third significant development portends the possibility of a prime minister taking over the running of the cabinet.

The publication of the decree for reforming the public administration means that the meddlesome business which formerly passed through Franco's hands will be settled directly by interministerial committees.

But before the advent of a prime minister, it is possible that Franco first will set up a state of constitutional future—perhaps by his becoming regent to prepare the way for a restoration of the monarchy.

At any rate, the decentralization of Franco's powers is being studied here as a step toward it.

An indication of Franco's possible successor if he should become ill or die before a restoration was the naming of Gen. Augustin Munoz Grandes as permanent captain general of the army.

Franco was the only one to hold this permanent rank until it was bestowed on General Grandes.

Another development is the entry into the government of a minister of mines connected with powerful Roman Catholic organizations such as Opus Dei and Catholic Action.

MID-AIR EXPLOSION KILLS EIGHT AIRMEN

A member of fire crew is seen using a small extinguisher on part of blazing wreckage in which eight airmen lost their lives when their Mitchell bomber exploded near Ottawa. The 15-year-old aircraft, which was used by materiel command for transporting air force personnel, was only six miles out and coming in for a landing on instruments at Uplands airport when it caught fire and blew apart. At the controls was AVM R. C. Ripley, of Ottawa, who had flown the craft on a 2,500-mile flight from Churchill, Man.

Stabbings, Crimes of Violence National Menace in S. Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Stabbing and crimes of violence have become a national menace in South Africa, says the Penal Reform League.

"The knife tends to become the ruler of many under-privileged communities," stated the league in a recent newsletter, "and the time is ripe for white, black and brown South Africa to take stock of the frightening outburst of violence which threatens the foundations of social peace in our land."

The league gives figures in support of its claim that despite the more severe measures, including flogging, taken against those convicted of violence, cases of stabbing have increased steadily during the last 15 years.

In 1940, there were 1,333 cases of stabbing involving 1,144 men and 189 women. In 27 incidents, the attacker was not found.

In 1955, the number of stabbing cases was 6,080, involving 5,166 men and 888 women. In 26 incidents, the culprits were not traced.

Two experts recently have given their views on the increase in violence in South Africa.

Mr. Justice W. H. Ramsbottom of Johannesburg declared: "No law can effectively prevent people from carrying knives. As among Europeans, the carrying of revolvers 'for protection' spreads rapidly, so among non-Europeans the carrying of knives, also 'for protection,' spreads. But when a man carries a weapon he often succumbs to the temptation to use it, particularly if he is not disciplined and if his inhibitions are weakened by drink, or his anger is aroused."

Mr. Justice Ramsbottom noted that a great many stabbings were committed by adolescents and young men and said that possession of a knife gives power and inflates the ego of an inferior man.

The director of the Penal Reform League, Rev. H. P. Junod, expressed the view that the real cause for the outburst of violence was the insecurity of the economy of the urban Bantu (Negro) family in which every unit must find a means of increasing the communal income. Legally or illegally; a dangerous relaxation of adult control over young people; and a sense of acute resentment directly caused by the numerous and harassing regulations imposed upon them—in short, a set of conditions in which individual values were ignored.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howell called on Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeMille.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Anna Mae Alwine dropped into a tavern Monday night and, when a customer at the bar voiced admiration of her $135 diamond ring, she removed it and handed it to him for closer inspection.

Anna Mae said the man pretended to drop the ring, made believe he was following it across the floor and rolled it right out of the tavern door.

He vanished into the night, along with the ring.

Govt. Holding $241,382 of Unclaimed Money

OTTAWA (CP)—Names of some 6,750 persons who, forgetfully or on purpose, have left money untouched in Canadian banks for nine years or more were published by the government Monday.

Their holdings, totalling $241,382 at the end of last year, were listed in the official Canada Gazette as a reminder to the owners to do something about it.

All amounts not claimed by the end of the year, except for the claimed bank dividends, will be turned over to the central Bank of Canada. After that, owners will be able to claim them but with more difficulty.

Amounts of over $10 will be held indefinitely by the Bank of Canada. At the end of last year it had $1,901,000 in unclaimed balances.

But amounts of less than $10 after lying in the central bank's vaults for 20 years, are to be turned over to federal government coffers.

ISRAELI PREMIER WEATHERING POLITICAL REVOLT

Withdrawal Decision Stirs up Opposition

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier David Ben-Gurion today appeared to be weathering a political revolt against his personal decision to order Israeli troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Aqaba coastal area.

Political informants said rebellious parties in the government coalition now were expected to line up with the 70-year-old premier on a vote of confidence following his explanation today to the Knesset (Parliament) of his withdrawal order. The rebels' support would ensure endorsement of Ben-Gurion's policy.

An Israeli Army spokesman in Tel Aviv said actual withdrawal of troops from the Gaza area had not yet started, but that it was expected to begin shortly, probably Wednesday.

GETTING READY

A spokesman for the Israeli military governor in Gaza said forces there "are getting everything ready to move just as soon as UNEF comes in."

The spokesman said quiet prevailed among the strip's Arab population and that security measures had been tightened against possible anti-Israeli demonstrations.

There was no word yet on the start of withdrawal from the Gulf of Aqaba coast, but a military informant said the evacuation would be a short operation. He said the withdrawal from the Aqaba area probably would be completed by stages as the Israelis reorganized their military administration of the strip to UN units.

PROTEST DECISION

The militant right-wing Herut (Freedom) party called a demonstration in Jerusalem, coinciding with the government's first major test what it called the government's "ditherous surrender."

Several hundred persons, mostly students, moved on the Knesset Monday, shouting "Stop the withdrawal" and calling on Ben-Gurion to resign. Police threw a cordon to halt the surge and wielded clubs to scatter the demonstrators.

Within five hours after Ben-Gurion gave the word, his chief of staff, Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, met with the commander of the UN Emergency Force, Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, outside Tel Aviv.

They announced after a 90-minute session they had reached agreement on the method of withdrawal and the entry of UN forces into the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh area. Neither commander would disclose details.

Four Children Perish in Fire In Newfoundland

TICLE COVE, Nfld. (CP)—Four of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lane died Saturday in the blazing fire that burned their two-storey wooden home. Dead are five-year-old Maurice, three-year-old twins Michael and Theresa, and 11-months-old Brian. Mrs. Lane is in hospital at Bonavista, about 35 miles from this isolated village in eastern Newfoundland. Mr. Lane, his 88-year-old mother and the five other children escaped without injury.

Judge Hearing Geo. Hanna's Appeal Calls Boards' Procedures 'Mockery'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A charge that Christian George Hanna "was convicted before he was heard" was voiced Monday by Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan during a hearing into an immigration department ruling that Hanna, a stowaway, must leave Canada.

The hearing continues today.

The opening session was highlighted by frequent clashes between Mr. Justice Sullivan and immigration department lawyer, J. B. McLennan. The former questioned the fairness of department hearings which led to the deportation order against Hanna. The 26-year-old man without a country" sat quietly through the exchanges.

Hanna has been working with a building contractor here since a B.C. Supreme Court ruling freed him temporarily from deportation while an appeal was heard against the immigration department order.

He stowed away 16 months ago aboard the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Beirut, Lebanon. Claiming to have no living parents in the nationalistic area he says he was born at sea—he was given a hearing before both a one-man immigration department board and a department appeal board. Both ordered him sent back to the Gudveig, which docked here in December and, after several delays, left January 30.

Mr. Justice Sullivan took Mr. McLennan to task when Hanna's counsel defended the immigration hearings. The judge termed them "a mockery" and "simply not fair" since "Hanna was convicted before he was heard."

The immigration department knew Hanna had no travel document, Mr. Justice Sullivan said, "yet it granted him a special inquiry without any opportunity to defend" the immigration hearings.

Hanna should be permitted to stay in Canada if he can qualify under the Canadian Citizenship Act, Mr. Justice Sullivan said. Hanna had properly answered questions dealing with his nationality, he added.

When, in answer to a question, Mr. McLennan said the immigration department would reject Hanna because he didn't have a passport, Mr. Justice Sullivan was moved to reply:

"I wonder how many of our oldest families are descendant from people who got off a boat without papers. I can think of several."

17 Men and 6 Police Dogs Die As RAF Plane Hits 2 Houses

DRAYTON, England (AP) — A giant four-engined RAF transport plane crashed into two farm houses only a few minutes from its base. The air ministry said 15 airmen and two occupants of the dwellings were killed. Three airmen were injured.

The plane, with 20 men aboard, was a Blackburn Beverley, the RAF's standard transport craft.

It had begun a flight to Malta from nearby Abingdon air base shortly before the crash but turned back when engine trouble developed. It was making an approach to the base when it crashed and burned.

Six police dogs aboard the big craft also perished.

The crash occurred at Sutton Wick farm near this village in Berkshire, 75 miles northwest of London.

The Beverley, used extensively during the Suez military action, can carry 94 troops or 70 paratroopers.

The tail of the plane landed on top of another farm house across a country lane. A woman was trapped in the kitchen of that house by the wreckage. She was rescued.

A large section of the plane came to a stop near a group of children. Seven children who lived in the trailers with their families had gone to school shortly before the crash.

MacDonald Says Brewery Tax Weakest Gesture in Budget

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government's relationship with the liquor and brewing industry came under fire Monday from CCF Leader MacDonald.

He told the legislature the government has mollycoddled the liquor industry too long and that the new tax on breweries was the weakest gesture in the new budget.

Mr. MacDonald also said the budget introduced two weeks ago put a heavier tax load on the average citizen while the government protected the interests of its friends and beneficiaries the big corporations by continuing a relatively light tax burden.

He criticized the 1 per cent increase in corporation income tax as peanuts.

Ontario, he said during the budget debate, raised less from liquor sales than any other province—2.6 cents of the sales dollar.

"E. P. Taylor (Toronto brewery magnate) is the man who calls the shots," said Mr. MacDonald. "The government refuses to use the price-fixing power the Liquor Control Board are already vested with to put into the exorbitant profits."

The Liquor Control Board since 1946 had rubber-stamped every request from the breweries for price increases.

The question of financial support to political parties by breweries also was raised by the CCF leader, who challenged the Progressive Conservative party to make public its sources of revenue.

Indonesian Rebels Insistent Sukarno End Link With Reds

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — East Indonesia's rebel command demanded Monday that the republic a republic be placed under military rule with immediate autonomy for the revolt areas.

The ultimatum, presented to President Sukarno, demanded removal of Prime Minister Ali Sastroamidjojo and his cabinet. It also warned that the rebels would not tolerate any Communists in the government.

Lt.-Col. Vence Sumual, leader of the revolt in the eastern islands, said in a broadcast that unless Sukarno does not heed their demands.

Informed sources said the ultimatum was "very serious" since the rebel leaders are not extremists. They warned there might be bloodshed if Sukarno persists in his plan for a "national government." The ultimatum demanded that all officers arrested in a revolt last December on Sumatra, Indonesia's big northwest island, be released at once.

Sumual, supported by a council of 51 military and civil leaders, proclaimed a military regime over East Indonesia and its 15,000,000 people Saturday. The rebels claimed control over the Celebes, Moluca and Lesser Sunda islands.

Sukarno is expected to announce soon whether he will take action on with his plan for guided democracy. Sources close to the Jakarta police chief said if he does, there may be "serious trouble."

Salvation Army Hurt by Ruling Member Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF Commons member Harold Winch said Monday that a recent revenue department ruling on income tax could "kill the Salvation Army."

The member for Vancouver East spoke briefly as the Commons gave swift and unanimous second reading to a bill to clarify—in principle—to a bill removing limits on the income the Salvation Army can earn from its property holdings.

Several members, including Immigration Minister Pickersgill and Mr. Winch, supported the bill and added words of praise to the work of the religious organization.

But Mr. Winch said the Commons should insert in the bill a provision ensuring the army protection against the revenue department ruling.

He said the department recently ruled that donations to organizations which charge for the use of their real estate cannot be deducted from the income income of charitable donations.

"This applies to the Salvation Army," said Mr. Winch, for it sometimes charged small fees which did not come close to the cost of providing the use of its buildings.

UN Assembly Awaits Events Before Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) The United Nations was in a state of suspension today as Israel went ahead with preparations for her withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

No date has been set for resumption of the sessions of the 10th General Assembly but it is expected that there will be another meeting — probably Thursday—to hear a report from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on the Israeli pullout.

Despite varying interpretations of what should follow this move, there is a feeling of optimism here that there soon will be a definite settlement of the Middle East dispute. This optimism stems from the recommended repeatedly in UN resolutions since Israel invaded Egypt last October. Regardless of the many long-standing differences, there is a return of Israeli forces to their own soil has been sought by supporters of both sides as a prerequisite to any action aimed at resolving the remaining deadlocks.

The majority opinion now is that the assembly will need the necessary authority under resolutions passed previously to take such action as he considers necessary to follow up the withdrawal with measures which will win approval from both Egypt and Israel.

LIBERAL PROPOSAL GETS TALKED OUT IN PARLIAMENT

No Time to Call Vote on Resolution

OTTAWA (CP) — A Liberal's proposal that the government raise pensions of its employees retired when salaries were low won so much verbal support in the Commons that the House didn't get around to acting on it.

The proposal was contained in a resolution sponsored Monday by Rev. Dan McIvor, 65-year-old member for Fraser Valley. It was the third straight year he had sponsored such a proposal and members of all parties supported it.

They spoke in favor of it at such length, in fact, that there wasn't time to call a vote on the resolution. So now it is at the bottom of a long list of items privately sponsored resolutions and is unlikely to be debated again this session.

In an apparent reference to the proposal's frequent appearance in the Commons with no action being taken on it, George McLeod (SC—Edmonton Revelstoke) said he hopes the government won't put off "considerably" so long that the people affected will die off in the meantime.

REMINDER

In the end, however, as he discussed the resolution to the sitting Liberal caucus Monday, Mr. McIvor promised to consider worthy cases.

Canada's Share Of UN Budget Cut

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada's percentage contribution to the United Nations has been reduced for 1957, but because of a general increase in the budget of the world organization the Ottawa government will pay more money into it in the coming year than in 1956.

The General Assembly has passed a total budget for 1957 of $50,815,700, compared with $48,807,650 last year. In 1956 Canada contributed $2,703,619 toward this total. For 1957 the total Canadian contribution may reach $1,978,618.

The increase is largely due to the setting up of the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East at the end of 1956. Canada's percentage reduction came about by the admission of a number of new UN members which united the scales of contributing countries to 80.

PREVIOUS ACCOUNT

In 1956 Canada was assessed 3.53 per cent of the total UN budget. For 1957 Canada's quota jumps to 3.15 per cent of the $50,815,700 total. This amounts to $1,600,695. Additional contributions to the working capital fund and for the support of the UN force raise the total at least $378,000. The resulting figure of $1,978,695, however, will be reduced by adjustments which will reduce the final amount to be paid, but no estimate has yet been made on how much each country will be refunded.

Swiss Student Wants to Track Down Legendary Giant of B.C. Mountains

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bearded young anthropology student from Switzerland arrived here to celebrate British Columbia's centennial in 1958 by tracking down the sasquatch, a 10-foot, hairy giant of B.C. mountain legend.

Rene Dahinden, a resident of Canada for 3½ years and now living in Lumby, 200 miles east of Vancouver, is determined the sasquatch is no myth.

He is a descendant of primitive man in an unmapped area of B.C. would bring more fame to the province than the celebrated centennial dances and festivals," the 30-year-old Dahinden said here Monday.

Dahinden said he will go to Victoria to ask the B.C. centennial committee to help him organize an expedition into the Harrison Lake area of the interior.

The sasquatch is reputed to be an eight-foot hairy giant. It is known as "big man of the mountain" to Indians of the Lumby area, who have for generations have passed down the story of its existence.

While men and Indians around Lumby, where Dahinden works at a lumber mill, remember years ago some descendant of primitive man. Indians of that area say that a race disappeared around 1800 and later were seen in Idaho.

Dahinden said a Hudson Bay Co. trader near Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., saw a similar creature in 1946.

"I have spent a long time studying such evidence as we have and also evidence of the so - called Abominable Snowman or, yeti in the Himalayas, which I believe is closely allied to the sasquatch."

Hope Wednesday Meet To Approve Hospital Scheme

Ontario, Federal Ministers Seek Final Agreement

OTTAWA (CP)—Cabinet ministers from the Ontario and federal governments will meet here Wednesday in an attempt to reach final agreement on a hospital insurance scheme, Health Minister Martin disclosed today.

"I sincerely hope that this meeting will lead to an agreement," he said in an interview.

He said the meeting was arranged through correspondence between Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Frost.

Monday Mr. Martin initiated parliamentary discussion for approval of the federal hospital insurance offer based on the entry of at least six provinces representing at least half the Canadian population.

Under its plan, the government would pay roughly half the cost of the estimated $400,000,000-a-year, project once the scheme starts functioning in all of the minimum number of provinces.

Mr. Frost was quoted as saying in a Toronto telephone interview Monday night that he would not sign until one condition. He has estimated Ontario would not benefit to the tune of $60 million until 1959.

But he had assumed that once the minimum six provinces sign, any of the signatory provinces would be able to change conditions as soon as its own scheme was launched.

MUST BE NATIONAL

However, on this point, Mr. Martin said the federal offer is "quite simple"—there would have to be the necessary six provinces in operation before federal funds would be paid out.

"We want a nation wide scheme," he said. "We want a maximum number of Canadians covered."

Premier Bennett of British Columbia, in an interview at Vancouver, suggested the federal administration "show it is really sincere by accepting B.C.'s offer of a partnership right now."

Foreign Capital Flow Into Canada Breaks Records

OTTAWA (CP) — The flow of foreign capital into Canada in 1956 broke records, shattering all previous records, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Imports resulting from international trade in stocks and bonds totalled to $763,000,000 during the year from Britain and Europe but most of it from the United States.

"This tremendous figure," said the bureau, "compares with a capital movement of $50,000,000 in 1955 and is considerably more than twice as large as the previous record net inflow established in the exceptional circumstances of 1950."

Indian Paper Attacks Queen's Portugal Visit

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The Economic Review, official organ of the Congress party, said today the visit of Queen Elizabeth to Portugal was a case of "birds of the same feather flocking together on the eve of their doom."

In an editorial signed by the editor, H. D. Malviya, The Review said:

"Queen Elizabeth II, queen of all the Britons now of fading glory, last attended Coronation, the zenith of power to its nadir, followed as here by millions and millions of world humanity whom British imperialists have crushed, oppressed and butchered, has just ended a state visit to Portugal.

"In the course of a speech in Portugal the Queen said the world now is living in more anxious days than it did in years ago and the civilizing work which we purported has not always met the understanding which it would have been right to expect in view of the benefits delivered.

IN BITTER VEIN

"Her Majesty is apparently disappointed. Perhaps it is sorry that the world is not able to appreciate the benefits by the neck of Greek patriots in Cyprus or the botheries of the Portuguese in Goa.

"The last British sovereign visited Portugal during the 16th century.

"The present visit, is significant in so far as all these 'civilizers' met on the eve of their final extinction.

"These birds of the same feather have flocked together on the eve of this doom but whatever they may do, their end is near at hand. It is the verdict of history."

Storm Sewer on Henry Street To Relieve Flooding Defeated

A $16,000 storm sewer proposed for the Henry street district to relieve flooding conditions in that area will not be built this year.

This was the decision Monday night of city council when members twice defeated a motion to have the sewer built, either as a current expense out of the 1957 budget or with payment by debentures.

Alderman Claude D. Tice said the Henry street sewer had been placed in the budget each year for the past five years and each year had been taken out before it was finalized. This year, he said, council had looked after education and salary increases to city employees but had done nothing for the taxpayer.

The motion to build the Henry street sewer had been passed in the committee stage, but last night when it came up for final approval Alderman J. D. Hyde moved that payment be by way of debentures rather than as a current expense from the 1957 budget. He argued that any works of a permanent nature should be paid for by debentures. Also this would mean a smaller burden on the taxpayer.

Ald. Ben Gale said he was opposed to any capital expenditure and said he did not favor anyone paying the cost of relatively small projects by debentures.

"If we can afford the sewer it should be paid for in one year, and if we can't afford it, the sewer should not be built," he said.

BADLY NEEDED IS CLAIM

Ald. Doug. Moxam strongly urged that the sewer be built. "I have seen water up to the window sills in this area," he said.

Ald. Les. Digby said the job should be done the cheapest way. "Why spend money to build it in the street charges when we can pay out of the current year's taxes?" he asked.

Ald. Dr. John Stock said he had been opposed to the sewer construction because he felt council was jumping the gun before it had all the facts. He said there were possibly five or six other areas in the city which needed sewers as much or just as badly.

He said he would like to see a report by the city engineer on all areas requiring storm sewers before $16,000 for the Henry street sewer was voted by council.

Alderman Ralph Graham noted that the sewer had been discussed early during the budget debate, then had been tabled as the last to see how the millrate was shaping up.

If it had not been for the additional grants from the provincial this year the tax rate would have gone up at least five mills, the alderman noted. Also to the benefits of the additional grants should be passed along to the taxpayer.

Alderman Graham said that the idea of the extra grants was to reduce taxation. He suggested that the province would watch very closely how the municipalities were spending the money.

RECORDED VOTE CALLED

"Grants had nothing to do with the Henry street sewer," Ald. Moxam objected. "If there are other bad areas in the city, it is up to us to do another area next year."

On a recorded vote Ald. Hyde's amendment to pay for the proposed sewer by debenture was defeated 8-5, while the motion to build the sewer out of this year's revenue also went down to defeat and by exactly the same margin.

Following a letter from Dr. J. L. Loynes, president of the Belleville Medical Association, and J. N. Yanover, chairman of the Belleville General Hospital Board of Governors, council voted $300 to the Belleville Community Nurses' Registry.

Dr. Loynes noted that the operation of the registry was a benefit to the community as its primary function being placement of private duty nurses for hospital call. Last year 1,945 nurses were so placed, the registry also keeping calls for the Victorian Order Nurses as well as such calls being handled monthly.

Extension of building covenants for lots in the Southview area were granted until May 1st, following a similar request.

The tight money situation was given as the reason for the request on building covenant extension, but Alderman C. B. Hyde noted that valuable owners applying for themselves had no difficulty in obtaining money.

An amendment to the motion calling for an extension to May 31st was defeated before the original motion for the May 1st deadline was passed.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE NAMED

A report from consulting engineer Gore and Storrie was received by council with a special committee of Aldermen Tice, Whalen, Collins and Graham, Mr. O. H. Scott and Jerry Jarrell to further investigate the matter and report findings to council.

City engineer Dennis Herring was authorized to obtain a fall elevation of lands as established by the Moira River Conservation Authority and to apply for approval to control dam north of College street. The city engineer and manager are also charged to provide a plan outlining the proposed project.

Council passed a recommendation calling for the appointment of a city plumbing inspector, the recommendation from Medical Officer of Health Dr. Noel Mitchell suggesting the sanitary inspector be appointed to the position at present receiving a salary.

Installation of three new street lights was approved, one on Bridge street, one on Johnson street and the third on Church street where a corner is to be cut back.

Council passed a resolution calling for the provincial government to provide a shelter, similar to those now in use, for all animals admitted and how until the end of the year the pound had been more or less operated on a shoestring.

Appreciation was expressed to local merchants for their co-operation in making animal pound shelter available, also to city residents and to the local press and radio.

Service Station Operators Divided On Closing Law

Gasoline service station operators in the city are divided in their opinion as to whether there should be early closing of stations.

Last night at council Ald. Alderman Angus Duffy presented a petition claimed to be signed by 75 per cent of the operators asking for an early closing by-law allowing stations to remain open from seven a.m. until 10 p.m. with four duty stations to remain open until midnight on week-days and on Sundays.

At the same time Donald Templeman, in addition, appeared on behalf of another group of operators saying that the matter be deferred. He said the operators he represented were opposed to the early closing by-law.

"It is a serious step, effecting not only the operators, but the general public," he said.

Following a question from Ald. Safe as to whether council had power to act in the matter, the question was laid over for further investigation.

First Payment Date for Taxes Now April 17th

Increased municipal grants announced by the Ontario government for hospitals and dollar-barrel-ed effect in the city.

The grants are fully expected to reduce the city tax rate from the 78 mills of last year, and at the same time they have caused the date for payment of the first installment of taxes to be set back.

Belleville city council has still had no official communication from Toronto and date city tax rate cannot be set until this is received.

Last night at city council Mayor Jane Forrester noted she had received word yesterday that the official announcement would be forthcoming before next Monday.

Due to the delay in setting the tax rate the due date for the first installment of taxes was set back to April 17th. Dates for payment of other installments will remain the same.

280 Animals Given Shelter At City Pound

When it comes to adoptions and finding homes for stray animals officials at the city pound say that Belleville Fair grounds have a record which cannot be meeted.

From the time the new pound opened last October until the end of the year a total of 280 animals had been given shelter. Homes had been found for all with the exception of three dogs and nine cats, which had been destroyed.

Last night at city council Mrs. Jane Vrooman, Belleville Humane Box, volunteer pound workers, told of activities at the city animal shelter, how records were kept for all animals admitted and how until the end of the year the pound had been more or less operated on a shoestring.

Appreciation was expressed to local merchants for their co-operation in making animal food items available, also to city residents and to the local press and radio.

Sister Mary Teresa Speaker At CWL Communion Breakfast

On Sunday morning the members of the Catholic Women's League of St. Joseph's parish attended the eight o'clock Mass, celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Buckley, and almost the entire membership attended the breakfast in the Mass a communion breakfast was served in the Bay Quinte Motel. It was attended by about 65 members and guests.

Mrs. J. Hanley, president of the league, proposed a toast to His Holiness Pope Pius XII, followed by opening grace and toast to Her Majesty the Queen. During the breakfast the president introduced guests Rev. Sister Mary Teresa, Rev. Fr. Buckley and Mrs. B. R. Burley, Mrs. L. Bradshaw and Miss Margaret Bradshaw, sisters of St. Michael's, Point Anne and Holy Rosary. A hidden prize presented by Mrs. T. Kelly was won by Sister Mary Teresa.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Sister Mary Teresa of St. Michael's Convent. She was introduced by Mrs. J. Vincent Whalen, spiritual convener, who paid glowing tributes to the speaker as a brilliant scholar, successful teacher and eloquent speaker. Sister Teresa's theme was "What is a Religious Vocation?"

"It is simply the desire to dedicate one's life to God by the vows of obedience, chastity and poverty on the part of the person who has the necessary qualifications," explained Sister Teresa, and added that no vocation can be hoped for if the home where religion is criticized because there is no spirit of home in such homes.

Sister Teresa named four things a person must do if he wishes a vocation in his home: Give the children a Christian Catholic life; inculcate the positive virtues in children; discipline them in a firm and kindly way; and ask God in prayer to bless your home by choosing at least one of the children for His work.

PARENTS BLAMED

Sister Teresa blamed parents for turning their children from the services of God and said, "They are the vocation enemies. Parents are guilty of grievous. They have given it a love or distaste for the religious life.

She said it is up to the parents to teach their children the principles of religion. School teachers can only give them the principles, it is up to the parents to see that child needs a parent who can say "Yes" to discipline and mean it," said the speaker.

Only where there is correct parental discipline can the correct can one reasonably expect to find a candidate suitable for the priesthood, nowise of seminary or the novitiate, . . .

"Your own good example of devotion to duty and self-sacrifice will be the best lesson and the best help you can give your daughter.

"Speak often to your children about God, but speak far more often to God about your children," she said.

Sister Teresa concluded by saying such vocations are never forced nor are they ever discouraged, except by parents whose selfishness is blinding them to the light of faith.

A sincere vote of thanks to the guest speaker was extended by Mrs. T. Kelly on behalf of the members and the Most Rev. Bishop Lemieux was thanked and closing grace was said by Sister Mary Helen Rita.

Ed A. Thomas, Businessman, Sportsman, Dies in Hospital

Well-known sportsman and businessman of Belleville, Edward Arthur (Ed) Thomas, 368 Bridge Street East, passed away early today in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Thomas was in his 70th year.

In ill-health for some time, Mr. Thomas was stricken with a heart seizure a few days ago and went to hospital. He rallied but succumbed to another seizure around eight o'clock this morning.

The passing of Ed Thomas severs another link with the sports and business days of the turn of the century. His name is a household one in the realm of athletics, not only in the city but over a wide area of Eastern Ontario. Scion of pioneer stock, he carried on the business established by his forebears here nearly 140 years ago.

Ed Thomas perhaps is better known from a business point of view through his bicycle, sporting goods store located for the past 135 years at 182 Front Street. For many years it was a mecca from the crack of dawn until midnight, but only early morning closing during his beloved kittens.

He was, for a number of years, the best known sportsman in this part of Ontario. His name was in keyword in hockey circles for many years from Cornwall to Oshawa, Toronto to Kingston, Peterboro and brought to Belleville one of its few Ontario hockey championships. He was a fine manager and above all, a friend to such great hockey performers as the late Bill Green, Pat Boland and Daw Whalen. Such players as Bill Cowan, Cowboy Frank Goyer, Billy Goyer, Stan Hagerman, Percy Lesueur, Sterling twins, Henry and John, and many others knew Ed Thomas and appreciated their associations.

He was an athlete in his own right, winning roller-skating titles. He was an ardent golfer and lover of the game, indulged in his younger days. He played hockey and baseball in the days when the latter was the latter game. Sport in Belleville after the First World War up to the 1930's was never without an Ed Thomas association.

INTERESTED IN POLITICS

Apart from his business and sports activities, Ed Thomas interested active interest in federal, provincial and municipal government, although he never aspired to office, he was an ardent Conservative worker and took a keen interest in its interests. He never accepted municipal office but maintained a keen interest in civic affairs.

Born on Charles Street, Belleville, over 69 years ago, Mr. Thomas was the son of the late Thomas and Ellen Thomas. He is the last surviving member of his family, a sister Jessie, Mrs. Blake Stortis, having predeceased him by several years.

Born a Presbyterian, Mr. Thomas in his later years was a member of Christ Church. He was a life member of Bursaks Lodge A.F. and A.M., No. 203 and Moira Chapter No. 7 R.A.M.

Mr. Thomas, after finishing his public school education, attended the Ontario Business College and was associated with both the city newspapers of that time, the Ontario and the Intelligencer.

He had a flair for the theatrical and for a time was employed in the cake and ticket-taker at the Carmen Opera House located in those days at the southwest corner of Bridge and Church streets. He never missed a performance, being particularly interested in visiting road shows. At one time he made application as an advance agent for a road company.

Mr. Thomas was also an athlete. He never missed a "Big Top" performance for half a century and was a friend of circus performers.

The death of his father and mother within a few days of each other in 1907-08, paved the way to his ultimate business career. Shortly after their deaths, took over the Front Street business with Miss Thomas continuing in the sporting goods department and he, the limited sporting goods and newspaper-magazines. Later, as tobaccos and magazines developed into the predominant lines, these were expanded along these lines.

Mr. Thomas was a pipe smoked. He was an ardent fisherman as many stuffed trophies in the Thomas home will witness.

MARRIED IN 1910

Mr. Thomas married Lillian Smith, daughter of Lieutenant Smith, Empire Loyalist stock in 1910. Two children were born, a son and a daughter, Audrey, who predeceased her father by a number of years.

Surviving are a granddaughter, Lynn Shapton, the only surviving members of the family.

Mr. Thomas is a descendant of Scottish-Welsh stock. His grandfather started the Thomas business on the Bridge street site, and for a time only a few years ago that the Thomas building was demolished and the present structure erected.

The business started as a grocery and butcher shop with the latter predominating the most business. In those days Indians came up the river from the Bay of Quinte to the reserve to trade furs for groceries and tobacco. The Thomas building on Bayside Park was pasture for cattle. That was back in 1840.

The Masonic memorial service will be held at the Bush Funeral Home, corner of Bridge and Victoria, o'clock. The funeral will be held Christ Church on Thursday, March 7, with service at 2 p.m.

Fire Extinguisher Proves Worthwhile In Flash Blaze

TRENTON (Special) — A flash fire nearly got out of control in the Robert Ireland home here on Saturday.

Mrs. Ireland, clerking in the store adjoining the residence on Division and Joseph Streets, went to her kitchen and started frying some fish when she saw the kitchen drapes in flames. She called back into the store for help and then returned the pan of meat suddenly burst into flame.

Before her husband could bring chemical into play from a small fire extinguisher the drapes caught in the wall and scorched the ceiling. Smoke filled the house and circulated through the store, but the outbreak had been successfully checked by the time the local firemen arrived on the scene. "I keep a fire extinguisher on hand for just such an emergency, and it certainly proved its worth," remarked Mr. Ireland afterwards.

Civil Defence Report Given By Her Worship

Only the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta are taking full advantage of financial aid being offered by the Federal Government in setting up civil defence organizations on the municipal level, Charles Jago, Mayor of this lesser degree, but ahead of the remaining provinces.

This was the report given to Belleville city council Monday evening by Her Worship Mayor Jago who last week attended a civil defence college at Arnprior. "Over 100 mayors from across Canada attended the college," she said.

Mayor Forrester said that many of the mayors were skeptical of the value of civil defence when they arrived in Arnprior but they changed their opinion following addresses by top civil defence officials and high army officers. She said they left the conference enabued with the necessity of all citizens being made aware of the necessity of civil defence.

Mayor Forrester said the conference was told that in the event of another war only eight hours strategic warning and but three hours actual warning could be expected before nuclear bombs began to fall.

Defence against the H-bomb was said to be evacuation of centres of population, which would be a receiving centre.

Among the resolutions passed at the conference was one calling for removal of traffic bottlenecks and construction of additional traffic arteries, the costs to be shared by all.

Another resolution dealt with the need of decentralization of the present day urban community.

Daylight Saving Time in Effect On April 28th

Belleville will go on Daylight Saving Time at 2 a.m. on April 28th, it has been decided by council. Return to Standard Time will be at 2 a.m. on the last Saturday in September.

"Is that the date when other centres are going on Daylight Saving Time?" asked Ald. R. Temple at a chairman of the committee of the whole.

The request was apparently made by the alderman who was mindful of the fact that last year Belleville was the only one and adopted fast time a week earlier than other centres in the province.

Mr. Liddle donated a record sale of wreaths and a record sum on poppy street sales.

MANY VETERANS ASSISTED

The treasurer's report was given by Henry Drury. This report showed that the committee had had a good year in assisting a large number of veterans but was still ahead on the year's favorable balance.

Chairman, Les. Digby, thanked all members for their excellent co-operation during the past year and stated that the committee was firm like a family and sometimes a chance to the many needy veterans who required assistance from the Poppy Trust Fund. In his report he reviewed the cases of the assistance given during the year when the Fund was able to step in and give immediate assistance to veterans and on veteran's dependents in an emergency.

Report Ontario Alcoholics Have Almost Tripled

TORONTO (CP)—The number of alcoholics in Ontario has increased 178 per cent between 1945 and 1956, says the Alcoholism Research Foundation.

The foundation's annual report for last year, tabled Monday in the legislature, showed that the number of alcoholics increased to 75,000 in 1956 from 28,050 in 1945. The rate of alcoholism had gone up from 1,040 per 100,000 adult population in 1945 to 2,210 per 100,000 in 1956.

H. David Archibald, executive director of the foundation, said "it may be somewhat comforting to realize that the rate in Canada at present is appreciatively half that of the United States but our rate is climbing appreciably — we have no reason for complacency."

He said clinics operated by the Alcoholics Anonymous and other treatment organizations are handling only a fraction of the new cases which develop each year. "Programs designed to cope with certain types of alcoholics was mentioned by Mr. Archibald.

"The number of alcoholics who are dangerous and at the same time deny efforts to provide treatment for them is sufficiently large to warrant a thorough study to the end that remedial action becomes possible," he said.

Little Red School House On Way Out Says Inspector

The inspector of rural public schools for the Bay of Quinte district, A. Cummins, told members of the Rotary Club of Belleville yesterday that the one room little red school house is on the way out, and in its place the much larger central-type school will be prominent. His theme was developed around Education and Citizenship.

Education, he asserted, concerns everyone in all walks of life. It concerns children who attend school. It concerns adults who send their children to school. Employers look for workers with adequate training to do a good job because they know that with good workers the quality of the product is better and therefore makes a better impression on the balance sheet.

EVERYONE PAYS

"Education affects you in terms of dollars and cents, if in no other way," said Mr. Cummins. Everyone pays toward the whole round of schools and assists financially, and indirectly, in areas in which together that the committee was firm like a family and sometimes a chance to the many needy veterans who required assistance from the Poppy Trust Fund. In his report he reviewed the cases of the assistance given during the year when the Fund was able to step in and give immediate assistance to veterans and on veteran's dependents in an emergency.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

The election of officers of the committee was then conducted in all the previous year's officers being returned to office as follows — chairman, Les. Digby; secretary, Everett Liddle; treasurer, Henry Drury.

The committee for local veterans assistance is Les. Digby, Everett Liddle, Ken Edgecombe, Bill Heasman and Frank Poste were authorized to assist transient veterans.

SCHOOLS INCREASE

Citing an increase in the number of elementary and secondary schools in Ontario, Mr. Cummins pointed out that in 1946 there were 5,500 schools, and yesterday these schools compared to 863,000 in 1955. That's an increase of 3,000 in nine years.

To cope with the ever increasing number of children entering the primary grades, the Department of Education has increased its teachers. The speaker pointed out that in 1939-40 there were roughly 12,500 persons attending training as teachers. Fifteen years later that figure had risen to 2,500, but still more teachers are required.

In 1954, he said, the Ontario government spent $63,000,000 on a total of $62,000,000. One year later the grant had increased to $71,000,000. The Ontario education budget for 1957 has been struck at $120,000,000.

"Nine years ago," said Mr. Cummins, "there was a elementary school building projects in progress in Ontario. Two years ago the figure had risen to 615, with even more like schools being built

Lower Union Jack After 200 Years As Ghana Born

ACCRA, Gold Coast (Reuters)— The Union Jack will be lowered at midnight tonight throughout the territory once known as the Gold Coast and the new Independent state of Ghana will be born.

The Red Cross flag, the ensign for more than 200 years, will be replaced by a red, green and gold flag as Ghana takes its place as independent member of the Commonwealth.

At the head of the new country will be Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah, at 47 the youngest premier in the Commonwealth. Just seven years ago he was "imprisoned by British authorities for sedition, and declaring "positive action" to achieve self-government.

Ghana is the first African colony of any European nation to achieve self-government since the other independent Negro nation on this continent is Liberia.

Delegates of the other countries are in Accra to celebrate the birth of the new state.

Among the visitors is Vice-President Nixon, heading a large American delegation. Canada's minister Prudham is Canada's representative.

Nixon met with Nkrumah Monday, Secondary school building projects have increased from nine in 1946 to 56 in 1955, with more to get underway this year.

"This year an extension is to be made to Quinte Secondary School and the Bay of Quinte High School Board has already indicated that a third high school will have to be built soon," he said.

METHODS CHANGE

Methods of teaching have changed considerably in recent years. Today educationists try to apply system and science to education and end result. With the help of training aids they are able to keep up with this changing trend in educating the adults of tomorrow.

The idea now is to mould the system to the individual, and not to mould the individual to the system. Each child differs from another. Therefore, it is necessary to have a system of collecting pupils with more latent ability than others. "More emphasis" said the inspector, "is being placed on group instruction, so that no longer is the teacher limited to the their techniques at the slower students in a class.

TEACH TOLERANCE

Today's system of education tries to teach a child to think for himself and to express himself openly. He must be taught religious tolerance, tolerance of people — people of his own country and those living abroad of different faiths, colors and creeds. To this, teachers are attempting to tie subjects that do not belong together. If the teacher knows her students' home lives then she is more able to help the child with her pupils.

Teachers are trying to develop pupils who will be able to face the world as it is today and how it will be in the future years.

"We have to train children to be able to fit into the changing, complex world, not a static one," said Mr. Cummins.

DEMOCRACY MOST IMPORTANT

At the present time democracy is fighting for its life in a cold war. The best way to combat the evil is, as much as possible, the dictatorial elements must be eliminated over used in past generations of education.

"We must train them to think, so that they won't be overwhelmed by the slick propaganda that they hear. They must learn to pick out the wheat from the chaff" he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Cummins urged parents to turn out to rural tax payers meetings and to do their best interest in the functions of their school boards.

"Uphold your schools. If criticisms are necessary, criticize constructively," he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Fred Wilson and thanked by Rotarian Tanner and President E. G. Gurnett.

Among the guests at the meeting were Warden Leslie McLaren of Hastings County and wives of Tyendinaga township, and Warden Pulver of Prince Edward County and wife, and Sidney township, and their councillors.

Hungarian University Is Opened in B.C.

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)— An entire university faculty which fled Russian oppression following the October revolution in Hungary has been officially opened here.

Dr. Julius Szabo, the students, professors and their families, as well as local residents, of this northern B.C. coast town, heard Dean Gallman Rájer of the Sopron University faculty formally declare the University of Sopron in Canada established and founded.

It is believed the first time a foreign university has been dedicated on North American soil.

President M. J. Foley of the Powell River Co., which has placed construction camp facilities at the disposal of the Hungarian faculty, congratulated the Sopron students on their courage in setting up their university so far from their homeland.

CCF Tries Twice To Kill Bill Splitting Shares

OTTAWA (CP)—The CCF twice tried unsuccessfully Monday to kill a bill authorizing a five-one split of shares in Trans Mountain Pipe Line Company.

Colin Cameron (CCF—Nanaimo) described the bill in the Commons as "a measure to promote stock market gambling" with shares of the company.

He said Commons members were being asked "to go and play bingo." But in the old ladies' case, they could hurt only themselves. Those who gambled with a pipeline company's stocks might harm a great many Canadians.

The first CCF bill — killing attempt was defeated 132 to 17 as all other parties voted against it. Motion presented previously by Mr. Cameron to postpone second reading—approval in principle—of the bill was defeated 130 to 17 and referred to a committee.

The bill effect would have halted the bill's course through Parliament for this session.

ALGOMA INTERPRETED

After the first vote, CCF whip Stanley Knowles moved that section 3 of the bill be struck out. Under it the company to increase its shares to 25,000,000 from 5,000,000. Its authorization so far has issued only 1,500,000 shares of its authorized 5,000,000.

A. M. Nicholson (CCF—Macken-zie) said during the discussion that the company's stated reason for the bill — to make lower-priced shares available to the general public—does not appear to be the real reason.

Only 45,000 of the issued shares had been made available to the public, he said. The shares, issued at $10, now were quoted at about $118.

"If this company is concerned about having more people participating in it, why not offer it on a stock, or a screen, which is put up to get public measure through Parliament."

ATTACKS SEATOR

Mr. Nicholson also attacked Senator C. D. McKeen (L—British Columbia), sponsor of the Trans Mountain Bill in the Senate.

He said Senator McKeen is president of six west-coast companies, five of which have no assets, including Alberta Pacific Consolidated Ltd., a firm interested in some 10 oil companies and five gas wells.

Mr. Nicholson mentioned no direct connection between Senator McKeen and Trans Mountain. Mr. Nicholson said:

"I question the propriety of an honorable member of either chamber (of Parliament) taking an active interest in the promotion of a proposition such as the one we have before us now when . . . it would appear as if his very wide investments will be affected if and when any particular legislation goes through."

Thought Officers Were Bringing In Drunkometer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The city's new flight unit, used to determine whether there is enough visibility in bars, is getting some unexpected results.

Detective Charles J. Carreno reported Monday that when he and his partner took the meter into a bar three customers rushed out after one said to the others:

"Let's go, they're bringing a drunkometer in here."

Alliance Takes Exception to Publisher's View

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Telegram said today that Canada will start publishing a Sunday morning edition March 17.

In a front-page statement John Bassett Jr., Telegram chairman and president, said he wished to dispel any idea that in doing so The Telegram would be breaking the federal Lord's Day Act.

He said that the act permits Sunday work for "secular works of mercy" and added: "I hold the opinion most strongly that the publication of a Sunday morning newspaper by Canadians in Canada is a work of such necessity. I have checked this opinion with responsible persons who agree." Monday night the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada took exception to this view. A statement signed by A. S. McGrath, general secretary, in Toronto, said:

"Despite The Telegram's assurance that it contemplates this as business venture, many equally well informed Canadians will be disappointed if the Telegram should persist in the course it has announced. It undoubtedly will become necessary for someone to seek an authoritative opinion from the Supreme Court."

WANTS IT HALTED

"The Alliance hopes that effective steps will be taken to prevent this invasion of the Sunday privileges which Canadians now enjoy. The Lord's Day Alliance will endeavor to relate itself to this problem in a manner it may deem most effective and desirable."

Mr. McGrath's statement said organized and unorganized labor forces would "find it in their interest to oppose" the work involved in production, distribution and sale of the newspaper, "as it adversely were ill-founded.

Parliament Hears Mollet Warn Of Split Danger

MONTREAL (CP) — French Premier Guy Mollet is on his way home after a six-day visit to North America during which he outlined his government's views on external and internal problems to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Mollet Monday night boarded a special plane for Paris after a busy day in which he addressed a joint session of the Canadian Senate and Commons in Ottawa, had lunch with Governor-General Massey, attended a civic reception here, and gave two press conferences.

Speaking both in French and English to the joint session of Parliament he warned that Russia would exploit any split in the united front of Western nations in their Middle East policy.

NOT AN END

The withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and the coastal area around the Gulf of Aqaba did not mean an end to the Middle East problem, though the pressure of the United Nations Emergency Force would avoid a return to the situation before the invasion. There was a real peace settlement must be concluded.

"Partial or provisional settlement in the Middle East will not always be the solution. Purples will not accept that we allow the situation to deteriorate as it did in the last eight years when, under the cover of an armistice, Egypt has perpetuated and a state of mask of warfare was finally created while the resolutions of the United Nations were constantly violated."

Mr. Mollet accused Egypt of trying "blackmail" over the closing of the Suez Canal after initiating it without military justification.

During the day Mr. Mollet also touched on France's problems in Algeria, Europe and Africa. In a common market among six European nations and the creation of institutional reforms to provide a more stable government in France.

KEY TO PROBLEM

He said the key to the Algerian problem was the stimulation of the economic and political rights for all inhabitants of Algeria.

Mr. Mollet said he found Canadian leaders apprehensive about the planned common market of link France, West Germany, Italy, Netherlands, Belgium-Luxembourg. Fears that it would divert trade sales is unfounded.

CARE AND SELF-HELP

Many of our readers are probably aware of the work done by CARE, the international relief agency which, since the early post-war days, has been helping to relieve hunger and privation among millions of people throughout the world. Not everybody, though, may know that CARE, which at first was concerned solely with sending food, clothing and other necessities to keep poverty-stricken people alive, has now branched out into a program designed to help these people help themselves. Certainly we were not aware of this fact until the receipt the other day of a letter from the national headquarters of CARE for Canada. The program, though, has been in operation for some time and already materials worth six million dollars have been shipped. This year, however, a much greater emphasis will be placed on this type of aid.

Funds contributed by Canadians will be used in three ways: for the purchase of such things as tools, sewing machines and books, for the purchase of items locally, ranging from pigs and fertilizer to medical equipment and drugs; and by combining standard packages and special purchases for village aid projects, helping entire communities.

CARE reports that a plow can be bought for $10, a shoemaker's kit for $35 and student school supply kits for $5.

Donors may select the country they wish to assist and those in which CARE will emphasize this self-help program include Bolivia, Colombia, Egypt, Greece, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Israel, Italy, Korea, Mexico, Pakistan, Panama and Vietnam.

A NEAT REPLY

We are filled with admiration for the editor of the Napanee Express, for his masterly handling of a letter written to him by a reader.

The letter said that when the proposed cut in its defence forces is made, Great Britain "she will still have 804,000 persons under arms; roughly one sixth of her population."

The writer then proceeded to compare Britain's defence forces with Canada, to Canada's disadvantage.

The Napanee editor ran the whole letter, then added one short paragraph at its conclusion.

The paragraph read:

"Editor's note: Mr. . . .'s calculations would appear to be erroneous in the fact that the population of Great Britain is approaching 52,000,000 and not 4,824,000 as his figures indicate."

That seems to us to be the neatest bit of refutation we have had the pleasure of reading in many years.

Naturally, the writer of the letter said that Canada has "not even a twelfth of our 16 millions under arms."

Thank heavens for that. A twelfth of our 16,000,000 population would be 1,333,333. In 1951, the last year for which population was about 14,000,000, there were only some 1,105,000 Canadian men between the ages of 20 and 39 inclusive. It is evident that if we had a twelfth of our present population under arms there would be only women, teen-agers and men on the wrong side of forty available to do the nation's work.

TOO CONSISTENT

Consistency, thou art a jewel which produces the best news stories.

Two sparkling examples of the hilarious results of thorough-going consistency appeared on the front page of Wednesday's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer.

In Nevada, they regard gambling as a permissible activity and Las Vegas and Reno have prospered as gambling meccas.

So, being consistent, the warden of the Nevada state prison has allowed inmates to gamble. What's more, with another inspired display of consistency, he has insisted on the prison's welfare fund getting a ten per cent rake-off on the take.

Over in Doncaster, England, there has been another prize example of an opposite attitude on morals, carried to the logical extreme.

Some people regard the human body as lewd. Indeed, most people share in this view to some extent. So few of us travel nude. In the case of the delegates for the women of the Doncaster Women's Standing Conference to be amusingly consistent and to post a watch on dress shops which strip their dummies in the windows, and then leaved the uncled dummies unclothed for days.

"We must consider the effects of these unclothed dummies on the minds of children," said Mrs. Dorothy Bird, secretary of the Doncaster Women's Standing Conference.

If some sort of exchange could be arranged between Nevada and Doncaster, a little leaven might leaven a whole lump of consistency.

COSTLY HONOR

A witty if rueful comment on the cost of honors was made by a former marquis of Northampton when he was made a knight of the garter. On being told by the garter king at arms that he would have to pay a fee of 400 pounds he said in his letter, enclosing a check for this amount, that at first he feared there had been some mistake and that he had been appointed in error to the order of the golden fleece. —Manchester Guardian.

SHROVE TUESDAY

Shrove Tuesday! As a youngster
I knew it as Pancake Day,
And never will the memory fade
Of those my mother always made.

I see her now, and always will,
Push in my empty plate to fill.
Knowing a hungry boy was I,
She'd put the syrup close by.

"Enjoy yourself!" she'd softly say.
"Remember this is Pancake Day!
Pray for forgiveness of your sins.
Tomorrow morning Lent begins."

In those lost times, when I was small,
We knew fast days and kept them all.
Each member knew, and made it clear,
When Lenten days were drawing near.

"This is the Tuesday known as Shrove.
Today I'll stand beside the stove
And feed you pancakes meal-time through.
The way my mother used to do.

"You'll like them, too, for they are meane
To mark the near approach of Lent.
Tomorrow morn, when Lent pegins,
We'll pray forgiveness for our sins."

Letters To The Editor

Against Royal Carpet Treatment for Tito

Editor, Ontario Intelligencer:

As a daily reader of your worthwhile paper, I would like the privilege of expressing through your recent editorial, "Diplomacy Can't Be Sanctimonious" in which you are dismayed at those in the United States who registered protest against the suggested visit to Washington by Yugoslavia's Marshall Tito. You consider the thousands in the U.S., both within and without the government, who had the courage at their convictions to stand upon principle and voice this protest, and those of us in Canada who applauded such action, to be exceptionally naive. You feel we think too much of Tito's being head of a Communist totalitarian regime and not enough about his opposition to the policies of the Kremlin.

On the latter part of that last sentence, Mr. Editor, we could have stood some enlightenment. It is quite definitely foreign to prove your point and change our views. Perhaps the control of foreign policy cannot be successful if people insist that relations at diplomatic levels be controlled only by governments of countries whose standards of morality do not meet American standards of morality. The opposition in this instance did not concern dealing with the man, which has been going on for years, greatly to the world's satisfaction, for what gain for the U.S. or the cause of world peace, it is difficult to see. The protest was against rolling out the royal carpet for his treatment. It was one thing to recognize and negotiate with a dictator, but quite another to be so honored in the history of the United States. It was a definite deterrent to the aspirations and hopes for freedom of those who now suffer under Communist tyranny. As to the years of dealing with his government, it must strike most thinking persons as a sorry record of double dealing. Tito, he has always worn a smiling countenance to the West when his hand was outstretched for the billions the States poured into his country

Approves Suggested Store Hour Revision

Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

I read with interest the suggestion in your correspondence column regarding a revision of store hours and entirely agree with your correspondent.

This, to many people, is an improvement in working conditions for the store employee which is long past due.

It would make the staff happy, would not the merchants less and the public would not suffer at all, for Monday is an extremely dull day on Front Street.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. I. Gray.

In aid, but take a good look back over the voting in the last few elections and show us when Tito has stood with us against his kind of system in our efforts to further world peace.

This man who has never allowed U.S. newspapermen to enter his country to see for themselves how the millions of men he has killed were being spent; who has been the oppressor of his own countrymen and the cruel foe of religion, the jailer of Cardinal Stepinac and hundreds of priests; the dictator who rushed to the assistance of the puppet Kadar regime in Hungary, 50,000 members of Budapest, according to press despatches, with 2,000 tanks, the courageous people of that nation made such a gallant attempt to break their bonds from Russia — this is the man you expect us to believe is much opposed to the policies of the Kremlin. Let us face the facts and stop deluding ourselves that Tito is democratic. You might as well ask us to believe that Chou En-lai, China's Red boss, is a friend worth cultivating because he took to the road through the sateliite countries of nations of Europe and Asia to sell them on Communism and satisfy and endorse the Soviet Terror in Hungary, when the first eruptions occurred there last October. Let ever we became that muddled, then truly we might be called "naive".

"BELLEVILLE READER."

Dead Stick Comes to Life

Sault, Mich. News

Now in the dead of winter, break the tip of a twig from a tree, bush or shrub. Take it indoors and place it in a vase or glass of water. Set it on a desk, or on a window shelf in the kitchen. Then forget about it.

After a week or so ignoring it will no longer be possible. For the dead stick will have changed. Dead stick will have fastened the wonderous life power it possesses within those little fists will have begun pushing its way out into the light. A few days more and the dead stick will be etched against the window where before there was only the dead branch.

Here is a small but potent miracle. Yet, outside nothing save taking a bit of trouble. More than a whole sheaf of seasons in the subject, these tiny leaves give assurance that winter, for all its grandeur and icy bluster, is on the wane.

Carry Delight In Our Brains

Ottawa Journal

Always the fear has been that in the hidden, inhibited mind hide dreadful apparitions—terror, the agony of insanity. Dr. Wilder Penfield, director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, has explored the working of the brain and has established that it is in the cortex which reflects the past, an awareness of the present and of the future, with sounds being heard and emotions and events re-experienced.

The "mirror" of memory has been set in train when the electrical cortex covering one of the brain's temporal lobes is stimulated by means of electrical current. One patient, receiving this treatment, heard an orchestra playing so vividly that she was sure an orchestra was in the room. Another, receiving treatment in Montreal, said he seemed to be with his cousins in South Africa, talking and laughing. Many patients heard music—a single voice, a piano, an organ or an orchestra.

It may be that some other part of the mind stores unpleasant memory but how infinite is the consolation of knowledge that we carry with us in the mechanism of the brain for the records of delights life has given us.

Worst of Mistakes

Hamilton Spectator

One of the worst mistakes a husband can make is to tell his wife she looks lovely in a dress that she just knows looks horrible because it doesn't bring out the color of her eyes.

Pretty Girls 'Salesmen'

Washington Star

The resourcefulness of American industry has been demonstrated in many ways over the years—but perhaps never as attractively as now. For it seems that virtually every product—from automobiles to electronic computers, from machine tools to catsup—is being "sold" these days by pretty girls, chic and clock models whose faces and figures are becoming as widely known than those of the movie stars of yesterday.

Hardly a new car rolls across the television screens any more without benefit of a glamorous driver explaining the no-torque, no-dip, upswept body of its engineering perfection—along with its high-styling. And petrochemicals aggravated with the invented largely for the purpose of providing employment of a certain number who is amazingly familiar with all the intricacies of the modern type vehicle's anatomy.

This is not, of course, by way of complaining. The Canadian Wall Street Journal estimates that the manufacturing industry paid out a billion dollars last year, in fees to fashion models who were modeling virtually everything but fashions. Ten years ago, the Journal recalls such money was going no such thing.

If there is really a trend here, perhaps it may be called "industrial glamorism". It is an idea that might be expanded successfully into "selling" other modern "isms" as well.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

When I entered the bank to pick up my friend the bank manager to go to lunch, his office door, to our side, was open.

On the floor lay a large card bearing some sign entered by the bank's business which had obviously been blown off the three-ring binder on the desk by the door.

I stepped around it, as others would probably have done, and paused, thinking I would pick it up.

"Pssst!" came a sharp hiss from the open door of the manager's room.

He was sitting grimly at his desk. He signalled me urgently to leave the sign and come in.

"Don't touch that!" he said. "I've been drafting it for an hour, watching to see who is going to pick that up."

"What is this?" I enquired. "Some new psychological test to see who has the most money to?"

"I've got twenty-two employees in this branch," declared the manager. "They can all see that sign. It's been lying there half an hour. A dozen of them have walked past it already. Six have gone out to lunch, right over it."

"Wouldn't you think," I asked "a customer would have picked it up?"

"A hundred have gone by, then around it, over it," said the manager.

"I nearly picked it up," I pointed out, modestly.

"Come, you're a friend of mine. You came in to see me, not on business."

I sat down.

"How long are we going to sit here watching that card?" I protested.

"Until it ten minutes more," said the manager, "then I'll go out and pick it up. Right in front of all of them."

"He didn't have to. A small boy, probably the girl who works away at the back on the ledgers, outside—I can't see—will send it back on the case.

"Hurray!" whispered the manager. "I will bet myself that she would be the only one in the whole outfit that would pick it up!"

"How much did you win?" I asked, as we put our hats on.

"She won," replied the manager. "I'm going to give her a raise."

Heavy Horses For Show Only

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

A few days ago the Clydesdale, Percheron and Belgian clubs met in Toronto's Royal York Hotel, and heard of those who came onto the scene too late, these are the names of the heavy breeds of horses. Once they were the power plants of Canadian industry. Not any more.

They say the Clydesdales are the heaviest horses to become a native Scotland. As far as actual serious farm work is concerned, the heavy horse has become a comparative rarities. There are still many of them to be seen at the fairs like the Royal or the CNE, and the vast horse parades of Toronto's Exhibition. But today many a farmer prefers to look at the horse's graceful strength.

It is all too bad, for there is still a real place for the heavy horse in the forest. Horsemen tell each other that; it is true, too, in the cities where the movement of heavy goods is still done by horses. Not well, then there is something the matter either with the sales effort for the product, if a product is good and useful, and something that people should have, then it can be sold!

There is great happiness to be had in selling. It draws upon the intelligence of the salesman. It challenges his ability to present

Personal Health Tablets

By DR. WM. BRADY

Carry Some Nitroglycerin Tablets

Doing my rolls this morning I recalled the occasions in the past year when I had a vague distress, discomfort, or you might call it a pain if you wanted to impress someone, just between the first and bread basket. That is in the general area of the heart. I persuaded another loafer to finish my game for me and I sat and looked on. A medical friend — well, he is retired, so he doesn't get much inside stuff about the AMA — palpated my radial artery, looked wise, and suggested nitroglycerin tablets. Another bowler offered me one of his tablets.

So I put one tablet under my tongue and waited five minutes. No throbbing in head, no flushing of face. So I put the second tablet under my tongue. In a minute I thought there was slight throbbing in my head — maybe I just imagined it. Anyway, there was no more distress or discomfort, and I resumed my game.

I put a similar act in the course of a game a few months later. This time I used a tablet of a mate gave me one of his tablets—an expensive proprietary preparation which purports to give the desirable effect of nitroglycerin, of course without its undesirable and unpleasant side effects. In the circumstances I couldn't laugh at my poor geek. I had to take the tablet he kindly offered.

Now I see several of my playmates, physician, banker, chemist, retired army officer, carry some nitroglycerin tablets at all times. I had to thank them and say maybe I should.

I have not yet adopted the suggestion, just because I've not had but just because I don't believe either the high blood pressure or the "I-can't-do-the-neck was anginal. Be that as it may, if I had any doubt about it, I'd carry a supply of nitroglycerin tablets and take one whenever I felt the slightest distress or fear of distress.

The gang of lawn bowlers involves no physical exertion and is therefore ideal for persons with angina, coronary, or any other heart or artery trouble, but every such persons should play only for fun and never for prizes or trophies. Such contests or tournaments add something which is harmful and dangerous to persons with heart-artery trouble, namely, tension.

Those who carries nitroglycerin tablets should learn how nitroglycerin acts by taking a tablet when they are not playing a game whenever he gets a fresh supply or from month to month to make certain his old tablets have not lost their potency by volatilization. Sit down or lie down and dissolve a tablet in the mouth. If you do not feel a throbbing in the head and flushing of the face and perhaps some dizziness within four minutes, you have a worthless tablet. If there is still no such effect throw away the tablets and get a fresh supply.

Nitroglycerin (the liquid which, makes dynamite), sounds so powerful that seven grains of it proved to benefit most from regular use of 3 days with benefit.

In the C V D book (about heart and artery troubles) I say nitroglycerin is a heart stimulant. It dilates the coronary arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle, which brings more blood, more oxygen, to the heart cells. Most anginal patients take a nitroglycerin tablet three or four times a day with benefit.

Doctors advise angina patients to take nitroglycerin freely to ward off an attack — especially when they are going to shovel snow, face into the wind, or exert themselves in any way when the weather is very cold.

THEY BELONG TOGETHER

We often hear the statement that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. Certainly the proof of religion is in the living. Good religion is bound eventually to produce good men—bad religion to produce bad men. And no matter how good a religion it is, if we may adhere to, it does neither him nor the world any real good if it because of the kind of heart through which the teachings of God must pass.

In a letter received recently from a friend were these words of how strange the teachings of Jesus. Yet they cannot be gainsaid. As I strive to follow them closely, the path is rewarding, bringing satisfaction and contentment of soul."

A confession of faith indeed!

but best of all, a confession of life. This man has a good religion but he has the comfort added to it. It must have him. He must put it to work amid the problems of life. And when he does this he confesses that he has found the right kind, bringing satisfaction and contentment of soul.

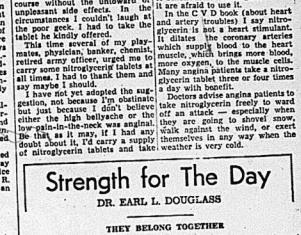
Many a man who is worth his salt, spiritually, believes his religion is the best one in the world. It is utterly without value if he fails to use it. Better an idol, a wooden god, that one can see than the best religion in the world professed by a man who fails to live it. Good men—and good religion belong together. The one without the other is a confession dissatisfaction-unsatisfaction, distress. Keep them together.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HAPPINESS IN SELLING

One of the really great arts today is that of selling. It is one of the most interesting of arts, too. You deal with human nature, with people's reactions, who react to ideas as each of us do. In selling the uppermost idea is to make your own case as to make a possible customer want to buy what you have to sell.



Irrelevances don't count. Selling is a serious business. Upon it depends the movement of trade and profitable progress. The success of government or a business overshadows all other departments. A product does not sell itself, then there is something the matter either with the sales effort for the product, if a product is good and useful, and something that people should have, then it can be sold!

There is great happiness to be had in selling. It draws upon the intelligence of the salesman. It challenges his ability to present his story so as to gain the trust and confidence of the prospective buyer. I have had a great interest in selling and I have always said that a sale can be made in the first five minutes if enthusiastically presented.

The secret of all selling must have the will and persistence of the salesman. His presentation must be sincere and enthusiastic, for if a salesman is not sold on his product he does not succeed in exthuse his prospective client. Hope is an art a boy can learn. A gift. Confidence, in time gives that happy thrill. Learn to say "just happen". It is created.

Captain Ivany Chief Speaker To Brotherhood

The March meeting of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Brotherhood was held Friday evening under the chairmanship of Wm. Hales. At the conclusion of dinner served by the Dorcas Association of the Church, a short business session was held.

The devotional period was under the direction of the Rev. Keith Daniel. A very interesting panel discussion on the subject "Should we give to panhandlers when they come to our door" was presented. The panelists were: Tom Stovell, Howard Hall and Keith Daniel with Wm. Hales as Moderator.

The speaker of the evening, Captain C. Ivany, the officer in charge of Salvation Army work in Belleville, was introduced by Earle Price. Captain Ivany stated that he would like to think of the Salvation Army as 'the Army of Sacrifice, that the privileges of today result from the sacrifices of others in the past, and the measure of prosperity that the Army enjoys today is based on sacrifices of early pioneers in the Army. While developing this idea, a number of interesting stories of early Army life in various countries were related by Captain Ivany. The Salvation Army is at work in 85 countries and preaches the Gospel in 80 languages. In over 17,000 corps or citadels.

The Salvation Army work includes Sunday Schools, Bands, Cubs, Church Services and Young Peoples work. They publish 129 periodicals, selling two million copies. The Army operates 382 shelters, 81 children's homes, 90 maternity homes, 13 farms for elderly men, 112 rescue homes, 50,000 bandsmen and 90,000 songsters sing the same tunes from the same book, but in various languages. Captain Ivany told some interesting stories of Army work in Belleville, and concluded with the thought that we should consider the use of our time in this wonderful age in which we live; that there is a need for a Christian witness everywhere and that Christ is the answer for every need. The speaker was thanked for his very interesting talk by Howard Hall.

Board on CPR Diesel Issue May Travel

OTTAWA (CP)—The royal commission on the CPR diesel issue appears to be in for a session of many weeks and many miles.

While opening sittings Monday were inconclusive on these points, indications are the commission will make what amounts to a transcontinental tour in addition to long hearings in Ottawa.

The commission—set up by the federal government at a government - sponsored temporary settlement of the Monday-CPR dispute in January—has set about trying to find a common basis of agreement between the railway and the 3,000 firemen who walked out in January.

The central issue before the commission is the one that precipitated the strike—the CPR's proposal to withdraw firemen from diesel locomotives in yard and freight service.

It appeared likely the commission would move out from the capital to take evidence—and at some points see train operations—at all or some of these centres.

The commission is due to report to the federal government Oct. 1.

At Monday's opening sitting counsel for the CPR Ian D. Sinclair of Montreal accused the union of "featherbedding" in trying to keep firemen in the cabs of yard and road freight diesels.

Union counsel David Lewis of Toronto called this charge "grossly unfair" and said the brotherhood's main concern is the safety and efficiency of train operation.

Millions of Negroes Watch Birth of New African State

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—Millions of Negroes in Central Africa are watching the emergence as a self-governing nation of the state of Ghana, formerly the British West African colony of Gold Coast.

Following it closely on the road to self-government is the big neighbor, Nigeria, which is Britain's biggest dependency in area.

Within the 500,000 square miles of British West African encompassing Nigeria, the Gold Coast and the much smaller territories of Gambia and Sierra Leone Britain is helping her colonies along the road to self-government.

The Gold Coast's independence came after 56 years of British control.

GROWING AUTONOMY

In the adjoining Federation of Nigeria, constitutional changes over the last 33 years have given Africans steadily increasing representation in their governing bodies and today they are in the majority, with only a handful of British members.

Each of Nigeria's three regions, or states, has a substantial measure of regional autonomy, but such matters as foreign policy, communications, currency, and police and customs come under the federal government in the capital of Lagos.

The British government is ready to grant full regional autoonmy to those states which desire it provided that delegates attending a Nigerian constitutional conference to be held in London in May agree on this course of action.

MAJOR SUPPLIER

Agricultural and mining development has made Nigeria one of Britain's most important suppliers in the sterling area. About one-third of Britain's requirements of oils and fats and many of her imports of cocoa and bananas come from Nigeria.

In East Africa, the three British territories of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda are facing the problem of how to develop a multiracial form of government and society which will satisfy African aspirations and retain the allegiance of Europeans. These territories have a population of about 19,000,000 Africans and comparatively few Europeans and Asians.

Economic and industrial expansion in East Africa, particularly in Kenya, has been rapid in the last 10 years. But local governments have constant difficulty finding the money for the development of communications, education and agriculture, while would provide the higher standard of living which Africans now expect.

Similar political problems confront the south central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, which came into being in 1953, and comprises the colony of Southern Rhodesia together with the protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland. The federation boasts the most rapidly expanding economy in Africa.

In between these territories of east and west Africa, the Belgian Congo, one of the world's biggest uranium producers, is enjoying an export boom which provides the dollars and sterling that make the Belgian franc one of the world's hardest currencies today.

GREATEST GAIN

OSHAWA (CP)—Leonard Woodcock, international vice-president of the United Auto Workers of America (CLC), says the greatest thing the union has won is not economic achievements but the dignity of the individual. He was speaking Saturday at celebrations in observance of the 20th anniversary of the founding of UAW's Local 222.

Women's Activities

WESLEY W.A.

The regular meeting of the Wesley W. A. was held at Mrs. E. Windovers in the form of a pot luck supper. There was a good attendance of ladies, their husband's and visitors.

The president, Mrs. Bulmer opened the meeting, and Mrs. Percival led in prayer.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. F. Denyes. Mrs. Burnette read the Scripture and Mrs. Denyes an interesting clipping from a scrapbook written 48 years ago. The story concerned a little five-year-old Sidney Town-ship girl who was lost for eight days but found alive.

The ladies are planning to have a fowl supper this fall. An "Apron Tea" will be held at Wesley Church on April 3rd.

Mrs. Bulmer thanked Mr. and Mrs. Windover for opening their spacious home for the supper. Mrs. Windover replied that their home was always open for church work. Mrs. Percival closed the meeting with prayer.

MOSSMAN - FAULKNER

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Redneresville parsonage on Saturday afternoon, March 2nd, when the Reverend W.E.G. Dovey united in marriage Marian Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Faulkner, of Carrying Place, and Frederick Earl, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mossman, of Belleville.

Their attendants were Miss Queenie Campbell, of Halloway, and Mr. Leslie Faulkner, brother of the bride.

A small reception was held afterwards at the home of the bride's parents.

LOVE — VIVIAN

Tall standards of white chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons adorned the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vivian, of Shannonville, Ontario, on Saturday, February 16, at 2.00 p.m. for the marriage of their daughter, Mary Isobel Vivian, to Francis James Love, of Madoc, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Francis Love. The Reverend J. E. Glover, uncle of the bridegroom, officiated.

Mrs. Philo Harris, aunt of the bridegroom, rendered the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. K. R. Vivian, the bride was lovely in her ballerina length bridal gown of white, chiffon taffeta designed on princess lines with ruffle-like flounce at back of skirt with accenting bow. The sabrina neckline of Alencon lace enhanced the moulded bodice with short sleeves. She wore long matching mitts and a double bandeau eyes. She wore long, matching style headdress crowned with iridescent sequins held her chapel-length circular veil of silk tulle illusion. She carried a white, beaded prayer book crested with white gardenias and streamers knotted with white hyacinth bells.

Miss Helen Vivian, of Shannonville, as maid of honor, was attired in a ballerina length gown of blue crystalette with matching headdress and mitts. She carried a tinted nosegay of baby 'mums and roses.

The ladies presiding at the reception, which was held at the bride's home, the bride's mother received wearing whisper beige peau de soie, with beaded trim, matching accessories and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, gowned in powder blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to Quebec City and the New England States, the bride chose an ombre tweed ensemble with accessories of beige and brown. The young couple will reside in Brighton.

Guests were present from Brampton, Toronto, Oshawa and Madoc.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the guest at several showers given in her honor.

VACUUMS AND WASHES

BERLIN (AP)—Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist party paper, said today the Soviet Union has developed a vacuum cleaner that also washes clothes. The report gave no openings and said the two-in-one machine was developed by an inventor in the Siberian town of Prokopievsk.

'Ceylon, Its People' Topic at Melrose W.I.

A goodly number of members attended the recent meeting of Melrose W.I. which was held in the Community Hall at Melrose with Mrs. A. English acting as hostess. Mrs. C. Weese presided and welcomed all including Mrs. T. Leslie, a life member who now resides near Belleville.

During the business period, a substantial donation was made to the Red Cross and it was decided that the W.I. make an entry in the "Salada Tea Contest" this year and a committee of three was appointed in charge of same. It was unanimously approved to send the president to the Officers' conference at Guelph early in May. Mention was made of the 60th anniversary of the Women's Institute this month which is to be observed as a district gathering shortly when the provincial president, Mrs. Haggerty of Napanee, will be guest speaker.

At this stage, Mrs. R. Badgley, leader for "International Day," took charge of the program and called on Mrs. Leslie, who read a sketch, of the "Origin of Mary Stewart Collect." This was followed by a reading by Mrs. J. English entitled, "An International Dish", which proved to be the popular "Casserole", which came in for so many amazing ways. Mrs. C. Bates Jr. read a humorous selection "The Twiggles and Us".

CEYLON

Mrs. Badgley presented the topic, "Ceylon and It's People" or "Our Eastern Neighbors."

With a map she pointed out the geographical location, and shape of the island often referred to as "Pearl of the East". She briefly described the climate, the population, their habits and attire, the roads and villages and the products of which rice is the largest agricultural crop and tea is the most successful crop and remains high on the export list.

The founder of Ceylon W. T., better known as "Lanka Mahila Samiti" in Ceylon, is Dr. Mary Rutnam, a native of Clinton, Ont. Over two centuries of British rule had only ended in 1948 when Ceylon took over her own government, but chose to keep her place in the British Commonwealth and became an independent Dominion.

On the whole, Ceylon is a pleasant land of perpetual summer and beautiful landscapes. If the people here can develop a full understanding of the absolute need to fight the evils of poverty, lack of food and ill-health, their future success as a nation should be assured.

Community singing, with Mrs. Leslie as pianist, was a good introduction to the social part of the program consisting of many surprises: A contest "Countries Attending A.C.W.W." was won by Mrs. English and Mrs. Weese. The "Stamp Contest" proved amusing to the participants as well as the on-lookers.

Prizes were given to several holding lucky numbers while Mrs. C. Hagerman won the door - prize and Mrs. D. McFarlane held the lucky - plate.

Mrs. C. Weese thanked the hostess and all those who helped with the program. The roll call "A Custom of Another Country" revealed many varied and interesting habits of neighbors in all parts of the world.

Refreshments were served.

White Cane Club Celebrates 7th Anniversary

Seven candles decorated the birthday cake for the White Cane Club party at the YMCA on Friday night as Mrs. Jean Smith, president of the Kinette Club, described the cake to the blind who joined in singing "Happy Birthday".

Mrs. Edith Burrows welcomed the guests and a roll call served to introduce the group to each other. The Women of the Moose had furnished a beautiful centre-piece of white snapdragons and red carnations which were sent to the shut-in members of the White Cane Club after the party.

A sing-song led by Bill Navan and Mrs. H. Rollins was greatly enjoyed; an oral bird contest won by Bill Navan, Ted Rowe and Clarence Morris. The lucky number given by Arthur Scott and the door prize drawn by Rev. R. W. T. Middleton, was won by Mrs. Doris Spafford of Kingston.

DANCE PROGRAM

Students of Dorothy Dickey's dance studio presented a program of dances, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jean Sine. Carolyn Chisholm and Karen Poste performed a duet with Karen providing a vocal solo; Rickey Lough gave a solo and dance and did imitations; Barbara Ann Mattis and Grace Sinclair danced as a duo team.

Mrs. W. Wells thanked these young performers for the entertainment.

Calypso music and imitations of well-known performers were by Bill Navan in a most unusual lively manner and were well received by the audience.

Greetings were brought to the club by representatives of various service clubs in the city: president Jean Smith spoke for the Kinette club; Vernon Flindall of the Y's Men's Club and YMCA explained that $35 was to be given to the White Cane Club towards the purchase of a table bowling game; Mrs. Flindall represented the Y's Menettes; Sr. Regent of the Moose, Nelle Scrymgeour, invited the White Cane members to a dinner on March 28.

Mr. T. Fluery, chairman of the Hastings County Board brought greetings; Mr. P. E. Timmins, field secretary, congratulated the club; Mr. A. Bourne of the Trenton board; Mr. F. Grandame of the Foremen's Club; Mrs. Fletcher of the Friendship Club in Kingston, and the Home Teacher, Miss M. Frosst, all spoke briefly.

Transportation to and from the party was arranged by the Lion's Club.

The speaker for the evening, the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton, was introduced by Mrs. G. G. Wright. Speaking on the subject of "Humour", Mr. Middleton explained that humor has been written about since the early ages. There had proved to be many kinds, some pleasant and some unpleasant. The speaker embellished his talk with instances of both.

An expression of thanks was tendered the speaker by Bill Navan.

The Kinette Club served its usual tasty refreshments and social visiting brought the evening to a close.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHAT A FINE TIME AT THE DANCE!

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm going to a dance this month and I'm not sure how to act. It's sort of a square dance and not formal. I'm taking a girl I like very much and I think she likes me, but my problem is what shall I talk about and how should I act?

I think this dance is very important to help us get to know each other, so would you please tell me how to win her?

— J.B.

Dear J.B.:

First let's discuss how you should act in taking this girl to the dance.

You will, of course, call for her at her home, having told her in advance just when to expect you and—unless you're both already—saying you would like to meet her parents when you come. You will also have your plans made about how you will take her to the dance and how you will bring her home. And when you see her parents for the first time, be thoughtful enough to ask them what time they wish you to have their daughter home.

Then, all through the evening you'll be equally thoughtful, watching out for your date's comfort and seeing that she has a good time.

As for what you'll talk about, start with things you two have in common, like the activities girls and boys enjoy at school and around town and, if you don't know them already, ask her to tell about some of her own special interests and hobbies.

Once you've got started, I'm sure you'll be surprised and delighted to find how easily conversation goes, and what a good time you'll both have.

Don't distract your mind worrying about "how to win her," either. If you follow my suggestions, the evening will be a success, I'm sure, and will give you a fine start toward a happy friendship.

JUST BE CASUAL ABOUT THIS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm very much interested in a boy who is not dependable. I don't mean he breaks dates, but in keeping his promises to call me on the phone. He'll say he'll call me at a certain time, but he never does. He and I have been going together for about a month and a half, and it has always been that way.

Is there anything I could do to make him realize that it makes not only me but others mad when he acts like this, and how can I let him know without his getting bitter toward me? — Les

Dear Les:

Do you mean that this boy is as undependable with other girls as he is with you, or do you mean other people, perhaps your family, are annoyed when he fails to call you as promised? If he is undependable with others, too, when I certainly don't think you should appoint yourself a committee of one to try and correct his bad habit. And if it's your problem alone, I would say to keep your family and friends out of it by not letting them know he has been unreliable in his behavior toward you.

In either case, my idea of your best plan would be to pretend you won't notice that he doesn't call, and don't sit around waiting in the hope that he will. Next time he says he's going to call you, just be very casual about it. Tell him that if you happen to be at home when he calls, you'll be glad to hear from him, but that you're not going to count on it because he has let you down so often, so if something interesting happens to come up that evening, he probably won't find you home. If he cares anything at all about you, that should do the trick.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

PROBLEMS CORRECTED

Oatmeal, known for generations as one of the best of facial cleansers, is now used as the base for a medicated soap.

Teen-agers, you're in a unique position. At the threshold of the adult beauty-and-grooming world, you're willing to heed anything that sounds like good advice; but it's hard to separate the wheat because your experience is limited. This is especially true in the matter of cleansing. You've read and heard a great deal on how to apply make-up and lipstick, but it's the advice on removing it that's so important. Which is why, from time to time, we stress the importance of soap and water in your complexion care.

There's nothing that really gets into the skin to remove oil and grime like soap and water. And, once you begin to use make-up, there's the added necessity of removing powder, rouge and lipstick—all of which can be thoroughly routed out of your pores with the aid of plenty of soapy lather and a good complexion brush. And routed out it must be or you're likely to develop blemishes or other "trouble spots."

We don't have to tell you how unwelcome are those complexion blemishes which mar your looks —and your morale. Girls—and boys, too — should start early to prevent teen-age skin trouble and correct any that does develop. For this reason cosmeticians have gone out of their way in recent years to tackle the problems and they've made such vast strides that today there are many products designed to help the teen-ager combat it. One famous house has recently introduced two sets of medicated skin care preparations which are the result of painstaking laboratory research and contain the most modern and effective ingredients to promote skin cleanliness. One, a medicated "scrub set", is especially designed for teen-agers and the other, a pore-refining set, is good for troubled skins of any age.

The "scrub set" contains a "scrub soap", an oatmeal based cleanser for deep and thorough cleansing, with ingredients that suppress skin bacteria and help clear blemishes. There's also a refining lotion — a medicated "tightener" that clears away oily deposits and helps reduce the tendency to pore enlargement. And, finally, a "blemish cream" which

SPRINGBROOK WI.

The February meeting of Springbrook W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Clarence McKeown, Bonariaw.

The vice-president, Mrs. Harold Stiles, presided and mentioned recent observances of the 60th anniversary on television, and coming celebrations in May at O.A.C. Guelph, and at the national convention in October at Ottawa.

Mrs. George Mumby read an account of the commemoration at Stoney Creek, the birthplace of W.I.

Twenty-one members answered the roll with helpful hints for a farmer's wife.

A quilt was displayed, which is to be delivered to the Shorti family by Mrs. W. J. Barlow.

It was decided to buy a handmade leather bag from a sanatorium patient. Plans for resale of the purse are to be completed for next month.

Cards of thanks were read from Mrs. W. Hewitt for cards and baby spoon, and Mrs. Clayton Burkitt for sympathy cards.

Mrs. David Burkitt convened the program on agriculture.

Mrs. W. J. Barlow gave the motto, "Life without friends is like a garden without flowers."

Mrs. Arthur Burkitt read a poem, "Plant a Home."

The topic on farm management and sharing the income was given by Mrs. F. Cosbey. Mrs. G. Burkitt entertained with a monologue, "Giving a Permanent Wave."

A farm contest was conducted by Mrs. Fred McKeown.

Mrs. Stiles thanked the hostess for her hospitality, and all members who contributed to the program.

A social half hour was enjoyed by all at the close of the meeting.

The pore refining set, which is as helpful to adults as to teen-agers, includes a corrective cleanser, a refining masque to help remove excess oil and stimulate circulation and another lotion to "tighten" pores. All are importantly medicated to counteract bacteria.

More entertaining and less extravagance is my cry.

Once in a lifetime a wonderful thing may happen to you too, as it did to me. Kindred spirits moved in to the house 4 doors up the street from me. They belong to a rare species, who, when you knock, open the door, pull you in with both arms, say "Stay, and share dinner with us!"

I do stay too. Supposing they do have to stretch 8 sausages to serve three? The conversation is so captivating you do not notice 1 paltry sausage more or less. That is why I keep hammering away at you. Don't hesitate to invite guests that you want to entertain. Invite them, then serve something that costs little, but has character, and keep the conversation sparkling.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH

Buy 3 lbs. nice clear, lean beef chuck and cut it into cubes of about 1 1/2 inches. Dry out the skin and fat trimmings in a big heavy frying pan or Dutch oven. Brown the beef cubes in it on all sides lightly but thoroughly. Add 6 cups water, 3 beef or chicken bouillon cubes, 2 garlic cloves, 1/4 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon cayenne pepper. Simmer 2 1/2 hours. Add 8 medium potatoes pared and cut into 3/4 - inch dice and simmer 40 minutes longer. Now stir together 3 tablespoons each melted butter and flour and 2 tablespoons paprika and when smooth add about 2 cups of the broth from the stew, mix well, return all to pot stirring until thick. Simmer now until gravy is consistency of thick cream. To further heighten the barbarically red color add 8 oz. canned tomato puree or paste and heat through.

Serve this in the centre of a large hot platter at each end of which is a high pile of buttery steaming hot noodles.

To boil a 6-oz. package of noodles, to 12 cups water add 1 tablespoon salt and bring to rapid boil. Add noodles slowly. Boiling should not subside. Cook, uncovered, at fast boil, stirring occasionally with long fork to prevent sticking. They require about 12 minutes. Test by cutting with fork against side of kettle. Drain in colander. Return to pot, rinse over warm burner, add butter, and stir it gently through. Now for very special occasions poppy seeds or shredded almonds are an addition to boiled noodles that will delight your gourmet friends.

CUT OFF ONLY ONE MOUTHFUL OF MEAT AT A TIME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Isn't it correct to cut a whole slice of meat into mouthfuls before beginning to eat it?

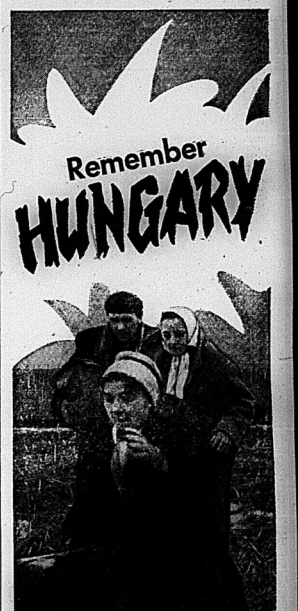
No, this isn't correct . . . If you are beyond nursery-days. The idea is that you're now a big girl (or boy), and you should cut off one mouthful of meat (or other food) and eat this piece before you cut off the next piece.



TEENTOALERS PLAN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY TEA-PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are teetotalers, and at the small informal dinners we give, our friends are very kind in their understanding and just don't expect us to serve alcoholic drinks. Now, for the first time, we'd like to give an Open House, to celebrate our Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary, inviting all our relatives and friends. Would it be all right if we should call it "Henry's Tea," but serve only what is customarily served at a Tea? I'd be so grateful for suggestions. — A.G.I.

Yes . . . definitely yes! Polish up your imagination and plan to serve a particularly festive and delectable tea-menu. Serve coffee, hot and delicious, as well as perfectly-made tea; and, for the drinking of the toasts, an especially good fruit punch (look up bright suggestions about this in a good cookbook) and/or a choice of popular soft drinks. Make or order interesting and good-looking small party sandwiches, made of various kinds of breads. Serve festive-looking and really delicious little cakes and cookies . . . and joyously feature as handsome a Wedding Anniversary cake as you can afford, and with the memorable ceremony of "The Bride Cuts the Cake!" (with your husband's right hand over your right hand as you both cut the first slice). Have some "nibblers" too: mints especially decorated for this special occasion (perhaps with the dates 1932-1957); nuts, all small party sandwiches, made of various kinds of breads, delightful toasted potato chips, popcorn, and so forth.

18 Scientists at South Pole Have Ringside Seats for Look At Rainbow-Hued Sun Halos

By DON GUY ASSOCIATED PRESS STAFF WRITER

Eighteen scientists at the South Pole have ringside seats for one of nature's most breath-taking exhibitions.

They're witnessing what is probably the most dazzling display of rainbow-hued sun halos in the world.

Halos or rings are caused by sunlight striking ice crystals in the air. The crystals reflect and bend sunlight in patterns like jewels. Numerous false suns and halos are formed when the sunlight is thrown back from their geometric faces.

Rainbow colors from red to violet result when the crystals break up white sunlight into varying wave lengths.

This writer witnessed halos on two flights over the Pole with Dr. Paul Siple. The Washington, D.C., scientist now is at the Pole station in charge of the United States research program for the International Geophysical Year, a united effort of nearly 50 nations to probe the physical secrets of the world.

In a two-way radio conversation with this writer Dr. Siple described halos that "seemed to fill the whole sky with sparkling jewels that made all the trouble of getting to the Pole seem worthwhile."

A recent display had two brilliant rings around the sun, many half rainbows, false suns and a false sunset and even a great white cross.

The phenomenon was caused by the varying patterns of sunlight cast back from the crystals. Some crystals build up into tiny arrows, shooting downwards, other form. Cause by condensation of moisture, the hard crystals probably account for most of the precipitation on the vast Antarctic plateau.

In the polar midsummer late in December and early January the sun is just below its maximum 23 degree elevation. This means that the inner halo which forms at 22 degrees from the sun appears to rest on the horizon. A spectacular false sunset reflects from the limitless white plateau.

The inner halo is usually brighter, Dr. Siple says. He describes it as a great rainbow band red inside and violet outside. A white band called the parhelic circle runs through the sun parallel to the horizon and clear around the sky.

FALSE SUNS

This is caused by direct reflection from flat crystal faces. There is no prism effect to break up the sunlight into colors of the spectrum. Where this band cuts across the inner halo false suns popularly called "sun dogs" appear in rainbow hues.

The next halo forms at approximately 46 degrees from the real sun. It is usually wider but less bright, Dr. Siple reports. Reaching across the top section of the inner halo are almost to the other halo are double rainbow arcs curving downwards. Beyond the outer halo a third halo forms tangent to its top and centred around the zenith or point directly overhead.

Dr. Siple observed that the white band running around the horizon was intersected by a great white cross at the point in the sky directly opposite the sun.

Anticipating the brilliance of the polar halos, Dr. Siple brought with him two glass globes with mirror surfaces. He hopes to be able to photograph a globe reflecting virtually the entire solar display. So far however he has been too busy helping establish a camp where the scientists can weather the six-month-long Antarctic night. Dr. Siple expects temperatures to drop to 120 below zero.

CRYSTAL PRISON

Soon the men will be cut off from all outside civilization, imprisoned by the very jewels that fall from the sky. As the ever-circling sun slides toward the horizon temperatures fall and the crystals get harder and sharper. They create so much friction on the polar surface that ski planes cannot taxi fast enough to take off in the thin air of the high plateau.

Planes cannot land again until the jewels of the sky have lost their diamond sharpness under the rays of the reborn sun next November.

Eamon de Valera Stands Good Chance to Win Election

DUBLIN (CP)—For more than 30 years the arch antagonists of Irish politics—Eamon de Valera and John A. Costello—have been following each other in and out of offices with monotonous regularity.

If the pattern is continued—and it would be a brave gambler, indeed, who gave odds against it—the result of Tuesday's general election will confirm that it is "Dev's" turn to form a government.

The one certainty, if anything can be called certain in an Irish election, is that de Valera's Fianna Fail will again be the largest single party in the Dail when Parliament reassembles March 20.

But it is by no means as certain that the electors will give him an over-all majority, which would forestall Prime Minister Costello from attempting formation of another coalition government as he did in 1948 and 1954.

A week ago it was hard to distinguish between the two party headquarters. Now, however, a visitor to Fianna Fail can catch a hint of confidence that was missing before, while at Fine Gael there is an undercurrent of anxiety and strain.

Oddly enough this subtle change has taken place without any heightening of campaign tension and with both major parties diligently sidestepping controversial problems. Irish newspapers are rebelling at the "polite" election.

The parties appear to have declared a virtual truce on the question of a European free trade market, which could vitally affect Ireland. In fact, the lack of discussion on such an immediate and vital question is a significant feature of the election.

POLITICAL STUPOR

The "me too" chorus by opposing candidates on policies for dealing with serious domestic problems underlines the state of political stupor that has developed in the young republic since the civil war.

For the main difficulties confronting successive Irish governments spring from the fact that party alignments are based on who fought whom in 1922, not on fundamental political and economic theories and beliefs.

Each party is a hodge-podge of conservative and socialists, free-trader and protectionist. Once in office, attempts at cohesive action founder under the pull and tug of conflicting beliefs. The result: A succession of governments each filling less than three years of their allotted five-year plan.

Sweden, Russia Clash Today For World Title

MOSCOW (CP) — Sweden and Russia clash today for the world's amateur hockey crown.

Both the Swedes and the world champion Russians overpowered their opponents Monday to enter the final round. The first-place Swedish team leads the Russians by one point.

Sweden can capture the world title today for the first time since 1953 by either a win or a tie. The Russians, held to a draw by Czechoslovakia Saturday, must score a victory to retain their title.

The European hockey championship also will be decided by this game.

SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN

In winning their sixth-straight game, the yellow - sweatered Swedes dumped Finland 8-3. Russia rolled up a 12-0 victory over East Germany. In Monday's other match, Czechoslovakia swamped Japan 25-1.

The Russians and the Germans played on the outdoor Dynamo rink. The other two games were indoors in the Sports Palace.

Today's playoff will be played in the giant outdoor Lenin Stadium.

The Soviet team has come through the tournament without any major injuries or illness. But the Swedes have not been so fortunate.

Several members of the team have complained of stomach upsets and Tord Flodqvist, the regular Swedish goalie, is in bed with influenza.

Coach Per Bergstrom said he hopes Flodqvist will be able to play today.

The Finns scored once in each period against Sweden in their game before 4,000 persons. But the Finns, now in fourth place with a 3-3 record, could not counter the relentless Swedish offensive led by Ronald Pettersson and Nils Nilsson.

SOVIETS WIN EASILY

The Russians were hardly expected in their match against the East Germans. The Soviet team put up a stout defence while maintaining an overpowering attack. Russian play was notable for its heavy backchecking, also a strong point of the Swedish team.

In other final games today, Austria, which has one tie and five losses, meets East Germany. Austria is tied with witless Japan for last place. East Germany, with two wins and five defeats, is tied for fifth position with Poland. Japan meets favored Czechoslovakia and Czechoslovakia, in third place with four wins, one loss and a tie, plays Poland.

Sweden won the world title for the only time in 1953. As this year there was no Canadian team entered in 1953.

Quebec Hockey

MONTREAL (CP)—Nine games remain in the regular Quebec Hockey League schedule and Orval Tessier of Quebec Aces holds a slim two-point lead over teammate Marcel Bonin in the race for individual scoring honors.

Tessier fired a single goal in last week's play, running his total to 66 points—28 goals and 38 assists. Bonin notched a goal and an assist for 64 points. He boasts 16 goals and 48 assists.

Tagging along in third is Shawinigan's Dick Wray with 57 points, now five points ahead of his nearest rival.

Sweeney, Shack Top Juniors With 104 Points

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Sweeney and Ed Shack, linemates with Guelph Biltmores, wound up the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season right where they started it—on top of the scoring race.

The only competition was between them. Sweeney, a centre, collected 49 goals and 57 assists in 52 games for a total of 106 points. Shack, his winger, was right behind with 47 goals and 57 assists in the same number of games for 104 points.

The third-place finisher was far back with 88 points, but he was the glamor boy of the race. Frank Mahovlich of Toronto St. Michael's was the leading goal-getter of the league—an impressive 52 in 49 games and he is generally regarded as the best junior bet for National Hockey League stardom.

FIVE IN TOP 10

In all, the Biltmores placed five men in the top 10 scorers, ample reason for their position as league leaders.

The Toronto Marlboros, twice Memorial Cup champions, were only four points behind Guelph in the standings but placed only one man—Bob Nevin, tied for fourth in the first 10.

Nevin's boy got goal-tending from Len Broderick who finished the season with a 2.43 goals-against average and eight shutouts, both marks the best in the league. Bruce Gamble of Guelph was second with a 2.58 average and six shutouts.

Gil Turner Wins Another

NEW YORK (CP)—Veteran Gil Turner of Philadelphia, slow to start but a punching terror at the end, knocked out young Rudy Gwin of Cleveland in 8:18 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10 at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

Turner weighed 150¼, Gwin 149¾.

In a preliminary, Ray McNeil, 127, Toronto, battled Primo Arellano, 125¾, Brooklyn to a four-round draw.

Gwin, 25, a former sailor who came up through the Golden Gloves ranks, had speed but couldn't punch. His fast footwork couldn't keep him out of the way of Turner's punches once Gil went to work.

Fielder Tops Western League

SEATTLE (AP)—Gayle Fielder picked up seven points in Seattle Americans' last three games to make him player of the week in the Western Hockey League and boost his season point total to 104.

Second is Phil Maloney of Vancouver with 80.

Fielder's 104 points are just six short of the all-time WHL record set in 1954-55 by Bronco Horvath, now in the American Hockey League with Rochester Americans.

INVITATION TO DODGERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sixman delegation of city and county officials starts out for Florida today to invite Brooklyn Dodgers to move to Los Angeles.

The invitation is the city's formal response to the acquisition by the Dodgers two weeks ago of the Los Angeles baseball club, a member of the Pacific Coast League. Dodgers now are at spring training camp in Florida.

Mayor Norris Poulson and county supervisor Kenneth Hahn head the delegation, which hopes to learn from Dodger president Walter O'Malley just what he had in mind by buying the Angels.

"If O'Malley is sincere in wanting to come to Los Angeles, we'll provide him with the stadium and the facilities," said Hahn.

The Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey league representatives may not tote the Allan Cup to their home hunting grounds nor the all-Ontario senior "A" title, but they can't take away a points record, nor deprive them of a half-share in another.

The Belleville McFarlands Minnie Menard has pushed Mickey Roth of the Stratford Indians over to one side and is perched alongside him for the senior "A" goal-scoring record. Mickey established his goal-getting mark two years ago when he set the senior "A" points record of 111 comprised of 50 goals, 61 assists. Minnie missed the new record by a couple of whiskers the other night but did sling home his fiftieth of the season to take a half-share with Roth.

However the new assists record goes to one of these Eastern Ontario "upstarts," one Bobby Attersley of the Whitby Dunlops, who compiled seventy helpers to set the new mark. The former record of 63 was set by Tommy Burlington of the Owen Sound Mercurys.

However Attersley slumped in the final drive, although he set a fine record for future Eastern Ontario players to shoot at. Bobby's total was 105, consisting of 70 assists and 35 goals, just six short of the standing record held by Roth. Bobby just missed equalling the all Ontario senior "B" record he set last season of 57 goals and 51 assists for a total of 108.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association top scorer for the season just finished was Laurie Petersen of the Sault Ste. Marie Indians who scored 36 goals and had 46 assists for a total of 82 points. The top goalie-in that loop was Johnny Albani with a goals against average of 2.73.

Mickey Roth of Stratford shared the western Ontario senior "A" league points-getters although he was well below his record. He was good for 81 points made up of 33 goals and 48 assists, sharing the honors with Mickey who was Chatham's Keddie Power with 81 consisting of 24 goals and 57 assists. Top goalie was Windsor's Don Head with a goals against average of 2.86 in 51 games played.

In the final scoring statistics released today the Dunlops placed four players in the top ten, Pembroke had three, Belleville two and Kingston one.

Whitby's Bobby Attersley won the league points-getting title with 35 goals and 70 assists, breaking the all-Ontario assist record in senior "A" circles. The McFarlands Minnie Menard copped the goal-scoring crown by potting a new half-hundred to equal the all-Ontario record set by Mickey Roth of the Stratford Indians two years ago.

While Attersley copped the senior "A" assists mark, he did not equal his all-Ontario senior "B" points record established last season with 108, consisting of 57 goals and 51 assists.

Minnie finished third in the final league standing with his half-hundred goals and 58 helpers for 78 points, five behind Whitby's Bus Gagnon with a 35-48-73 record. George Samolenko staged a last-game two-point splurge to nose out the McFarland's Jean-Paul Parrota for fourth place with a 37-39-76 mark while Paul finished with a 22-52-74 record.

Gordie Myles of Whitby finished second to Menard in goals scored with 39 winding up in sixth place with 25 assists for a total of 64 points. Don Bellringer, the lone Kingston top-tenner, had 25 goals and 39 assists for 64 points for seventh. Three Pembroke Lumber Kings made up the eighth, ninth and tenth positions with Bruce Giesebrecht, Jim Maxwell and Ken Campbell finishing with 28-35-63; 31-28-59 and 19-39-58 records consecutively.

Long John Henderson tops the league goalies by virtue of participating in only 16 games. His goals against record was 2.37. Gerry Devaney of Cornwall, if you want to give the league veterans the nod, actually qualified for top honors with a goals against average of 3.66 in 50 games played. Gordie Bell of the McFarlands played 41 games for an average of 3.75.

Don't look now, but the McFarlands Bep Guidolin was "Mr. Bad" of the league having been incarcerated in the hoosegow for 156 minutes.

The Eastern League outscored their western brethren hitting the hemp 1149 times as compared to 1053 for the western part of the province. Deducting the 75 goals scored by the 20-game Ottawa Canadiens, the eastern snipers rattled home 1074 pucks.

The Whitby Dunlops, high-scoring squad of the Eastern League, fired home 291 pucks, an average of 5.6 per game over the 55-game period, while the Kitchener Dutchmen of the Western League who topped that circuit, scored 246 times just under five per game over a 52-game schedule.

Strangely enough, three of the Eastern League teams finished with more games lost than won records. These were Belleville with 23-25; Kingston with 20-27 and Pembroke with 17-31. Whitby won 34, lost 16, and Cornwall won 23, lost 22. And Mambo, the copy boy, opines that had the McFarlands played all ties over the 52-game stint they would have wound up with three more points in the right-side column.

Saskatchewan's Campbell Rink Sets Classic's Highest Score; Tied at Top With Alberta, B.C.

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP)—There's nothing half-way about the curling Campbell brothers from Avonlea, Sask. They either overwhelm their opponents or come up with the clutch shot for a narrow-margin victory.

The quartet won both ways Monday as the five-day Canadian curling championships got off to a somewhat startling start. At the end of the first two rounds Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia were in a three-way first-place tie with two victories apiece.

But the day really belonged to the Campbells. They got past the usually-easy-to-beat Prince Edward Island rink from Charlottetown by one of the narrowest margins possible, 8-7, and needed a last-end come-back to do it. Then, with everything going their way, they plastered New Brunswick 20-3 for the all-time high score in the classic.

AS FAVORITES

The victories established the Campbells as favorites to defend their second title in three years in the 10-game round-robin competition. They won in 1954 with 10 straight victories and some experts are calling them the best rink in the record.

Another two rounds were on tap for today at 9:30 a.m. EST and at 2:30 p.m. Saskatchewan received a bye in the morning round and meets Ontario, with a 1-1 record, in the afternoon.

Action Monday was fast from the start. Newfoundland, last-place finishers in the province entered the championships in 1951, pulled a first-round upset by defeating Ontario 12-9. Nova Scotia added another upset by knocking off Northern Ontario 9-8 after the winning rock on the final end.

The Campbells yielded singles in each of the first three ends to Prince Edward Island in the first round and had to fight an uphill battle all the way to get the decision. It appeared for a time that another upset was in the making but the westerners pulled themselves together late in the game to score five in the last five ends and take it on the winning final end.

They went to work early on New Brunswick in the second round and rolled up a 19-1 lead after six ends with a big six in the fifth. Skip Ken Everett of the Saint John rink had fought back with his last rock sailed through the house both in the fourth end, when Saskatchewan was sitting four, and again in the fifth.

BEAT 1934 MARK

Their score beat the record 20-2 count scored by Gordon Campbell of Hamilton over Nova Scotia in 1934.

Alberta, with skip Matt Baldwin from Edmonton looking for his second title in four years, got past Quebec 11-8 in the opening round and Newfoundland 16-6 in the second. The Edmonton rink was never behind in either game. Bill Isaac was put off game in the extra end when a rail-side spectator said something as he was about to throw with Ontario sitting two in the house. Isaac missed his shot and skip Ken Weldon saved the game with a last-shot throw that nudged a Quebec rock onto the four-foot circle.

Ontario bounced back from its Newfoundland loss to wallop Prince Edward Island 12-5 in the second round. Nova Scotia broke an 8-8 deadlock with Northern Ontario with a single in the 12th to win its first-round match 9-8.

Juniors Draft Minor Players

TORONTO (CP)—Members of the Junior A council of the Ontario Hockey Association held their annual junior draft meeting day and all but three of the players drafted came from the juvenile or midget clubs. The draft was limited to three players per club.

Peterborough Petes, who finished last in the league standings had the first choice and picked Wayne Bodey of the Owen Sound Junior B team. Runner-up Owen Sound Junior B man, Brad Graham, was Hamilton's third choice.

The third draft choice outside OHA midgets and juveniles was Alf Morrison, picked by Toronto Marlboros. Morrison, an Ojibway Indian, scored 8 goals during the season for the Garnier College team of Sparkler in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

MIGHT WASTE CHOICES

St. Michael's College of Toronto agreed before the draft to waive their fourth spot and let Toronto Marlboros choose for them. St. Mike's felt they might be wasting their draft choices if the players chosen were taken ineligible or inadmissable to the college, a requisite for St. Mike's players.

The final draft list, in order of choosing:

Peterborough Petes — Wayne Bodey, Owen Sound Junior B; Marcloy Playcraft, Kirkland Lake Legion juveniles; third choice passed.

Barrie Flyers—Marvin Rutledge Gravenhurst juveniles; Kenneth Wilcox, Midland juveniles; David Butters, Collingwood midgets.

Hamilton Tiger Cubs — Murray Jordan, Copper Cliff midgets; Donald Lillow, Huntsville midgets; Brad Graham, Owen Sound Junior B.

St. Catharines Teepees — Carey McGuire, Kirkland Lake Legion juveniles; Darryw Wennechuk, Sault Ste. Marie Sportsmen juveniles; Gilles Pilote, Fort Erie midgets.

Hartack Wins 62nd Victory At Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla. (CP)—The pounding hooves of Jabneh carried Willie Hartack to a new victory in his sensational driving Monday, winning the $106,350 Hialeah Turf Handicap on the last day of the Hialeah meeting.

It was Hartack's 62nd win in the 49-day meet. Jabneh came in 2½ lengths ahead of Oligarchy. Blue Choir, a slight favorite at 9 to 2, ran a dead heat for third with Roman Battle before 21,681 fans.

In the richest grass race of the winter, Jabneh carried 118 pounds and did the 1½ miles in 2:31 1-5, winning $78,450 for Mrs. E. E. Bankhead of Wilmington, Del., the owner.

Hedley Woodhouse, former Vancouver jockey and now Oligarchy, said if the track had been a little firmer that race a little longer he might have won it."

WINS BY A NOSE

Nero's Maid nipped Mambo Man by a nose in Monday's feature at Sunshine Park as rain held the crowd to the lowest so far this season, 2,167. The $142,896 bet was a low for the meeting.

Nero's Maid responded to jockey Harrell Bolin's urging at the finish, and was timed in 1:51 on the muddy track. Mambo was third, six lengths back.

Lord Chumley proved best in a roughly contested battle at Bowie, winning the $4,000 Rockville Purse Monday in 1:12 Fire. Astracorn was a half-length back in third position.

Lord Chumley was timed in 1:12 3-5.

Alouettes May Play Dutchies

MONTREAL (CP) — President Leo Dandurand of Montreal Alouettes announced today that discussions are underway for an exhibition football game with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The game would be played on the home park of Alouettes, Big Four league champions, some time in July. Date and other details are to be worked out.

Dandurand has been carrying on the discussions with B.F (Spike) Keane, immediate past president of the Dutchmen.

Dandurand said he hopes an arrangement can be made whereby both the ORFU and the Richelieu-Metropolitan share in the gate receipts.

The move for the exhibition game follows the closing sessions last Saturday of the annual meeting of the Canadian Football Union.

The meeting decided that future ORFU challenges for the Grey Cup must be ruled on by the CFU executive by majority vote. As a result, the Mud Bowl and Western Interprovincial Football Union, who control the necessary majority of six votes, will be able to say, if and when the weaker ORFU has improved its playing strength to the point where its champion can challenge for the cup.

There was a feeling at the meeting that post-season and post-season games with ORFU teams would serve as yardstick in determining that league's strength.

Bell Clangs Congress Critics Grid Contracts Sports' Best

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell has fired back at congressional critics of professional football, declaring National Football League players have the best contract in sports history.

"We lend our players to a one-year contract with a one-year option to renew and not for life as they do in some sports," Bell said Monday. "Our players are in a great bargaining position. We have to pay at least 33 per cent of the drafted college players a bonus to sign."

The NFL commissioner at a press conference answered the letter of Rep. William E. Miller (R-N.Y.) which listed six alleged evils of pro football and called upon NFL owners to "do for themselves what I am sure they . . . do not want the government to do for them."

Miller criticized the player draft and reserve clause which binds a player to a team, charged the owners with boycotting players, suggested a guaranteed annual salary and an injury protection clause, urged recognition of the Players's Association, defended the rights of players to training camp expenses and exhibition pay and urged league expansion.

Bell said the player draft, option clause and selection system the rich clubs worked out after a no-holds-barred would go out of business."

Under the NFL reserve clause a player signs for one year with a one-year option. He may not sell his relations with the club by giving notice he is playing out his option when it is picked up. Bell contended he never knew any player being boycotted for playing out an option.

He said the draft has "equalized our teams to such an extent that if a team has won only one or two games, the fans know that on a given day it still may beat any team in the league. This equalization has made for great competition and lucrative radio and television deals, and as a result player salaries have gone up three times what they were in 1950."

As for the Player's Association, the commissioner said:

"We are not against the association as long as it does not curtail the disciplinary methods of our coaches and the disciplinary rights of the owners, and recognizes that the commissioner has the right to settle all disputes."

On league expansion, Bell said, "I am definitely in favor of it when there is enough available player material."

Bell said players were protected financially against injury, contended that training camp expenses are paid, and that any player who wants to receive salary for exhibition games can negotiate it with his individual owner.

NHL Players Beginning to Sprout Halos

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League players appear to be better-behaved this season.

The league reported Monday that with the exception of Boston Bruins, all teams show a decrease in penalty-box time. Aggregate decrease for all clubs was 682 minutes.

The compilation was made on games up to Feb. 26 compared with the same stretch last season. The Bruins had increased their penalty time by only four minutes.

Heaviest decrease was shown by Toronto Maple Leafs, who had been charged with 695 minutes this season compared with 958 on the same date a year ago.

The Bruins, most penalized this season, had served 842 minutes up to Feb. 26. Last season's comparable figure was 838 minutes.

Dodgers Camp Develops Tizzy Don Newcombe Injures Arm

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The entire Brooklyn Dodgers camp at Vero Beach, Fla., was holding its collective breath today wondering just how badly ace pitcher Don Newcombe has injured his arm.

The towering 27-game winner twisted his elbow making a hurried throw to second base during pitchoff practice Monday and 10 minutes later abruptly left the mound because, he said, the arm was bothering him.

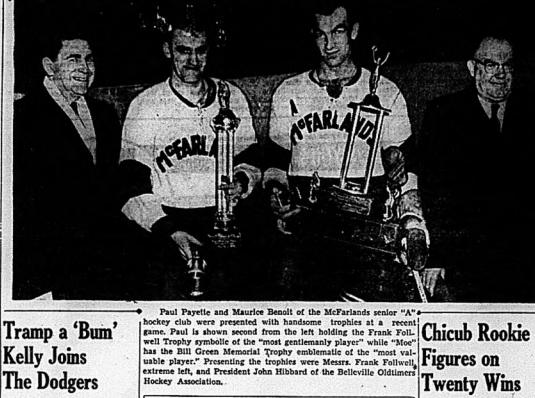
"He will have to rest and take heat treatments," said Harold (Doc) Wendler, Brooklyn trainer. "There's no way of telling how long he will be out. We'll have to wait and see how much it tightens up. It could mean trouble, though."

Newcombe, named the most valuable player of the National League last year, said he wasn't worried.

"I felt a twinge and quit," he commented. "Certainly it's nothing like it was last September."

He was referring to an injury to his arm at the end of the 1956 season. He subsequently was knocked out of the box in two starts against the New York Yankees in the world series.

Only Monday, Newcombe said in a signed story in the Saturday Evening Post that when he started the final game against the Yanks in the series "my arm was so sore I could hardly lift it."



Meanwhile, interesting guessing games were developing.

1. At Bradenton, Fla., everyone is wondering who will get the left field berth with the Milwaukee Braves.

"They say we have seven left fielders," complained manager Fred Haney. "I'm safer to say we have 12 outfielders. We try to find the best man for each position."

2. At St. Petersburg, Fla., the St. Louis Cardinals are wondering who will get the center field post. Rookies Bobby Gene Smith and Phil Paine are battling Bob del Greco for the spot.

Popular Players Receive Awards

Ted Lindsay Near New Record Lacks 5 Points Winger Mark

MONTREAL (CP) — Detroit Red Wings, grimly trying to regain winning form, had their first place margin over Montreal Canadiens halved in last week's National Hockey League play but were still out in front by three points.

Canadiens won two games from the Red Wings but dropped an all-important game to the third-place Boston Bruins. They are still ahead of the regular schedule less than three weeks away. Detroit has 70 points, Montreal 73 and Boston 70.

Despite the Red Wings' sudden slump—four losses and two ties since they last won a game—Gord Howe and Ted Lindsay are still running one-two in the scoring race. Lindsay, veteran Detroit left winger made little progress in his bid to retain the title he won last season.

Howe picked up one goal and one assist last week and now has 79 points, made up of 39 goals and 40 assists. Lindsay scored two assists to boost his total to 74, only five short of the NHL record of 79 points for a left-winger. He was made in the 50-game 1943-44 season by Herbie Cain of Boston Bruins. The leader now plays 68 games. Lindsay's total is made up of 38 goals and 40 assists.

Bellveau was able to shave Howe's lead by only a single point. The big Montreal centre collected two goals and one assist and holds third place with 72 points.

Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers had a big week with two goals and four assists and holds fourth place with 63 points, six more than Eddie Litzenberger of Chicago Black Hawks who scored two goals in one game.

Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard came within three goals and a single assist to take over sixth place from teammate Dickie Moore. The Rocket has 58 points against 53 for Moore, who had a single goal in an assist.

Don McKenney of Boston broke loose with four goals and three assists in a hefty seven-point count and moved up to eighth place from 11th. McKenney has 50 points, followed by Henri Richard and Albert Langlois of Montreal, and Norm Ullman of Detroit, each with 48.

During last week's play Glen Hall of Detroit surrendered and then regained a lead over Montreal's Jacques Plante for goal-tending honors and the Vezina Trophy. There is now only one difference between them now. Detroit has been scored on 135 times and Montreal 136.

Tramp a 'Bum' Kelly Joins The Dodgers

By ED WILKS

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The tramp is a bum.

Emmett Kelly, the sorrowful, ragged tramp who cried and made Bum laugh for 26 years as a circus clown, now is taking a handout from Brooklyn Dodgers.

He's a three-dimension animation of Willard Mullin's famed cartoon character of Ebbets Field Bum. His job is "to relieve tension" at Ebbets Field."

The sad-faced guy with the wide turned-down mouth met in his bundle of rags in the press room here at Dodgertown. He had just made his debut as a baseball boffo before the Dodgers' first inter-squad game of the spring. He seemed a bit nervous as he puffed a cigaret, talking to the sports writers.

"I'm not a very good talker," he said. "But I'd like to say that as I drove here from Sarasota this winter homel, I felt . . well, I felt more and more excited with every mile that brought me nearer to baseball. And when I got out there on the field, well, I found the kids at the game were just like the kids who go to the circus. I love 'em."

He's always been a baseball fan. "And now I finally can get to see them in person," he added. "Never could, before. We were all ways playing matinees. We always had a show to do."

Ontario Senior A Hockey

EASTERN DIVISION
FINAL STANDING

Bobby Attersley not only led the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey League in points but set a new Ontario record for assists. Attersley led the league with 35 goals and 70 assists for 105 points, and broke the existing assists record of 63 held by Tommy Burlington of Owen Sound Mercurys. Minnie Menard, Belleville McFarlands, was the league-leading goal-getter, with 39, equalling the previous record set by Mickey Roth, Stratford Indians, two years ago. Roth holds the all-points record of 50-61 for 111.

Whitby's Bus Gagnon finished second, with 83 with Menard third with 78. George Samolenko, Whitby, nosed out Jean-Paul Payette, Belleville, for fourth place in the last game of the season.

Four Whitby players made the top ten as did three from Fembroke, two from Belleville and one from Kingston.

John Henderson, Whitby, with 16 games, topped the goalies with a 2.37 average, Gerry Devaney topped the veteran goalies with 3.66 for 50 games, Gordie Bell with 41 games had a 3.75 mark.

Chicub Rookie Figures on Twenty Wins

By JERRY LISKA

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Although he had only a 2-2 record as a Chicago Cub pitching find last season, 21-year-old Moe Drabowsky said Monday he would like to set a 20-victory goal this year.

"It's good to set a target and I want to set a good one," said the Detroit native. "Anyone who takes an academic approach to baseball as well as his inexperienced studies at Trinity College of Hartford, Conn.

"Baseball to me is a lot to win," said Moe.

He need all the breaks and all the help I can get, maybe, just to come close."

Drabowsky is tabbed by new Cub manager Bob Scheffing to be a front line pitcher this summer although Moe's entire major league career is wrapped up in 51 innings he pitched for the Cubs last season.

He pitched for Truro Bearcats in the Halifax and District Baseball League last summer before Cubs called him up. When he left, Truro was leading or fighting a close first place league lead. They dropped lower after his departure.

He had a 6-2 record with Bearcats, striking out 80 in 67 innings. He gave up 21 runs and 33 hits in starting eight games and completing six. In 1955 he had a 6-8 record with Pocatello.

With a fast ball that whistles and a promising curve, Drabowsky had only one poor performance in nine Cub appearances after signing on his 21st birthday last July 21.

Drabowsky's contract allows him once again this season to quit the Cubs in September for entrance at Trinity where he tackles the final semester of his sport for a degree in economics.

Moe's two 1956 victories were 8-1 over St. Louis and 4-0 over Milwaukee, while his four losses were 7-2 and 2-1 to New York, 3-2 to Cincinnati, and 4-2 to Brooklyn.

Dick Irvin Goes to Hospital But Sharp Wit Is Unaffected

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Dick Irvin, veteran National Hockey League coach, hasn't let a long siege of illness dull his sharp wit.

Long known in hockey for his expert handling of sarcastic interviewcracks, Irvin has found much to intrigue him while propped up in bed at Royal Victoria Hospital.

"What do you know about this," he said. "They put me on blood transfusions. Then they wanted samples of my blood—so they turned around and drew it all off again."

Irvin entered hospital a couple of weeks ago. He is undergoing treatment for a duodenal ulcer and had a minor operation. More recently he has shown improvement after attacks of discomfort and pain. He is anxious to "get walking again."

HOCKEY INTEREST RENEWED

Within the last week Irvin has renewed his interest in what is going on in the hockey world. He still thinks Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens "is a marvel."

"It's almost unbelievable the way the Rocket is still scoring at 35 years of age," said the man who guided Canadiens for 15 seasons.

Before that stretch with Canadiens Irvin coached Toronto Maple Leafs through nine campaigns. He took over the Chicago Black Hawks at the start of the 1955-56 season. Illness finally forced him to give up when he was at the Hawks' training camp last fall.

PLEASED WITH LITZY

Irvin was particularly pleased with the way Eddie Litzenberger of the Hawks has been scoring. To date Litzy has banged in 29 goals.

"The season I had him he was having all kinds of tough luck," said Irvin. "Many times when he was in scoring position the puck would hop over his stick when it came to him. There were lots of times, too, when his shots bounced off the goal post."

Irvin thinks rookie defenceman Elmer Vasko is a good prospect "but he would be better if he can instil a little more fight into his play."

Toughest, Best-Paying Role, Cigaret Commercial for TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Want to know Carroll Baker's toughest and best-paying role?

No, students, it wasn't Giant or Baby Doll. It was a cigaret commercial for TV.

She confessed as much during a whirlwind trip to Hollywood, her first since becoming a star and academy award nominee. She was here to pick up another award — from the foreign press correspondents.

About the TV commercial—she made it in the not-so-distant past when she was happy to get any kind of acting work.

"It was the hardest work I ever had to do," she said, "I don't smoke, you see, and I had to appear that I was really enjoying the cigaret when I was really getting sick from it."

The ad was for a filter cigaret, but she was given a couple of cartons of the firm's stronk, unfiltered cigarets to practise on.

IT MADE HER ILL

"I practised for a week," she said. "It was very difficult, because my hand had to be just the right place and I had to do every movement precisely. It took 10 hours to shoot the commercial and I was absolutely ill at the end of it."

But there was a silver lining to the smog. Every time the ad is played, she collects $50, and it's still being seen on TV. The one-day chore brought her more money than her months on the two Warner films that made her famous, she said.

How come?

Studios are shrewd in such matters. Before handing a newcomer a star - making role, they aim to tie the performer down to a "reasonable" contract.

"We finally settled by my giving the studio three pictures for Giant and three for Baby Doll," Carroll said. "I'll do one a year for six years for their price. But I'll be able to make up some money by doing one outside picture a year. And there's always television."

Carroll first came to Hollywood five years ago, but with scant success. She played a one-line bit in Easy to Love, an Esther Williams film.

Returning to New York, she did some TV and stage work. Warners tabbed her on The Web—"I was always killing somebody on TV," she said with a throaty laugh. The studio wanted to sign her, but the independent lass said no thanks. Then she saw the first script she was to do. The script they sent her was Giant, and that was the convincer.

Training Camp Notes

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams, the 38-year-old Boston Red Sox slugger, is hustling as never before in spring training.

Ted has been setting a terrific pace for the other ball players and is amazing observers who know his distaste for the pre-season "grind."

After rain forced Ted to retire from a pepper game Monday he took long turns indoors at weight-lifting and pushups.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Hank Greenberg, Cleveland Indians' general manager, has finally heard from Chico Carrasquel, the holdout shortstop, after several unsuccessful telephone calls to Caracas, Venezuela.

Chico wired Monday night from Caracas that he is awaiting a new contract. Greenberg fired back a telegram ordering Carrasquel to the Indians' training camp here by March 8 to talk terms.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Infielder Chico Fernandez, last of the Brooklyn Dodgers to report to camp, checked in Monday and revealed his sprained ankle is completely healed. Fernandez injured the ankle in the final game of winter ball in Cuba.

Giants Seeking Queen's Stewart

NEW YORK (CP)—A spokesman for New York Giants of the National Football League said Monday contract negotiations with Ron Stewart, Canada's top college football player, "are still going on."

Stewart, a five-foot-six halfback, was named to the college all-star team in all four seasons at Queen's University.

He was in New York during the weekend for contract talks with Wellington Mara, Giant secretary and a co-owner of the club.

Stewart has returned to Kingston but a club spokesman here said negotiations would continue. No date has been set for further talks.

Stewart was quoted by friends as saying he wouldn't sign a NFL contract until he had talked with officials of Montreal Alouettes, Big Four football union champions...He is on Montreal's negotiation list.

He was first looked at by Giants three years ago and was again scouted by the NFL champions last fall when Giant officials asked him to come to New York for a meeting.

SIGNS FILM CONTRACT

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Toni Sailer, Austria's triple gold medal winner at the 1956 winter Olympics, has signed to do film roles, a Munich movie company announced Monday.

Sailer at present is touring the United States where he is competing in several Alpine skiing events.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Wednesday, March 6, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — All worthwhile activities, including everyday work, interests of children and old folks, needing Lavors and being kind to those need are favored now. Be ambitious, purposeful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — The Sun's auspicious rays give you a clear field for handling difficult tasks, propositions of worth; encourage advancement in your occupation. Forward!

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your specific work and talents are under generally favorable aspects. But you must be ambitious and systematic to get the most from your efforts. Aim high!

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — A difficult day is not indicated but there may be some irritating conditions. All can be smoothed out, however, by your aptitude, gracious management. Sound gains here.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Grand influences from your natal planet indicate new profits through good work and careful investments. Try to improve the quality of your product or output now. Pay attention to details — no matter how small.

August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — This could be a productive period for you since it fosters composure, good judgment and smart planning. Don't undertake too much but do strike out for steady gains.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Don't permit things to bore or tire you. There's much to be accomplished if you remain master of yourself — and your undertakings. Be consistent, yet flexible enough to be progressive.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Avoid extremes now. Don't try to do more than is reasonable or safe for health, but keep usefully busy and don't procrastinate. Keep pace with your schedule calmly.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Artistry, finesse, thoroughness will count strongly in your favor now. No matter what your particular activities, they should improve, bring sound returns.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Have high hopes and work toward rewarding goals. There is a great deal in your favor but don't overdo. Try to finish incompleted tasks and don't overtide others.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — System, accuracy, promptness, are "musts" if you would progress today. You have generous help from a good Sun aspect which encourages intelligent management and steady endeavor.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Firm decisions, strength of purpose and amicable cooperation will help to take this day out of the ordinary and put it in the progressive column. You can do it ably.

You born today; Sympathy is your keyword. A tendency to idealism and self-effacement are likeable qualities if not carried to extremes. You have many talents and an all-round capability that can fit you admirably for any calling, profession, trade. It may take you some time to get really started in your life's work but you can, will, make good if you recognize your qualifications and cultivate them daily. Birthdate: Michelangelo, artist, sculptor; Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Eng. poet; General Philip Sheridan, cavalry leader, U.S. Civil War.

Publisher Says Paper Will Not Be Breaking Act

TORONTO (CP)—John Bassett Jr., chirman and publisher of The Telegram, Monday announced a Sunday morning edition will be distributed in Ontario starting March 7.

He said some of the details about the Sunday Telegram will be given later this week.

In his statement, on the front page of Monday's evening Telegram, Mr. Bassett said he would like to dispel any idea that in publishing a Sunday newspaper The Telegram would be breaking the federal Lord's Day Act of 1906.

"Work on the act may be . . . the suggestion that The Telegram is breaking the law and, by so doing, trying to force a change in the act, is not the case," he said.

"It's lining the pockets of those who work on Sunday, the act says 'any work of necessity or mercy.'

PUBLICATION NECESSARY

"In an era dominated by atomic and hydrogen weapons, when the international picture is, to say the least, is most uncertain, it was never more important for free men and women to be made available for them the news and views of the world in a 'work of necessity' to gather and disseminate it seven days of the week, and not just six.

"The Lord's Day Act of 1906 was passed by the federal government, and it is quite inconceivable that the government would break its own law," he said.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation-wholly-owned by the government-broadcasts and televises news, as well as other programs, throughout the whole of Sunday. There is no specific exception made in the act for this activity. It is therefore, the federal government must regard this as a 'work of necessity.'

"Those who suggest that, by the publication of a Sunday issue of The Telegram, the law will be broken are, therefore, misinformed," he said. The gathering and dissemination of news by privately-owned radio and television stations as well as the presentation of other programs, has, of course, long since become recognized as a regular part of life in Ontario on Sunday as well as other days of the week.

ALL WORK SUNDAY

"Work is carried on on Sunday in all branches of industry, in the gathering and preparing of news for editions on the following Monday and, indeed, one Toronto agency has a seven-day week in force for sale on Sunday evening.

"The Telegram does not, for one minute, suggest that these activities are illegal but that they qualify under the existing act as 'work of necessity.'"

Mr. Bassett said he hopes readers will enjoy The Sunday Telegram and feel it is a most worthwhile publication. He added:

"Most particularly do I hope that all those members of the clergy who now use radio and television on Sunday as an instrument to worship God in new ways will feel free to use the columns of The Sunday Telegram for the same purpose."

Ontario, with its huge population is key province for the implementation of the federal offer to pay about one-half the cost of overhead for diagnostic services and diagnostic services providing at least 75 per cent coverage—more than one-half Canada's population sign up and start operations.

Premier Frost said Ontario has been proceeding on the assumption that once the federal legislation is passed, any participating province would start receiving federal contributions and would put its own plan into operation.

He said any province that has a hold federal aid until its provincial schemes were in actual operation was free to join and that Ontario would not sign such a plan.

Mr. Frost-added that a delegation of Ontario government officials will go to Ottawa Wednesday in hopes of getting federal signatures on the Ontario proposals, introduced in the legislature this year.

VARIES SOMEWHAT

The Ontario scheme varied somewhat from the original federal proposal, made in January, 1956, for compulsory hospital care, but a federal official said Monday that Ottawa would give provincial assurance that a "substantial" portion of the provincial proposals can be covered.

Apart from Ontario, only British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland so far have concrete proposals. Other provinces are expected to announce acceptance soon.

Premier Bennett has called on the federal government to enter a partnership with B.C. immediately. His province would enter on the "broadest terms" Ottawa saw fit.

"We are willing that B.C. should be used as a guinea pig for the rest of Canada," he said.

At St. Johns, Health Minister James Murphy said Newfoundland Monday night told a reporter his province would participate as soon as Ottawa launched the plan.

Mr. McIvor's resolution urged the government to consider introducing legislation to increase such pensions to bring them "into line with those of the present."

Then, as Mr. Harris drew the debate to a close without a vote being reached, Mr. Diefenbaker interposed to ask whether the government will consider the case of the "Lucky Strike" veterans.

"That's all I want," he said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent replied "That I believe is the crux of the matter."

The latter said he had just been coming to that point—whether there should be an increase for all or for those in need. He didn't have time, however, to develop the point.

Mr. McIvor said retired federal employees had been the subject of petitions brought up to present living costs. Some had retired while earning $120 a month. Now a man who paid $300 with subsequent higher pensions on retirement.

SUPPORTS PROPOSAL

Supporting Mr. McIvor's proposal, Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) said many ex-members have been trying since 1949 to get the government to raise these pensions. But the government's attitude had been "absolutely unfair" to the public.

Stanley Knowles, (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) added that the government said 10 years ago it hoped to make an announcement "in due course" on an increase.

(ADVT.)

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your step—get more rest. It's all old stuff now. But these days you can live fifty and many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backaches and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often destroy sound that age. For more than 60 years Doan's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in order. If they are working as they feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Doan's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Doan's. F 54

MR. TWEEDY

by Ned Riddle

He hoped it would be done this session.

Mr. Harris, arguing against a general pension increase, said most speakers favoring a boost had overlooked the fact many retired federal employees had a low pension because they served only a short time in the government's employ.

He added that if, as had been claimed, the issue has been debate in Parliament for 10 years on some occasions, there was reasonably good case for doing nothing in the meantime."

MACDONALD SAYS

He said the Bracken liquor inquiry in Manitoba showed brewers were made contributions to all political parties except the CCF.

"There is no reason to believe the same practice is not carried on in Ontario," he said. He asked the premier to publish the sources of party income to eliminate any suspicion because "those who have made the contributions in Manitoba is the same Mr. Taylor" who operates from Ontario.

Premier Frost said no contributions were accepted from any brewer, outlet or manufacturer of alcohol.

"Nobody has cracked the whip on this government in fixing beer or liquor prices," he said.

Mr. MacDonald urged the government to take over the brewers' retail stores and exercise its price-fixing powers to cut down on the profits of breweries and increase provincial revenue.

William W. Collings (PC—Toronto Beaches) criticized the Liquor Control Board, said extra revenue would have to come from the consumers meaning the little fellow would pay more for his glass of beer.

Mr. MacDonald said there is no difference between the Liberal Opposition and the Tory approach to the budget. "The Liberals are invariably on the same side as the Tories on basic issues all through—but this budget."

He told the legislature that the provincial debt had increased by $273,000,000 since 1946 to $753,000,000 because the government refused to raise revenues where the money was, in corporations.

Guards Patrol Border of Eire As Election Held

DUBLIN (AP)—Armed guards patrolled the Irish Republic's northern border today as the Irish voted in a general election.

Despite a flurry caused by the Sinn Fein organization's entry into the lists, the campaign to choose the new 147-member Dail was the quietest since Ireland's 26 southern counties became independent 35 years ago.

Sinn Fein, political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, advocates force to end the partition of the six northern counties. The extremists appeared to be running candidates in all but three of all major parties denounced any resort of violence in ending partition in the British North.

Eamon de Valera, whose Fiftiana Fail Ulon of Deidail is trying to win a majority and return the premier post to office, declared the partition problem will not be solved by violence.

Sinn Fein Nominations

John A. Costello, 65-year-old lawyer who served as premier the last three years and is leader of the Fine Gael (United Ireland) party, predicted the extremists would be repudiated.

Boss of U.S. Treasury Appalled At Size of Federal Spending And Believes It Must Be Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — After four years as boss of the U.S. money bags, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey is an anguished authority on what he calls the myth of "the great American money well."

"We haven't any well of free money," he said. "The only money we have is the money we take away from the people and—after adding some overhead to it—pass it back to them."

Testifying in Congress, the big, ruddy-faced cabinet official was explaining why he is appalled at the enormity of federal spending—and why he believes it must be curbed or eventually the country will suffer "a depression that will curl your hair."

RECORD SPENDING

He was being called on to explain why the Eisenhower administration is asking Congress for $71,800,000,000—the biggest peacetime budget in history—for fiscal 1958.

Humphrey's prediction that unabated federal spending could unleash a hair-curling slump has brewed one of the hottest controversies in years.

President Eisenhower and Humphrey agree that the trend is due to ever-increasing demands for federal assistance from a fast-growing population. But they differ on where to hold the line.

Among other things, the storm has posed these questions:

1. How great a share of total U.S. income can the government exact in taxes without plunging the country into bankruptcy?

(The new budget would take more than one-sixth of the entire $412,000,000,000 annual out put of goods and services. It would require a tax bite of $422 for every man, woman and child in the United States, compared with $52 in fiscal 1935 on the eve of the war.)

2. How long can the U.S. go on jacking up the world's economy via multi-billion-dollar foreign aid programs?

WEAPON COSTS SOAR

(Defence Secretary Wilson says military spending will probably go up, not down, over the next few years. The old Pentagon slogan of "more bang for a buck" has just about disappeared as revolutionary new weapons send defence costs soaring.)

Economy-minded congressional leaders have contended for years that Soviet Russia could bring the U.S. to its knees, without war, simply by committing it to a colossal military buildup in the East-West arms race.

Have defence-plus-aid outlays—pegged at $43,300,000,000 in the latest budget—already brought the U. S. to the economic danger point?

Ask a dozen persons and you get a dozen different answers to these questions.

"I don't think we're remotely close to a bust," testifies Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

"At the rate the federal government is spending money, we're going to hell in a Cadillac," counters Chairman Harry Byrd of the Senate finance committee.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, vice-chairman of the Senate economic committee and a former professor of economics, said:

"We're not going broke. That cry has been going up for 10 years while income and production have been rising all the time."

But former president Herbert Hoover, recalling the 829 boom-and-bust while he was in the White House, said:

"My hair has already been curled once, and I think I detect the signs again."

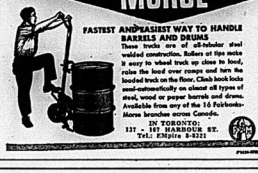
Humphrey is devotedly loyal to Eisenhower, and the two are considered good friends. But the secretary is said to realize he has fought a losing battle in his crusade for government economy.

Eisenhower told reporters some time ago:

"As long as the American people demand and, in my opinion, deserve the kind of services this budget provides, we have got to spend this kind of money."

Humphrey obviously doesn't agree 100 per cent.

"A country can't go on outspending itself indefinitely any more than a man can," he says.



PLANE DROPS ICE

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (AP) A big chunk of ice caved in the roof of Roy Kellett's car Sunday. Police think it may have dropped from an airplane. Police speculated that an airplane, flying at high altitude, had become iced. When the plane descended to a lower altitude, warmer temperatures probably loosened the ice. No one was in the car.

DIES ON BIRTHDAY

REPUBLIC, Mo. (AP)—James W Fugitt died, apparently of a heart attack, while celebrating his 90th birthday at the home of a grandson Sunday. Fugitt had greeted about 200 visitors during an open house. He complained of feeling tired while posing for group pictures, sat down on a couch and died.

'Flying Banana' Burns On Main Street At Bancroft

Six Aboard Helicopter Escape Without Injury

An RCAF helicopter burst into flame on Hastings St., at the north end of Bancroft this morning, but the six men aboard escaped injury. There were no civilian casualties. The aircraft was destroyed.

An RCAF spokesman at RCAF station Trenton, said the Vertol H-21 (flying bananas) helicopter flew from No. 102 Communication and Rescue Unit at Uplands to Bancroft this morning to pick up three servicemen who had been in that area testing search and rescue equipment.

The RCAF identified the six men aboard as F/L. A. A. Vanderwater, 100 Elm St., Trenton, the pilot; F/O D. M. McNaughton of Perth; F/O H. J. Hogarth of Hamilton and R.R. 2 Trenton; F/O W. R. Bodby, 170 Burnham St., Belleville; Cpl. L. D. McCue of Fort Falls, N. B.; and L.A.C. R. A. Burton of Glace Bay, N.S., crewman. The men were attached to RCAF Station, Trenton.

As the helicopter flew over Bancroft on its way back to Trenton, it developed engine trouble. The pilot could do nothing else but try to land in the nearest open spot. He chose the north end of Hastings St., which is flanked by houses. On landing the craft burst into flame and smashed a fire and hydro and telephone lines.

The six men aboard were able to jump to the ground before flames enveloped the helicopter.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ACTIVE

Members of the Bancroft volunteer fire department reacted to the scene and played hoses on the blaze. Ice formed on the hydro and telephone lines from spreading.

An eye witness said: "The pilot did a wonderful job in setting the helicopter down without hitting any houses or injuring anyone."

The Ontario Provincial Police detachment in the village said the accident occurred at about 9.30 this morning. Immediately upon the forced landing an ambulance sped to the scene but was not needed.

Provincial police notified RCAF authorities at Trenton and this matter of minutes two Otter aircraft winged toward Bancroft carrying a medical officer, guard and investigators.

Cause of the engine failure is not known.

Accused Found Not Guilty Of Murder

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A 21-year-old Port Arthur man was acquitted Tuesday by a supreme court jury on a charge of murder, laid in connection with the slaying last June 29 of a nurses' aide.

The jury deliberated two hours before finding William Andrew Dey not guilty in the slaying of Mrs. Vivian Mytruk, whose body was found stuffed under the porch of a store near her home.

Dey and applause broke out in the packed court when the verdict was given and the sheriff had to restore order.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson said no one could criticize the verdict on the basis of evidence submitted.

Mrs. Mytruk disappeared after visiting her injured husband in the hospital where she was employed. Her nude and mutilated body was later found by children under the store porch.

Defence Counsel J. J. Robinette of Toronto said there were three mysteries in the case: No one had heard anything in the thickly-populated district the night of the slaying; police found nothing in an incinerator near the scene until the discovery of a woman's purse there two weeks later; and a hospital employee sought for questioning is still missing.

Frenchman, Wife Face Charge of Torture-Murder

ALGIERS (AP)—Rene Kovacs, French swimming champion in 1929, and his wife were arrested today with participating in the torture-murder of a French Moslem.

Authorities said Kovacs and his wife belong to a group known as "ultras." The group is violently opposed to any French concessions to Algerian nationalists.

Police charged Kovacs and his wife helped kill a French Moslem leader last Dec. 16 and took him to a farm 20 miles south of Algiers, where, police said, the man was tortured two days until he died.

Airliner Grounded

SINGAPORE (AP) — Britain's new Britannia airliner, on its first regular flight from Sydney to London, was grounded at Darwin, Australia, today by engine trouble. The British Overseas Airways Corporation was unable to say how long the plane will be delayed.

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Clear and light winds continued tonight as night in most of Ontario with the exception of the extreme north where snow flurries moved in from the West. Night time temperatures ranged from two below zero at Earlton in the north to 25 above at Windsor in the south.

Occasional light snow is expected in Northern Ontario today, but the remainder of the province should be mainly sunny. Cloud moving in from the west in the late the day will be followed by some light snow in Central Ontario and an occasional snowflurry in Southern Ontario tonight and Thursday.

LESAGE FORCED TO WITHDRAW MUSEUM BILL

Minister Admits Mistake Was Made

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Opposition caught Resources Minister Lesage out on an undocumentary limb Tuesday and forced him to climb down.

Mr. Lesage withdrew for rewriting a minor bill dealing with the National Museum after Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) called on the Chair to rule it out of order.

The bill provided for splitting the museum into two parts—natural museums of natural and human history. That was the only change from the bill as the museum corporation adopted earlier this session—a resolution required because the bill involved spending federal funds.

But the measure as printed also would have empowered Mr. Lesage to establish "such other national museums as he considers necessary or desirable. . . ."

Outright Dictatorship

Mr. Fleming, speaking late in the afternoon, said the government minister had gone beyond the terms of the original resolution proceeding the bill. He ran into unwarranted departure from constitutional practice."

Right after the supper adjournment, Mr. Lesage asked—and was granted—leave to withdraw the bill. It would be rewritten to remove the provision for other new museums. He said that clause had been printed "by mistake."

The incident produced a slight flurry in an otherwise calm day which the House spent on a variety of government measures.

The Commons approved the principle of a measure to continue government control powers over export of strategic materials. It had extended for three years, to July 31, 1960, the Export and Import Permits Act under which the government licenses shipments to certain countries and controls import of products under federal price support, such as butter.

Trade Minister Gordon told all in detail with the government's bill to establish federal payments in lieu of municipal taxes on federal property. The grants to municipalities would flow from the current $9,000,000 a year to between $16,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Attack by Organ of Nehru's Party On Queen Enrages British Leaders

LONDON (Reuters)—An attack on Queen Elizabeth by an official organ of India's governing Congress party was denounced prominently by British newspapers today under such headlines as "Nehru insult to Queen."

The article, by editor H. D. Malviya, appeared in the Economic Review and criticized the Queen's recent visit to Portugal.

The Conservative Daily Mail, in its main front-page story, says Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had "summoned" the Indian high commissioner, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, to the foreign office today and would make "a strong protest."

But a foreign office spokesman said the meeting had been arranged two days ago—before publication of the article. He declined to confirm that it would be discussed.

The Times' Delhi correspondent says the Economic Review "has the distinction of being the first newspaper in India directly to attack the person of the Queen." He goes on to describe the article as being "couched in vituperative and insulting terms."

The right-wing Daily Express calls it "a bitter attack." Other newspapers describe it as "amazing."

SOMETHING NO OTHER BOY CAN DO

A 350-pound tapir is hardly a household pet, but when you're the son of a zoo curator, you have certain advantages. Take four-year-old Gary Wells, for instance. He's the son of Rochester zoo curator Earl Wells and is shown here riding "Henrietta," a zoo tapir. Gary sits on the tapir's back and gets it to walk around by dangling bananas on a pole in front of her.

Attorney-General Admits Raids At Windsor Unsuccessful

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial police have raided a Windsor gambling house at least six times and failed to uncover enough evidence to prosecute, Attorney-General Roberts has admitted in the legislature.

He was replying Tuesday to CCF Leader MacDonald who said gambling operations in the Windsor Army and Navy club fan by known underworld characters had been the subject of newspaper stories for more than a year.

"Why has such a situation been allowed to exist" he asked.

Mr. Roberts admitted the truth of the newspaper accounts but said that the OPP raiders were met by "barriers" which delayed investigations long enough for evidence to be removed.

He said everything possible was being done by the OPP anti-gambling squad to combat gambling in the province.

Mr. Roberts also told the legislature that the OPP will be in-

Canadian Army Soon to Have Transport Craft for A-Warfare

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Army's second major move in effort for atomic battle is in the immediate offing.

The first, accomplished last month, was the shedding of two infantry battalions to make way for a new armored regiment.

The second is the imminent signing by the defence production department and de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd., of a contract to equip the army with transport planes or, "flying trucks" to give it increased mobility.

De Havilland said Tuesday that the first of its new twin-engine transports, known as the Caribou, will be test-flown for the first time by mid-summer of 1958. On completion of its civil airworthiness tests, the company added, it will be turned over to the Canadian Army for evaluation trials.

The statement was included in a de Havilland announcement that the United States Army, through the Canadian defence production department, has placed a $2,500,000 order for five Caribous. They are expected to be delivered in early 1959 for evaluation tests.

Though the Caribou originated as and still is a strictly Canadian venture, the U.S. Army became so interested in the project that it placed the first actual order. The U.S. Army already has fleets of de Havilland Beavers and Otters, both Canadian designed.

The Caribou will be capable of carrying 32 combat troops or three tons of supplies at 185 miles an hour for 200 miles. More important, it will be able to land on and take off from improvised landing strips in short distances.

The new plane is designed to replace in large part slow and roadbound truck convoys which would be prime battlefield atomic targets.

Natives Dance, Premier Weeps As New African Nation Born

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—Happy citizens of Ghana thronged the streets of Accra today as their Parliament met for the first time.

Ghana was born at midnight Tuesday night, when the Union Jack was replaced by the red, green and gold stripes of the Commonwealth's first Negro nation.

Tribal drums beat in rhythmic tattoo and thousands of Africans danced and shouted in the streets when the changeover occurred, bringing an end to the British colony of the Gold Coast.

At the new national anthem was sung, Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah wept openly before tens of thousands of his countrymen.

Today, the American-educated prime minister who led his people to independence listened to a message from the Queen expressing "profound satisfaction" at the new state has achieved freedom "by constitutional and peaceful methods."

The Queen's message was read by the Duchess of Kent, her aunt and personal representative here, at the opening of Ghana's first parliamentary session.

The speech from the throne said the Queen is proud to welcome the new country.

The speech said Ghana will apply for membership in the United Nations as soon as possible and that the new nation wishes to establish friendly relations with all countries, particularly those in Africa.

In a further personal message read by her aunt, the Queen told the people of Ghana that "my hopes of many, especially in Africa, hang on your endeavors."

Nkrumah gave the same warning when he appeared before the first session of the old Gold Coast legislative assembly Tuesday night.

"Failure on our part would have tragic consequences for other African territories striving for independence," he said. "We must not fail. We shall not fail. Let us all co-operate to make this new state a success."

Ghana is the first African colony of any European country to achieve independence as a Negro nation. The only other African Negro country, Liberia, was founded in the 19th century by freed American slaves.

FEDERAL-ONTARIO HEALTH TALKS OPEN IN OTTAWA

Porter Says Province Ready to Do Business

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal officials, headed by Health Minister Martin, today began talks with spokesmen from Ontario—key province for implementation of a proposed national hospital insurance scheme.

Provincial Treasurer Porter said Monday night, as he arrived for the discussions, that Ontario was "ready to do business." But he was non-committal on the big issue of federal timing.

"We'll have to see what comes up tomorrow," he replied when a reporter asked him if Premier Frost of Ontario still opposes signing of an agreement if it means there will be no federal aid until the scheme is in operation at least in Ontario and in provinces with at least half the Canadian population.

Mr. Frost was reported Monday night as saying in an interview at Toronto that Ontario had proceeded as far as it could and that would become available to any province that had it in operation. Ontario has stated it will be unable to launch its insurance until mid-1958.

READY TO SIGN

Mr. Porter who, with Health Minister Phillips, heads the Ontario delegation, said Tuesday night: "We are ready to sign a hospital insurance agreement with the federal government if a proper one is presented to us.

"We are ready to do business. We have had enough talk. We are ready for action."

The discussions centre on a draft agreement prepared by the cent-Parliamentary Committee. The representative agree to it, the draft will be circulated to all other provinces for their information. It will then provide the basis for a formal document for signature by the governments concerned.

U.S. Must Resolve 'to Stay Course,' Bear Heavy Mutual Security Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential commission set up to study the vast mutual security program said Tuesday the program must be continued for "years to come" if there is to be "security and the triumph of freedom."

The President's advisory commission of private citizens headed by steel executive Benjamin Fairless reported that the billions the program costs every year—it estimates it at $7,500,000,000 in the last fiscal year ended June 30, 1956—will come down in time. But it says there is a "reasonable possibility the cold war with Russia will continue for a long time to come. It said, there can be no relaxation in the present collective security system with its enormous costs to all concerned.

"The United States," the commission said in a report to President Eisenhower, "must regulate its step to the course, and must abandon the false hope that collective security costs are temporary."

The publication of the report and of a press conference by Fairless, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, was that the mutual security program has "security and peace" but cannot afford it, and it ought to be allowed to cut down to a level about its present financial pace — with some major shifts in emphasis.

The commission would reduce loans, fewer gifts to bolster foreign economies. It would cut outright end to loans repayable in money that can't be converted dollars.

A high priority for foreign aid, the report said, should go to nations which have joined the collective security system. This would give members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the Baghdad pact an inside track over neutral and uncommitted countries of Asia and Africa, such as India.

Revenue Minister Defends Action Of Department

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann says his department was merely acting "before the books were closed" when it reassessed in December the 1950 and 1951 tax returns of 2,408 Canadians.

"In our view there was nothing reprehensible in so doing," he said in the Commons.

It was the department's duty to make new assessments when it found further taxes owing. If it had not done so, it could have been criticized for depriving the treasury of funds to which it was entitled.

Dr. McCann was replying to criticisms by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West), who said in an interview last week that the new assessments issued in December were "just about as wicked a piece of deceitful manipulation as I have come across."

The Liberal House out of the revenue department's actions following a change in the Income Tax Act last session. It reached from six years to four the period in which tax collectors could reopen old tax returns and make new assessments. The change took effect Jan. 1, for closing 1950 and 1951 returns except in cases of fraud.

Parking Meters To Be Installed On Alyea Lot

TRENTON (Special) — In about two weeks' time patrons of the town-owned Alyea parking lot off Front Street will have to dig down and pay for the use of the newest downtown parking convenience. The lot may not be paved but in any case meters will be in place for receiving the usual charge for such accommodation.

Chairman of the parking committee, Councillor J. MacDonald, at council last night, reported that the committee was giving consideration to engaging the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires to take over the operation and maintenance of all meters in town. He disclosed to his fellow councilmen last night that entry to the Alyea lot would be off Elgin and the exit to Front at the northerly end of the premises next to the Riverside Dairy property.

Council took another step forward in the proposal to provide a new fire station with an incinerated accommodations or a new building. Councillor George Brown was authorized to employ an architect to give him estimates on the cost of repairs and replacement. Mr. Brown, who is heading the committee, reporting on both projects, said two contractors had indicated the cost of repairing and enlarging the present building would range between $40,000 and $60,000 and he added, even when it is remodelled the town would still possess an old building. He disclosed that one contractor had estimated that repairs alone, without enlarging the accommodations would cost from $8,000 to $10,000.

FAVORS NEW BUILDING

Councillor Claude Graham, chairman of the protection of persons and property department, observed that it would be better business to replace the old building than to spend $60,000 on repairs to the property.

Mr. Graham made a reference to the size and appearance of the Community Gardens the town was paying $140,000 to have built. He expressed belief that a building the police required without including fancy frills" would cost $100,000.

Councillor MacDonald, talking about the arrangement of seeking an architect's advice, said he would like to remind council that the Planning Board had turned thumbs down on the suggestion that the firehall and police station be combined and voiced unanimous approval of the site for the firehall being located on the market square in the east end of town.

Mayor Ross Burtt acknowledged the fine work of the Planning Board to date and that after all the council had to produce the money and was responsible for a final decision regarding the location of the firehall. He spoke of the town's financial position and suggested that the town should not be too wise to use land it already owned rather than to pay a big price for another site.

CONSIDER EXPANSION PLANT

Council gave further consideration to installation of a sewage disposal plant. A report from Gore and Storrie, the town's engineering consultants, shows there are $135,000 saving provided a certain plan is followed. The second proposal is to build the plant on the east side of the river and convey westside waste by the new pipe under the river. There would also be a saving in pumping operation and maintenance, the report reveals. Councillor Vaan Lange felt that if the town was going to bother with the project it should press ahead and acquire all the data available. Councillor Graham figured the town would be money ahead by financing the project on its own.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Three killings marred the last day of Mardi Gras here. Two men and a woman met violent death Tuesday only a few hours before the Crescent City's traditional holiday flourish and turned solemn as churches to begin the 40-day pairs to the property.

Yemeni Raiders Attack Fort

ADEN (Reuters) — More than 200 Yemeni tribesmen and soldiers crossed the frontier into the Aden protectorate today and attacked government forces in Fort Qataba, 60 miles northwest of Aden city.

There have been intermittent clashes along the frontier between Yemen and Britain's Aden protectorate for several months. The Red Sea Arab kingdom claims that part of the Aden area and its ill-defined border belong to the Yemen.

IN MEMORIAM

AYLESWORTH. — In loving memory of our dear sister, who passed away one year ago, March 6, 1956.
Five years have passed and gone,
Since you left us one by one,
We thank God for memories left us,
Love forever to dwell.
Five farewells we gave to hide our pain,
We wanted one more day,
To tell you all how much we loved you,
To say goodbye.
Shall never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by Mabel and Family.

AYLESWORTH. — In loving memory of my grandfather and niece, Cherylene Margaret Aylesworth, who passed away five years ago on March 6th, 1952.
Though her smile has gone forever,
And her voice we cannot hear,
We have so many memories
Of the one we love so much.
Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we will never part,
God has her in His keeping,
We have her in our hearts.
—Ever remembered by grandmother Aylesworth and friends.

AYLESWORTH. — In loving memory of Cherylene Aylesworth, who passed away March 6th, 1952.
Five years have passed,
But still the time drags by,
Loving thoughts will always linger,
Round the grave where she is laid.
—Lovingly remembered by Aunt Thelma and Uncle Grant.

AYLESWORTH. — In loving memory of Cherylene Aylesworth, who passed away March 6th, 1952.
Not in death's dark valley,
Or hear her say hello;
We miss her as we didn't expect,
A hard and bitter blow.
Her memory is always present,
Loved and respected wherever known.
—Sadly missed by Grampa and Grandma Mills.

Area Conference For Scouting Held at Station

A gathering of the Scouting clan took place at Breadner School, Trenton, recently, as the area conference gathered momentum. Leaders of all phases of the Scout movement converged on Trenton, representing Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Belleville, Colborne, Wooler, Napanee, Brighton, Lakefield, Malford, Melrose, Shannonville, Parrytown, Collins Bay, Coldsprings, Stirling and Campbellford.

In a sense, a jamboree spirit ruled for the day, as many uniformed Scouters undertook to plan the Scouting program for the coming year.

Displays and exhibits depicting all sections of Scouting were on view in all parts of the school. The morning half of the conference commenced at 9:30 when registration booths were opened and the leaders assembled in the school auditorium. Opening the conference with a keynote address entitled "Tell the People," was Mr. Alec Gilpin, the Regional Director from Belleville. Following this musical pageant was presenting a Cub's progress to a Scout, followed by a talk by Mr. C. Kerr, director Children's Aid, Hastings County branch, on "The role in Scouting." Special activities then broke for lunch, served by volunteers consisting of mothers of Cubs and Scouts in the Air Force Groups. After lunch exhibits were visited and movies and slides were shown. Just before breaking up for the evening banquet at the Airmen's Mess hall at RCAF Station Trenton, various sessions took place to discuss future training of Scouts in the Quinte area.

The banquet hall doors were opened and Scouters, hungry from a long day of talk, hurried enthusiastically for the decked tables in the huge dining room. An excellent dinner was served by volunteers from Scout-minded families and the local Air Ranger group. After a satisfying dinner the Commanding Officer of RCAF Trenton personally welcomed his guests to the station and the head table guests were introduced. At the head table were Air Commodore J. Harvey, president of the Air Force Association; the regional Commissioner Mr. A. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis; Mrs. G. Standing, assistant provincial commissioner for Ladies' Auxiliaries; District Commissioner, Squadron Leader Murray Garnett, RCAF; Group Captain G. G. Diamond and Mrs. Diamond; District Commissioner C. R. Knowlton and Mrs. Knowlton, Trenton; District Commissioner and Mrs. Art Fort of Peterborough, the Reverend I. G. Pollock, Grace United Church, Peterborough. Reverend Pollock was the guest speaker and very ably fulfilled this requirement with a talk on the three aims of Scouting, headed, "Develop the kind of world a boy can live in." "Develop the kind of work a boy can live for," and "Develop the kind of self that a boy can live with."

Awards were presented to various Scouters present. A coveted Gold Cord was presented to Queen Scout LeRoy Wood of Air Force Trenton, and a Long Service Medal was given to Mrs. Clare Stoneburg of Wellington, Ontario. John Churchill sang "The End of a Boy Scout Day," while a slide in color of the founder of all Scouting, the late Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, highlighted the success of an eventful day in the Scout life.

Judge Reserves Ruling in Case Of George Hanna

VANCOUVER (CP) — Christian George Hanna, 23-year-old stowaway who has been knocking at Canada's door for three months, continues to hold a precarious foothold in the country.

Possible $5,000 Property Damage, Truck Hits Store

TRENTON (Special) — Property damage may run upwards of $5,000 as a result of a transport driver in avoiding a traffic crash here early today sent his tractor sailing 22½ tons of steel crashing into MacDonald's hardware on Front Street. The transport in making the sharp turn from Dundas Street to Front Street snapped off a lamp post and traffic signals attached to a separate standard. The broken street light crashed through a large plate glass window in the Simmons Drug store.

The accident occurred at 1.45 a.m. and awoke apartment dwellers in the vicinity of the Dundas and Front Streets intersection. By a lucky stroke of fate the transport driver escaped injury.

The noise of the crashing reverberated throughout the downtown section and shattered glass showered over the sidewalk and roadway. Articles from inside the store window fell into the street when the heavily-loaded vehicle buckled the big steel post supporting the south east corner of the hardware building.

CLIMBS OUT THROUGH

Aurel Smart, 25, of 99 Napal Avenue, Trenton climbed out of the cab of his truck unhurt. The cab was jammed underneath the ceiling of the entrance to the main entrance to the hardware. A sidewalk weighing machine picked up by the front of the careening truck was smashed to smithereens and crushed against the front door. The nose of the big tractor tore out a corner brace pole and pushed it through the glass in the doorway before the moving load finally came to a stop.

Police are still investigating the accident. The investigating officer reported a car driven by John Lelliott, 20, of Brighton owned by William G. Lelliott of the same address stopped on the left turning lane on Dundas Street west to turn to front and when started up to make the turn he heard a horn blaring and wheels screaming. He looked into his rear vision mirror, saw a transport looming up from behind. Then he made a sharp right turn and raced across the town bridge and stayed on the east side of the river for 25 minutes before going to the police station. On his return to the downtown section he did not see anything at the Front and Dundas Streets intersection according to the story he gave police.

MOTHER RESCUED

TORONTO (CP)—A woman and an eight-month-old baby were rescued from a smoke-filled apartment Tuesday night by firemen who carried them down a ladder from a second-floor room.

Mrs. Michael Romaniw had taken two of her children downstairs to her husband's butcher store, just as her husband discovered flames shooting up from the basement.

Canadian Wildlife Officers To Live With Caribou Herds

OTTAWA (CP) — Mobile teams of Canadian wildlife officers will live for 18 months with caribou herds in a new attempt to determine what lies behind an alarming decline in the population of the north's most important game animal.

Techniques used by South American jungle tribes to hunt game will be employed to enable animals to be individually examined for disease and parasites.

The Canadian wildlife service of today said the survey will be the most intensive ever made to learn what lies behind the crisis of the northland's vanishing caribou.

A survey in 1949 showed there were about 670,000 animals between Hudson Bay and the Mackenzie River valley to the west. However, a survey in 1955 disclosed that the number had declined to approximately 277,000.

ESSENTIAL FOOD

The caribou, one of the north's few renewable resources, is regarded as an essential source of food and clothing for Eskimos and Indians. Its skin and bones also are used for tents, sleeping bags, hide scrapers and other hardware items.

Four two-man teams of mammalogists will keep a large herd of caribou under continuous observation for 18 months, starting in April.

Air guns or other devices practical for use in low temperatures will be used to shoot a narcotic-dipped dart into the rump of the animal. The animals will remain unconscious for about an hour, giving the mammalogist time to examine it for disease and parasites.

The teams will travel thousands of miles over some of Canada's most difficult sub-Arctic terrain. They will be moved by every type of transport feasible in the north—ski and pontoon equipped aircraft, helicopter, dog team and canoe. Field camps will be set up and contact with men in the field will be maintained by radio and aircraft.

TV PRESS CONFERENCES DANGEROUS?

Premier Guy Mollet of France has been visiting the United States and Canada.

While on this side of the Atlantic he appeared on a television show at which he was questioned by a group of able U.S. journalists.

Some of the questions asked him were loaded with dynamite.

The day after watching this interview we came across a letter in the Christian Science Monitor, written before this interview but certainly applicable to it.

"Do many intelligent, genuinely patriotic commentators and news analysts realize how easily they can stir up strife or create friction among men and women already overloaded with responsibility in these dangerous times?" asks Helen A. Beale of Orleans, Mass.

"In an effort to supply the public appetite for sensation, or perhaps to make their programs sharply provocative, they ask unwise questions.

"These are days when diplomats and statesmen are sorely tried. Why should we encourage our most influential reporters and news analysts to provoke dissension and make our critical situations still more difficult?"

After watching and listening to Premier Mollett parrying his way through a maze of razzle-sharp questions, those questions strike us as worth consideration.

This is not a problem to which there is only one side. Those who favor the institution of the American-type news conference, with political leaders facing the most embarrassing questions, can argue with considerable truth that all the reporters are seeking is the truth, that the people of the world have a right to know exactly where their leaders stand on questions which may decide the future of the globe. They may contend that it is essential in a democracy that those who wield the ultimate power, the people, should know the truth; that since the people cannot themselves question their leaders the journalists are acting as their deputies.

This self-reasoning may appear irrefutable in theory, but all the reasonable man has to do is to watch a TV press conference to grasp how far this theory fails to match practice. Even if none of the reporters has an axe to grind, a prejudice to exhibit or even a point of view to expound, the phrasing of the questions sometimes leaves the harried statesman in an unenviable position.

"Do you think Mr. Jones is a liar?" asks the journalist. Now Mr. Smith, the diplomat being interviewed, may be thoroughly convinced that Mr. Jones is an unmitigated liar, but because he is a diplomat, and because he has to deal with Mr. Jones and reach an agreement with him, he would never dream of saying so, without extreme provocation. He is suddenly faced with a question which provides him with three equally distasteful alternatives. He can say that he believes Mr. Jones is the soul of honor, and risk the ridicule the lie may do to his soul and future events to his reputation for sagacity. He can speak his mind and say that Mr. Jones is a proven prevaricator and write off any chance he has of getting Mr. Jones to agree to a settlement of a problem on which the lives of millions depend. Or he can hedge. The man who can hedge on TV without appearing to hedge needs to be more than a diplomat — he must be a first-class actor. And not all statesmen are first-class actors.

Premier Mollet, in his interview, equipped himself well. Yet it was obvious from some of the questions fired at him with regard to Israel and Nasser, were designed more to embarrass him or to provide the questioner with headline material than they were to inform the television audience of the complex issues of the Middle East controversy.

INDEX NEEDS INTERPRETATION

The consumer price index rose again in January. No well-informed Canadian was surprised when the Dominion Bureau of Statistics made its announcement on Monday. It had been a foregone conclusion that further increases are in store, because higher costs not yet reflected at the retail level have been built into our economy during the past few months.

The increase in the index was one fifth of a point, not in itself alarming but certainly not reassuring in the face of past history and the prospect of future rises. The index was 4.1 points above the figure for the same time a year ago.

Perhaps more interesting than the overall index are the sub-indices, which reveal the points of inflationary pressure. Main propelling forces, said the Bureau of Statistics, were higher prices for gasoline, drugs, personal care items and alcoholic beverages.

That does not tell all the story. The shelter sub-index moved up a fifth of a point as the result of small increases in both the rent and home-ownership components. That, however, is a misleading statement. Many tenants have leases and their rentals will not have changed. Many homeowners have mortgages at low rates of interest. As time passes, though, more and more tenants will have their rents increased, and those would-be homeowners who are fortunate enough to secure mortgage loans in the existing tight-money market will pay much higher rates of interest. Unless the trend is reversed, the number of Canadians affected by higher shelter costs may be considerably increased in the months ahead.

ASH WEDNESDAY

Ash Wednesday, and we start afresh
To scorn the pleasures of the flesh
And try to practise self-control—
Not for the body, but the soul.

Into the wilderness He went
For forty days a penitent.
And we His children even now
In prayer for courage humbly bow.

Some do it when to fast they dare
And others seek God's love with prayer,
But many of us cannot be
As gentle and as brave as He.

Lord, grant me strength for forty days;
I would deserve Thy word of praise.
Grant me, when I am sorely tried,
To put the clamoring flesh aside.

Putting The Tide To Work

By Lucien Neret in Unesco Features

Because its name is associated with the construction of the world's first tidal power station, the small river Rance in northern France has suddenly made the headlines. For some months past, the estuary of the river, which runs into the sea between Saint-Malo and Dinard in Brittany, has been subjected to systematic geological sounding. The object of this study is to find the best location for a 2,300-foot-long dike, whose construction will require more than 16,000,000 cubic feet of concrete. A special feature of the dike is that it will be both a dam and a power station. With 38 caverns bored into the concrete and each fitted with a 9,000— kilowatt apparatus known as a "bulb-unit", the dike-power-station will be able to generate 800 million kilowatt-hours annually. French Electricity Authority (E.D.F.) Rance plant will start operating by 1960, and, with the purpose of such power stations, it will provide them with essential technical data for a number of still more ambitious projects. One of those, already under study, provides for the building of a series of power plants in the Bay of the Mont St. Michel, on the coasts of Normandy and Brittany, with a total capacity of ten to fifteen million kilowatts.

Work on the Rance project is being watched with interest by engineers in many countries. It is of world-wide significance since all industrialized countries are faced with the same vital problem of doubling their power production every ten years, and the present sources of power are by no means inexhaustible. World reserves of coal and oil are definitely limited, and it is estimated that they will be exhausted in a very few centuries even if they are consumed at no greater rate than at present. Scientists and engineers, therefore, are trying to prepare the short period in which to satisfy our growing appetite for kilowatts. Some are looking beyond the bounds of earth together with the general improvement of the standard of living during the coming decades will require much more energy than is available from all the present sources. Indeed, by the end of the century the world will need at least three times as much energy as it now uses. Hydro-electricity, of course, offers untold possibilities, but the day is still distant when these will be fully realized.

Every day, however, thousands of millions of potential kilowatt-hours of tidal energy are wasted along the world's coastlines. The idea of turning to account this tremendous source of power is not new, but it has always been met with considerable difficulties.

For long centuries the cause of the ebb and flow of the tides was a mystery to mankind. The Greeks and Romans, who showed great interest in other physical phenomena, were unable to solve. This incurious attitude can be explained by the simple fact that along the Mediterranean coastlines the rise and fall of the tides is relatively slight.

But thanks to the work of scientists such as Laplace, Bernoulli, Fredholm and Poincare, the complex movement of the tides is now known and explained down to the minutest details of cause and effect. Today, it is relatively easy to determine the characteristics of a tide at any given point on the coastline, provided that certain observations.

The layman these movements or "pulsations" of the ocean seem freakish in the extreme. In the Bay of Fundy, for example, is very little ebb and flow, while on the Atlantic coast there are two high, two low tides a day, and at Do-Son in Tonkin there is only one high tide, while at Tahiti, high and low tides occur at the same time. Throughout the year, regardless of the phases of the moon.

Once they had become familiar with the movements of the tides and measured their intensity and potential power content, scientists and engineers set about trying to harness these tremendous forces.

As early as the nineteen twenties, both Britain and France drew up plans for water turbines operated by draining sea water out of basins that had been filled at high tide. These turbines operated electric generators of the type used in hydro-electric power plants.

British experts also studied the possibility of a tidal scheme in the estuary of the river Severn. This installation, according to the revised plans drawn up in 1944, would have had a total capacity of 800,000 kilowatts and an annual production of 2,294 million kilowatt-hours. But, unfortunately, the large mud deposits in the estuary of the Severn proved to be a major obstacle. A way had to be found of disposing of them, and new studies are now being carried out.

Plan for similar tidal power schemes were also envisaged between the two wars in the United States and France. But none of these projects were started immediately for technical reasons or apprehensive of the difficulties that lay ahead.

In a traditional hydro-electric installation, power is obtained by harnessing a waterfall through the construction of a dam. To obtain enough force to operate the turbines, the water must fall from a sufficient height, and the smallest river dam is generally at least 30 feet high. But in the tidal energy projects, such as the Rance project in particular, the estuary sloped very gently down to the sea and the height of the dam and, consequently, the fall of water could be scarcely more than 15 feet.

Another difficulty was that the turbines which had been mentioned could only be operated during the ebb-tide by the water draining out of basins filled at high tide. Hence there would be long periods of inactivity when the plant's out-put would be rather low.

Even the building of the dam raised a host of complicated problems that required difficult to solve. For instance, in the final stages of construction, as the water of the rising tide swept through a smaller and smaller gap in the dam, it would quickly become increasingly difficult to fill this breach because of the force of the current.

It was finally an idea conceived by the American engineer L. F. Harza in 1919, and progressively improved upon by the German Andreas Fischer in 1934 and later by the Frenchman J. Guimbal that provided a solution to the problem. It consisted of an almost ideal apparatus for a waterfall with a low fall — the "bulb-unit", because of its shape, provides an ingenious solution to international technical co-operation. L. F. Harza conceived an underwater unit which comprises both a turbine and an electric generator, while Remo Fischer solved the delicate problem of providing watertight joints for the apparatus whose electric system must be heavily insulated because it must work under water. There remained the problem of the final cooling of the unit. This was solved when J. Guimbal thought of using oil as a cooling fluid.

The "bulb-unit" developed through the combined effort of the three technicians is an extremely efficient generator with a power of 9,000 kilowatts and a rotating speed of 83.2 revolutions a minute. Many of these units are being built for the Rance tidal power scheme will be set in a cavity of nearly 19 feet in diameter. These cavities will consist of two parts: the upstream tide-gate tide which gates will flow through them up to the very last moment, when the concrete-work is completed and the generating units are fitted. Thanks to practical experience will show whether the ingenious solution adopted for the Rance project can be used elsewhere on a wider scale. It is hoped that the Saint-Michel project should be greatly speeded up, and other countries may also decide to put the tide to work.

It has been calculated that the potential tidal power wasted along the world's coastlines is approximately 1.5 thousand million kilowatts, that is 36 thousand million kilowatt-hours a day. If this energy is there for the taking, and in years to come it should provide at least a little relief to the world's power problems.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Once a month, the mah jongg personnel of the head office of one of out big Canadian businesses meets for dinner in the executive dining room of the best hotel. The dinner is presided over by the president or one of the general vice-presidents. Everybody has to pay his own dinner check, even the most junior head office twenty-year-old up. And they all have to wear dinner jackets.

Dinner is at eight. They always have a pleasant and interesting dinners for twenty minutes after the meal. He is usually somewhere mid in the alphabetical. The address is not entertainment. It is strictly business.

"What's the idea?" I asked one of the vice-presidents whom I had countered in the mah jongg room.

"It started about thirty years ago," he said, "during the presidency of a high-tempered old man who is long since dead of apoplexy. He had the idea that there would be fewer cliques in the big organization if they all had to gather once a month at regular intervals. Attendance at the dinners is compulsory."

"Why the dinner jacket?" I checked.

He said that nothing was slopping about when everybody was dressed alike. Everybody is equal in dinner jackets. It's psychological."

"It sure is," I agreed.

"The younger men get a kick out of it, parading in style before their somewhat seedy seniors. The older of us have considerable relief in seeing the younger men whom we have to depend on, and sometimes do something other than the familiar office surroundings. The slight touch of formality imparted by the clothes obliges us to look at one another a little more attentively than we do in the office. Cliques are dissolved. Friendliness is promoted despite age, rank or job."

"Doesn't it become a bore," I questioned, "once a month?"

"It certainly does," said the vice-president, yanking the bell cord, to get off at his stop and go home and get into his pyjamas and slippers.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. J. BRADY

Washer-Women and Day Laborers

According to an associate professor of medicine in a university medical college "more than 80 per cent of people in the United States past fifty and 90 per cent past 60 have osteoarthritis."

So that's why you can't roll somersaults!

Osteoarthritis, the professor explains, is "degenerative joint disease which comes from general wear and tear — if we live long enough."

But this, I gather, is only a preliminary view, for the professor promises to discuss some diseases called rheumatism or rheumatic in future columns. I can't wait to learn more about this osteoarthritis. The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation tells us that the cause of osteoarthritis is unknown —but maybe the Foundation failed to consult the professor before issuing the fact sheet. I'm afraid they didn't even clear it with me here at home, as I was called when I was in conference on the bowling green.

Osteo is the combining form of os, meaning bone, and arthritis means inflammation. So osteoarthritis is a $10 term for inflammation of joint and bone.

Now I'm no professor. I have only one degree, Medicine, Doctor, although I'm available, as the politicians say, for the additional degree I foresaw, F.R.D., —Doctor of Physical Health — if some 20th century Rockefeller made me rich enough for a testimonial. Maybe I could understand these things better if I had lasted for two to four years in college between high school and medical school.

I did have one advantage when I studied medicine. I was overly safed today — two years of study in the office and under the tutelage of my reverend preceptor, Dr. Daniel A. Eiseline, Shortsville, N. Y. If or when general education is reformed to turn out plain citizens, doctors, some such preceptorial training should be an indispensable part of it.

Last July Dr. Esther Tuttle of New York told the British Medical Congress that "osteoarthritis is . . . part of a general degeneration of body tissue." It is quite common after the age of forty, she said, and "is present in some degree in practically every individual past the age of 60." In the 4,000 cases she studied she found no difference in the incidence of osteoarthritis in persons who had worked hard for many years and those who had done little or no work. That destroys one of the theory that osteoarthritis is due to excessive wear and tear, or weight-bearing joints.

In a minuscule work on Chronic Joint Disability published last September, the conductor of this Boston state clinic describes joint disability is physical degeneration of joint tissues and does not inflammation. Arthr-itis) except from injury or strain of the arthritic joint. The initial cause of the trouble is nutritional deficiency through the years from childhood to the present time, and it is likely to go from bad to worse as you don't correct your faulty nutrition and maintain good nutrition from now on.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

RESIST THE SHELF

There is a disposition today to chuck the oldsters up on the shelf. In past generations we had the spectacle of doddering old ineffients holding on to jobs long after they were capable of handling them. But today we find hale, hearty and experienced men compelled to retire before they are ready for the scrap heap because of their ages.

If you retire early enough, just remember that you have a delightful field of investment before you. Prof. Thorndike of Columbia University has made a long series of tests that older people really learn better than the young people. One of the tests was Ingenious tests involved the ability to learn to write with the wrong hand. To everybody's amazement, the oldsters learned more quickly, than the youngsters. Prof. Lorge, professor to declare, "We have discovered that mature people can learn practically anything they want to. In every mental function, the mature person is capable and teachable. In fact the learning ability of older people is very great, almost as the learning ability of young people at the highest favorable ages of 18, 19, 20."

So cheer up fellow oldsters—for you'll soon be among your number — and just remember that it has been scientifically proved that not so bad after all. In fact we can give the youngsters a run for their money.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

AFRAID OF MISTAKES?

If you are afraid of mistakes you are afraid of yourself! Most of us are afraid of them. Few of us all, rich or poor. The greatest make mistakes. Prof. Einstein, the so-called "Empire Builder" of South Africa, once said: "My greatest mistake is one that I make more than anyone else—but I pay for it with my time."

A woman said to Henry Ward Beecher, after he had finished a sermon: Mr. Beecher, did you know you made a grammatical error in your sermon?" Said Beecher: "I'll wager that I made a dozen of them." Mistakes are not to be confused with mistakes. They are the result of failure to use all the knowledge we possess. Everybody is never making mistakes, but in never making the same mistake twice!"

Mistakes are great teachers, but those teachers are often very particular and we have to suffer before we learn to that other fellow's mistake. It's fortunate if we learn by our mistakes. The mistake we make that leaves the success or happiness of some one else is the most regrettable. It is not caused by our own mistakes. Mistakes are unrecallable!

Let us not be afraid of your mistakes. Face them, humble yourself before them and learn from them. Never allow yourself to blame no one else because of a mistake that is your own responsibility. Mastery yourself against mistakes.

The greatest of all fears perhaps, is that of fearing to make mistakes. Get over that fear and you will make far, far more fewer and fewer mistakes, and you will have learned one of the great keys of life itself.

Kampus Kapers To Be Presented For Three Nights

Backstage at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School a great show is whipping into shape, for it's Kampus Kapers time. Other years this presentation has hit Belleville like a hurricane and left its audiences limp from applauding and hoarse from cheering. This year should prove to be no exception. In fact the show has become such a hit that it is necessary this year to stage Kampus Kapers on three consecutive nights, March seventh, eighth and ninth instead of on two nights as in previous years.

Everybody connected with this extravaganza is doing admirable work to provide a delightful evening of entertainment. Mr. Homer Townsend is responsible for organizing and producing the variety program which will be the seventh production presented by the Boys' Athletic Society of BCVS.

The numbers are many and varied from the inspirational renditions by the famed Glee Club under the direction of Mr. C. Templer to the jaunty skits by talented humorists. Greg Butler, a well-known piano artist, will favor the audience with a piano solo. There will be impersonations by two youthful students and the great idol of the teenage "rock and roll" set is scheduled to appear.

TEACHERS TO APPEAR

However, the show, although dominated by student endeavor, will also reveal the hidden talents of the male teaching staff. Their fresh, and spirited skits which have become a highlight of Kampus Kapers will undoubtedly be one of the outstanding sequences of the show.

Pyramids are synonymous with Kampus Kapers and will provide many moments of tension and suspense as will the high-bar demonstrations and matwork. But wait—there is more to the show than that. Included also in the program are vocal solos by both Margaret Arnott and Gordon Orr; Margaret Sue Brant will add musical sketches to the show; and the Dramatic Club under Mr. Marchand will present some "blackouts".

Everything was to point to another great production, the tickets for which are disappearing rapidly with Saturday night already almost sold out.

Demorestville Fellowship Group Entertained

NORTHPORT — Over 100 were in attendance when Northport entertained the Fellowship group of Demorestville Wednesday evening.

The affair was a most successful one. The president, Barbara Aman, welcomed the guests. A sing-song, led by Ken Needham, was enjoyed. Mrs. Gilbert Stackhouse played the piano. This was followed by a lively Grand March led by Barbara Aman, and Hilda Foster. Next came a humorous auction sale under the direction of auctioneer Murney Lindsay, with Ralph Aman as cashier.

The Rev. J. Bryson introduced Mr. Bob Cherry, of Queen's University, who took charge of the music for dancing. He was assisted by the Sallans brothers and Russell Howell at square dance time. Chris Cronk and Hilda Foster were in charge of the dances and games for the evening.

There were several lovely prizes won for novelty dances.

A King of Hearts was chosen. He was Denny Sallans, the man with the smallest waist. His queen was Mrs. G. Stackhouse, the lady with the smallest foot. The royal couple had a crowning ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Starks and Mrs. Harold Robinson had charge of an attractive booth with candy and soft drinks for sale. They were well patronized all evening.

Tables were set for a most delicious repast with Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. Cecil Aman, Mrs. Walter Norton, Mrs. Robt. Greenwell and Mrs. Charles Reid as kitchen conveners.

President of the Demorestville group, Alex Williams, thanked their hosts for a most delightful evening and expressed the hope that the Demorestville group would be able to entertain Northport group in a similar fashion at a later date.

Barbara Aman responded and thanked all those who helped in any way, particularly Bob Clark.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By CHRIS F. LEGGAT

The 5th Belleville (Prince of Wales), held their Father and Son banquet on Monday Feb. 25th, in the Sunday School of College Hill United Church.

There were 125 Scouts and fathers present. "O Canada" was sung, flag break by the Scouts and grace said by Mr. Bruce Bexley. The dinner served by the ladies was truly a banquet. Everybody was served very quickly although the hall was filled to capacity. To a layman it was a pleasure to watch these efficient ladies no fuss, no bother, they certainly practise the Boy Scout motto of being prepared. At each place at the head table was a souvenir — the writer found a tomahawk carved and painted by Scout Johnny Oliver, which will be treasured. Small flags gave the table a festive appearance and there was a large birthday cake. The A.D.C. Scouts required the assistance of a small Cub to cut the cake and blow the candles out.

Cub Richard Dorwick toasted the Cub fathers and Scout Barton Durant the Scout fathers. Mr. Don Hunter replied for chairman. Howard Burley introduced the guests. Mrs. Doris Nicole, Akela of the 5th. Mrs. Taylor, Akela of the 7th. Mrs. Townsend, Akela of the 5th. Mrs. Williams, Baloo of the 5th. Les Boyle A.D.C., Scouts Chris. Leggat, Art Jackson, Field Commissioner. Mr. Bruce Bexley, Padre, Phil Allcorn, A.D.C., Cubs Howard Burley, Chairman, Mrs. Bexley, Clarence Morris, John Townsend, D.C.M. Bill Taylor, Scoutmaster 5th.

PLEASED WITH TURNOUT

The chairman expressed pleasure at the large turnout and mentioned that his own son was now a Cub. He appealed for more members, which from the interest and enthusiasm shown shouldn't be a difficult problem.

Phil Allcorn spoke briefly on the individual personality of each group. He praised Mr. and Mrs. Townsend for their outstanding work in Scouting and told the fathers they could help by attending meetings.

D.C.M., John Townsend welcomed Mrs. Doris Nicole as a new Cub leader.

Art Jackson, guest speaker, gave a short talk on Baden — Powell's ideas of Scouting. B.P., was a genius and thoroughly enjoyed all Scout's work. He loved honest fun, taking care not to offend any one. Scouting is built around healthy fun. The Chief was besieged by letter writers and replied to two letters at the same time, a pencil in each hand. Indoor meetings should be preparation for outdoor practice. Fathers and leaders should take the boys out and learn the inspiring lessons provided by nature.

Les Boyle made a few well chosen introductory remarks and played B.P's, last message to Scouts, recorded when he was eighty years old. An appropriate finale to one of the best banquets held in Belleville. Congratulations to you Howard Burley for your efficient leadership, the meeting wasn't allowed to lag at any point — and to your ladies and committee for providing such an enjoyable evening. Remarks from fathers and guests were all complimentary and all well deserved.

Dr. MacKenzie Gives Kiwanians Education Talk

The principal of Albert College, Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, B.A., D.D., yesterday called upon Belleville Kiwanians to get a moral and spiritual understanding of education. He also hinted that the need in future will be for greater education and that a high school graduation diploma would no longer pave the way to a successful career.

Dr. MacKenzie pointed out that Russia is far advanced over the Western countries in her development of engineers and technicians. At present Russia has four engineers for each one practising in Western countries and "there is some hope that we will be able to overtake them within a decade or two."

Without facilities for education no country can hope to progress. But institutions of learning take money, and lots of it. Dr. MacKenzie could see no decrease in the costs of education for some time to come.

Introduced by Joe MacKay, he was thanked by Arthur Cummins.

Three new members were inducted into Kiwanis by Taylor-Franklin yesterday. They are Ross White, manager of Whites Hardware, Rev. C. W. Coleman, pastor of Holloway St. United Church, and Fred Bruster, manager of the local Simpsons - Sears department store. The new members were welcomed by President J. C. R. Punchard and other members of the club.

Mayor Is Named On Committee For Province

Her Worship Mayor Jane Forrester has been named to the Advisory Committee to the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office and is one of two members representing municipalities on the board. The recently formed Advisory Committee has a membership of eight.

Official notification of her appointment to the committee was received yesterday by Mayor Forrester who said that she was pleased to represent the East-Central part of Ontario on the board. One of the main projects of the committee will be to start on a trial basis with a residential fire college for advanced training of fire department officers.

Mayor Forrester some weeks ago had been asked if she would consider appointment to the advisory committee and yesterday's letter was in reply to her acceptance.

The invitation for Belleville's mayor to consider appointment indicated her viewpoint as a woman and a homemaker and also in her status as mayor was sought.

Diamond Wedding Anniversary Marked by Gifts

CAMPBELLFORD — Celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Petherick were at home to their friends and relatives on Sunday afternoon.

Their wedding attendants, Mrs. Robt. Irwin, (sister of Mr. Petherick), and Mr. Alfred Barnum, (brother of Mr. Petherick), were present for the happy occasion.

The couple have six children—Harold, Melville and Mrs. Carl Stephens (Etta) of Campbellford; Mrs. Will Begg, (Jessie) of Norwood), Murray, of Seymour, and Fred, of Rawdon. They have nine grandchildren and eight great - grandchildren.

59 YEARS MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Petherick were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Barnum, by the Rev. R. L. Edwards, pastor of Zion Church. They lived at Petherick's Corners since 1900 when they moved to Stanwood, purchasing the farm owned by their son Murray, where they still reside.

Having farmed a number of years, Mr. Petherick worked at Healey Falls during the power development, moving the first stone where the power house now stands. He also acted as road superintendent for Seymour township for 19 years, resigning from this position in 1946.

They received many gifts, including a spacesaver, radio, mixmaster, rocker, flowers, table lamp and toaster.

Cards were received from many friends and letters of congratulation from the Queen, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Dr. F. G. Robertson, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Prime Minister Leslie Frost and John Diefenbaker. An illuminated scroll came from G.A. Dunbar, Provincial Secretary.

Members of the family, numbering 38, joined the couple for their evening dinner.

Women's Activities

VICTORIA AVE. W.M.S.

The Victoria Avenue Baptist Church Women's Missionary Society met in the ladies' parlor recently with the president, Mrs. A. E. Berry, in the chair.

The Bible lesson was read from Ephesians 3:9-16 by Mrs. W. J. Shephard, who chose as her devotional topic, "Inner Resources," by Grace Noel Crowell.

The usual reports were read and received and the regular business conducted. A most interesting letter was read from Miss Mary C. Haddon, a missionary, by Mrs. W. Neal.

A special white cross collection was taken and plans were made for the ladies to meet at the church on March 13 to sew White Cross hospital supplies for the mission fields.

The group leader, Mrs. E. Nurse, was in charge of the program, the subject, "Canadian Christian Fellowship."

Miss Nurse, with the assistance of Mrs. Bert Orr, presented this in an interesting and informative manner, together with beautiful colored films of the missionary workers at ports of entry, namely Halifax, Montreal and Quebec City.

Members were reminded of the World Day of Prayer being held at Wesleyan Methodist Church on March 8 at 3 p.m.

'Education' Topic At BCIVS H-S Assoc. Meet

The members of Belleville Collegiate and Vocational Home and School Association who did not attend the March meeting of the Association which was held Monday evening in the auditorium, missed an interesting and worth-while program.

As this is "Education Week," the theme of the meeting was "Education". Mrs. Williams, the president, opened the meeting by reading a thought-provoking poem on "Education". Mrs. Williams also pointed out that there would be various broadcasts on radio and T.V. in regard to education during the week. It was announced that at the next meeting there will be a panel of teachers present to discuss the school curriculum. It is hoped that there will be many parents of Grade 8 pupils present, as these Grade 8 boys and girls will be entering Collegiate and Vocational School in the fall, and it is an opportunity for the parents to hear the various subjects discussed and have any questions in regard to the curriculum answered.

The Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mr. Buckley, and adopted. Mrs. Hughes gave the corresponding secretary's report, and in absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Williams reported the amount of the bank balance.

SCOTTISH CURRICULUM

Mr. Musgrove introduced the speaker, Mr. J. Ritchie, who has recently come to Canada from Scotland to be a teacher of Art at the Collegiate. Mr. Ritchie's subject was "Some Aspects of Education in Scotland", and he explained the Scottish school curriculum and system of education. As he went along, it was interesting to note the difference in the teaching system and curriculum there and here. For instance, in Scotland it is necessary that all students study art, and as a result Scotland alone there are 600 teachers of art. As it is an option subject here, there are not nearly so many teachers who specialize in that particular subject.

Following Mr. Ritchie's address, there was a lively question and answer period.

On behalf of all present, Mrs. Layton thanked Mr. Ritchie for his interesting and comprehensive talk.

A splendid film entitled, "Appointment with Youth," was shown. This film carried out the same line of thought and was much enjoyed by those present.

After the meeting was adjourned, coffee and cookies were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Cathers and her committee.

The Carmel Women's Institute held its recent meeting in the hall. Mrs. Gowthorpe presided.

The roll call was answered by 11 members.

Correspondence was read and discussed and Mrs. Patterson gave a report from a meeting she attended in Belleville in connection with the anniversary of the W.I.

The standing committees gave reports. Keep in mind the extension short course to be held in April.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Marguerite Hicks.

The conveners for the meeting were Mrs. Whitmore and Mrs. J. Gowthorpe.

Since this is the 60th anniversary, Mrs. Whitmore read a paper on the history of the Institute. This history of the Institute goes back to February 1897, and it began in Ireland. The founder was Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, wife of a Hamilton merchant who lost her son from a disease brought on by drinking impure milk.

It has grown rapidly since, and spread to many countries across the world.

Mrs. Gowthorpe gave a humorous reading on how to conduct a meeting while one is presiding as president.

Mrs. Whitmore gave a humorous reading, "Asking Papa."

Refreshments were served and a social half hour was spent.

This - - - and That

BY HARRIET STEVENS

Since this is Education Week, we decided to see if we might discover what a great thinker of our time feels. Albert Schweitzer was an educationist and had written his first books before he ever decided to become a medical missionary. Schweitzer claims that "abolishing of thought" has contributed towards a decline in our civilization. He says that man "does not want to think, and seeks not self-improvement but entertainment, that kind of entertainment, moreover, which makes least demand upon his spiritual faculties." Again he says: "In the education and the school books of today the duty of humanity is relegated to an obscure corner, as though it were no longer true that it is the first thing necessary in the training of personality, and as if it were not a matter of great importance to maintain it as a strong influence in our human race against the influenceasf gutter circumstances. It has not always been so. There was a time when it was a ruling influence not only in schools, but in literature, even down to the book of adventures. Defoe's hero, Robinson Crusoe, is continually reflecting on the subject of humane conduct, and feels himself so responsible for loyalty to this duty that when defending himself he is continually thinking how he can sacrifice the smallest number of human lives; he is so faithful indeed to this duty of humanity, that the story of his adventures acquires thereby quite a peculiar character. Is there among works of this kind today a single one in which we shall find anything like it?"

We heard Charles Van Doren remark during an interview that he had been lecturing his students at Columbia University on Robinson Crusoe.

Around the end of the sixth century an Indian philosopher wrote "Mark how fortune brings endless misery. The life of the miseries of winning it, guarding it, and losing it."

There have been complaints because the Dominion Government has set up the Canada Council. It is argued that in order to meet the Russian Challenge in the scientific field, the $100,000,000 should be spent on laboratories, and advanced scientific education. Maybe they have been wiser than we know or they realize. During Education Week, it might be worthwhile to ask ourselves about "the importance to maintain personality as a strong influence in our human race against the influence of outer circumstances" and the importance of slowing down to avoid some of the miseries of winning fortune.

Would the simple Robinson Crusoe be more beneficial then so many ingenious complications, so much cynical sex and horror, so much glorification of the smart rather than the intelligent, so much speed, etc. and etc.? During this week, we could ask if the teacher is to blame, if the parents are to blame, if the church is to blame; and then, is education not the responsibility of society which is the composite of all segments. Education is or should create thinking citizenship and this responsibility is not confined to the classroom or to the passing of examinations.

Or, of course, we might nonchalantly ask ourselves if everything is not O.K. in this best of all possible words. If it is, then there is nothing to concern ourselves over and no one is to blame for anything. The rose-colored glasses are convenient but the truth is neither convenient nor, for that matter, lenient. If Albert Schweitzer is correct in giving importance to the development of personality as one of education's tasks, then this week should be a time for serious and profound reflection by society.

We said goodbye to our feathered friends on October 20th when we saw great flocks of Canadian geese flying southward. We heard and saw the first signs last Saturday, that the northward trek has commenced. Over in the woods we heard the crow. Probably this is the only time a black crow is the recipient of pleasant words. We were glad to hear his glad tidings and we actually saw a number of blackbirds perched on top of the barn. Spring may not be just around the corner but the birds have made their first appearance in this corner.

No one could be happier than C & T in acknowledge that so far our warning about pork prices has been premature. Our informant at that time said buyers' resistance might change the picture. And it has! Here we have where over and no one is to blame for anything. The rose-colored glasses are convenient but the truth is neither convenient nor, for that matter, lenient. If Albert Schweitzer is correct in giving importance to the development of personality as one of education's tasks, then this week should be a time for serious and profound reflection by society.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

IS THE WOMAN WHO PAYS THE TAXI FARE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm a woman, and I'm just starting in a position in a real estate firm. I'm wondering if, when I take a man client in a taxicab to look at an office we negotiate for him to consider, I am supposed to pay the fare, or should I leave this to him? — F.M.

They should be no uncertainty about this . . . you should pay the fare. Have the money ready as you near the destination, and hand it to the driver as unobtrusively as possible. No fuss about it.

THE ENGAGED GIRL KNOWS WHAT SHE WANTS FOR "THE RINGS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The engaged and Tommy and I have been talking about "the rings." I have very definite ideas as what I want both for the engagement ring and for the wedding ring, and since they're not at all "excessive" ideas, I don't feel hesitant about telling Tommy what they are. I'm not at all interested in having the two rings a "set," and I'm not particularly interested in having them complement each other, except in general harmony.

In these circumstances please tell me if it would be entirely proper for me to consult about and perhaps definitely choose the wedding ring when we go together to consult about the engagement ring. — Kay H.

Yes, this will be proper, and practical also. For although you don't want the rings to be a set, you should, I suppose, try them on together to see that they have the "general harmony" you of course want them to have.

WIFE LIKES "HOUSE-WARMING" . . . HUSBAND PREFERS "OPEN HOUSE"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We've moved into our new house, and soon ("The good Lord willin' ") we'll have our furniture in and in place, settled up, and so forth. Then we'll be ready to welcome our relatives and friends to come-see. I agree with what you say about the word "House-warming," that it has a "heart-warming word, very welcoming," and I'd like to use this word in the invitations to the party. But my husband strongly objects to my using this word, insisting that if we do our guests will be positive that they must bring presents for our new home. He wants me to use "Open House." What'll I do, Mrs. Beeckman?

— Hostess-to-be

Use "Open House" . . . and your husband will be more receptive and cooperative as he helps to plan for the important occasion. Or, if you and he prefer, invite relatives and friends: "You and Bill will make Jim and me happy if you will come to a party at our house on Sunday afternoon, May 5th, 3-to-6." Today many people use that pleasant word "party" in their invitations to his general kind of party.

THANK-YOU NOTE FOR SHOWER GIFT CHARMINGLY IMPORTANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm to be married in May, and I would like to ask a question about bridal showers...if, as I open each gift, I thank the giver personally for the gift, is it necessary that I write thank-you notes for these gifts? — Lorraine.

It isn't absolutely necessary that you write them . . . but it's mighty important. A society-wise bride-to-be knows that she should make the gracious and forceful gestures that show her relatives and friends that she is an appreciative person, courteous, considerate. And here's an important opportunity . . . to write a thank-you note, a day or so after the shower, to every giver of a shower gift: "I want to tell you again, dear Ruth, how deeply I appreciate your goodness to me, your dear thought. Such a lovely present you gave me, the radiant yellow breakfast set, place mats and napkins. They are so sunny they'll start the day brightly for us! Jim and I both send our thanks to you, and our devoted greetings. You're such a dear friend!"

Your words of enthusiastic appreciation will linger in the memory of your friend . . . and she'll be so glad you wrote to reassure her that you so very much liked the gifts she chose.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TIPS ON CUTTING YOUR OWN HAIR

When trimming hair, cut one lock first, use number of finger widths as length-guide for balance of hair.

Generally speaking, we don't recommend anyone cutting their own hair. This is one beauty job that should really be handled by an expert. We have, it is true, met some girls who have the knack but, in most cases, don't yourself efforts usually produce a chopped and hacked-off look.

However, there are occasions when a gal may feel she just has to do a bit of trimming—immediately after an illness, for instance, when she's still not able to get to her hairdresser's; or, having had to cancel an appointment, to trim the front a bit in preparation for a special date. Well, if you must, you must. But at least do it so that your favorite "snipper" does not have a fit the next time he sees you. And here's how you can get pretty good results:

First, arrange for your emolument. You'll need a large mirror, a pair of sharp scissors, a cape or towel to keep shoulders free of snipped-off hair, some newspapers to spread on the floor so the cleanup operation will be easy, and baby pins to act as hair curlers if you've been cut.

Hair should be dry for cutting. Yes, we know many famous hairdressers cut the hair while it's wet. But, don't forget, they're experts! All right, now . . . pick up a strand about an inch square in the front and side of your hairdo. Grasp the scissors with your right thumb and third finger, moving the thumb only for cutting. Use short motions and never let the scissors close completely. When you're finished, the lock should be tapered at the ends.

Make a pin curl with the cut lock, but count the number of times you wrap hair around your finger. This is important, for it is a length-guide for the cutting job that remains. Trim the rest of your hair by setting pin curls around the same number of times as the first one. After the curl is made, the end that remains after winding the prescribed number of times should be cut off with the tanering scissors technique.

After each lock is wound and cut, use a clip or bobby pin to hold it in place. When you're finished, moisten each curl with a water-saturated piece of cotton and you're set.

When curls dry and are combed out, the result should be a uniformly even, neatly trimmed head.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HERE'S A SUGGESTION YOU CAN GIVE YOUR MOTHER

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm wondering if you can possibly tell me any way my mother could get my father to treat her better.

He never gives her a cent on pay day, but just goes out with the money and stays out drinking all night. When he comes home in the morning, he fights with all of us and accuses my mother of having another man at the house, which I know is not true. My mother is very, very good to all of us children. My father never takes her anywhere to have fun and the only place she ever goes is to a neighbor's to watch T.V.

My mother does all the time and she thinks that maybe my father has another woman. She often talks about leaving, and we don't want her to leave us. We want her to be happy, but we do not know what to do. She talks to me about everything because I'm 15 and the oldest child, so I hope you can tell me some advice to give her. — S.H.

Dear S.H:

It is wonderful thing that your mother has such a devoted and understanding daughter, and I'm sure that you're doing a great deal to help her by giving her the love and compassion that you evidently do. And don't worry about her ever leaving you. I'm quite certain she would never do that.

The best way to advise her on the question, I think, would be for you to suggest that she go and have a talk with someone at the Family Service organization in your town. She can look it up in the local phone book, then call or write to ask for an appointment. This organization is there for the very purpose of helping people with difficult family problems and I'm sure they will give your mother the sort of help she most needs right now.

So try to get her to go there, and then perhaps you would write again and let me know if she does.

IT'S WISER TO WAIT AWHILE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 17, and there is a fellow 20 that I've been going out with for a year. He has asked me to become engaged to him and to get married as soon as I'm 18.

I want very much to say yes, but my friends keep telling me I'm too young, and that since I didn't go out very much with boys before I met this one, I should go out with others before making up my mind. But the trouble is, I don't want to go out with other boys, because when I do, I keep thinking about the other one and wishing I were with him.

I do realize I'm young, and that marriage is so important one should be very sure, but if just being with a person is all you want, thinking of him all the time when you're not with him, liking the same things and having the same general ideas about what is right and wrong is love, then I love this fellow.

Do you think I'd be wrong to get engaged now? — M.S.

It is possible that you're the type of girl who is unusually mature for her age and so is able to judge her feelings accurately. But, even so, I think that since you must be still in school, it would be much wiser to wait at least until you've graduated before coming to a definite decision, and, in the meantime, have dates with other boys in your own age group as well as with the 20-year-old young man. Suggest this to the latter, explaining that you want to make absolutely sure of yourself, and if he is a straight-thinking fellow, he'll agree.

Then go into those other dates with the real desire and intention of enjoying them, instead of telling your self all the time that you wish you were with someone else. That's the only way you can accomplish the purpose you have in view—and the only way to become the well-rounded social person you should want to be.

Irish Stew with Dumplings OR Sauerbrauten with German Dumplings, Cole Slaw, Apfel Kuchen or Dutch Apple Pie, Coffee. bread, Coffee.

Answer: Send me the veal and spinach recipe Mary and I'll see what I can do with it. Cooking wasn't learned in a day, so be patient. Dumplings are no cinch but if you do exactly as this recipe says you'll be successful.

FEATHER DUMPLINGS

Two cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon pepper (optional), 3 tablespoons melted butter, about 2-3 cup milk. Sift dry ingredients together. Add egg, melted butter and enough milk to make a moist stiff batter. Drop from a greased teaspoon into boiling stew or liquid. Cover tightly and cook for 18 minutes at boiling point without lifting lid. Two dozen.

KLOESE (German Dumplings)

Two and one-half cups riced potatoes, scant 1-4 cup milk, 1-4 cup sifted flour, 1 egg unbeaten, 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Cool potatoes, add milk, flour, egg and parsley. Mix. Drop by tablespoonfuls into gently boiling salted water. Boil uncovered. When balls rise to the surface they are done, but may be boiled 3 more minutes if desired. These are often served with German Sauerbrauten.

When you make sugar-water syrup make just enough for your immediate purpose. It is difficult to prevent crystallization. Let me know whenever I can help you. Mary.

Letter: A few days ago you asked if anyone might have a recipe for a digestive biscuit. This is taken from an English Cookery Book:

DIGESTIVE BISCUITS

(Courtesy Olive P.) 4 oz. plain flour, 4 oz. medium oatmeal, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon bicarbonate soda, 1 tablespoon milk (about), 3 oz. fat (margarine or cooking fat), 1 tablespoon sugar. 1. Mix all dry ingredients together, rub in fat. 2. Mix to a stiff dough with a very little milk. 3. Roll out thinly, stamp into rounds with 2 1-2 inch plain cutter. 4. Bake on greased trays 20 to 25 minutes at 325 deg. This mixing will make 24 to 26 biscuits. Note: I have copied this as given in the book but 1 tablespoon is quite large compared to ours—similar to a wooden mixing spoon. A not-too-sweet cookie. Olive P.

Answer: Thanks Olive. That's perfect. I hope the enquiring reader sees it.

Prince Rainier III of Monaco and his wife, Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly, holding their baby daughter, Princess Caroline, wave to well-wishers after the infant was baptized in a colorful ceremony attended by four Roman Catholic bishops, 15 priests and 1,000 guests at the cathedral in Monaco. Princess Grace is wearing a brown dress and light-colored mink coat, while Prine Rainier is bedecked in his colonel's uniform — the same one he wore on their wedding day. The little princess was baptized with Monaco water at Rainier's express wish.

DESCRIBES LIFE OF DIPLOMAT'S WIFE

One of the most popular figures in the international society of New York and Washington is Mrs. Abba Eban, wife of Israel's ambassador to the U.S. and chief of the Israeli delegation to the U. N. She says that living with a harried diplomat while raising a family of two is not easy as they have long separations and tensions most persons never know. She says that any personal sacrifice is well worth it, to her if it leads to Israel's freedom.

OUT OF SPITE

MONTREAL (CP) — Arson squad detectives said Tuesday that thieves who fled empty-handed after smashing a safe in a Craig Street furniture store were responsible for a $500,000 fire that gutted three buildings last week. Detectives said the thieves probably set the fire "out of spite after finding no money in the safe."

STRIKE AGAINST UNION

MONTREAL (CP) — Waitresses by boys and cashiers in a large Montreal restaurant went on strike Tuesday—against the union. Dinty Moore's was forced to close at noon when about 100 employees walked out. Spokesmen for the employees said the strike is in protest of a decision by the Hotel, Restaurant, Club Employees and Bartenders Union to increase union dues by 50 cents.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ellen Sanders, Lecturer on Home Economics for 31 Years

I think you'll find most doctors agree that it's more important for a baby to learn to like to eat than how much he eats. After all, adults' appetites vary from meal to meal, so why not babies? Forcing never made a baby a bigger or a better eater and when mealtime is made a happy event, instead of an unpleasant duty, baby is more apt to approach his food with relish.

• • •

Crawl-privilege cue. Easy way to get more mileage out of your creeper's overalls. Just sew circlets of clear sheet plastic over the knees. They spare the fabric from ground-in grime as well as wear and tear.

• • •

Learning to like to eat is easy when you serve Gerber Strained Foods. First off, they have the naturally good, true flavors and tempting colors that appeal to little ones. Then there's the matter of texture . . . Gerber Strained Foods have the smooth-on-the-tongue consistency that's perfectly suited to a delicate palate. Finally there's plentiful variety. Over 37 good-tasting fruits, vegetables, dinners, meats and desserts so baby can enjoy many delightful combinations.

• • •

Bundling bit. When you and your little heir or heiress are ready for that daily airing, be sure you get dressed and ready before bundling baby. Wee ones can get overheated waiting for you and may get chilled outdoors.

• • •

Has baby tried this Gerber's baby delicacy . . . Strained Chicken and Noodles? It's a delightful dish that combines delicate chicken with tender egg noodles, flavor-fresh vegetables and the full fine flavor of natural chicken broth. That just about sums up this delicious main dish for baby. Nourishing because it combines 3 food groups to give baby a variety of nutrients plus unusual flavor interest . . . all in one dish. Woman of 90 Says Eat Lots Of Red Steak

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Augustine Piquette, 90, says "a woman might as well be dead as out of fashion."

She is proud of her slim figure and when interviewed on her 90th birthday was wearing a frock of fine wool fabric in "the very latest style."

"Why, that's simple," she said, when asked "how to live to be 90." "You just eat lots of good red steak, lots of meat for protein, lots of vegetables and leave the sweets alone."

Mrs. Piquette, a resident of Sudbury since she came here in 1909 with her late husband, is a chic 95 pounds. She is called "Ma-Mere" Piquette by her friends, her son and daughter, her 10 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

BORN IN QUEBEC

Native of Ste. Andres Avelin, a Quebec community near Ottawa, the former Augustine Villeneuve kept house for her ailing mother when she was a young girl. She met her husband, Simeon, at a church social.

They were married in 1909, when Simeon brought his diminutive bride to Sudbury. Mr. Piquette, who died in 1915, worked on many of Sudbury's larger buildings, including the Nickel Range Hotel and Sacred Heart College.

Mrs. Piquette now rents a room with friends and does all her own housekeeping, taking a long walk each day besides doing her own marketing.

She loves to dance and sing. She told guests that she enjoys a good party, and executed a tricky little clog dance and a waltz to prove it.

Diesel Inquiry Moving Slowly

OTTAWA (CP) — Slow-moving proceedings before the royal commission on the CPR diesel issue continue today with cross-examination of a company witness.

Questioning of CPR labor relations chief S. D. Scarge was to be pursued by counsel David Lewis of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) whose January strike brought a nine-day tieup of life transcontinental railway.

It was Mr. Gossnee's third day on the witness stand. He was the first witness before the commission, which now is bringing out basic — often necessarily repetitious — groundwork evidence to give the commissioners the background of the dispute.

Expectations now are that there still are many weeks to go on hearings. This became more evident than ever Tuesday when Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, chairman announced that hearings will also be held elsewhere.

At Tuesday's session, the CPR emphasized its proposal to remove firemen from yard and road freight diesel locomotives by having a witness estimate for the commission that this eventually would save the company some $11,500,000 a year.

UN PLAN

(Despite the hitch, a Reuters Jerusalem dispatch said an Indian battalion of United Nations troops advanced toward Gaza today to replace Israeli forces. The battalion left its base camp at El 'Arish and is "well on its way" to the strip, a UN spokesman said.)

There appeared to be no snarl in the evacuation of Sharm el Sheikh, the Sinai base commanding the mouth of the Aqaba Gulf. Loading of heavy material was reported progressing there according to plan. Troop movements were to start later.

Fresh outbursts against the withdrawal order of Premier David Ben-Gurion marked a new session of the Knesset (parliament) but Ben-Gurion won a vote of confidence 84 to 25.

None of the three opposition parties was believed able to muster enough support to force Ben-Gurion's five-party coalition to resign.

Truckloads of stores rumbled out of Gaza in a drenching rain. Israeli planes and vessels began moving equipment from Sharm el Sheikh at the mouth of the Aqaba Gulf.

It could not be learned immediately when the UN Emergency Force would enter the two areas, but plans called for moving them in simultaneously with the Israeli departure.

A "blitz" transfer was planned for the Gaza Strip to prevent Arab agitators from igniting anti-Israeli demonstrations. The borders of the strip have been sealed since the weekend and reporters forbidden entry.

At Sharm el Sheikh an Israeli merchant ship completed loading heavy military equipment and made ready to sail for Eilat, the southern Israeli port at the head of the gulf. Only a relatively small garrison was at the desolate outpost on the tip of the Sinai Peninsula. It could be evacuated in a few hours.

UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold was reported planning to fly to Cairo and Gaza early next week to set up a UN civil administration for Gaza. Plans announced for the deployment of the UN troops indicated a lengthy stay was contemplated, even if Egypt objected.

Thus Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the commander of the UN Emergency Force, said Swedish, Danish, Norwegian and Colombian troops will occupy Gaza while Finnish forces will take over the Sharm el Sheikh coastal strip.

This left out UN troops from India, Indonesia and Yugoslavia, whose governments have sided with Egypt in the UN and could be expected to pull their troops out if Egyptian President Nasser demanded it.

No specific mention was made of the administrative force which Canada provided to the UN after initiating proposals for UNEF's organization.

Two Given Terms

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two former officials in the Truman administration convicted last summer of conspiracy to defraud the government on tax case were sentenced Tuesday to two years in prison and fined $2,500 each.

Both Matthew J. Connelly, 49, presidential appointments secretary under Truman, and T. Lamar Caudle, 52, former head of the justice department's tax division, made statements to the court before they were sentenced.

Federal District Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye let both remain at liberty under $5,000 bonds pending appeal of the case.

ONLY THE COASTS WILL KNOW THAT SPRING IS HERE

Both west and east coasts will bask in above-average temperatures for the next 30 days, according to the revised weather map of the U.S. weather bureau. But the majority of Canada's citizens will look in vain for signs of spring. From Alberta to Quebec the forecast is cold and probably rain and snow.

FRENCH PREMIER VISITS MONTREAL

After discussions with government leaders in Ottawa, French Premier Guy Mollet stopped at Montreal, the second largest French speaking city in the world, and Quebec. Here, in Montreal, he greets Princess Werner de Merode.

FEDERAL

The federal government considers five provinces have accepted the principles of the proposals — Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland. It expects that Nova Scotia or New Brunswick soon may also agree.

IN ALL SIX

Health Minister Martin made clear in an interview Tuesday that schemes would have to be launched in all six provinces before federal contributions become available. "We want a nation-wide scheme," he said. "We want a maximum number of Canadians covered."

He declined to amplify when opposition members sought further clarification in the Commons. He referred one questioner, for his answer, to the government's 1956 offer to the provinces and to the resolution, to precede enabling legislation, now before the Commons.

The resolution said the plan would commence "when at least six provinces, containing at least half the population of Canada, have entered into such agreements and qualified for receipt of such contributions."

Another point of federal-Ontario difference had been whether the insurance should be compulsory or voluntary. Federal officials at first suggested it should be compulsory but Mr. Frost took the opposite view. Federal officials later said they would insist only that a "substantial" portion of a province's population be covered.

Minister Claims Some Use Church For Politics

MONTREAL (CP)—Rev. Gerard Dion, co-author of a pamphlet which last summer attacked campaign practices of Quebec political parties, says there is a great temptation among Roman Catholics engaged in active politics to use the Church for political purposes.

In a weekend address in French to the Newman Club of McGill University, Father Dion said some people in politics "do not hesitate to proclaim themselves Catholics when it serves their purpose."

"They invoke, when the need arises, certain social principles of our doctrine, in place of sound attitudes they rarely miss an occasion to pay tribute to the role of the Church and even to flatter ecclesiastical authorities. But this recourse to Christian principles is done to justify a line of conduct which has nothing in common with them and to which they are at times completely opposed.

TO GET SUPPORT

"They act thus because they believe it is an effective way to attract support of the naive and well-thinking souls and to exploit an institution which enjoys prestige and has considerable social clout.

"With such Catholics, it is a lucky day when they do not attempt to cover themselves with the cloak of religion to protect themselves against legitimate attacks by their opponents. To disagree with them is to become practically suspect of heresy; to want to replace them by others, if they are in power, is to put in jeopardy the very foundations of Christianity."

Father Dion said the Church does not play politics and is not tied to any regime. The Church accepted all regimes as long as they respected the natural law, and that they did not interfere with the Church or hamper its freedom to accomplish its supernatural mission.

Porter to Leave Ottawa Talks, Mother Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. George Dana Porter, 83, mother of Provincial Treasurer Dana Porter, died of a heart attack Tuesday night shortly after finishing dinner with her husband at the select York Club in midtown Toronto.

The provincial treasurer will break off hospital insurance talks with federal officials at Ottawa and return to Toronto for the funeral Thursday.

Mrs. Porter and her retired physician husband, who achieved prominence in tuberculosis treatment, celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary last Dec. 30.

The stricken woman was the former Lena Harris of Brantford and the granddaughter of one of the founders of the Massey-Harris farm implement firm, now the Massey-Harris-Ferguson firm.

creased in strength by 200 uniformed men this year and that salaries will be increased starting next month.

The new recruits would bring the force strength to 1,770 men and relieve the present manpower shortage, he said.

Initial pay for probationary constables will be $3,210 compared with the present $2,860. This becomes effective April 1. A constable would be able to reach the maximum salary of $3,870 in 4½ years instead of the present 6½.

The service bar allowance of $2 a month for each five-year period of service will be increased to $3 a month.

DEFENDS DEPARTMENT

Mr. Roberts defended the government's insurance department against a charge that it failed its duty by not checking the books of the bankrupt Ridout Real Estate Company.

Liberal Opposition Leader Oliver said the failure of the company, whose president has been charged with fraudulent handling of the firm's trust funds, shows that the department's inspection services are a myth.

Mr. Roberts replied the insurance department made a spot check of the company's books three years ago. It lacked the staff to audit regularly the 2,600 brokers in the province.

The Ontario Real Estate Board should exercise more control over its members, he said.

A dispute between CCF Leader MacDonald and Albert Wren (L—Port Arthur) over the use of the OPP in the recent strike of truck operators against pulp companies in the Kenora-Fort Francis area flared up again.

MacDonald said the police reinforcements sent to the area created an atmosphere of intimidation.

Mr. Wren said Mr. MacDonald was not speaking for labor in the area.

Mr. MacDonald replied that he was speaking for the lumber and sawmill workers union, from which he said he had received letters to prove it.

The union, a general said a member of his department and one from the labor department were investigating the strike.

Harry C. Nixon (L—Brant) suggested the government pay all costs of administration of justice rather than institute its proposed $1 a person grant to cover the costs.

Under the government's plan, he said the grant would cover only 80 per cent of the costs in Brant while Waterloo would have a big surplus.

Mr. Roberts said the grant was worked out on the average per capita cost of administration of justice throughout the province.

Arthur J. Reaume (L—Essex North) suggested that the government give Windsor a similar $20,000 grant to help resolved by Niagara Falls for policing the Rainbow Bridge. He said Windsor has a traffic problem related to the United States which handled more traffic than the Rainbow Bridge.

TO BRING CHRIST TO PERU INDIANS

Now living in Brantford, Ont., soon Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Greenslade and their three children will be in Peru among Indians who have had only slight contact with white people. They will attempt to establish churches in towns and villages along the Amazon within Peru. Most of their travelling, in their four-year stay there, will be by dugout canoe. To converse with the Indians they will have to learn the native language and dialects. No missionary has tried in the past to convert the Indians of the area.

Three Prospectors, Who Made Important Finds in Manitoba, Claim Great Future for Area

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Johnson was there, one of hundreds on the milling convention floor. He made the discovery at Mystery Lake in northern Manitoba which has lead to International Nickel's current $175,000,000 development.

Along came Austin McVeigh. He made the discovery at Lynn Lake, also in northern Manitoba, which led to the nickel-copper operation of Sherritt-Gordon mines.

Then, to join them, came Gunnar Berg. He has made many finds and his name is perpetuated in Gunnar mines, now a uranium company, but formerly operator of a gold mine which Mr. Berg discovered.

The three are here for the convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association, and their impromptu get-together is typical of the meetings and greetings that go on at this annual gathering of the people who find and make Canada's mines.

FARMERS FIRST

The three must represent about 100 years of prospecting and they are a bit of yarning about it.

Mr. Johnson was born in Iceland, came as a child to Saskatchewan, and farmed there until he took up prospecting in 1924. He found little worthwhile until he came upon nickel at Mystery Lake in 1948.

International Nickel paid him $3,000 cash and took an option on his claims for $250,000. When these particular claims proved low-grade, he settled for $110,000 cash.

Later, the syndicate which he formed with other prospectors staked another 141 claims and these were optioned last October to International Nickel for $568,000 of which $119,000 was paid in cash, with the balance to come over eight years.

PRAISES MANITOBA

The area is the most promising in Manitoba's Snow Lake area, 90 miles east of Flin Flon, and 16 of its properties — mostly copper and zinc—have been optioned to seven companies, and they are doing other geophysical and exploratory work.

Mr. Johnson, who lives at Flin Flon, calls northern Manitoba "the land of the future." He predicts it will produce a mine a year for the next 10 years.

He calls International Nickel's holdings, now much extended from his original find, "fantastic" in both high and low-grade ores.

Mr. McVeigh, who now lives in Toronto, made the Lynn Lake discovery while prospecting for Sherritt-Gordon.

The original surface showing was about the size of a small table cloth, covered by a clump of trees.

LUCKY FIND

The tree roots, however, had lifted up a piece of rock which caught Mr. McVeigh's attention. He crawled in with his grub hoe and pulled out a solid piece of pyrrhotite, holding nickel, copper and cobalt.

"Perhaps," he said, "my experience will be an incentive to younger prospectors and teach them that they must look everywhere."

In earlier years Mr. McVeigh worked for northwest Ontario's Madsen Red Lake gold mines, and several of its producing veins are named after him—the Austin vein, the south Austin and the McVeigh.

Mr. Berg was born in Sweden and came to Cobalt, Ont., when he was 17. Since then, he has prospected right across to British Columbia, in addition to finding the Gunnar gold mine in eastern Manitoba. He was in on the original staking around Great Bear Lake which started Canada's uranium future.

OLD CLAIM

Since last summer he has operated in Manitoba, has sold some claims and recently staked a copper-nickel showing south of the Moak Lake which he originally found 30 years ago.

Summing up nearly 50 years of prospecting, and what it takes, he said:

"I have had my share of luck and I have seen some wonderful country.

"You have to like to be in the bush by yourself and to get accustomed with nature. You have to want to and what is in the hill.

"You need the knowledge and experience to detect mineral structures when you see them, because companies and they are doing other geophysical and exploratory work.

Mr. Johnson, who lives at Flin Flon, calls northern Manitoba "the land of the future." He predicts it will produce a mine a year for the next 10 years.

Staff Cleared of Blame

ORILLIA (CP)—The staff of the Ontario Hospital School here was cleared of blame Tuesday in the deaths Feb. 21 of two girl patients in a steam room. A coroner's jury ruled the deaths accidental.

The jury recommended, however, that taps in spray-rooms be of spring or removable type; that spray-rooms not be used for sleeping purposes; and that spray rooms be locked when not in use.

FISH SUBMERGED PEAK

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters) — The British Navy survey ship Owen, operating off the East African coast, is reported to have discovered an uncharted mountain under the sea. The mountain rises in the Mozambique Channel to a height of 9,000 feet from the sea bed. Its flat top measures five miles across.

New Industries Seen Across North Canada from Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — The natural gas pipeline now being built from west to east is, in the opinion of Cyril T. Young, "the greatest single project that has happened in Canada" since the building of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways.

Mr. Young, vice-president of the Prospectors and Developers Association, a director of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. Ltd., and a former superintendent of natural resources for the Canadian National Railways, gave his opinion in an address Tuesday to the association's annual convention.

"Few people realize," he said, "what natural gas will mean to mining and metallurgy and the making of new products and the saving of ores and metals. This can also be said of the pulp and paper industry.

"The benefits will not appear to the ordinary citizen until he sees the size of the payrolls that will ensue from new industries across the North.

"Important industries realizing the advent of natural gas will start to move northward as the $7,000,000 Du Pont industries operating at North Bay, Ont., exemplifies."

Use of natural gas was the best method of making elemental sulphur from each operation as those of International Nickel Company's.

Only research would reveal all that natural gas would do for mines, forests and agricultural clay belts. Mr. Young suggested that research should investigate the recovery of gold values from pyritic gold ores.

The country as cold as the North costs of heating would be lowered and equalized. However, the coal dealer's volume would also increase because of growth. It was too early to say what rates would be, Mr. Young said, "But we know that they may be lower than the gas rates now quoted and probably only one-half the cost of gas to cities like New York on the Eastern seaboard."

Natural gas line would be built through part of the North in 1957, and a branch line from North Bay to Toronto.

Other pipelines would be constructed at the same time "because International Nickel is the heaviest delivered load between Winnipeg and Toronto."

The could envisage, Mr. Young said, lines being extended to Manitoba, Que., and beyond, and to Ontario's Blind River uranium field.

Northern Ontario Natural Gas—which will distribute the gas in Northern Ontario—and Mr. Justice Young said, offer bond, debenture and share financing to northern residents and then to Canadians in general to an extent exceeding $20,000,000.

Should Canadians not finance the bonds, they would not only be offered to but would be taken by Americans.

More Testimony Heard About Portland Vice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets investigators called another Oregon political figure to testify today in the inquiry into an alleged plot of Teamsters Union officials to control the state's vice profits.

Robert Kennedy, counsel for the special Senate committee investigating alleged labor-industry racketeering, declined to name the witness in advance.

Among those the committee has said it intends to question publicly are Portland Mayor Terry D. Schrunk and William Langley, Portland district - attorney.

Kennedy said he also expects further testimony from Nathan Zusman, operator of the Seven Room, This is a Portland night spot which a bawdy house madam, Mrs. Helen Hardy, testified Tuesday was a referral point for customers to her "call house." She said Zusman offered financial help to establish the house, and took 20 per cent of the income.

DENIES ACCUSATION

Zusman angrily denied all Mrs. Hardy's allegations, demanding that both he and she be put to the witness chair. He said he had been married for 16 years and operated a "clean" club.

Mrs. Hardy testified she got a green light to open the house from Thomas Maloney, identified to her as district-attorney Langley's campaign manager.

She said she met Maloney at Zusman's Desert Room and Maloney assured her she could open a house of prostitution without fear of raids. Maloney has been identified as a Seattle gambler allegedly found in the past by Teamsters officials to take over gambling and other vice.

Man Convicted As Driver of Getaway Car

HAMILTON (CP) — Nick Cote, 23, Tuesday was convicted of participation in the armed robbery of a Woolworth store Feb. 12.

He was remanded until Friday for sentence by Magistrate Frank Schwenger. He had been charged with two other men after a police car chase that followed the 10,000 holdup of the Royal Bank of Canada branch in Waterdown, 15 miles northwest of Hamilton.

Cote was accused of using the police car and the three men cap- George Coy, 26, and Donald Forde 19, fled from the scene. Forde and Coy pleaded guilty in county magistrate's court and are awaiting sentence.

Cote, who conducted his own defence, said he was driving in a junkyard when Coy and Forde stopped him and forced him to drive them at gunpoint.

Cote's car was blocked by police car and the loot was captured. Of the $10,000 stolen from the bank, $9,800 was recovered.

WOULD AID MOTORISTS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Motor traffic jams may be averted in the future by electronic devices that advise drivers of road conditions ahead, H. A. Rodzikowski of the U.S. bureau of public roads said a tone radio system could be installed along highways to warn cars of accidents ahead and radio would cut in on the auto radios to deliver the message. The radios could guide drivers through the fog, giving correct bearings.

107TH BIRTHDAY

Canada Council Bill Receives Second Reading

OTTAWA (CP)—The bill to set up a Canada Council with $100,000,000 to spend on scholarships, awards and university buildings and equipment has received second reading in the Senate.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader, winding up debate Tuesday night, said it had been conducted on a high level and reflected no grave difference of opinion over aid to the arts.

There had been misgivings by some senators, he said, over aid to the social sciences "but why they should be excluded from the arts and humanities for purposes of this bill I do not know."

Artistic and literary activity were not new in Canada. Much had been accomplished through the years. The bill was merely to encourage the work.

HEARD OBJECTIONS

Objections heard had been to the method by which the council is to get its money—a outright grant of $50,000,000 for distribution in a group of trustees appointed by universities in the three fields during a 10-year period, and $50,000,000 endowment fund for scholarships and awards.

There, he said, it would, is to keep the council "far removed from the political scene." Its only relation to politics would be to Parliament, not the government, and in the form of an annual report of its expenditures.

Senator C. P. Burchill (L—New Brunswick) said it is impossible to think of any better way for the Canadian government to foster the arts than by awarding scholarships, as provided under the council. Universities were not provincial any longer; they were national institutions, with international student bodies, "and as such they have a claim on the national treasury."

Legislatures Of 3 Provinces Discuss Liquor

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three provincial legislatures—Alberta, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick—discussed extension of liquor outlets Tuesday with the weight of opinion resting largely on the side of caution.

In the Alberta legislature, where the debate got the hottest, a committee report advising against any new outlets produced sharply opposing views on liquor consumption.

Abe Miller (L—Edmonton), said he expected some "guidance" from the committee report. Instead it was more confused than ever. If liquor is such an evil as it is said to be, then why not get in the liquor business at all?"

Committee member H. E. Strom (SC—Cypress) said he concluded "nothing good can be said" for the liquor traffic, but added that he cannot see how liberalizing the laws will solve the liquor problem.

AGAINST NEW OUTLETS

Education Minister A. O. Aalborg in the Nova Scotia house members to join the debate, gave his support to the committee's recommendation against any new liquor outlets.

The Dawson Creek government doesn't plan any immediate broadening of liquor outlets, premier Leo Provincial Secretary G. I. Smith said in reply to a question. In the New Brunswick legislature Opposition Leader J. E. Connolly, who had introduced the motion calling for appointment of a committee to study all aspects of the liquor problem, agreed to postponement.

The Liberal leader said he did so at the request of Premier Flemming.

Arthur W. Carton (PC—Saint John County) said that "it is the responsibility of the government to submit a policy".

NO BARS

None of the three provinces has provision in existing law for cocktail bars. All have rules that forbid the glass in taverns while liquor and wine may be sold in licenced private clubs. Most of the province's wine is sold by government stores to the private clubs.

The Manitoba government will spend $39,000 this year on an accompaniment to the province's resources in southeastern Manitoba, Mines-Minister P. C. Bell announced.

A veteran Liberal Opposition member, A. Mindel Loptson (L—Saltcoats) said the Saskatchewan government allowed the promoters of the Saskatchewan Cement Corporation to make a $2,621,000 profit out of government loans which put the company on its feet.

Provincial Secretary Clarence Fines defended the government's support of the cement company and ridiculed the opposition for trying to keep industry out of the province.

Speakers Criticize Appraisal Policy of Farm Loan Board

OTTAWA (CP)—Speakers from all parties have criticized the appraisal policy of the Canadian farm loan board as the Commons gave final approval to a $20,000,000 increase in the board's financial resources.

Liberal Fred Robertson, parliamentary assistant to Health Minister Martin, said Tuesday the board's policy of requiring a purchaser's land for loan purposes is too cautious.

Invariably the board's land appraisal is below the sale value of a farmer's property, the MP for Northumberland, Ont., said as members of other parties interjected "Hear, hear."

The board also was criticized for the length of time it takes to process loan applications. George McLeod (SC—Okanagan-Revelstoke) said "There's too much red tape." He knew of a case where the loan wasn't completed until seven months after it had been approved.

The board got its lumps for its administrative practices as the House approved a bill to increase the federal agency's equitalization by $1,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Since the government can lend funds to the board up to 20 times the amount of equitalization, the bill enables the board to borrow up to $80,000,000, instead of the present $60,000,000, from the federal treasury for use in its operations.

A number of opposition members asked that some kind of appeal machinery be set up to review rejections of loan applications and estimates placed on applicants' farms by board appraisers.

L. Elston Cardiff (PC—Huron) said a tribunal to which appeals could be taken against the board's assessors would save the board needless criticism and avoid discontent among farmers.

Hayden Stanton (PC — Leeds) said the board usually sends the same appraiser back to reassess the value of a farm when an applicant protests the figure in the first assessment. He suggested or, better still, a board of appeal should be sent to reassess farms.

Mr. Robertson said the board is providing farmers "great assistance" but he urged Finance Minister Harris to ask it to do everything it can to speed up processing of loan applications.

The average time for handling applications had lately been reduced to four weeks, but he hoped it could be shortened more. There were "a number of isolated cases" where the time taken seemed to be "inexcusable."

Mr. Robertson suggested that to improve the appraisal situation the board be authorized to grant loans of more than the present maximum 65 per cent of the appraised value of a farmer's property. Otherwise, the board should set its evaluations at a more realistic level.

Greek Majority in Cyprus Looks on Island's Union With Greece as Act of Faith

KYRENIA, Cyprus (CP) — The overwhelming Greek Cypriot majority in Cyprus looks on the island's union with Greece as an act of faith, and this almost religious fanaticism to their ideal has been instilled in them from childhood.

With this deep-seated attitude, the problems of the Cyprus revolt seem almost insoluble. Military men see these alternatives: Continuation of the costly and frustrating police action, or a compromise short of union with Greece that might win the Greek Cypriots' grudging acceptance.

"I frankly wouldn't hazard an opinion as to what should be done and I certainly don't want to be quoted," said Air Commodore A. L. (Tony) Sheilton of Summerside, P.E.I., a Canadian in the RAF.

FRIENDLY WAVES

We had just arrived at Sheilton's billet here after a drive through rebel-infested mountains en route from Nicosia, capital of Cyprus. As we pulled up before the Sheilton home, the Canadian officer got friendly waves from his Greek neighbors.

His attractive wife Pat, an English girl, came along the narrow street without protection and stood out fear. Like the wives of other servicemen she moves in Cyprus with safety except with their husbands, who are prime EOKA targets.

All servicemen carry revolvers at all times and women they go out at night most of them use shoulder holsters and automatics as a matter of comfort and convenience.

"The trouble is that most of our poor chaps have been shot in the back and never had a chance to fire," said the air commodore.

CITED CAUSE

British tolerance in allowing the Greek majority full cultural and economic freedom is given by some as the chief reason why the movement is seemingly so strong now.

Why, the British haven't even protested the Greek teaching of geography in the schools here which has taken liberty with the location of Cyprus," said Mrs. Sheilton. The Greek Cypriot map show the island practically northeast Greece whereas it is only 500 miles away from the Greek mainland.

It's only 40 miles from Turkey and 80 from Lebanon. You can see the sandy banks of the Turkish coastal rangs from the Sheilton's front window.

While the Sheilons' neighbors are obviously extremely friendly they doesn't mean they haven't definite views about Enosis (union with Greece). They all meet one Greek Cypriot, even among the more moderate, who does not express some sympathy toward the movement, though some were extremely cautious.

WIDE SUPPORT

"Sure its the younger people who are excited by the fight for union. I think there is universal support for that," Andy Georg," said a Greek at a newsstand.

All I can say," said Mrs. Sheilton, "is that when a bomb is thrown in the market place nobody ever seems to know where anything about it." And her husband feels that this isn't just a case of fear of retaliation.

Many of the Greeks I met were well educated. They could see the deep resentment they felt over British suppression of their efforts to check points. Having talked moderately about the situation they were then asked about the same subject walked out of sight behind their cars to suffer the thorough frisking.

CLASSICS SEARCH

Meantime the unrelenting search continues in the night in an attempt to flush out the main leaders. When the Sheilons drove this correspondent back to the hotel we saw a demonstration of the British house-raid system. As we were driving along a dimly-lit street we were startled by the sudden appearance—from nowhere — of a convoy of trucks from which troops poured and surrounded a substantial-looking house.

Searchlights were rigged and the house entered from front and back and we were signalled to get moving. It could have been a regular raid of a house suspected of harboring EOKA men or there might have been a tip that Terrorists were actually sheltering there for the night.

If Air Commodore Sheilton was short on answers he was long on questions. He is a veteran of Middle East service and he was especially interested in details of the success of the RAF raids on his old station at Abu Suweir in Egypt which were carried out by United Nations Emergency Force now are stationed. His wife was also interested because they were married there two years ago. Tony Sheilton is from Summerside, P.E.I., and was widely known in the 1930s as a fine badminton and weekly newspaper man around Saint John. He was also sparked formation of a flying club. Early in the war he joined the RAF. Promoted to air rank in 1944 and now is air officer in charge of administration for RAF levans.

Senate Version Of Doctrine Wins Dulles' Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate version of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution was given a good endorsement today of a speedy trip to the White House and a formal spot in U.S. foreign policy.

This word came from sources in the House of Representatives as they examined the measure for changes. The vote Tuesday night, 72 to 19.

The resolution serves notice that the U.S. will fight, if necessary, against Communist attack in the Middle East. It would give Eisenhower more freedom in spending the $200,000,000 in military-economic aid to that area between now and July 1.

The House first passed the resolution 355 to 61 Jan. 30 almost exactly as President requested. The Senate put in a number of changes which delayed passage for two months after Eisenhower's original urgent request.

FINAL VOTE

On the final Senate vote, 30 Democrats and 42 Republicans supported the resolution, while 16 Democrats joined three Republicans in opposing it.

Secretary of State Dulles Tuesday night gave quick approval to the Senate changes, saying "the basic substance is the same" as the House bill.

"It is clear," Dulles added, "that the Congress of the United States has, by an impressive, nonpartisan majority, joined with the president to assure the people of the nations in the Middle East that the United States stands ready to join them to help build up their strength and, if need be, help them defend their national independence against Communist armed aggression."

Heart-Beat of Whales May Aid In Fight Against Heart Diseases

VANCOUVER (CP) — Study of the heart-beat of whales may aid in the fight against heart disease, Dr. Richard L. King, United States cardiologist, said in an interview here.

Dr. King said he recently spent six days chasing whales in a helicopter off the coast of Lower California in Seammon waters.

"We wanted to know about the heart-beats of big whales to fill in what we know about the heart actions of the rest of the world's animals and how the whale's heart-rate in size and rate of beating," he said.

"All this provides valuable data for the endless research into heart disease in man."

In six days nine whales were sighted and eight of them were harpooned from the air.

At the end of the harpoon was a piece of metal. Hooked to it was a fine, stainless steel cable rolled up in a can. Electronic gear completed the picture. When Dr. Richard L. King and United States cardiologist, said in an interview here.

"We got one tracing broadcast from the whale, but we are not sure we really got what we wanted.

Dr. King has hunted whales before with the electronic gear, but this was the first time a helicopter was used.

In 1955 he got an electro-cardiogram of a small whale in the Bering Sea and found the heart-beat was about 20 to 35 per minute. But we particularly wanted to study the heart of a large whale."

Last spring the hunt was carried out in small boats, but the party took to the air when a whale attacked one craft.

What of 1957? Metropolitan will continue to contribute in even greater measure to the protection and security of Canadian families through new policies and benefits. Tough Babies This Coan And Burdette

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—When Lew Burdette of Milwaukee Braves and Gil Coan of Detroit Tigers set a price on their services, man, it's mean it.

Burdette, a 19-game winner for the Braves last season, has packed up his family, left camp here and today was vacationing with friends waiting for the club to make the next move.

Coan was even more emphatic. He has decided to ask Commissioner Ford Frick to place him on the voluntary retired list after failing to reach an agreement with the Tigers after being drafted from Minneapolis of the American Association.

BOTH BITTER

Burdette and Coan both appeared bitter over their treatment.

"They can't starve me out," snapped Burdette, the last of the Braves' holdouts. "I don't have to worry about living expenses. . . I'm doing all right selling lots here."

Coan, a 32-year-old outfielder who toiled for Washington for several years, said he was holding up his letter to Frick until he hears from Johnny McHale, Tiger personnel director.

"If they pay what I asked," he bristled, "I'll play. If they don't, I'm through."

A Tiger spokesman at their Lakeland, Fla., base, said the team might make an appeal if Coan quits because they think Coan knew at the end of last season that he wouldn't play this year.

DEPENDS ROYAL DECISION

LONDON (AP)—A woman racehorse trainer Tuesday defended Queen Mother Elizabeth for keeping her steeplechaser Devon Loch in training despite two breakdowns.

Trainer Norah Wilmot described as nonsense a suggestion by Neil MacNill, secretary of the British Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Horses, that 12-year-old Devon Loch be retired.

"He is having special veterinary treatment," Miss Wilmot said. "This is proving so good that already he is trotting on the roads. I feel certain that he will be able to race next season."

"Now as I recall it, you bet me $10 I couldn't drive a golf ball 350 yards. Right?"

Little Benny's Notebook

I saw Shorty Judge's grandfather Mr. Peevy waiting for a bus in his sailer hat and his blue coat with the brass buttons, and I said, Hay, Mr. Peevy, is it true a fish can live hunderds of years frozen in the ice, just by not breething?

It seems quite likely, judging from what happened to Glubella although she was no fish, Mr. Peevy said. She was an Eskimo geerl that lived on a polar glacier. Our ship got stuck in an ice crack, and the captain was a very impatient man. He didn't like the idea of just sitting around waiting for the ice to thaw, so just for something to do he married Glubella.

Did she get frozen in the ice? I said, and Mr. Peevy said, That's just what happened to her. She fell through a hole in the glacier while she was trying to spear a polar eel for the captain's breakfist. Well sir, a suddin gust of cold air from her down there in solid ice as cleer as glass. The captain looked down at her and suddinly noticed that she wayed 300 pounds and had very few teeth. He also suddinly remembered that he had another wife back in the temperate zone who might not get along very well with Glubella.

Q. what did he do? I said, and Mr. Peevy said, He traded Glubella and an icepick to a Eskimo lad named Glubbup for 3 duzzen matching walrus tusks. Glubbup was still patiently picking his way tords Glubella when our ship shoved off, but we read later in an Eskimo paper that he got her out safe and sound except for a few icepick scars. And now here's my bus, he said.

And he got on it waving goodbye.

Gridiron Gossip

TORONTO (CP)—Bob Reinhart, San Jose State College quarterback and the third-ranking passer in United States college football last season, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union.

The six-foot-three, 200 - pound Reinhart was the 10th draft choice of Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. Reinhart, 24 last season completed 90 of 172 passes for 10 touchdowns and 1,138 yards. His main passing target and Art Powell of San Jose State, also has been signed by Argos.

Reinhart, the seventh new import picked up by Argos, will be competing with Tom Dublinski for the quarterback job if the former Detroit Lions pivot signs again. His two-year, no-cut contract of $17,500 a season expired at the end of the 1956 campaign.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The Tulsa World says the decision of Baltimore Colts of the National Football League to retain Weeb Ewbank as head coach apparently has cost the team the services of halfback Billy Vessels for next season.

Vessels, former all-America star at the University of Oklahoma, is quoted as saying he would not return to Baltimore.

Vessels was not available for comment.

Vessels, No. 1 draft choice in the United States in 1952, played instead with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. He was in the army two years, and played last year with Colts.

A training injury slowed him down and he saw little action.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Donald Robert (Bob) Hobert, 21, a 235-pound tackle from the University of Minnesota, has signed with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Hobert, named to every Big Ten Conference all-opponent team, was the sixth draft choice of the champion New York Giants of the National Football League.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Coach Sidian Jack Jacobs Tuesday night told the directors of the ORFU London Lords that his team "should do better" next fall.

In its freshman year, the Lords reached the finals against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and outdrew all other clubs in home attendance.

Jacobs, who also is general manager, said that three new imports, all from his home state of Oklahoma, should add strength. They are quarterback Jay O'Neal, halfback Bob Derrick and centre Max Black.

The club added 40 new directors to its slate, bringing the total to 85.

Quebec Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces won a see-saw 4-2 victory over Montreal Royals Tuesday night, to maintain a 14-point first-place lead in the Quebec Hockey League over Chicoutimi Saguenens, who downed Ottawa Junior Canadiens 8-5.

The Aces, down two goals at one point, won on two third-period goals by Stan Maxwell. Dick Gamble and Jean-Paul Lamirande were the other Quebec scorers. Andre Corriveau and Ray Lapointe tallied for Montreal.

Three goals by Fern Perreault parked Chicoutimi's win. Germain Leger had two goals, and Jackie Leclair, Del Topoll and Jacques Locas counted singles.

Claude Richard tallied twice for Ottawa, while singles went to Ralph Backstrom, Murray Balfour and Jean Picard.

For the Canadiens, it was the first of six home games this month with QHL teams. They have finished their abbreviated schedules in the Laurier Cup series and OHA eastern division.

BUT WILL HE ACT?

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles declared firmly Tuesday that the U.S government believes in romance.

That was his reply when asked at a press conference what the Eisenhower administration might do about the case of Harold Connolly, U.S. Olympic hammer throw champion.

Dulles was told that Connolly, of Boston, has asked the Communist government of Czechoslovakia for permission to marry Olga Fikotova, Czechoslovakia's champion lady discus thrower.

Would the U.S. appeal to Prague in Connolly's behalf?

Dulles said this government believes in romance. But he was not prepared to say how this belief would be applied in the Connolly case.

Knox, onetime quarterback for UCLA, played with Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Big Four and Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last year.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

ED THOMAS, SPORTSMAN, GENTLEMAN

That part of hockey's misty Valhalla reserved for the sports greats from Belleville welcomed another member yesterday. Ed. Thomas, athlete, coach and manager of some of this city's greatest puckchasing organizations saw the beckoning thumb of the Great Referee, and answered the final whistle.

And probably along those misty sidelines, waiting with outstretched welcoming arms were Bill Green, Daw Whalen, Pat Boland, "Soup" Goyer and many others who played for Ed in that colorful era of three or four decades ago, and who have hung up their gear for the last time.

For over three decades the name of Ed Thomas was synonymous with sport in the city and district. The great hockey teams of those days, when Pat Boland, Daw Whalen, Bill Green, Soup Goyer and others were household names, carried the puck banner of this city high and honorably under the guidance of Ed Thomas. He was greatly respected in the camps of such puck foemen as Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston, RMC, Queen's on the east and Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterborough, Lindsay and other westward hockey centres.

Ed Thomas was a worthy descendant of a well-known pioneer family of this district. He was fiercely loyal to his convictions, and to his friends. He lived a clean orderly life and never drank intoxicating beverages nor smoked tobacco. Yet he was tolerant with others in this respect.

While he never aspired to championship fame, Ed was a fine athlete in his own right. He loved hockey and baseball and at one time was considered one of the better outfielders in the city. He was an ardent fisherman and hauled many a piscatorial beauty from the Bay of Quinte and other district waters. He took a great pride in his trophies that were on display in the well-known Front Street shop.

Ed loved yachting and boating. In the warm summer months he loved to cruise down the bay with his boyhood friend Mattie Weir and the writer, and saw them skimming over frozen surfaces crouched in an iceboat.

He was practically "Mr. Hockey" of Belleville for a great many years. In 1931 the Belleville Amateur Athletic Association came into being and took over the sponsorship of practically every sport in the city. Ed retired from the sports scene at that time. In 1933 the BAAA decided it could not carry on and Ed went back into sport. He organized intermediate "B" hockey here and his efforts were climaxed in the 1936-37 season when his Belleville Redmen won the Ontario Hockey Association intermediate "B" championship.

This department travelled with the club on not a few occasions and saw Manager-coach Thomas in action. He was not a hard taskmaker but he expected the best from his players. He was generous and open-hearted. And he earned and held the respect of every player who came under the aegis of his coaching and managerial ability.

In his Front Street shop as dawn was stivering the eastern horizon, another side of Ed Thomas was evident. A lover of human nature Ed took great delight in the company of his beloved family of cats and kittens. For years his feline friends lived in the store and every morning before Front Street came to life Ed went to a nearby restaurant to get his friends their breakfast of liver and milk. Sometimes they would follow him, and wait outside until he appeared with their food.

Ed's fame as a sportsman was as well known in this part of Ontario as was his place of business. Strangers coming to the city were advised to seek his information. Hometiers visiting out of town were often greeted with "Belleville? Oh yes, I know Ed Thomas." His place of business was often a rendezvous for sportsmen of the district. "Meet me at Ed Thomas', or leave it with Ed Thomas" were familiar out-of-town phrases.

Belleville, or any other sports-loving community can ill afford to lose men of the type and quality of Ed Thomas.

HODGE-PODGE

Joe Lepine did not suffer a fractured bone in his leg, as was first feared, but had dislocated tendons. He will be out for two weeks at least, a Cornwall report says . . . Don Hogan, former Belleville player "B" ace who has been starring with the North Bay Trappers of the NOHA has quit the club. He and Trapper boss Pete Palangio agreed to disagree and Don threw in his gear. Hogan was third high scorer for the Trappers this season . . . Long John Henderson received a painful "kick in the throat" from a foeman's skate during the Ottawa Canadiens game, but it is reported the injury is not serious . . . Bobby Hull finished the season with the St. Catharines Teepees with a record of 61 scoring points, just one below the charmed circle of the top ten. Bobby scored 23 goals and had 28 assists . . . Up in Cowley, Gerry Geurt fell below his last-season record scoring seventeen goals and having 20 assists for 37 points. Gerry was sixth highest scorer for his club. Hull was third for the Teeps . . . The Bruins bantam hockey team is playing an exhibition game with the Marmora midgets Thursday night in Marmora starting at 7.30. The Bruins players are requested to be at Memorial Arena at 5.30 sharp, says Coach Emerson . . . The Belleville District Softball League is holding its second meeting of the season at West Moira Fire Hall Sunday at 2 p.m. It is important that everybody especially potential entries, managers, etc., are on hand as important business is to be discussed . . . At the same time the City Softball League is holding its first meeting at the Dundas Street Fire Hall at 3 p.m. . . . The Chinese puppy was worried. His name was Wong and he and Mrs. Wong had produced 14 children. But the 15th was, or appeared to be, a white child. So pappy sought the advice of the village elder, who in turn sought the writings of Confucius. Later, he told the pappy his findings. "Two Wongs do not make a white. It must be occidental." . . . The annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Football Association has been scheduled for the YMCA here on Friday, March 15 at eight o'clock sharp. Anybody and everybody interested in soccer will be welcomed. Each club is entitled to two voting delegates . . .

Westerners Unbeaten in Four Campbells Win Three-in Row; Alberta, Sasky Clash Today

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP)—Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, a master of the knockout game, and Garnet Campbell of Avonlea, Sask., one of the coolest clutch shooters in curling, meet today in what could be the key match of the Canadian championships. Neither has lost so far in the tournament.

Their fifth-round game, scheduled to start at 3 p.m., is a natural. The skips are looking for their second Canadian title and experts have called them to finish one-two, with Campbell getting the nod for the No. 1 position, when the five-day 11-round classic ends Friday.

The Alberta - Saskatchewan match became all-important Thursday when the four Western Canada rinks won their games and took over top spot in the standings. British Columbia and Alberta are deadlocked at five wins apiece, four straight victories.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba who recorded byes earlier in the round-robin competition, occupied the next two places. The Alberta rink, winner 11-6 over Ontario in its only match Tuesday, has a 3-0 record and Baldwin, 2-1.

SHAKEUP POSSIBLE

There could be a shakeup among the leaders when today's two-round competition ends. A skoper is British Columbia, skipped by Reg Stewart of Trail, making his fifth attempt to win the Canadian title.

Stone, who had to scramble for three of his victories with driving finesse, defeated Ontario, scored two decisions Tuesday. His first, a 12-0 triumph over Quebec, came on the 12th end, and his second was a 19-2 walloping over Newfoundland.

Baldwin, the Manitoba rink skipped by Howard Wood Jr. of Winnipeg, and Northern Ontario stayed in line with two wins. Baldwin had only trouble defeating the last-place Prince Edward Island rink 17-3 and New Brunswick 11-5.

Manitoba defeated Nova Scotia 12-7 and Quebec 12-8. Northern Ontario, off to a bad start in the competition with two straight losses, clobbered Newfoundland 18-6 and scored a one-rock 12th end to edge P.E.I. 10-9.

Saskatchewan was expected to have a rough time from the Drilla rink of Stan Sarjeant but the curling Campbell brothers from the wheat province went into a 7-3 lead after six ends and that was the game. Sarjeant's rink scored seven on single rock ends.

Ontario broke even on the day. After losing to Saskatchewan, Sarjeant's foursome made it 8-6 over New Brunswick.

Ontario has a bye in this afternoon's fifth round and then plays the sixth round, scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

Manitoba appears to have the softest touch of the leaders today with matches against Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. British Columbia meets Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, and Alberta's sixth-round match is against Ontario.

Northern Ontario meets New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, Quebec's single match, is against Nova Scotia in the afternoon. Nova Scotia plays Newfoundland in the sixth round.

WITH CALGARY AGAIN

CALGARY (CP)—Erik Christensen, 25-year-old offensive tackle and defensive end from Richmond University, has signed with Calgary Stampeders. He is the fifth import signed by the Western Interprovincial Football union team. He was with the WIFU Stampeders for the last six games of 1956.

Teeps, Marlies Nip Cubs, Flyers In Openers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don't expect any surprises in the quarter-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A playoffs, Tuesday night in St. Catharines and Toronto the favored home teams had little difficulty winning.

St. Catharines Teepees, who finished third in the standings, disposed of sixth-place Barrie Flyers 5-1 and the Memorial Cup-champion Toronto Marlboros, second-place finishers, beat fifth-place Hamilton Cubs 3-1. Both series are best-of-five affairs.

At St. Catharines the Teepees were ahead 2-0 at the end of the first and 4-1 at the end of the second — then waltzed through a listless third period, scoring once, by Bobby McKenzie, the Teepees' leading scorer over the regular schedule, was the night's leader with two goals. Don Grosso, Matt Ravlich and Bob Cowpe each scored once. Jim Pappin scored for Barrie.

Marlboros were held to three goals by Carl Wetzel's superb netminding. Wetzel stopped 35 shots, but was beaten once in each period — by Bob Nevin, Gord Haughton and Jim Morrell.

Len Broderick, the league's leading goaltender, made only 22 saves. Brian Smith's shot from the blueline was the only one Broderick missed.

Toronto and Hamilton meet for the second game in Hamilton Thursday, the date of the second Teepee-Flyer match has not yet been set. Friday, first - place Guelph Biltmores are host to third-place Toronto St. Michael's.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Outlook Gloomy for Leafs That Goes for Next Season

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs may have reached the lowest point in their long and colorful National Hockey League history.

With nine scheduled games left the Leafs are fifth, eight points back of fourth — the last Stanley Cup playoff position — and have almost no hope of closing the gap.

If they don't, it will be the third time in their 30-year history that they haven't been around at cup time, but the situation is worse than that. The team is only seven points away from last place and they could even end up there.

Worse still — nobody can see them doing any better next year.

UNANIMOUS VIEWS

Comments of the Toronto sports writers, who generally give the club a fair shake and the benefit of any doubt, tell the story.

This week they united in calling for a new deal.

Red Burnett of the Toronto Star says:

". . . They are the weak sisters of the league . . . the current personnel isn't good enough . . . a wholesale clean-up is necessary."

NEED MORE OFFENCE

Burnett says the trouble started after they won the Stanley Cup in 1951 and that the club management has failed to realize a winning team now needs defensive dash more than defensive steadiness.

He says the league's big lines now roam all over the ice in fluid, precise patterns that stout checking and positional play can't stop, and estimates the club needs five players of NHL calibre and will have to win several games to find them in its farm system.

Rex MacLeod of The Globe and Mail says:

"Leafs, to improve . . . require new, or partially-used players . . .

Leafs have been sorely troubled by injuries this year, but say it wouldn't have made much difference if all players were healthy.

Leafs play Montreal Canadiens in Toronto tonight and to face the league's highest scoring club they have an attack that has produced more than two goals in an average game this season and whose highest scorer is Dick Duff, whose 23 goals and 11 assists give him 24th place in league standings.

"There Ain't No Joy In Moscow, The Mighty Muscovites Were Put Out"

Sweden Deletes 2-Goal Lead To Tie Champion Russians And Win World Hockey Crown

MOSCOW (CP)—Canadians will get a chance to see the Swedish national hockey team that won the world and European amateur titles Tuesday and, in the process, dispelled any suggestion of invincibility that had been attached to the Russians.

The Swedes, who also won the championship in 1953, overcame a two-goal deficit to tie the defending champion Russians 4-4 Tuesday. Although neither team was defeated in the eight-team round-robin tournament, the Swedes won because they were tied only once while the Soviet Union played two ties, one with Czechoslovakia.

After the game, played before 50,000 fans in the giant open Lenin Stadium, it was announced the Swedish team will make a 13-game, three-week tour of Canada beginning at the end of this month.

KITCHENER INTERESTED

There was no immediate announcement whom they will play in Canada although Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A series, defeated when the Russians won their first world title a year ago at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, have expressed interest in meeting the new champions.

Neither Canada nor the United States sent teams to this year's tourney, in protest over Russian military intervention in the Hungarian revolt.

There may be some problem finding first-rate opposition for the Swedes in Canada. However, George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday night in Midland that the CAHA executive probably will sponsor the tour.

Halifax promoter Jerry Regan arranged the tour in negotiations with Heide Bergland, president of the Swedish Ice Hockey Federation. The negotiations were begun before Tuesday's final.

LATE IN SEASON

Dudley, who declared CAHA approval is necessary before the tour can take place, said the only real difficulty he can foresee is the lateness of the trip. By the time the Swedish team reached Canada most Canadian teams would either be in the playoffs and too busy to play them or be disbanded for the season.

"He (Regan) will have to get them over here pretty quick," Dudley said.

After the Russians beat Canada to win the title last year, the comment among many Canadian sports observers was that it would take an exceptional team—one of nearly National Hockey League calibre—to regain the championship.

Now that the Soviet team has been held to draws by two of the countries Canada has never had much trouble defeating, there may be a revision of opinion on what is needed to take the title back to Canada, 15-time winner since the tournament began in 1924.

The Russians have won the championship only once, nonetheless decisively, since entering the competition three years ago.

SNOWSTORM RAGED

Tuesday's game was played during a snowstorm. When it ended the happy Swedes waved their sticks in a Viking gesture.

Sweden took a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Nils Nilsson at 10:05 and Eje Lindstrom at 13:30. The Russians went ahead 3-2 with two goals in the second period: Veniamin Alexandrov at 13:17, Ivan Trebubov at 17:17, Nikolai Khaliov at 18:18 and Nikolai Sologubov at 19:55.

Lindstrom scored in the first two minutes of the third to make it 4-3. Eliet Masta, 21-year-old baby of the Swedish team, slipped the puck in from a scramble at 9:18 to tie the score.

From there the Swedes managed to check the Russians with goalie Toro Flodqvist, playing despite the flu and continuing after being hit in the face, their defensive hero.

The Russians, who needed a victory to retain the title, played without their high-scoring captain, Zcevolod Bobrov, injured in the 5-2 tie against the Czechs.

The Czechs, who defeated Poland 12-3 in the last game, finished third, with Finland fourth, East Germany fifth, Poland sixth and Austria and Japan tied for seventh.

Attersley Gets Winner

Whitby Defeats Kingston 6-3 In Overtime Playoff Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Attersley made a habit of scoring important goals for Whitby Dunlops of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A eastern division and won the league scoring race in a waltz.

As Dunlops opened their best-of-seven semi-final series with Kingston CKLCs Tuesday night with a 6-3 win, Attersley scored a pair, one of which came in overtime and proved to be the winner.

In the western division at Chatham the Maroons came up with a 4-1 victory over Windsor Bulldogs to even their best-of-seven semi-final series at two games each.

In the 12-game round-robin series to decide the championship of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association southern group, North Bay Trappers defeated Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds 6-4. The win gave Trappers four points. Greyhounds have three and Sudbury Wolves lead with five points.

Tom O'Connor, Alf Treen, Fred Elcher and George Somodevilla each were the other marksmen in Dunlop's win. Frank Chiarelli got two for CKLCs and Bucky Buchanan fired the other.

Maroons were sparked to victory by Fred Pletsch and Jim Connelly who each scored twice.

Walter Pawlyshyn got Windsor's lone goal.

Defenceman Flori Goegan scored three times for Trappers. Eddie Reigle, Elmer Atanas and Art Stratton added singles. John Lumley, Pete Horeck, Red Burnett and Ron Rubic shared the scoring for Hounds.

Tonight, Belleville McFarlands visit Cornwall Chevies as the teams play the first game in the other eastern division semi-final.

In the western division Chatham goes to Windsor and Stratford Indians visit Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. The Dutchies lead the best-of-seven semi-final 3-1.

Next game in the northern loop is Thursday when Sudbury is at North Bay.

Mixed Feelings In ORFU Over League Future

TORONTO (CP)—A mixture of optimism and pessimism has been expressed by officials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union although the league's future participation in Grey Cup play has been placed in doubt.

Vice-President Maurice Chilton of Sarnia Golden Bears and Ralph Duffus, president of London Lords were confident of the ORFU's future. But Al Abernethy of Toronto Beaches and Spike Kearns of Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen were downcast.

The Canadian Rugby Union Saturday in Montreal agreed to a decision which put competition by the ORFU in the Grey Cup up for yearly review by the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Big Four.

Chilton said his club was "quite happy" with the CRU decision, since it was the alternative to a move sponsored by the two major leagues which would have barred the ORFU from the Grey Cup absolutely.

"Now we have some hope for the future and it is up to us to prove we are capable of making the semi-final a real contest."

FOURTH-TEAM CRISIS

Kearns, second vice-president of the ORFU, said the ORFU is in danger of collapse because the CRU decision threatened to cripple the Toronto team, that would require the ORFU to find a fourth entry.

"We'd have to hustle up a fourth team or fold. We all lost our shirts hockey sticks in a Viking gesture, in 1955. It just can't be done."

Al Abernethy of Toronto, a m-mber of the ORFU executive, said his team "lost a lot of money last fall"—and without the Grey Cup challenge, "it's much tougher to operate a team in Toronto."

He said a final decision on the status of his team would be made before the next ORFU meeting in Sarnia March 16.

Duffus stated if the CRU schedules pre-season and post-season games with the ORFU teams as champions, "it will really give us a big boost."

Dutchies Agree To Play Larks

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, three-time champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, agreed Tuesday to meet Montreal Alouettes, champions of the Big Four union for the last three years, in a pre-season game in Montreal.

Dutchmen President Keith Butler said the game will be played sometime late in July, with part of the proceeds going directly to the ORFU.

The Dutchmen also have a second exhibition game lined up with a Big Four club. They will officially open Waterloo's new stadium Aug. 13 against the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Nats Couldn't Beat Sens

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Washington's last-place Senators played their first intra-squad game of the season Tuesday, to a 1-1 tie. Today a home-town newspaper reacted with this unkind headline:

Golf Queen Marlene Stewart Captures Lou Marsh Trophy

Marlene recalls 1951 triumphs, climaxed by winning her first Lou Marsh trophy.—Central Press Canadian.

Marlene Stewart has added the Lou Marsh trophy to her booty, in capturing the trophy, donated by Charles E. Ring in memory of The Toronto Daily Star's late sports editor, who died in 1936, Marlene is officially Canada's athlete of the year for 1956.

It is the second time in five years Miss Stewart has won the trophy. She was the winner in 1951, when as a 17-year-old she broke a U.S. hold on the Canadian women's amateur golf championship.

Her latest triumph came as a result of winning the 1956 U.S. women's amateur championship last September at Indianapolis. That feat was the first by a native-born Canadian in the more than half century of the tourney.

While Marlene wasn't the only contender for the Marsh trophy in 1956, she was the unanimous choice. Johnny Longden, famed jockey from Alberta; Gerry Ouellette, Canada's marksman from Windsor and a gold medal winner at the recent Olympics, were her top rivals.

Although Miss Stewart is from Fonthill, Ont., she was born in Cereal, Alberta, on March 9, 1934. However, her golfing career has revolved around Fonthill, where she learned the game.

In her brief but meteoric career Marlene has won the Canadian close title six years running, the Canadian open four times, the last three in a row, and in 1953 became the first Canadian to win the British women's tourney.

In 1956, though she really went all-out, winning seven tournaments — the Rochester invitation, the U.S. North and South, the U.S. Intercollegiate, the Ontario Open and the Totem Pole, as well as the aforementioned Canadian close and open.

Marlene is only the second person in the 20-year history of the Marsh trophy to win it more than once. Barbara Ann Scott, of figure skating fame, captured the honor three times — 1945, 1947 and 1948. Marlene's conquests of 1956 also include being chosen the woman golfer of the year in the U.S. and Ontario's woman athlete.

On the Tracks

MIAMI (CP)—Calumet Farm's Fabius, winner of the Preakness last year, put on a blazing stretch run Tuesday to win the $12,075 Armed Handicap, opening-day feature at Gulfstream Park.

Half a length back was M. J. Robinson's Singer, a 50-to-1 shot. Another Calumet star, Barbizon, made his first start of the season in the sixth race but had to settle for third. Jet Colonel was the winner and Encore was second.

Jet Colonel returned $39.80, $11.,New Orleans' Fair Grounds. French Bleu won the $7,500 Mardi Gras Handicap for the second consecutive year. He paid $6 to win.

Aubrey Stable's Basher's Beam won the $4,000 Frederick Purse in Maryland.

Demarco Meets Larry Boardman

BOSTON (AP)—Tony DeMarco, top contender for the welterweight title, and Larry Boardman, third-ranked challenger for the light-weight championship, have been signed for a 10-round bout March 30 at the Boston Garden.

Weeks of dickering were ended Tuesday when DeMarco agreed to come in at 146 pounds and received in turn a guarantee of a rematch within 90 days in the event of a Boardman victory.

Erch fighter will receive 27½ per cent of the net gate receipts. There will be no television or radio.

Training Camp Notes

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Boston centrefielder Jimmy Piersall and Red Sox general manager Joe Cronin scheduled another contract talk today—with Mary Piersall hoping for an agreement.

Mrs. Piersall doesn't mind hubby trying to get more money but with five children she has plenty of other things to do besides playing baseball.

And that's what she has been doing—playing ball.

Piersall can't work out with his teammates until he signs a contract. He practised at the University of Miami for a week and then moved the family to Sarasota.

He didn't get far in a talk with Cronin Tuesday, so grabbed two gloves, a bat and five baseballs.

"What are you going to do with those?" he was asked.

"Do a little hitting," he replied. "By yourself?"

"Oh, no," said Jim. "Mary will help me. She's pretty good with the glove and ball."

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Ellis Kinder, 42-year-old right - handed pitcher, Tuesday ended his holdout with Chicago White Sox.

Kinder had a 3-1 mark for the Sox last year.

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Bob Friend, Pittsburgh Pirate pitching ace, hurled one inning Tuesday and said it was enough to prove to himself that he's going to be all right this season.

Friend's arm bothered him toward the end of last season.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—One of the most obvious nicknames in the Brooklyn Dodger training camp is Old Folks. That's Sal Maglie, the never-say-retiring righthanded pitcher who will be 40 (at least) on April 26.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—There will be no No. 4 on the uniform number of the now traded-and-retired Jackie Robinson—on the Brooklyn Dodger roster this year. It has not been retired permanently, however. Club officials explained that 1957 uniform numbers had been assigned before Robinson's trade to the New York Giants last December.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a familiar look about the dapper gentleman behind the piano in the nightclub scene.

Danny Lewis was his name. And he looked just like Jerry Lewis. Naturally, Danny is Jerry's dad.

"Was I nervous!" Danny said after he finished the scene. "You know this is my first go at movies. Thirty years in show business, and I've never been in pictures!"

"It was tough work. I had to do three things — finger the piano, which I've never played, sing a song and feed my lines. I gotta think about the camera, the lights and all that. But I came through all right. Everybody said I did great."

Show business is Danny's life, always has been. So it's no wonder he's excited about the prospect of a new career. He told how it came about.

Danny took a pal to Paramount to see about an acting job. The pal turned the tables on him and suggested Danny for a part. The casting director, owner of the one-day part for a piano player in Shortcut to Hell, suggested Danny for it to director James Cagney.

"And Jerry didn't know a thing about it," Danny said proudly.

He said that he plans to reactivate his career after a five-year lapse.

"My friends keep telling me that I shouldn't let my own talent go to waste," he said. "So why shouldn't I try working it? Jerry's voice is better than it's ever been, and I've been studying under top coaches.

"I don't want to be known just as Jerry Lewis' father."

At 54, Danny is still handsome and trim. Like his son, he runs on nervous energy and is eager and earnest about his career.

Audience Rating Kills Opera On Sullivan's Variety Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Hesrd while eyes dropping:

Man: "It's a shame Ed Sullivan terminated his contract with the Metropolitan Opera before the original expiration date."

Wife: "Why is it? You don't like opera."

Man: "I'm not thinking of myself. I'm thinking now it shows TV programming is absolutely jycked to the audience rating figures. Just because Sullivan's audience fell off when he presented opera stars singing he . . ."

Wife: "Just because? What do you want Sullivan to do—change the whole system all by himself? He's in the entertainment business and he's playing it by the rules that all the others are."

Man: "You miss my point. It seems to me television has a kind of obligation to offer the best of entertainment as well as a variety of movie stars and . . ."

PIOUS REMARK

Wife: "The best of entertainment you say? That's a pious remark. It's also pretty hypocritical of you. You call it 'the best' because you've been told opera is good for your soul or something."

Man: "You like opera yourself. You say it's the best . . ."

Wife: "I do, yes. But we're not talking about me. We're talking about you. In the 17 years we've been married I haven't been able to stimulate any interest in opera in you. Why should expect Sullivan to do it in 20 minutes on a Sunday night?"

Man: "Look, I'm dissociating myself personally from this. Let's admit I'm a musical moron. I'm thinking about millions of others who like opera and never have a chance to see it."

OLYMPIAN GESTURE

Wife: "This is very olympian of you, withdrawing from the human race this way. But most of the people we know who like opera either don't own a television set or look at it only an hour or two a week. Granted, television should be able to stimulate interest in opera in many. I think NBC's operas in English do that. But under the rules of the rating game as it's now played, should we expect Sullivan to do it?"

Man (meekly): "No, I guess we should not."

See It Now (CBS-TV) demonstrated Sunday in its examination of British public opinion on the Suez crisis that witty, intelligent discussion results in witty, intelligent television. The cameras focused on the recent by-election campaign in Lewisham, an Oxford Union debate on American life and an interview with four Fleet Street journalists.

The Oxford debate was a delight. The other segments were overly lengthy. But Americans who participate in American TV panel discussions and interviews could have learned much by observing the methods and manners of the British journalists and Oxford debaters participating in the program. Wry humor and understanding of other viewpoints prevailed instead of a dogmatic determination to win a contest of opinions.

MONEY DOWN DRAIN

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters) — The annual general meeting of the Salisbury and District African Soccer Association Tuesday sourly approved payment of a £10 fee for a white doctor's services.

The witch doctor was hired last season on the strength of his reputation as the owner of powerful charms. The charms failed to work and Salisbury lost all its soccer trophies.

Some of the hands played in the last world championship are not worth looking at. Such as deals number 51 and 52. So, let me dismiss them with as few words as possible.

In deal number 51, both rooms stopped at one no-trump and made it easily. In deal number 52, both rooms reached three no-trump and it was a laydown for ten tricks without any effort.

As usual, both teams used different bids in each deal. But this is now known to happen so often it is getting monotonous. It would now be a novelty if both teams ever bid the same deal the same way.

Deal number 53 was not very exciting either. But you may like to see it just because it shows how far apart masters can get. So, here it is:

NORTH
♠ 10 9 5
♥ K 4
♦ K 10 4
♣ 10 9 8 6 2

WEST
♠ K Q 8
♥ Q 9 6 3 2
♦ 9 2
♣ A 7

EAST
♠ J 7 3
♥ A J 7 5
♦ A 8 3 2
♣ Q 4

SOUTH
♠ A 6 4 2
♥ 10 8
♦ Q 7 5
♣ K J 5 3

In room one the European team was east and west, bidding like this:

East	West
Pass	1 ♥
2 ♥	Pass

The standard use of a jump response is to order partner not to stop short of game. But this pair was evidently using the jump for a different purpose. Because, notice, west passed.

Lucky for west that he did pass, as he gave up a spade, a club, and two diamonds that gave him just nine tricks needed for three in hearts. The Horse Sense count is five in west and four in east.

Now, this looks like a simple deal that any dub pair could bid to three or two hearts and make. But the American team in room two did not even open the bidding and everybody passed.

Maybe the hand looks too weak for some players to open in west. But you have seen these masters open with much less. So, it must have been sleepy time down east when this deal came up.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Thursday, March 7, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Men and Jupiter aspects augur well for business, money interests; domestic matters, too. Patience urged in other departments, however.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — This can be a progressive, fruitful day for business, occupational duties, sound investments and real estate interests. Avoid irritating arguments. Keep family matters on a good basis.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't fret if you are not as original and inventive as usual. You can make excellent progress in everyday duties, handling regular finances, buying, selling useful commodities. Patience!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — No troublesome aspects to cloud your horizon. Your Moon, in auspicious position, favors private interests, family relations, artistic pursuits and the usual day-to-day duties. Keep them going happily.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Artistic pursuits, as well as trades and industry hold new promise of success. It's really up to the individual — how each of you allocate time, duties. Have faith!

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — A pleasant day if you help to make it so. Designing, painting, family and household affairs under fine rays. A good day for sound investments, real estate, broadening knowledge.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — You should better your whole program and general outlook this snappy, but fundamentally sound day. Science, invention, handling commodities among strongly favored activities.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Some adverse influences. Offset them with concentrated knowing effort, directed straight toward your objectives. Move with precise step. Develop friendships that make life pleasant.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Excellent influences should encourage your best efforts now. Be agreeable to sound suggestions. Nurture a desire for the finer things.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Maintain a steady tempo to accomplish the essentials on your schedule. Avoid deviations from a well planned program. Win friendly confidence and the respect of others through appropriate action.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Heed advice to Capricorn now. Sidestep any "put-off-till-tomorrow" altitude. Stymie schemers through alert discernment. Remember those who deserve lowalty and praise.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Have a sharper, clearer picture of what you aim to attain. This will aid in eliminating wasteful motion, careless mistakes. You will be judged by your actions; do not disappoint.

You born today are deep, often quiet; sensitive, intuitive, responsive to the mysterious, and while you use facts to achieve in practical ways, are innately more artistic than practical. You would rather do a thing for its artistry than for its standard reward. But living in a must-work, must - act world, you can also be expected to reach the top in business if you use your talents consistently, shun doubts, anxiety, and depend upon God's help. Don't let emotions rule you; get sufficient regular exercise. Birthdate: Luther Burbank, botanist.

IGNORE WARNINGS, TWO BOYS DROWN

The bodies of two three-year-old boys were found by these searchers probing the waters of the Humber River at Bolton, Ont. The two youngsters slipped off the ice on the shore after ignoring the warning of older playmates to stay away from the river. Firemen and volunteers rushed to the river but the bodies were found too late to respond to artificial respiration.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma stopped doing a problem in her bridge book, saying to pop, William, if you were a news commentator on the radio I hope you wouldn't interrupt yourself to sing the praises of some medecine or soap or hair wave.

Pop let I wouldn't pop said. He maintain an impressive silence while another fellow recited the commercial, just like in the good old days he said, and ma said, So-would I, I mean I'm glad you would. This morning I was ironing a few things and listening to Fielding Smith discussing the rest of the world and Russia, and whether they will ever really get along, or whether East is East an i West is West and never the tvin, as Kipling said.

What was Fielding Smith's verdict? pop said, and ma said, I didn't wait for it. Why he broke off in the middle to launch into passionate praises of Nuxaleen or some sutch thing that he advised you to take no matter how you feel, I hastily switched the radio to today's installment of The Ordeal of Olga Olsen, she said.

But maybe Fielding Smith really knew the lowdown on the Russian problem, pop said, and ma said, if he did he's welcome to it. I think Olga Olsen is the silliest woman that ever lived on the air, but at least she's good for her nervousness, such as it is. Do you know, William, I think I'll try that Nuxaleen, or whatever it is, if it's so wonderful, she said.

Good, that makes everybody happy, pop said.

Being the end of the subject.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both — Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very startling improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while greatly relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in many cases during observation over continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne® is wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient cases where doctor's observation is not Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H® is sold at all drug stores. Plan Not to Take Effect Until 6th Province Joins

Police May Lay Charges in Death Of Pembroke Man

PEMBROKE (CP)—Crown Attorney H. G. Walsh said today that police are contemplating charges in connection with the death of Willard Francis Darby, 49-year-old seaman who died of a fractured skull.

Mr. Walsh declined to elaborate except to say that medical evidence showed that Darby had died of a "fracture on the side of the head the size of an orange."

He said charges may be placed late today after criminal investigation officers had completed their inquiry.

Darby was reported to have died in his rented quarters near here.

SKULL FRACTURED

Police at first believed Darby had died of a blood clot. They said they now are trying to determine whether the fractured skull was caused by a fall or whether by some foul play.

Death was reported to have been plain for Tuesday night at the home of Peter Pappin, 65, at Meath, six miles east of here, broke whatever Darby had rented rooms. Living with him was his wife, Harriet, and a daughter, 26-year-old Joyce.

Police said there was evidence of a drinking party at the Pappin home before death. Harry Ball, Pembroke taxi driver, said he received a call to pick up a sick man at the Pappin home late Tuesday night. On arrival he found the dead man and immediately notified police.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal quest is on for a sixth province to fill the minimum needs for launching a national hospital insurance scheme. But in all likelihood there will be no national program before 1959.

Major roadblock to the projected $400,000,000-a-year scheme was eliminated Wednesday when the Ontario Legislature Mail and Amendments ended differences and harmonized their views on federal contributions to the Ontario insurance costs.

But proposed federal sharing of up to one-half the insurance costs are based on the entry of a minimum of six provinces representing at least half the Canadian population. With Ontario's approval of the plan, there now are five provinces willing to join.

Premier Frost told Wednesday in Toronto it is possible a formal Ontario-federal agreement, now being drawn up, will be signed in about 10 days. He said work will start immediately on setting up the scheme.

Ontario Treasurer Dana Porter indicated Wednesday, following a conference with Health Minister Monteith, that the finding of a sixth province to join is a matter of formality.

Ontario was proceeding with legislation, he said, at introduction of a provincial insurance scheme by Jan. 1, 1959. But there would be obtained in the meantime from federal aid and Mr. Martin made it clear that no funds will be forthcoming until the plan is launched in the required minimum of six provinces.

"Our starting date," Mr. Porter told reporters, "is based on the assumption that the required minimum number of provinces will be obtained in the next two years. The starting date will be postponed if that is not forthcoming."

But Mr. Martin added that both he and Mr. Porter are optimistic on this point. He said that, simply, but federal authorities are expecting that soon either Nova Scotia or New Brunswick will indicate willingness to join, completing the the required minimum. Other provinces which have expressed willingness are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Newfoundland.

Attacked Man Escapes in Car Stone Shower

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Angry white men, frustrated in efforts to bar a Negro minister and his wife from a white waiting room at a railroad station Wednesday, escaped in a white man who sat beside them.

Lamar Weaver, a white steelworker who has made speeches advocating racial integration, escaped in the car in a shower of heavy stones.

Police Chief Jamie Moore said that Weaver later was charged with reckless driving following a stoning of his automobile as he left the station.

POLICE SHOUT

Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth and his wife entered the Birmingham terminal station under police escort after they were twice blocked by members of the pro-segregation white group.

Virtually surrounded by police, the Shuttlesworths were in the waiting room for almost 1½ hours before leaving in a New Orleans bound passenger train.

Weaver didn't enter the scene until the Shuttlesworths had taken seats on a bench nearest the passageway leading to the Negro waiting room.

He talked with them for several minutes. Officers then approached, inquired if Weaver had a ticket, and escorted him outside when he said he did not.

A crowd of angry whites followed him to his car, cursing, striking and threatening Weaver as they crowded around him.

Today's Chuckle

A station wagon is something city folks buy when they move to the country so they can tell city folk will know they're from the city.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: The band of cloud which persisted in lower Michigan Wednesday moved into Southern Ontario during the night, but snow flurries should affect only areas north and northeast of Lake Huron. Slow clearing will begin in northern sections of Ontario today and should spread into southern areas tonight. Cold will persist over sunny skies in all parts of Ontario, except the far north.

May Remove Controls from Milk Prices

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the Ontario government will introduce legislation at a session to remove controls from milk prices and milk distribution.

The paper said the move is a result of Supreme Court of Ontario decision last fall which freed the price of home-delivered milk. The government, it says, feels competition between store and delivery service is a healthy situation to maintain.

As a result of the same decisions the milk control board now would be free distributors to any applicant who could establish a prima facie case.

The government will, however, still maintain a watch on milk prices through an economic committee in the agricultural department, The Globe and Mail says. Premier Frost will be pressed to prices negotiated between producers and distributors, arbitrated by the department.

Pure Alcohol Injected in Spinal Cord Kills Pain of Cancer for 6 Months

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A method of relieving pain in dying cancer patients without using narcotics or resorting to brain operations was announced today by Texas medical researchers.

The procedure requires the injection of a small amount of pure alcohol in the spinal cord, A single treatment can banish pain for three to six months, said Dr. Richard C. Hay and Dr. William Dement of the M.D. Anderson Hospital here.

They described the results of 81 cases to a symposium on fundamental cancer research.

Intractable pain is one of the worst features of the final stages of cancer. Narcotics relieve the agony but are but eventually the patient becomes so tolerant to them that only a little good.

The alcohol treatment was effective in all but five of the cases, physicians said. Pinpointing the target in the spinal cord is the most difficult part of the procedure, which takes about an hour. The alcohol has to be confined to a small area in the channel which carries the sensory nerve from the area to be affected part of the body. It has to be kept away from nearby nerves which control the muscles.

GHANA CELBRATES ITS BIRTH AS NATION

An ancient tribal dance is performed by two natives as the African Gold Coast colony of Ghana celebrated its emergence as a self-governing dominion of the British Commonwealth. Many natives traveled 900 miles for the festivities, climaxed by the raising of their new flag at midnight. Representing the Queen, the Duchess of Kent read a message welcoming the new country into the Commonwealth as a free nation. Ghana is the first African colony of any European country to achieve independence as a Negro nation.

United Nations FLAG IS RAISED OVER GAZA STRIP

Only Small Contingent Of Israelis Remains

GAZA (AP) — The blue and white flag of the United Nations was raised over the Gaza Strip today. All but a small contingent of Israeli soldiers left the bombed Mediterranean coastal area before dawn after 125 days of occupation. The rest were to complete the withdrawal later today.

Withdrawal moves also got under way in the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba. Equipment and supplies for the small garrison there were loaded on ships and started back to Israel. The Israeli army said troops will be pulled out and administration of the area turned over to UN units Friday.

The departure from Gaza of the victors in the October-November invasion went off without any major incidents reported. Some shots were heard in Gaza during morning hours, but the cause of the firing was not immediately known.

The withdrawal Israeli convoys were protected by armored patrol cars.

REACH BORDER

Norwegian soldiers of the UN Emergency Force set up a sentry post and barrier at 6 a.m. at the Israeli frontier, two miles from Gaza city on the northern end of the narrow strip.

Israeli border guards again manned their own frontier posts which had been abandoned after the Israeli push into Gaza and the Sinai desert.

Throughout the strip, Israeli and UN forces moved swiftly to accomplish the historic changeover, virtually completing it 15 hours before the deadline set by the Israeli command.

Advance elements of 2,600 UN troops moved into the strip at 7 p.m. from the Sinai Peninsula in a driving rain, jeeps and trucks of the Canadian Army Service Corps rapidly deployed the soldiers from Denmark, Norway, Sweden, India and Indonesia over the 26-by-eight mile stretch of coastal land.

By 4 a.m. the bulk of the Israeli troops had pulled out, leaving the UN in control of the frontier posts, location linking police headquarters in Jerusalem and Gaza city, was broken.

LEAVE PRISONERS

The withdrawing Israelis left behind them the prisons where the suspected fedayeen (commando) raiders. Their fate was up to the UN command. The Israelis had said they seized Gaza to wipe out the base for Arab raids into Israel.

UNEF headquarters was established in the large police fort in Gaza City.

Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli army chief of staff, was on hand to pin the main square at Gaza to greet the first elements of the 2,000-man UN force.

The Israeli flag appeared cordial but formal.

ARABS UNDER CURFEW

The Israelis imposed a strict curfew for the operation. Most of the Arab population remained behind doors, peering through windows at the UN troops.

The first 50 Arabs defied the curfew and gathered near Gaza's Shifa hospital to shout "Long live Nasser! Long live Nehru! Long live Arab unity! Down with the imperialists!"

Earlier, a brief outbreak of violence left an Arab civilian and an Israeli soldier dead and two Israelis wounded.

Egyptian Newspaper Declares Suez Clearance to Proceed

CAIRO (Reuters)—The authoritative Egyptian newspaper Al Shaab said today that the Egyptian and Syrian governments "have jointly decided that Suez Canal clearance should be resumed and Syrian pipelines repaired after the Israeli withdrawal from Gaza."

Syria Wednesday gave the Iraq Petroleum Company "preliminary permission" to start repair work on its sabotaged oil installations in the country.

Company officials estimated that emergency repairs will take about a week. Then 25,000 tons of Iraqi oil could be pumped daily to Mediterranean ports.

They added that large-scale repairs to enable a resumption of the normal daily pumping average of 72,000 tons would take almost a year.

Three IPC pipelines were sabotaged during the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

At Port Said, Egypt, the head of the United Nations Suez Canal clearance operation said he saw "no idea" when Egyptian authorities will permit removal of the last two vessels blocking the waterway.

BULLETIN

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt announced today that "full ships that draw 28 feet" in her will be allowed transit through the Suez Canal in the future.

St. Laurent and Macmillan To Discuss Many Issues

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent plans to discuss a host of international problems with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at their Bermuda conference March 25 and 26.

In general, the agenda will follow pretty closely that of the March 21-24 meeting of Mr. Macmillan and President Eisenhower, but other subjects will be added, of special Anglo-Canadian interest:

1. Effects of the European common market on Canadian trade with Europe. Officials here fear, for one thing, that Canadian wheat will be shut out of some European markets. (Trade Minister Howe and External Affairs Minister Pearson are scheduled to accompany Mr. St. Laurent to Bermuda.)

2. The Middle East. Canada has been very effort in the United Nations to help solve the crisis.

4. Disarmament. German reunification and European security, which all will come under a general discussion on strategy to be employed in respect to Russia.

Second Reading for Grants To Municipalities Debated

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government's proposed new system of paying increased unconditional grants to municipalities will reduce the tax rate for business owners and farmers in two to six mills, Municipal Affairs Minister Warrender said Wednesday.

Speaking during debate on second reading of the measure which would authorize the payments, he told the legislature the new system will act considerably affect industrial and commercial property.

Until now the unconditional grant was used to reduce the taxes of all municipal ratepayers.

The legislature approved the expenditure of $10,000,000 for the increased payments, more than $8,000,000 above last year's estimate, but debate on the bill to implement the system continued until adjournment time. It will be continued today.

Under the bill, the minimum per capita grant will be increased to $3 from $1.50 and the maximum to $5.50 from $4.

Thomas D. Thomas (CCF — Oshawa) was critical of the government's instruction to municipal clerks not to set their new tax rates until the grant legislation was passed by the legislature.

The government action was costing Oshawa $1,500 a week in bank interest, for money borrowed to carry on business.

Municipal clerks should have been told the meaning of the new formula two weeks ago when the increased grants were announced in the budget.

Ross Whicher (L—Bruce) said some of the smaller municipalities needed more money. He suggested the new system be accompanied by a policy of giving the grants where they were needed most. The richer municipalities should help the poorer ones.

Fred Edwards (PC — Dufferin-Peel) said a special committee be established to study provincial - municipal relations was rejected by Premier Frost who said such a committee would be of no benefit.

Mr. Warrender said residents of municipalities having a high ratio of industrial and commercial assessment would benefit slightly more than residents of areas where the ratio is low. However, all municipalities would benefit considerably.

TWICE-DAILY MAIL SERVICE NOT ENTERTAINED

Lapointe Says Cost Would Be Too Heavy

OTTAWA (CP) — Common members have been clamoring for restoration of twice-daily mail delivery in cities have received small comfort from Postmaster-General Lapointe.

Mr. Lapointe, who represents the north shore riding of Lotbiniere, Que., added Wednesday with other members who have said the first conveyance should be restored if farmers not yet receiving even a once-a-day delivery.

Twice - daily urban deliveries were reduced five years ago as an economy measure.

During House discussion of post office spending estimates, which continues today, Mr. Lapointe also said his surplus in the current fiscal year ending March 31 will be about $6,000,000.

Mr. Lapointe said he was not denying there was merit in requests for twice-daily deliveries. However, "I believe the present service should be extended . . . to as many of the population in Canada as possible."

COSTS ESTIMATED

There had been two proposals on ways of restoring the twice-daily deliveries, One—which was impractical—was to maintain service five days a week with no deliveries Saturday. The extra cost would range from $3,233,000 to $3,722,000. The other proposal—to have twice-daily deliveries five days a week and once on Saturday—would cost between $5,456,000 and $5,142,000.

He added that those estimates were based on mail volume before the twice-daily service was ended. Volume has increased and substantially since.

In his statement about a $6,000,000 post office surplus in the current year, Mr. Lapointe referred to a Canadian Press report Friday which stated he had indicated that post office department would have a surplus of $30,000,000 for the year.

The Canadian Press in reaching this figure took the estimated $109,658,000 revenue and subtracted spending appropriations of $139,356,622. The CP erroneously failed to add the statutory expenditures not voted by Parliament and to indicate further supplementary estimates for the year might add $4,000,000.

DESIGNS STAMP ART

Thomas Bell (PC — St. John-Albert) criticized what he said is growing use of abstract art in designs of Canadian postage stamps.

Abstract art was "all wet." It was a sign of our national immaturity" and an art form that Canada wasn't ready for. The present stamps were not like the simple ordinary Canadian scenes.

Pope Makes Plea For Common Man

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — The Pope today delivered a plea for the world to respect the value of being in an era of automation.

He warned against neglecting the worker as a person in efforts to increase production.

Hit By Freighter, U.S. Navy Tanker Blasted Apart

Death Toll Believed Ten In Delaware River Explosion

NEW CASTLE, Del. (AP) A violent midships explosion tore a navy tanker apart following a collision with a freighter in the Delaware River early today. At least 10 crew members of the tanker, including the captain and most of his deck officers, were missing and feared dead.

The captain of the freighter Elna II—Alexander Kaare, 62, of Tvoonto—reported several hours after the collision that all 29 members of his crew had been accounted for. The tanker, the Mission Sao Francisco, sank almost immediately in deep water near Pea Patch jetty three miles south of here.

Twentyseix of the 46 members of the tanker crew escaped in one of the Mission's boats and 10 others were pulled out of the water by fishing boats and vessels from nearby refineries.

Rescue efforts were hampered by a sudden snow storm which blew up over the river at dawn, and fog broke out soon after the stern of the tanker which jutted out of the water and burned fiercely. Capt. Kaare said it was doubtful that any of the crew members still aboard when sunk—the ship, he could, be alive.

ESCAPE INJURY

The 26 survivors who were transferred to the coast guard cutter Zinnia and later to an army base were put ashore at Fort Castle. None appeared severely injured.

Two of the survivors said the captain and those on the bridge must have been killed by the tremendous blast which tore the superstructure into bits.

The tanker, owned by the navy, was assigned to the military sea transportation service. It is manned by civilians and operated by commercial firms under contract to haul oil for the navy.

One of the tanker's survivors said that the ship, which has a capacity of 28,300 tons, was empty and had not been "defumigated." This concentration of fumes, he said, was what caused the terrific blast, the force of which was reported as far away as 30 miles.

Crew members of a variety of small craft which took part in the initial rescue efforts said it was doubtful if any of the tanker's crew still aboard could have survived.

BRIDGE BLOWN UP

The first survivor from the Mission San Francisco, William Bousch, 35, of Miami, Fla., first assistant engineer, said the explosion, four mates, the purser, a steward and a radio operator were in the bridge at the time of the blast. He added:

"The bridge was blown to bits. I don't see how they could have survived."

He said he was asleep in his cabin and the blast knocked him out of bed.

"The ship was covered with flames in an instant and listing to port as I went over the side. I saw many members of the crew jumping from the ship."

The survivors appeared in agreement that the Elna had struck the tanker amidships.

Scene of the collision is about 40 miles south of Philadelphia at a point where the river is about two miles wide.

Canadian Trucks Carry UN Troops Into Gaza Strip

RAFAH, Egypt (CP)—Canadian service corps trucks Wednesday night carried a heavy concentration of the United Nations Emergency Force into the disputed Gaza Strip as occupying Israeli troops pulled out.

The operation started after night fall, apparently in an effort to minimize demonstrations in connection with the take-over. A drenching rain was falling.

Soldiers from Denmark, Norway, Sweden, India and Colombia were quickly deployed over the area.

By 4 a.m. the last Israeli soldier had departed from the narrow strip of land and the United Nations took control. The telephone connection was broken between police headquarters in Jerusalem and Gaza City.

A signals outfit, under Capt. Doug Kirkpatrick of Regina and Camp Borden, accompanied advance units.

BIG WHEELERS

Thirty, six-wheel trucks of the service corps, under the command of Lieut. Dennis Davis of Moncton, N.B., and Vancouver, made up the biggest Canadian representation.

The operation started after say RCAF Otter piloted by FO John Hughil of the Guelph carried Maj.-Gen. F. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of the UN force, to a meeting of Israeli and Egyptian commander.

Meanwhile preparations for a similar move along the Gulf of Aqaba were being made by Canadian signals and logistics groups.

The first communications were set up between Sharm el Sheikh, Leo Dentrement, Yarmouth, N.S., and Cpl. J. Rooney, Kingston.

Mabel, the Sunburned Whale, Sulked Wouldn't Eat Until Better Quartered

PALOS VERDES, Calif. (AP)—Mabel the sunburned whale is happy instead of sulky today.

Mabel, a 30-foot humpback, captured recently off Santa Catalina Island, had been brooding in a tank at Marineland of the Pacific in Oceanarium.

It seems the tank was too shallow and Mabel's dorsal fin stuck up in the breezes and the sun. Attendants tried to soothe the sunburned fin with a zinc oxide ointment and they draped it with a burlap bag.

But Mabel evidently was unimpressed. She sulked, and wouldn't eat.

General Manager William Monahan finally decided to move Mabel into the oceanarium's biggest tank, a 500,000-gallon oval job deep enough for her to submerge her sunburned fin.

The moving was quite an operation. Mabel was transported on a cradle of mattresses on a raft. The raft was trucked to the big pool. Mabel was hoisted by fork, then dunked into her giant bathtub.

Aquarist Dave Brown gave her an injection of vitamin B-12, then a shot of cocain derivative to calm her. Later he steered her around the pool a few times for orientation purposes.

After a time Mabel blew. It seemed to be a cheerful spray.

Belleville Man Ordered to Pay Wife Alimony

TORONTO (CP)—A Belleville man who left his wife on a station platform to make her own way home today was ordered to pay her $100 a month alimony.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson ruled in favor of the action for separation against Mrs. Gertrude Gist, 60, in June 1956.

The husband, 62-year-old Harold Roger Gist, was married with total lack of consideration, said Mr. Justice Judson.

"On one occasion both the wife and the daughter (by a previous marriage) came from Toronto to Belleville on the same train. The defendant met them and drove his daughter to the house, leaving his wife on the station platform to shift for herself."

Start Demolition Of Belleville Lock Building

The old Belleville Lock Company building on Pinnacle street will soon be no more.

This week the St. Clair Wrecking Company of Toronto who were awarded the contract for the demolition of the old stone structure, commenced operations and the smaller buildings on the lot are being removed to provide working room for more important demolition of the main structure. This morning workmen were given on the roof of the old lock factory.

The building and the lot on which it stands were purchased several months ago by the city for the establishment of a parking lot.

A poured concrete structure at the rear of the premises is being left intact and plans are to renovate the structure for use by the city recreation commission.

Airmen Quickly Assist Others To Save Selves

Self-preservation is at the top of the list of duties of Trenton airmen.

Since he saves himself from death or injury, what is he most likely to do?

Six men of the RCAF stationed at Trenton answered the latter question yesterday morning after they jumped safely from their burning Vertol H-21 rescue helicopter, which crashed on Hastings St. in Bancroft among a group of houses.

Immediately after tumbling from the inferno the six men, before counting heads, began to evacuate nearby residents of homes endangered by the fire.

One woman, clutching a baby, fled from her home clad only in a night-dress.

Actually, there was no cause for alarm of the fire spreading to the houses, because the Bancroft volunteer fire brigade arrived promptly on the scene and kept the fire under control. No homes were damaged.

The action showed by these six RCAF men is worthy of high commendation.

Last night the remains of the twin rotor helicopter were returned to RCAF Station, Trenton, on the back of a flat-bed truck.

The RCAF is carrying out an investigation into the cause of the accident.

Should Equip Cars With Flashlight First-Aid Kit

In view of the increasing number of reportable highway traffic accidents, Attorney-General Leslie Roberts recently suggested that every car should be equipped with a flashlight as an extinguished first-aid kit.

If every motor vehicle was equipped with a first-aid kit, a considerable amount of assistance could be rendered on the spot by those who know how to use such a kit. For the immediate application of a disinfectant could prevent infection from developing or spreading.

A communique from the Attorney General's office stated: "It should be compulsory for every motor vehicle to carry a dependable flashlight. This not only would assist a motorist at night in the event his engine stalls, but it would help him to signal other cars."

Small, easy-to handle fire extinguishers should also be standard equipment in vehicles. The presence of an extinguisher in a car might permit a motorist to fight an engine fire or any blaze starting elsewhere in the auto. An extinguisher could also be used in the event a motorist spotted a blaze if a house.

These three suggestions were received at Queen's Park in Toronto from various sources in connection with the Ontario Provincial Police highway safety program.

Librarian Says Circulation Up

In her report covering January and February, Miss Olive Delaney, librarian of the Corby Public Library, said that a total circulation of 23,468 showed an increase of 2,089 over a similar period last year. Part of this increase was due to the circulation of 2,108 books in Sir Winston Churchill school library which was not in operation last year.

The total new membership for the two months was 232.

The reference department has never been more active supplying answers to all sorts of pertinent questions on a wide variety of subjects.

The library received about $3,000 worth of books in December requiring the first two months of 1957 for cataloguing. One third of the 101 titles purchased in January and February are non-fiction.

An increased circulation and an increased book budget have in turn increased the amount of book repairing necessary. Two hundred books have been repaired since the beginning of the year.

Some very welcome donations were received, such as 10 volumes of short stories by O. Henry from Mr. Bruce Hutchison, and 30 to 40 Dutch books from Mr. Von Weller and Mr. Jan Van Der Linden, and a book truck from Mr. J. D. O'Flynn.

Book talks were given to children of the King George and Queen Mary schools by the assistant librarian Mrs. Frank Leach. Books were distributed to pupils in grades four to eight.

A list of Canadian books was prepared and distributed to all members of the library by Miss Madeline Young, who is to be director of the Folk School to be held here soon.

The Church Club, the film council and the central committee of the Home and School Association held meetings in the library.

Miss Delaney attended a meeting of the Ontario Library Association recently. Plans are underway for the annual meeting of the Association in May.

Trophies, crests and words of praise were directed towards the members of the junior and youth league teams by Mr. Vern Flindall, president of the Y's Men's Club.

Decker and from the Y's Men's Club by Vern Flindall. General secretary D. Diamantides addressed the players on the values of basketball other than physical and explained to the boys that basketball was not the only activity in which "Y" members should participate. Guest speaker N. A. Beach, director of physical education for Albert College, was introduced by Mr. Diamantides and many highlights of basketball and its history were explained to the boys in his excellent speech. Mr. Beach was thanked by Harold Kimball on behalf of his fellow players.

Mr. Flindall and Physical Director Jim Heffernan presented the trophies and crests to the winning team captains, Roger Walters and John Peoples. Roger Walters' youth team, the Knickerbockers was composed of D. Masters, R. Evans, R. Parkhurst, P. Bennet, C. McFarlane, T. Parker. John Peoples' junior team, the Hound Dogs, was composed of T. Russia Charges Swedes Aid U.S. Smuggle Jets STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Soviet Union has accused Sweden of smuggling spies into Russia in cooperation with U.S. intelligence services. Sweden branded the charges as absurd.

Russia delivered a note to the foreign office Wednesday claiming it has caught 14 of the alleged spies, tried them and given them undisclosed sentences. Pravda, Izvestia and Moscow radio publicized the case extensively today.

The broadcast said the alleged spies were recruited in Sweden by a "Capt. Anderson of the Swedish intelligence service and the American resident Valdin, with the assistance of the ringleaders of the so-called Estonian National Council." After being trained at C.I.A. for several months in Stockholm, the men were turned over to "a special crew of sailors" to be smuggled into Soviet territory.

ABSURD, SAY SWEDES

The Swedish foreign office said the Soviet charge "falls of its own absurdity." It added that Sweden "stands far from any sort of agent activity for espionage purposes on Soviet territory."

Diplomats in Stockholm believe the Soviet charge may have a double significance. At least one crackdown on restless peoples of the Baltic states is underway. Lithuania and Latvia, and a counteroffensive to offset two current Swedish trials of persons charged with spying for Russia.

Poor and Wealthy Least Confident In Their Doctors

MONTREAL (CP) — The poor and the wealthy are least confident in medical family doctors, Canada's College of General Practitioners said today at the closing of its convention Wednesday.

Dr. Oswald Hall, University of Toronto sociologist, said middle-class clerical workers show the most confidence. A general family practitioner's qualifications and diagnostics, while professional-executive types and manual workers tend to criticize most.

Dr. Hall said the solid are apt to suspect a doctor of not giving them full attention because they may not be able to pay. They worried about the expense of tests and tended to complain he is rough with them.

The white-collar persons, on the other hand, are apt to go to a specialist as soon as they suspect something is wrong, he said. They considered themselves "intellectuals" and wanted an intelligent account of what was happening.

Dr. Lewis J. Dill of Winnipeg urged early testing of children for hearing impairments. Practically all children with hearing defects can be helped, he said, by medication, surgery, special aids, or a combination of all three.

Egypt Will Open Canal on Friday For Small Ships

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt will reopen the Suez Canal Friday for navigation by small ships up to 30,000 tons, it was announced today.

The Egyptian Suez Canal authority, in a circular to all shipping companies, announced that the canal will be open during the daytime for ships up to 30,000 tons, effective Friday.

Three ships are waiting at Port Said to go through the canal.

Egypt blocked the international waterway after Anglo-French intervention in the Suez last fall.

Large Numbers Of Warrants Unexecuted

TORONTO (CP)—Police said today they are investigating "large numbers" of unexecuted warrants left behind by suburban New Toronto police when the Metropolitan force took over earlier this year.

Chief of Detectives Alex McCathie said the warrants are for cases dating back to 1955. In every case investigated so far the complainants still want to press charges, he said.

In one, said McCathie, a man ordered arrested 33 months ago when he failed to appear on a fraud charge afterward served two terms in reformatory without being brought to trial for fraud.

The attorney-general's office is also investigating.

NOT DELIBERATE

Robert Weatherup, retired chief of New Toronto police, said he knows of no warrants being purposely held back.

"During my time as chief we executed every warrant it was possible to execute," he said. "That's all I know about it."

McCathie said none of the complainants interviewed so far has been able to explain why the warrants were not executed.

"We will execute warrants in every case where we can find the wanted party," he said.

An attorney-general's department spokesman said he could not understand why the warrants were not come to light sooner. The complainants should have gone to higher authorities when they weren't executed, he said.

Egyptian Air Force Back To Strength

CAIRO (AP)—The weekly paper Akher Saa today quoted the air force chief of staff as saying Egypt's air force is back to the strength it had before the British-French attack last fall.

Senate Body Approves New Narcotics Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate banking committee today gave swift approval to a new narcotic control bill.

Aimed at Canada's multi-million-dollar underworld drug traffic, the bill provides penalties up to life imprisonment for peddlers of narcotics.

Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy health minister, said a new Narcotic Control Act is required because chemists now can make synthetic drugs equally as dangerous as opium and heroin.

Senator William Euler (L—Ontario) said penalties against doctors convicted of trafficking in drugs should be more severe than for laymen. He also said more attention should be paid to possible cures for drug addicts than to punishment for addiction.

Dr. Cameron said no satisfactory method of curing drug addiction had yet been found.

K. C. Hossick, director of narcotics control, told the committee that the number of known drug addicts in Canada has decreased from 2,200 in the last three years. Most of the known addicts had criminal records.

Sask. to Measure Progress by Size Of Net Debt

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan legislators heard Wednesday that in future that province will measure its progress by the size of its net debt.

Provincial treasurer Clarence Fines said in his budget address that this is the only single consistent yardstick of the province's net worth.

Mr. Fines said Saskatchewan's net direct debt dropped $4,178,000 in the calendar year 1956 and now stands at $63,873,000. He said it may be reduced by another $3,600,000 this year.

The budget statement showed the per capita debt to be $72.50 compared with $186.60 at April 30, 1944, when C.C.F. was held power since July, 1944.

A resolution proposed by the Liberal opposition in the New Brunswick legislature that a legislative committee be appointed to study the liquor situation in the province was defeated on a voice vote.

ARGUE OIL DIVIDENDS

Debate on the budget address in the Alberta legislature before a Liberal non - confidence motion was defeated by the Social Credit majority.

The argument was over the possessed oil - royalty dividends which opposition members said would be "a political racket."

A "most unwise expenditure of public funds" was what the defeated non - confidence motion called the dividends. The legislation calls for one-third of petroleum royalties, learned by the province to be shared among all Canadians who have lived in Alberta five consecutive years. The budget estimated $11,000,000 for this purpose in 1957.

Premier Douglas Campbell told the Manitoba legislature that the "whole story of fishing on the lakes" is told in the size of fishermen's gill nets. The premier said that if fishermen used the proper size nets fish would be allowed to become and batcheries would be unnecessary.

He said this can be achieved only by the enforcement of regulations governing nets and by co-operation from the fishermen.

TIME ACT WAS REVISED

The Toronto Telegram will publish a Sunday morning edition, starting March 17.

John Bassett Jr., the Telegram's publisher and chairman, says the paper will not be breaking the federal Lord's Day Act because publication of a Sunday paper is a "work of necessity" and as such is permitted under the Act.

A. B. McGrath, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, disputes this view. Mr. Bassett, however, says that he has checked his opinion with responsible lawyers, who agree.

Whatever the lawyers may say, whatever may be the legal position of the Telegram, common sense suggests that to call the publication of a Sunday edition of a newspaper a necessity is to place a very wide interpretation on the meaning of the word. But no wider meaning, we suggest, than that which must be invoked to permit the present operation on Sunday of a host of business establishments.

Restaurants must be open on Sunday, for people must eat and not all people can eat at home, which may be no more than a room. But what is the urgent necessity for pop stands and hot dog stands?

The existing situation is shot through with anomalies. In one resort area police repeatedly tried to close a produce market which was open on Sunday just on the outskirts of a city, yet never questioned the right of grocery store operators to stay open at a beach twenty miles away. The difference between the two cases was fairly obvious. And it was not a difference of morality. Merchants in the city objected to a competitor opening his store on Sunday at their very doorsteps, but did not object to beach stores being open twenty miles away.

The remedy for this situation is not to endeavor to have the publication of the Sunday edition of a paper interpreted as a work of necessity, but to seek a revision of the Lord's Day Act.

If legislators are not prepared to revise the act, then let them order that it be strictly enforced.

Neither task is going to be easy, but either approach is better than the present one which is to keep the law on the books but to permit it to be broken, in spirit if not in letter.

GUIDED DEMOCRACY?

What is a "guided democracy?"

That is the 40,000,000-people question which jumps into one's mind as one reads about the latest troubles in Indonesia.

Rebels have demanded that the entire republic be placed under military rule, with complete autonomy for the revolting areas in Eastern Indonesia. They have also warned of possible bloodshed if President Sukarno persists in his plan for a "guided democracy."

A guided democracy? What is that? Obviously it is meant to be something quite different from the type of democracy we enjoy which, by comparison, the Indonesians must consider an "unguided democracy," not a very flattering but perhaps a rather apt description.

There is something rather sinister, though, about that word "guided." Guided missiles, controlled missile. Guided democracy, controlled democracy. Controlled by whom? If not by the people, can it still be a democracy? Is there not a contradiction in terms here?

Support for this supposition may be found in the further report that the rebels object to Sukarno's plan to include the Communists in his "guided" regime and warn they will not tolerate any Reds in the government. But it would be dangerous to espouse the rebel cause on the basis of this declaration alone, for not all anti-Communists are saints; some are Fascists. And so many Canadians will prefer to wait for events before they endeavor to interpret the latest turn in events in the rich islands which so recently won their independence from the Dutch.

One suspects that behind the facade of Communism, anti-Communism and neutralism there may be material for a modern Conrad to spin tales of intrigue to match "The Rescuer."

NEW EGG AT MUNICH

Another egg is being laid at Munich.

The first egg most of us recall—that one which Chamberlain laid when he sought "peace in our time" from Hitler.

The new egg is different. It is a 90-foot high domeshaped building which the Munich population calls "The Atomic Egg" and which will house West Germany's first nuclear reactor, to be used for research.

The reactor is being built by the American Machine and Foundry Company.

Ironic, is it not?

COUNTRY CALLS

I have the urge again to go
Adrift upon a favorite stream,
To see once more the trees I know
And for a few hours idly dream.
And now and then I'd like to look
Where I had once a garden been.

A big one I would like to catch.
But if the creel I fail to fill
And miss the thrill naught else can match,
For hours I'll be contented still.
The city holds delights to please
But river banks are lined with trees.

A temple spire is fair to see
And so are people bowed at prayer.
But city breezes cannot be
Refreshing as is country air.
There's quiet on a nearby hill.
The busy towns are seldom still
Along the roadsides daisies grow
And there's a charm in Queen Anne's lace.
But these in cities cannot grow
When solid concrete fills the space.

The city has but little beauty meets
Where traffic occupies the streets.

Noise follows the delivery cart.
In town the trucks go rumbling by.
At times it's good to step apart
And look at field and stream and sky.
Where trucks must travel to and fro
The wild flowers seldom stay to grow.

Modern Potters of Susa

By Gulliver in Unesco Features

The first thing that strikes a traveller arriving in the Susa excavations. Magnificent architectural remains stand side by side with fine modern buildings. But the visitor will be particularly impressed by the beauty of the objects discovered in tombs and on other archaeological sites—objects ranging up to the 16th century.

Yet in Teheran today there are people who view these treasures with sadness, almost with anger. One of them is M. E. Pahlbod, Director of Fine Arts, who sadly compares the luxurious ceramics of the past with the work of present-day potters. And one has to agree to the justice of his theory and, particularly, the "arty" ceramics produced today in more than one Middle Eastern country are depressing sight for people who take pride in their national traditions.

But the Iranian authorities are reacting against this tendency, and it was with a view to reviving the ceramic traditions that workshops were recently set up by the Department of Fine Arts. These workshops are both research laboratories for the study of ancient techniques and training centres for young craftsmen. There are workshops for every different craft—carpet-weaving, brasswork, jewelry, mosaics, cabinet-making, etc.

As far as ceramics are concerned, Ulysse Wylie, the Government's request, has sent an expert to help in this work. He is a hefty Canadian with the iron grey hair who, before coming to Iran, decided his time between teaching in industry and teaching at the Ontario College of Arts.

In Teheran, Mr. Wylie's chief pre-occupation for the moment is the technical side of the ceramic making. He wants to begin from scratch, for many potters have forgotten the traditional ways and formulas of paste-mixing and firing. There are some 50 potters in the city who are working is to grind down broken dishes and bits of pottery with which they produce new utensils. Asked whether no fresh clay is available, they would answer simply that there is plenty of it, but that they do not know how to mix it and fire it at the proper temperature.

For Grant Wylie, starting from scratch has meant gathering together an extensive collection of samples of the different sorts of clay available all over Iran. Not content with what the shops had to offer, he travelled back and forth across the country, exploring scattered districts and filling his baggage with samples. At first time in his life — into remote mountain valleys. He acquired a household's admiration for the Iranian country side on these trips—and a healthy respect for its aversion for horseback riding.

Back in Teheran with his collection of samples Grant Wylie began the long and delicate task of experimenting with ceramic literature for firing each type of clay or mixture of clays. In Iran, he is obliged to prepare his theories producing tiles and fireclay pots which are supposed to regulate the temperature of their ovens. Not so the potters who operate merely by observation. That is probably why they so often use paste made from scraps and chips they are used to working with certain type of mixture and are not anxious to change.

Wylie, however, would like to see them make full use of their materials. He is convinced that his two assistants and his Iranian colleague Mehdi Rahnamoun, who is studying to become an industrial chemist, he has analysed the different types of clays and is drawing up a chart of their reactions to heat.

For this work he needed a kiln, and he is building one, or rather, he stressed, his assistants are building it. "The boys are doing everything" he said. "I explained the main lines of the project, then they set to work drawing up detailed plans and calculations." He paused for moment, frowned, and rummaged in his pocket for a pipe. "Let's hope it doesn't fall straight on the floor," he then said, "you see, that would be a disaster." He hoped for a minor disaster in the initial stages so that the boys will really grasp the principles of kiln-building".

He explained there principles by passing his pipe through one of the half-finished kiln. "It's a very simple affair", he said, "the heat circulates this way, radiates from here . . . You know, the Government wanted to import a big metal oven operated by electricity. But I said "no", if you do that the boys won't learn anything. They've got to work with local materials. And no electricity — we'll use kerosene like the bakers".

The students, at any rate, seem delighted. Instead of learning by rule-of-thumb and using machines developed by others, they work out their own rules and make their own tools, gradually mastering all the intricacies of the trade. That is what is important for, as Wylie puts it: "In this business you have to know the why and the wherefore".

But the young men are not neglecting book-learning. "When I leave", said Wylie, "they'll have learned the international language of ceramics. In the old days, Persian masters-potters used to pass down their formulas from father to son. But now days it's different. Every year thousands of experiments with pottery, enamels and glazes are described in technical journals that appear in English, German and French. You have to read them to keep up to date, and that's just what these boys are doing. When I see them burrowing in books and magazines, or busily discussing some article, I know they're on the right track".

One the problem of technical training has been dealt with satisfactorily, the Director of Fine Arts intends to tackle the aesthetic problems of decoration and form. Persian ceramics were subjected to Western influence at the worst possible time—the Victorian era—and the results haven't yet recovered. The younger generation will probably succeed in making a fusion between Western inspiration in the ancient art of their country, but the contemporary Western art. "But technique first", says Grant Wylie. "The Director says the same of the progressing quickly enough, and it's true that our work isn't spectacular. But I expect some quite spectacular results. These young people are clever at studying others and, what's more, they are anxious to learn".

It is these young people who will form the new generation of master-craftsmen, the heirs of the great traditions of Susa and Ecbatana.

What Makes Delinquents?

Milwaukee Journal

If Intelligence rather than futile anger is to guide us in dealing with juvenile delinquency and youthful crime, we shall first have to discover what lies behind the wherefrems.

Some useful light is shed on the wherefroms in a study by the New York city youth board. It indicates that of the 3,000 delinquents under 21 years old who came from one percent of the families in the city, the three-fourths of the 35,000 New York children found to have caused trouble annually for delinquency come from 20,000 families.

The families are practically all on relief, forming about a third of the total relief load in the city.

Over 20 percent of the fathers and seven percent of the mothers of schoolboy delinquents, while 15 percent of the mothers and seven percent of the fathers are mentally ill. More than 32 percent of the mothers and 15 percent of the fathers are physically handicapped.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

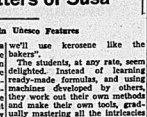
One thing I have noticed: everybody knocks wire coat hangers down onto the clothes closet floor. Hardly anybody ever picks them up.

If this were true, you could hardly walk for wire coat hangers all over the floors. Who does pick them up?

Probably some good Samaritan around the home, or at the restaurant or at the office, that you never really see anybody picking them up. But they do get picked up, stealth.

There are obviously far too many wire coat hangers in existence. The home is stiff with them. Some of them, I suppose, get back from the cleaners arrives on wire hangers. Month by month, year by year, the multitude of them slowly jams every closet, every hall cupboard, and they are offering them back to the cleaner' delivery man. He just says they have got all they want. Of course, you can make up bundles of them and slip them, quietly in the cartons of clothing and stuff you give to your favorite mission. But what do missions do with all those coat hangers?

You can even gather up a couple of handfuls of them from around the house, in the process of which you drop at least half a dozen onto the floor and leave them there, to put out with the garbage or ashes. Not there is something wicked about this wilful waste. It is not easy to put forty wire coat hangers out in the garbage.



A trick one of my friends employs is to put two coat hangers back in each suit or dress sent to the cleaners. I bet this shocks the cleaners. Most of us, however, are afraid to try any such practical joke. We are trying to detach say two coat hangers from the row in the closet you are likely to knock down five. So we just put a heap of clothes on a chair beside the big door for the cleaner's man to pick up, as usual.

In the popular mechanics type of magazine I have often seen ingenious uses suggested for wire coat hangers, such as making pot hooks for camp fires, boot driers, wire easels for propping up plaster on top for Swish dressers, pokers for removing stoppages in drains, and many other highly practical enterprises.

But I think that chief use is a most useful one, to demonstrate how bone lazy we all are; and to convince us once and for all beyond question: who the Sam Hill picks them up?

Dior Chooses Wrong Words

Minneapolis Tribune

Some people seem to succeed in spite of themselves.

Christian Dior, for instance. He may know his fashions—at least he knows the value of producing the latest fancy clothes people talk about before other designers alter them to suit their individuality. By now women have even forgiven him for outdating all their clothes at once by dropping hemlines for the "new look".

But Dior's clumsiness makes you wonder whether it isn't time for him to get a new press agent. Just who does he expect to be fascinated by a dress referred to as a "sloppy-joe tube"? We can think of anybody—women, men or even stovepipe salesmen—who might be able to imagine any attractive comparison between a stovepipe and the human form.

You Gotta Have Teeth

According to Webster the Dutch of New Amsterdam called the English colonists Yankees. Later any resident of New England was a Yankee. Still later anyone from north of Baltimore or Chesapeake became a Yankee if he travelled south. In the first World War troops from the United States were Yanks even though many of them spoke with a drawl.

Yankee humour is a common functional disorder manifested by uneasiness and fullness after eating, blood-shot eyes, hyperacidity, heartburn, (waterbrash, pyrosis, burning or irritation of the food has to gullet by sour eructations) and the impatience, irritability, and crankiness engendered by these discomforts.

The only part of the entire digestive process over which one has any control goes on in the mouth during mastication. Two minutes for half an hour or longer in the stomach after the food has been swallowed. How many teeth have you lost, Mister?

Saliva (ptyalin) in salival, called ptyalism, converts cooked starch (farinaceous and dextrin, if the saliva is well-mixed with the food by chewing. Of course the saliva is supposed to have the ptyalin can compete its action. Fermentation, engendered in the gastric juice,) being acid, destroyed the ptyalin and arrested digestion of starch immediately after the bolus reached the stomach. This explanation is based the notion that mastication of food thoroughly digestion didn't matter and hence loss of teeth, crippling mastication, was insignificant.

Today we know better. Some of the food in an overloaded stomach remains in the fundus or first part of the stomach for an hour unfouched by the acid gastric juice, so that the salivary digestion continues for at least half an hour in the stomach.

If this part of the digestive process was a failure, the inability of undigested starch becomes a den on pancreatic action, in which starch beyond the amount which. That's where "indigestion" has its goat who has lost some teeth and never troubled to replace them.

One "notion" I have is that in order to attain good health, vim, vigor and vitality or maintain a full set of functionally efficient teeth or dentures. Further I say that every tooth lost and not immediately replaced by a functionally efficient denture, one must deduct two years from one's life expectancy.

If all this blah about teeth seems all out of line in a piece about everyday stomach troubles your education has been neglected. If your doctor omitted the loss of a tooth or two—yours, that is his education has been neglected.

THE LAW AND

I have also stated that every functionally efficient tool is worth to the owner not less than $1,000, and lately this has been recognized by the courts.

Proper mastication, digestion, and good looks are contingent or incidental upon the proper relation to the condition of the teeth. Good nutrition is the first result of good teeth.

One need not be a gourmet to enjoy good food. One needs only good teeth.

One need not be under the influence of alcohol or drugs to enjoy being alive. One needs only the luxury of good teeth—sense of nutritional condition, etc., and to have that kind of nutrition you've got to have teeth.

THE UPWARD LOOK

Hills and mountains occupied a conspicuous place in the life of our Lord. Jerusalem, His outstanding message seated on the side of a mountain. He often went from the mountains to pray. He was crucified on a hill called Golgotha. He ascended into heaven in a cloud from Mount Olivet that has been known as the Mount of the Ascension.

The Psalmist had written many centuries before, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help; my help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." As one looks at the hills, there appears to be rescue although the Lord is not there. He is Lord of the hills and valleys will stream horses and chariots. Down from its crest will come hosts of angels to bless and redeem.

The life that looks up is the life which is radiant, happy and full of significant. Some folks go through life looking down. Some are sad as the world round about them, their life looking down. Some see only the ground round about them, their life lived at eye level and no higher. But those who look up find indeed refreshment for their soul. Help cometh from the hills.

Here is revelation, the prophet Elisha besought the Lord to open the eyes of one of his disciples and lowers and the young man looked, "And behold, the mountains were full of horses and chariots round about."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POTENTIALS

The late Don Marquis once wrote an inspiring poem in which he said that he was "full of new potentials." He was not boasting, or even measure, the potentials that he felt latent within him. All he was thought itself inspiring? I like to speculate every time I look into the smiling face of a baby! What is a world of potentials there!

Also the crowd in the room of a great library and note how eager the readers are, at the many tables, with books and manuscripts being studied. Or note the crowds at the athletic events or public schools and colleges. There are potentialities among all these that thrill us no one knows.

Few, if any, human beings can match the example of Abraham Lincoln—born in the first poverty no schooling, and under circumstances that would have discouraged most men. How little he had to give him hope and confidence! But he had ambition to supplement his mental tasks. He loved books. He studied, became a lawyer. But who—even himself—dared to predict that he would some day become the President of the United States? The potentiality, however, was there and he developed it, because it was within his heart for he seemed born to serve.

Teachers in our schools have a wonderful God-given opportunity as they look upon the potentialities of all their pupils. Teachers have the power to see what they had in their profession, and how happy they have been to see many a boy or girl go into life with important positions, and to inspire in others the ambition that so well served them.

We do not know of the potentialities of a friend, or of a new job, until we have tested each. We must venture somehow to be about what we want most to be!

Too Diffident

Straford Beacon-Herald

It might be said of opportunity, instead of just knocking at the door, did what temptation does—kicks the door in.

Education Week

Ron Carrigan gets helping hand from his industrial arts teacher, Dennis A. Julian, as he puts finishing touches on a bookend he made at Queen Mary Public School.

Tinsmithing, Drafting, Carpentering Too That's What Belleville Boys Learn to Do

Over 300 public school boys here are learning to be draftsmen, carpenters and sheet metal workers.

This being Education Week, it was thought their parents might like to learn what their sons are accomplishing.

Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra schools are the only public schools in Belleville that can facilitate over 300 "eager-beavers" in industrial arts. However, the Department of Education says this subject is compulsory for boys in grades seven and eight. Therefore the other public schools here that do not have shops send their boys to either Queen Mary or Queen Alexandra, depending on which side of the Moira River the parent schools are located.

GOOD INSTRUCTORS

Both host schools are well equipped with power tools, hand tools and drafting tables. But perhaps the most important of all, they have two of the best instructors in this area. Dennis Julian teaches the industrial arts classes at Queen Mary, and Henry Fuller oversees the classes at Queen Alexandra.

Typical of the sort of training the boys get in Belleville is that which is given at Queen Mary. Here Mr. Julian (as does Mr. Fuller at Queen Alexandra) strives to guide his classes rather than lecture to them. Except for adhering to a course of studies which the Department of Education has laid down, Mr. Julian prefers the boys to use their own initiative and creative ability.

Experience has taught Mr. Julian and Mr. Fuller that industrial arts classes are a source of discovering, developing and producing mechanical genius. These classes also develop determination and self-confidence in the boys. Mr. Julian likes to watch a boy working a piece of wood, especially if it is his first attempt.

"If he wrecks his wood, so what. The main thing is to encourage him to start over again, use his own brain and not make the same mistake again," said Mr. Julian.

In the drafting rooms the boys learn the fundamentals of the art. Twenty-five per cent of their instruction is given in this subject with the remaining 75 per cent equally divided among sheet metal working, woodworking and a hobbycraft.

Boys in grade seven learn basic drafting and, after they acquire a working knowledge of it, employ their ability on a piece of wood in the shop. Next year, though, they will take more advanced drafting and will be able to make a few modifications on the original drawing, such as rounding edges or corners.

Each boy seems to have in mind one common goal: to work on the wood lathe. Their instructors keep them from this machine until such time as the boys have learned to respect tools, use them properly and observe safety precautions.

Expert instruction is given the boys on the only way to handle tools if they are to last any length of time. The teachers also try to impress upon the boys the wisdom of buying god quality tools, but no endorsation is given to any brand name.

One of the safety features in the shops is the shutting off of electricity to the power tools at recess. Fire extinguishers are located at strategic spots.

Sufficient lighting from artificial and natural sources provides ideal easy-on-the-eyes working conditions.

The lads also learn to identify one type of wood from another. This, in itself, takes some doing, but they are assisted by their knowledge of trees learned in natural science classes.

To asfist them with their woodworking, the boys have access to such electrically-powered tools as a drill press, jig saw, band saw, lathe, circular saw and grinder. Dozens of hand tools are kept neatly stored in their proper places in the tool crib.

When this reporter visited the drafting room at Queen Mary the other day, he saw one boy busily engaged in preparing a poster to publicize a coming event at the school. Whenever the schools need posters it is a simple matter to get them if a call is made to the industrial arts classes.

In sheet metal working classes the boys soon learn the qualities of metals and what each is best suited for. Then they try their hands at making such things as flour and sugar scoops out of "tin."

As the year progresses and they learn more about the subject, the lads may try their hands at making some other articles.

Instruction in a hobbycraft is always well received. At Queen Mary, Mr. Julian teaches leather work. However, only the fundamentals of the craft are taught. Tricky tooling and carving are left until the boys enter high school.

In the spring, when frequently you see hanging on the office doors signs which read "Gone Fishing," the boys in grades seven and eight go fishing too. But only in spirit, not-body. To put the boys in a fishing spirit, instruction is given in carving baswood plugs. Some real beauties are turned out, too.

Of course, boys are not likely to come right out and say they love industrial arts classes. That would be too much like the girls. However, all you need do is visit these schools on their annual open house night some time in May and see for yourselves the workmanship of articles turned out by boys in grades seven and eight.

Good craftsmanship is bred from a knowledge of the art, determination, respect for tools and a love for the job being done. And these 300 boys have what it takes.

For the luxury loving, here is an armful of the most expensive glove leather in the world, fabulous French doeskin. So if you have a lady with a birthday in the offing, or a relative who is trousseau shopping, gloves like these would be a most appreciated gift.

They feature the new longer silhouette that is so perfect with the shorter sleeve fashions. The detail includes a modicum of scallops with a few tiny suggestions of flowers. And behind all this elegance lies the practical fact that they take to soap and water like a hanky.

Seven Women Make Home In Rest Room

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven women have been advised they definitely have been on the wrong track by making their home in the Pennsylvania Station rest room.

The women, age 45 to 72, were rounded up Wednesday in the ladies' lounge and brought before Magistrate Jack Nicoll. They all carried their belongings in paper bags.

Said Nicoll: "This is the most unusual thing I've ever seen—seven women hoboing in Pennsylvania Station."

Mrs. Dora Peck, 72, who had $224 cash with her, tried to explain. The lounge was a rather pleasant place to live, she said, and there was the fun of seeing new faces all the time.

The group had a routine, she said, that went much like this: sleeping, midnight to 6 a.m.; breakfast, window shopping, perhaps a try at getting a job, 3-nap in the lounge if the weather was bad.

The magistrate suspended charges of loitering against Mrs. Peck and four of the other women. Two were acquitted.

Queen Holds Informal Dinner

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen held another of her informal luncheons at Buckingham Palace Wednesday.

Among the guests were two civil servants, a magistrate, a historian, a private school principal, an industrialist, two politicians (of opposing parties) and the vice-chancellor of a university.

Although the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh have been holding these informal luncheons more than a year—and they have been faithfully reported in the royal type in The Times—it is only in the last two weeks that the mass-circulation London newspapers have publicized them.

Queen's Unveils Plaque to Mark 115th Birthday

KINGSTON (CP)—Queen's University, born as a humble, rented, four-room house under the denominational wing of the Presbyterian Church 25 years before Confederation, celebrates its 115th birthday today.

From a student body of 10 and a faculty of two, the university has grown to its present 60 buildings on 60 acres accommodating 2,550 students and 260 professors.

The original Queen's building still stands some 200 yards from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here. It now is a private home. But its memory was to be commemorated today by the unveiling of a bronze plaque.

The Alma Mater Society will also work with the Kingston Historical Society to have the home declared a national historical site.

HISTORIC FIRST

When Queen's received a royal charter Oct. 6, 1842, it became the first university in Canada to grant a degree west of the Maritimes.

Sixteen years later it instituted another first when in the 1853-59 session it became the first Canadian university to grant its students the right of self-government.

Denominational control of the university was removed by a federal act of Parliament in 1912. Today its theological college is a separate institution.

OAKVILLE MAN KILLED

CLARKSON (CP) — John Bebbington, 61, of Oakville was killed Wednesday when his car and an auto transport collided on Highway 2. Truck driver Fritz Baker, 38, of Toronto was taken to hospital in Toronto, 20 miles east of here. His condition was reported serious.

A contest followed, each one making a button hole resulting in a tie between Mrs. Moon and Mrs. W. Bateman.

Mrs. Dovelin and her assistants served refreshments with a birthday cake to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the organization of Women's Institutes in Ontario, which has spread to other countries throughout the world, and today is only a short step to encompassing the world. Today it can boast of a membership of 6,000,000, known as The Associated Country Women of The World.

Over 300 Students Present Variety Program

Hearty applause and spontaneous laughter indicated the success of the "Variety program" in which over 300 pupils and students participated at St. Michael's Academy on March 4th. The chairman of the evening was Michael Blake.

The Grade X girls welcomed the capacity audience in their "Song of Greeting."

Primary boys in "Play Gymnastics" and the girls in "Tots in Rhythm" put the audience in a merry mood while Jimmy O'Brien playing a solo, and Jeanne and Suzanne Belair, a duet, demonstrated their skill at the piano.

Tap dancing by Sandra Koitch and Dianne McCallum, and a ballet dance by Jaqueline Keegan provided pleasing variety.

Several choral numbers included pupils from Grades V, VI and VII.

Dances Included, "Dance of Greeting" and "Children's Polka" by Grade VI and VII pupils, and square dances by Grade VIIIB pupils. The latter, in traditional Irish costume, concluded with the chorus, "Dear Little Shamrock" in anticipation of St. Patrick's Day.

With military precision, Grade VIIIA pupils, in brilliant uniforms, did a drill, "The Changing of the Guard." Mary Forrest played for the drill and accompanied the chorus.

Two short plays, "Blue Boots" by Grade V, and "Dowry for Mary" by Grade X students, completed the evening's entertainment.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IF LOVE IS DEAD, SO IS THE MARRIAGE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a married woman with three children and I'm 23 years old.

About three months ago, my husband said he was going to join a bowling league. Then he started attending union meetings, and about two months ago he said he was going to trade in his car, so that every week there were three or four nights he said he was going to see about used cars. Sometimes it would be one or two o'clock in the morning when he got home. I never questioned him, because we have always been honest with each other and ver. happy together.

About three weeks ago, there was a knock on the door, and there was a girl about 18 or 19. She said she wanted to talk to me. I asked her in and even before she sat down she said she was in love with my husband and asked me to give him a divorce. What else she said, I don't remember. I was dazed and don't even remember her leaving.

When my husband got home from work I asked him about it, and he said he was in love with this girl and that she thought she was pregnant. He said he had never joined a bowling league, attended a union meeting, or even thought of getting another car.

Since the night we talked about it there has been nothing more said until yesterday. In the meantime, I've worked especially hard to keep the house and myself in extra well and fix everything he liked to eat, but he still left the house as soon as he ate and did not come home until late.

Then, yesterday, he said he really wanted a divorce and he didn't know why I was trying to hold on to something I didn't have.

Do you think I should give him a divorce, or fight for something I feel should be mine until death parts us? And could a love that was so strong for five years be destroyed in three months? — R.B.

Dear R.B.:

I think you should fight, but in a way that might be more effective than anything you've done so far.

What I suggest is that you tell your husband you will be prepared to let him get a divorce, if he still wants it, after a definite period of time—say six months, perhaps; that you aren't willing to let him rush into divorce and remarriage, but believe the decision should wait until it is shown to be the best interest of all concerned.

Tell him that if this girl is actually pregnant, you would expect him to assume the proper financial obligation and that you would like your best to help him work out. Remind him, that, after all, he already has three children with a prior claim on him as a father.

Then go along with this calmly as you can, taking it day by day as it comes, and if your husband continues to insist that he wants a divorce, keep your word and give it to him when the time comes. For no matter how much you feel that your marriage should last until death do you up, if the love of one party to the marriage has died, then death has already stepped in.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

HAIR AND MAKE-UP TRICKS CAN SLENDERIZE A ROUND FACE

If face is round, hair should be arranged high and off the face at the sides.

Your figure or lower extremities may call for whistles, but make no mistake about it, your face and how you frame it registers far more lasting impressions on your audience. And even if yours isn't the perfect oval by which classic beauty is measured, you can make it appear so just by a few well chosen tricks with make-up and hairdo, according to Eddie Sens, one of the country's most famous make-up artists and hair designers.

Speaking about the round face, Eddie has this to say:

"Once cradle days are over, every chrub-faced woman longs for artifices to reduce the obvious circular effect of her face. She can do a great deal to create the illusion of a longer, more oval outline by starting with her hair. It should be parted to one side, never in the center. Any waves should be soft and wide, and a high, asymmetrical line planned. The movement should be up and off the face to the sides, a slight jutting down of the hair to one side of the forehead, and ears partially covered.

"Don't forget back of the head for it, too, must be lengthened to give the overall slender feeling. This does not mean long, flowing hair. On the contrary, whether you wear long or short hair, nothing should extend below the nape. Any waves should be swirled across at an angle, and the arrangement should be close fitting so as not to enlarge the natural contour. Above all, keep the hair detail soft and flattering without injecting fussy, intricate details of small curls, etc."

To elongate the round face even more, Mr. Sens suggest these make-up pointers:

"Avoid thin, rounded eyebrows. Keep the brows higher and fuller with no droop at the corners. A more horizontal line with a slight arch is best. Increase the space between the lash and the brow by plucking the hairs carefully along the under side.

"Be sure that your mouth is large enough to be in proportion to your other features. A very small mouth should be extended. Draw your cheek rouge closer to the center of your face so the highest point terminates under the pupil of your eye. Do not draw it out to the outer sides of the cheeks. This will broaden the face, whereas your aim is to slenderize it by making the cheek area seem smaller.

"Reverse th' a round dab of color in the middle of each cheek. Rouge must be blended so carefully that it fades out into nothingness, creating at the same time, a variation in skin tone that detracts from the round planes.

"Of course, necklines, jewelry, etc., have a definite bearing also on how round or how oval the face appears, and I would seem to be that women in this category should study details for a more pleasing total effect. The art of optical illusion . . . the knowhow of lines and color . . . can do wonders."

Tomorrow we'll pass along Mr. Sens' intriguing ideas for making a long face appear more oval.

Nearly Surrounded By Water But Do We Eat Fish

By Mary Moore

Actually, you know, we are a bunch of stick-in-the-muds and inlanders. Here we live in a country that has a long sea coast and the longest lake and river coast line in the world and we are never so casual in our fish eating habits. Except for the straight line between Port William and Vancouver and the crooked line between Prince Rupert and Mc-Kenzie Bay we are completely surrounded by water, but are we fish eaters?

How I'd like to have a fried oyster sandwich like they serve in a certain little restaurant in Halifax! Golly — there's nothing to make a sandwich one right here!

On Saturday last I thought I was being a very old dutch for extravagance when I bought a pint of oysters for $1.30, for three of us, but chicken or fish would have cost about as much.

We had a scalloped dinner. Speaking of scallops one of the students at the United Church Training School asked the dietician if she would serve scallop suppers. Miss Burkmaster stretched the budget and served scallops for dinner one night. The girl ate them and was asked how she liked them. She said "Fine — but what I meant was scalloped potatoes." Since then Miss B. has provided scalloped potatoes twice and both times the girl was elsewhere for dinner . . .

Since I was thus reminded of them we had scalloped potatoes with our scallop oysters and because I wanted to test a new idea I had and the oysters ran out and the crumbs were crushed we had scalloped tomatoes too!

The scalloped oysters were delicious and the one pint served three adequately so if you are oyster addicts you will bless me for this method for

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

One pint oysters (approximately 30 medium-sized), 1 cup fine cracker crumbs, 3 tablespoons butter, salt and pepper, 4 tablespoons of cream or ½ to ¾ cup milk, parsley. Melt butter, add crumbs and milk well. Spread 1/3 of the mixture in a greased baking dish. Arrange half of the oysters in 1 layer on top and cover with half the remaining crumbs. Season with salt and pepper and add a second layer of oysters. Pour milk or cream over and cover with remaining crumbs evenly. Season. No more than 2 layers of oysters should be used, as a centre layer would not cook properly. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Grated onion and celery may be added if desired. May be baked in individual casseroles.

There are going to be fish recipes in this column frequently during Lent so stop resisting and start trying such things as

BAKED CHILI FILLETS

Wipe 2 lbs. fish fillets and cut into serving portions. Marinate 2 or 3 minutes in milk seasoned with salt and chili powder. Roll in cornmeal to coat all over. Place in greased foil-lined baking pan. Bake at 450 deg. F. about 15 minutes. Serve with 2 thick slices of lemon on each serving.

GOOD MANNERS

FORMAL INVITATIONS NOT APPROPRIATE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As we're going to have such a small and very informal wedding, with a simple gathering of relatives and friends afterward in my home, I really don't want to send out engraved invitations. So would it be proper just to telephone the invitations? — C.

Yes . . . proper, and appropriate.

THE GIRL'S MOTHER DOES THE INVITING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I live in a suburb near a metropolitan city, and I go to a private day-school in the city. Through a dear friend of mine, a classmate, I have met a very attractive boy, and four of us (this boy, my girl friend and her boy friend and I) have had luncheon two or three times at her house. Mother says she would like to have them all come out to our house for a weekend. But she says she, not I, should invite them. Is this the proper way? — Rita L.

Yes, this is the proper way. You might propose the idea to the girl and the two boys, but your mother, as hostess of your home, should then second the invitation, either by note or telephone. (Preferably, in this circumstance, by telephone, for then she would also have a chat with the mother of the guest-to-be, to explain the invitation and the plans.)

DAUGHTER MAKES APPEALING REQUEST TO HER DIVORCED PARENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are divorced. Neither of us has remarried, and we have always tried to be very dignified in our situation, particularly for the sake of our only child, dearly loved by both of us. I have the custody of this daughter, a fine and lovely girl, who is to graduate from a college next June. She has, of course, asked us both to come to her graduation, and we are going. Now comes the question of her graduation present. For several years she has wanted a really good watch, and the other day, in reply to my letter asking her what she would most like for a graduation present, she wrote that she would "most like" to have my father and me give her a wrist-watch, engraved with her name, the date, and given by her mother and my father." I'd like to have your opinion about the propriety of this before making any decision. What is your point of view? — Mother.

I'm very touched by this appealing request of your dearly-loved daughter, and I know how deeply touched you must be. I enthusiastically suggest that, since this is what your daughter wishes, you and your husband cooperate to carry out her wish in as fine a way as possible. You might have the watch engraved: "From Ruth Blake, June 9, 1957. With love from Mother and Father." (If you wish, you may have "Mother" engraved in a facsimile of your handwriting, rather than "Mother," engraved in a facsimile of your divorced husband's handwriting.)

A RIDICULOUS IDEA

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'd like to know if, as I've been told, it is considered a must that one should leave some food on one's plate when one takes a meal? — R.S.

Not today. In these practical days this is considered a waste. The sensible idea is that, if you aren't going to eat it, the food you shouldn't take it.

Glamorous Stocking Styles

By TRACY ADRIAN

There's certainly something new in fashions in stocking this year, and very exciting is this trend for after dark wear.

The idea is stockings with a gleam seam. The back is made of jeweler's metallic thread in either silver or gold to complement glittering fashions in evening gowns. Of course, the stockings themselves are of the sheerest nylon with a sandal foot.

TRINITY LADIES' CLUB

MADOC — Mrs. George White was hostess to Trinity United Club for their meeting on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Carl Howse, the president, was in charge of an interesting program and opened with a hymn written by John Oxenham.

Those present renewed their membership in the club.

The worship service, under the direction of Mrs. Howse, who based her talk on the life of the writer and poet John Oxenham, was assisted by Mrs. George Fox, Miss Olive Ash, and Mrs. A. Empey.

The program was also arranged by the president and it consisted of several entertaining contests, the first was an amusing drama played by Mrs. Adams, Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. Stickwood and Mrs. Hughes. Members were asked to guess the "word" enacted in the drama and the winner was Mrs. Drinkwalter.

Suitable prizes were presented to the various contest winners.

Delicious sandwiches and coffee and a pleasant social hour completed a most successful evening.

ST. PETERS' W.M.S.

St. Peter's Presbyterian W.M.S. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Walden.

Mrs. Olive Brown conducted the devotional period choosing to read the 24th Psalm. Mrs. David Blakely offered prayer. Mrs. Fred Curry, treasurer, gave the financial statement for the year 1956.

Miss VanKleek gave a talk, choosing as her subject, "Stewardship," and said, "it was a privilege to sustain the work in all the branches of the church." She stressed the great need of giving to missions at the present time.

A study of "Thailand, Burma and Indo China was given by Mrs. Field Allen. The growing and exporting of great quantities of rice and rubber gives work to many. In religion they are mostly Buddhists. The churches have many representatives in these lands of southeast Asia, but there is strong opposition to the acceptance of the Christian Gospel. The obstacles facing the Christian church today are proving to be the source of her best opportunities to spread the good news of salvation.

At this time, Mrs. Allen presented the retiring treasurer, Mrs. Fred Curry, with a gold membership pin, in appreciation of her long and faithful service. Mrs. Curry took the office in 1930, and has held it for 26 years.

All enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Kernohan and and Miss VanKleek.

Present Girl Guide 'All Round Cord'

CAMPBELLFORD — The First Campbellford Guide Company met on March 4th, in the basement of St. John's United Church. Acting Lieutenant, Gayle Greenly, opened the meeting by calling the roll and leading the Guides in prayer.

Captain Mrs. Pieter Wilmink introduced some new ball games which tested the ability and skill of everyone. Gayle Greenly demonstrated various methods of knotting which can be useful in team play, at displays, for fun at camp as well as being useful for practical everyday purposes.

The Guides divided into groups for second class and badge test work. Lieutenant Lois McCredie and Captain Wilmink teaching and testing one group, while Patrol Leader Beverley Stocker taught stalking and trail making to the others.

PRESENTS BADGES

Captain Wilmink called the Guides to Horseshoe Formation, and after notices had been read, she presented every Guide with her Baden-Powell Badge. This badge indicated that all the Company are pledged to work for the Baden-Powell Centenary project, which is to be carried out in three phases:

Every Guide will endeavor to be of service at home, to make a worthwhile contribution to the happiness of her family;

Working individually and as a group, all Guides will engage in a project that will help others. (In this case the First and Second Campbellford Guide companies are making toys to be presented to the Campbellford Memorial Hospital.)

To complete a project of lasting value to their community.

On this project they can and will be helped by their local Association and others interested in the work. This project has already been planned by the Guides, but details cannot be disclosed until plans are complete.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing action games and the meeting brought to a close with "Taps".

TO CHOOSE COMPANY PRAYER

Monday evening was a special one for the second Campbellford Guide Company when they met in the basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church for their regular meeting.

Captain, Mrs. Peter Unitt opened the meeting by reading a prayer which had been written by Lady Strathenden and sent to the Guide conference in Africa. "A different prayer will be read each week until all members have chosen one, and the Guides will then decide on one to use as their Company prayer.

Lieutenant Mrs. B. Whitfield led the group in balancing games and charades. The Guides practised semaphore signalling.

Captain Unitt welcomed Mrs. Welsh, who has come forward to help with Guide work, and gave her the job of coaching Tina Harvey, of Codrington on further aspects of the Guide Law.

Mrs. Ola Beaudoin also arrived, and the Guides formed a horse-shoe of chairs. Mrs. Unitt then told the Company how pleased she was with their efforts and enthusiasm.

Patrol Leader Heather Thompson was presented with a Guide crest for having passed her second class tests and she also accepted one on behalf of Patrol Second Heather Watson. Patrol Leader Sharon Buckles and Gail Petherick also received a crest.

The most important event of the evening was the presentation to Company Leader, Beverley Beaudoin of the "All Round Cord." In presenting this cord, Captain Unitt said, "Beverley is the first Campbellford Guide to earn this cord, and is in fact one of the first Canadian Guides to earn it. It is a new award which everyone of you can achieve if you work hard enough".

The Guides also presented Beverley with a cake that had been decorated especially for the occasion. Hot chocolate and cookies were served by Barbara Welsh and Brenda Holmes.

Several of the Guides took home materials for toy making and others decided to make aprons from gingham which had been donated, for the Baden - Powell project which Guides throughout the world are carrying out in some way during Centenary year.

NEW NUMBERS

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Extremely interesting and attractive extras will soon be moving into the stores. While they have a somewhat high price ticket, they're good buys because they do so much for the ward robe.

For instance, here is an Italian silk knit blouse that is good for either daytime or evening wear. It is sleeveless with a banded neckline that ties in bows at either shoulder. Tighten rib knit makes the waistband. It can be tucked in or worn as an overblouse.

Fine white straw is used for an early Spring hat with a crushed chiffon band with looped ends, that's eyelamen pink with white dots. A nice balance between the dressier hat and the more casual type.

Ladies!

T'was the month before Easter and all through the town,
Ladies were speaking of buying new gowns,
Or a smart spring coat, they're sure to need,
Yes, they're really anxious to put on some speed.

It's up to Winnie's they want to go,
They know of the dresses we have to show,
Smart silks and cottons in styles so new,
And they know that the prices are reasonable too.
In suits they will see the smartest styles,
Box and tailored the best for miles,
In sportier styles they know we carry—
Skirts and blouses so they mustn't tarry.

For sports and school or for easy wear,
They know they can shop here without a care.
The girls that are the brides of tomorrow,
Can shop at Winnie's and feel no sorrow,
For the prices are low, and the gowns are divine,
She will get the best, yet save money and time.
For the bridesmaids the dresses are lovely too,
In gorgeous shades of pink and blue,
And they are always right for formal wear,
As I said before they haven't a care.

So come where your money buys more for less,
Yes climb the stairs if you want a dress,
And you will say in the future days,
That shopping at Winnie's always pays.

Disabled Persons Club Plans 4 More Bungalows

RAWDON — On Monday the Rawdon correspondent was delighted to receive a copy of "The Trentonian" and the county news of the issue of February 26th. It contained an article which stated that the Quinte Disabled Persons' Club was planning to build another $10-a-month bungalow and the same 25 carpenters, electricians, plumbers and other tradesmen who built and furnished the first bungalow on Ramsay Ave., in Trenton, in 1956, were prepared to give the same services in 1957 when the second bungalow will be built. Two lovely pictures accompanied the article. One of the interior of the home with its delightful picture window and the occupant, Mrs. Bessie Whitman, busy at the electric range preparing a meal, the other picture gave a view of the exterior of the bungalow, a neat, compact, yet low-cost home.

PICTON

Prince Edward Farm Show Draws Large Attendance

PICTON (Special)—Prince Edward County Farm Show, sponsored by the County Soil and Crop Improvement Association and the County Hog Producers' Association, attracted more than a thousand farmers and their wives to the Agricultural Centre at the fair grounds on Tuesday. Features included a display of machinery and equipment around the outside of the arena centre of the building, bacon and seed competition, a ladies' meeting and a banquet at night.

"It seems to me that we have probably kidded ourselves long enough into believing that just around the corner is an easy street, an easy way of farming, where there are no distracting problems. The plain fact is that we have a lot of problems in the livestock business and we will always have them. All we have a right to expect is progress, keep moving along, licking one difficulty after another. In the processing of licking these problems, we make exactly the kind of agricultural world we live in. If we want it any different all we have to do is to make it different," R. E. Bennett of the Production Services, Canada Dept. of Agriculture, told the 135 attending the banquet.

HOGS PROFITTABLE

The speaker gave a comprehensive review of the livestock outlook in Canada and following a comparison of the factors governing hog and beef production, came to the conclusion that Ontario farmers can beat profit through the hog industry.

Presiding at the banquet was Lt. Col. Sherman Young, president of the Soil and Crop Improvement Association. Guest of honor was Harry Gorsline of Demorestville, who was winner of the world championship for rye last fall. County Warden Melvin Pulver congratulated the associations on the success of the show. Grover Smith introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Gordon Parks.

In the bacon show, carcasses of 34 hogs were exhibited and an explanation of the grading was given by Ron Dennis, Canada Dept. of Agriculture, who also stressed the importance of breeding in the production of the quality hog.

PRIZES AWARDED

Champion carcass in the show was shown by Melba Danford of Hillier. Reserve award went to Gordon Walker of Milford. Hillier township took the award for the best group of four dressed hogs.

In the seeds section chief prize winners were Grover Smith, Elmer Young, Del Hull, Gordon Parks, David Smith, Clarence Vanclief, King Terry, Clifford Barber, Douglas Reynolds, Homer Talcott, M. Wallbridge.

A feature attracting attention was the huge trophy which was won by H. Gorsline as rye champion.

A demonstration of planning a barn to save time was given by Robert Williams, Tom May and Ross Foster.

At the ladies' meeting, Mrs. Grover Smith, Mrs. Elmer Young and Miss Mary Cronk gave a demonstration on kitchen planning for efficiency.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A thief broke into Henry Freeman's car and removed about $500 worth of kitchen utensils and other merchandise Wednesday night. Freeman left his car and went to a district police station to report the loss. When he returned he learned more merchandise, valued about $160, had been taken.

Eamon de Valera Emerges Victor In Irish Voting

DUBLIN (AP)—Eamon de Valera went control of the Irish parliament today in a dramatic political comeback.

The electoral victory means the old fighter—now 74 and nearly blind—will replace John A. Costello as prime minister of the Irish Republic after nearly four years as opposition leader.

His Fianna Fail (Soldiers of destiny) party already has nailed down 71 seats—with prospects of gaining more—and four republican Sinn Feiners said they are going to boycott the Dail (parliament).

This means de Valera has a working majority in the 147-seat legislature, since he can count on three, and perhaps four, members who ran as independents in Tuesday's voting.

The Fine Gael of former premier John A. Costello also was running a slow second with 32 seats. Others elected included 19 Laborites, one Republican, three Farmers and seven Independents.

The American-born "Dev" these years ago refused to form a coalition government when his party won only 65 seats. Costello, a Dublin lawyer, patched together a coalition cabinet. He resigned when one faction pulled out over the worsening economic condition.

One of the problems confronting de Valera, last surviving commander of the 1916 rebellion against the British, was the rising tide of militancy in the republic against partition of the six counties of Northern Ireland. The old patriot now has renewed attempts to settle the partition dispute by violence.

The Sinn Fein, political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, captured four parliamentary seats in a surprising show of strength. The Sinn Fein leaders have declared they will boycott the Dail to dramatize their demands for an United parliament.

While the ballots still were being counted, armed raiders blew up a British troop recruiting centre on the border dividing the republic and Northern Ireland. A Royal Ulster Constabulary barracks in County Fermanagh, just across the border, also was attacked. One policeman was wounded as the raiders cut loose with rifle and machine-gun fire. The attackers escaped.

The standing in the Dail at dissolution was: Fianna Fail 67; Fine Gael 48; Labor 18; Farmers 5; Republicans 3 and Independents 3, [illegible]

Immediate Prosecution of Trading Stamp Schemes Asked in Brief

OTTAWA (CP)—Twelve Ottawa organizations today urged immediate prosecution of trading stamp schemes operating here.

A joint brief presented by a delegation to Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier and Police Chief Duncan MacDonnell said prosecutions and a test case were needed "as any weakness in the Criminal Code may be ascertained and corrected by legislation."

Led by the Canadian Association of Consumers, the organizations supporting the brief included local labor groups, a farmer's organization and seven women's groups.

The brief said trading stamp schemes are operating "in apparent open defiance of the prohibition against trading stamps contained in the Criminal Code."

MUST BE TESTED

Provincial authorities are responsible for administering criminal law. Federal justice officials have said Criminal Code sections dealing with trading stamps will not be amended unless and until the code is tested and found wanting by actual prosecutions.

Trading stamps are produced by premium companies and sold to stores who give them to customers based on the amount of their purchases. Collected and pasted in small booklets, the stamps are redeemable for selected premiums, usually household utensils or smaller appliances.

[illegible] said the stamp schemes lead to a lowering of Canadian ethical standards and encourage consumers to cheat.

Widespread use of trading stamps is harmful to the economy at a time when consumers are urged to curb spending and increase savings, the brief said.

Trading stamps introduced unfair retail competition methods, were likely to raise the price of retail goods, widened the gap between consumers and foodstuff producers and forced consumers to use the stamps to get full value for goods bought at stamp-issuing stores.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was reeding a book with a green cover, and she said to pop, Pop, dear, William, is mess really, I dont see how I can finish this book.

Is there any law says you have to? pop said, and ma said, Yes, the law of self defence. It's not a mere lyberry book that I can snap shut in the middle and return with a clear conscience. It cost me 3 dollers in the book store, and if I dont finish it I'll be haunted by the feeling that I'm not getting my money's worth, even though I'm waisting my time, she said.

That gets you in quite a predicksament, pop said, and ma said, Honestly, William, you cant imagine the amount of thinking that goes on in this book. I mean it's supposed to be very intellectual and everything. The whole thing runs through the heads of different caracters, with the result that they have practically no time left for ordinery conversation with each other, she said.

I believe that's what is known in litterary circles as the stream of consciousness method of writing, pop said, and ma said, Well as far as I'm concerned it sets up such a stream of unconsciousness I can barely keep awake.

Which just then the telephone rang, and ma went to answer it to see if it was for her, which it was, and while she was gone pop took her book and hid it in the big flower pot with the fern in it, and ma came back saying, Oh dear, I suppose I'll have to get back to that awful book.

You'll have to find it first, pop said, and ma said, Why William, you've ridden it, now that's real sweet of you.

And she started to do a bridge problem in her bridge book looking like somebody feeling better instead of worse.

Firemen Useless On Yard Diesels Says CPR Witness

OTTAWA (CP)—The value of a fireman aboard a diesel locomotive in yard service has been questioned by a CPR official before the royal commission handling the CPR-union diesel dispute.

The fireman is of no known help to the shunting team, the commission heard Wednesday from John Shepp of Vancouver, the company's Pacific supervisor of labor relations.

Mr. Shepp said there are circumstances where the fireman on a yard diesel impairs efficiency.

He appeared as a witness on the third day of an investigation headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, growing out of the firemen's strike that led to a nine-day paralysis of the CPR's transcontinental system in January.

The royal commission was set up by the federal government as part of a cabinet-sponsored temporary settlement of the lieup. It is to report—without binding effect—on whether the CPR could be allowed to drop firemen gradually from its yard and freight operations.

Mr. Shepp, asked what the fireman does to help the yard crew generally, replied:

"He doesn't do anything, to my knowledge."

He suggested that removal of firemen from yard diesels could contributed to efficiency. He said it would not diminish it and could possibly improve it.

In some cases, firemen's talking distracted yard engineers from their duties.

Questioning of Mr. Shepp continued today. Cross-examination by union counsel was to follow later.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma gave me her brown shoes to take around to the shoemaker to put new tips on their toes, saying, Now tell him I'm in a particuler hurry for them, because he's as slow as mullasses and if you tell him I want them by tomorrow he may have them done the day after, and I must have them by the end of the week, it's very important.

Yes mam, I said, and I ran up to my room to get my hockey stick first, and when I got home again I saw ma's brown shoes on the bed.

Proving I had forgot to take them, and I thought, Heck, and I smacked downstairs with them, and ma heard me and called me back to the kitchin, and I thought, Heck, I hope she dont ask me about her shoes.

Which she did the first thing, saying, What did the shoemaker say?

Do you meen about your shoes? I said, and ma said, What else do you think I meen?

Well, he's libel to talk about any old thing, I said, That's the trubble with him, he likes to talk too mutch. G, ma, I just bet that's why he always takes so long to fix people's shoes, I said, and ma said, Never mind about his personel caracter. What did he say about my shoes? she said.

Oh, you meen about when they'll be reddy, I said, I can tell you better in about 10 minutes, I said, and I started to run out again and ma called me back, saying, Benny, where are those shoes?

Man? On the hall rack, I said, Heck, ma, you hadn't his permishen in the first place I bet they'd be around at the shoemaker's by this time, so it's not all entirely my fault, I said.

Saskatchewan Boosts Royalties On Oil and Gas

REGINA (CP) — The CCF government plans to increase its income in 1957-58 from Saskatchewan's booming oil and gas industry to help pay for expanded social services.

A record $119,867,000 budget, brought down in the legislature Wednesday, revises oil and gas royalties to net the treasury an additional $2,000,000. Stepped-up production is expected to yield another $2,000,000, bringing total revenues from this source to $16,000,000.

The government anticipates total oil production will increase from about 21,000,000 barrels in 1956 to an estimated 35,000,000 this year.

It also increases the gasoline tax by one cent to 12 cents and eliminates a three-per-cent education and hospital tax on farm fuels, providing some relief for farmers.

CHANGING ECONOMY

Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines, in an 80-minute address, said the budget is keyed to a changing economy, in which diversified, urban industrial development is supplanting agriculture. It earmarks an additional $15,000,000 for highway, health, education and welfare programs totalling $87,772,000, 75 per cent of all expenditures.

Predicting a good year for the province generally, Mr. Fines announced a record $3,635,830 budget surplus is planned for 1957-58 with a probably similar reduction in the net direct debt. In 1956 the debt was reduced by $4,178,000 to $63,673,000.

He said that in future the net debt will be the true measure of Saskatchewan's financial position. The new accounting system, used this year for the first time, is designed to show whether the debt has gone up or down.

OTTAWA

National health insurance has been part of the Liberal platform since 1919. The government has started parliamentary machinery rolling to get enabling legislation passed before a general election.

Major federal - Ontario differences centred on timing of federal financial aid and interpretation of what the federal government means by demanding the insurance be "universally available" in each of the signatory provinces.

Some federal authorities suggested it meant coverage was to be compulsory. Ontario proposed at the outset to make coverage partially compulsory and partially voluntary. With this, the federal government now has agreed.

After four hours of talks, Mr. Porter and Mr. Martin said in a statement they had reached an "understanding" on the "essential" terms to be embodied in a formal agreement establishing hospital insurance in Ontario."

Mr. Porter said Ontario will also at "broad compulsory coverage" at the outset, though there also will be some voluntary coverage. All told, he hoped that more than 60 per cent of the population will be covered.

Health Minister R. A. Donahoe said Wednesday night at Halifax that Nova Scotia won't commit herself until exact terms of the agreement with Ontario are studied.

CANADIAN RED CROSS OPENS FOURTH CAMP FOR HOMELESS HUNGARIANS IN AUSTRIA

Caring for thousands of homeless Hungarians is but one of the major tasks assumed during the past year by the Canadian Red Cross. March is Red Cross month in Canada and the organization is marking the occasion by taking over its fourth refugee camp for Hungarians in Austria. Here one of the 27 Canadian Red Cross specialists in Austria, Steve Saigeil of Toronto, supervises a soup kitchen in Austria. Two of the Canadian-run camps are in Austria and a third is in Holland. The latter is a holding centre where refugees await emigration to free countries.

Like all little girls, Hungarian refugee Kail Villaryi, four, likes to play nurse. So a kindly Red Cross nurse lent her a Red Cross cap for her camera debut. Canadian Red Cross houses 50,000 homeless Hungarians in Austria. Only the U.S., with five camps, shoulders a heavier burden.

Member of Nagy's Cabinet Blames European Radio

TORONTO (CP)—A member of the short - lived government of Imre Nagy during the October revolution in Hungary Wednesday criticized Radio Free Europe, a privately-sponsored U.S. propaganda organization, for not supporting the Nagy government.

Anna Kethly, leader of the Hungarian Social Democratic party and a member of Nagy's cabinet, said at a press conference that radio actively attacked the Nagy government while attempting to back Jozef Cardinal Mindszenty as the leader of a revolutionary government.

Cardinal Mindszenty was a popular figure but had no background as a politician, she said, and would have been unacceptable to both the Russians and Hungarian political leaders as head of the government.

Miss Kethly, who will speak here Thursday night at a rally sponsored by the CCF ethnic council, said reports that RFE had led the Hungarian people to expect armed help from the West were false. Their main hope was to acquire neutral status under the protection of the United Nations.

First Minutes of Baby's Life Most Important

MONTREAL (CP) — The first 10 minutes in a baby's life are the most important in the care of human lives, a Halifax obstetrics professor said Wednesday.

"Obstetrical obsession with the mother has been eminently successful," said Dr. H. B. Atlee. "But the fate of the baby is another kettle of fish."

He told 1,000 family doctors at the scientific meeting of the College of General Practice of Canada that attending doctors should keep the child in full view for 15 minutes after delivery.

Most deaths in new-born infants were due to prematurity, nature's abnormalities or to labor complications "that even the best skills and most complete care could not rid Dr. Atlee.

But many were attributable to inadequate attention in the first few minutes.

WOODSTOCK, N.B. (CP)—Mrs. Lew Gallagher said Wednesday she and her husband intend to fight through the courts if necessary to retain custody of their two grandchildren.

The children, orphans of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher who died last June in a fire that destroyed their Bowmanville, Ont., farm home, are being sought by their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gallagher of Pickering Township.

New Equipment No Substitute For Hard Work Prospectors Told by Association Pres.

TORONTO (CP) — "I like to think we guided the hand that lit the match that fired the explosion that raised mining to a fine-art and the-rate industry to its present pre-eminent position in Canada."

The words are from Mrs. Viola MacMillan, spoken to Wednesday night's banquet which closed the four-day convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

It was a night of nostalgic reminiscence and Mrs. MacMillan, starting her 14th consecutive term as association president, set the tone for it, reeling off names of mining industry old-timers who had "guided the hand," or perhaps "lit the match," or even caused considerable explosions.

The association is celebrating its 25th anniversary and in that time it has seen the industry grow from an annual production of less than $200,000,000 to more than $2,000,000,000.

101 POUNDS OF ENERGY

Mrs. MacMillan — height five feet nothing, weight 101 pounds, all of it energy—looked too young to be an old-timer herself, but with a background of 25 years as prospector and mine developer and owner, she could speak like one.

She displayed group pictures of past conventions in Flin Flon, Man., Timmins, Kirkland Lake, Sudbury, Vancouver and Montreal.

Then, addressing herself to the younger prospectors and mining men, she said:

"You have to be good to be as good as your fathers. Even with geiger counters, electromagnetic surveys and airplanes and all the modern gear, to find a mine will take all your persistence, patience, imagination and stick-to-itiveness. There is still no substitute for hard work."

Mrs. MacMillan announced that the next annual convention will be held on the Wednesday in March which closes its annual meeting, will be known as "Mining Day for Canada."

CATHARINES (CP)—Federal Works Minister Winters Wednesday opened a $1,500,000 federal building housing a post office, income tax department, customs and excise and unemployment insurance commission. Mr. Winters said 300 federal buildings are under construction in Canadian cities though "not all are as bit as this."

Seeking Seat Father Held

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Lawyer W. P. Telford announced Wednesday he intends to seek election to the Commons for Grey North—the seat his father relinquished in 1944.

Mr. Telford's father, the late W. P. Telford, was MP for Grey North from 1935 until 1944, when he resigned to allow Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, then defence minister, to seek a seat in Parliament. But Gen. McNaughton was defeated by Progressive Conservative Garfield Case in the famous by-election of February, 1945.

Mr. Case was subsequently twice defeated by the present member, Colin E. Bennett, who said Wednesday he will not seek re-election.

MIDLAND LIQUOR VOTE

MIDLAND (CP)—Midland is to have a liquor vote for the first time in 42 years. The date is to be determined by the Ontario liquor control board. A petition forwarded to the board calls for a vote in a brewers' warehouse and a liquor store. Midland has been "dry" since Jan. 4, 1915.

Prime Minister Welcomes New Nation of Ghana

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday welcomed the new nation of Ghana to the Commonwealth and told a cheering Commons that diplomatic relations will be established soon between Ottawa and Accra.

He noted that Miss Minnie Prudham, as Canada's official representative, had the privilege at midnight of seeing the former Gold Coast colony become a self-governing nation.

Mr. St. Laurent said he himself had had to decline an invitation from the new state's 47-year-old Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah. He would have welcomed the opportunity to talk with him and hoped to have such an opportunity later.

TO ESTABLISH MISSION

He said a Canadian diplomatic mission will be established at Ghana's capital and a Canadian high commissioner will be sent there as soon as possible.

He hoped that Ghana eventually could be welcomed as a member of the United Nations.

Mr. St. Laurent said he also wanted to pay a warm tribute to Dr. Kwame Nkrumah "through his distinguished leadership he has led Ghana to independence. The U.K. remained the heart of the Commonwealth.

Fears Called '5 Year Phobia' By Prospector

TORONTO (CP)—Fears for the Canadian uranium industry after 1962—the year in which present contracts run out—were described Wednesday as "five-year phobia" by Franc. R. Joubin.

Mr. Joubin, whose geological beliefs led to establishments of Ontario's Algoma uranium field, gave his views in an address to the convention of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

"It is unfortunate perhaps," he commented "that all Canadian producers have contracts that terminate together within a period of a few months rather than staggered, say, over a period of a few years.

"Those few months between March 1962, and March, 1963, are regarded by the timid as having the sudden impact of a cataclysm, and many of the same timid fraternity seem reconciled to a nervous five-year wait to see if their worst fears are justified."

But, he added, most Canadian banks, often with European and sometimes American banks, have invested courageously."

SEES STEADY DEMAND

One thing was certain, Mr. Joubin continued, the Western world would still need uranium oxide in increasing amounts "during the life-time of every one in this room."

Dr. Willard F. Libby, until recently with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, had predicted "a phenomenal growth" in the uranium field between 1962 and 1972. He had estimated Western-world requirements of at least 100,000 tons and possibly as much as 100,000 tons of uranium oxide annually by the latter year. He had estimated free-world production after 1958 at 35,000 tons of oxide annually.

Mr. Joubin said Canada is well-favored for "free foreign market."

It had been officially announced, Mr. Joubin said, that Canada's uranium reserves amount to about 250,000,000 tons, but this figure undoubtedly referred to "proven and probable reserves."

Reasonably inferred tonnage for Ontario's Algoma basin alone was twice this figure.

CANADA WILL LEAD

Canada, by 1958, would lead the free world in uranium reserves and rate of production. By next year Canada would be able to produce 22,000 tons of uranium oxide annually, and Gulf Oil and Algoma Field alone, with 14,000 tons of oxide annually, was expected to produce almost as much as the rest of the United States and twice as much as Africa, the other free world leaders.

Uranium by 1958 would become the metallurgical mine's gross value produced in Canada — close to $400,000,000 annually.

In his new job as president of the parent organization, Mr. Walker will command 10,000 employees.

Member Claims Bill Does Not Go Far Enough

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation providing payment of the equivalent of 25 per cent of municipal and federal property does not go far enough, John H. Hamilton, Progressive Conservative for York West, said Wednesday.

He said in the Commons that the legislation will not solve the financial problems of hard-pressed municipalities, most of which faced heavy expenditures but had only a few cents from the tax dollar.

It would help only a small number of municipalities—those with much federal property.

Mr. Hamilton more or less set the tone for opposition criticisms of the bill, which will increase federal payments to municipalities from roughly $2,500,000 this year to between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Grants now are paid only on federal property when its assessed value exceeds two per cent of a municipality's total assessment. Under the new legislation, the government will continue the practice of assessing its own property.

The measure later received third and final reading and now goes to the Senate for approval.

Mr. Hamilton said that in effect the federal government, in the bill is telling the municipalities: "Here we're giving you a few dollars and for gosh sakes go away and don't bother us for a while."

He called on the government to do something to enable the municipalities to obtain money at low rates of interest.

SECURITIES CASE

BRANTFORD (CP)—Frederick C. Small of London was sentenced Wednesday to six months in jail for selling illegal securities. He pleaded guilty. Miss Elizabeth Jenny Paris and Allan Wettlaufer of Ste. Agatha, said they invested $1,500 in a hearing aid firm.

Asks Producers to Establish Market Points in East Ont.

TORONTO (CP)—J. R. Kohler, general manager of the Ontario Hog Producers' Co-operative, Wednesday urged hog producers to establish marketing points in Eastern Ontario to sell hogs at Ontario prices instead of having to go to Toronto.

Speaking at the semi-annual meeting of the co-operative, he said Ontario hogs now go directly to plants in Quebec on a price-basis of hogs produced in Quebec.

Speaking the day, Charles Hill-Gitzis, president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said the high-profit meat packing industry is determined "to stop us from selling our own hogs at the highest price."

Mr. McGinnis, addressing the association's annual meeting, said a recent brief by the trade to the Ontario government showed most packers thought the farmer's role was "to carry the swill pail, to swing the shovel, and pay the bills."

Mr. Kohler said the problem of selling hogs in an open market was a pioneer venture which originated in Grey and Bruce counties. He warned the producers that their sales board could only be called "top notch" if the quality of their product was good. The Canadian Council of Agriculture trade was due to the present quality of hogs.

More than 62,000,000 pounds of pork were exported to the United States last year although hog prices there were below those in Ontario.

The 5,859,605 hogs graded in Canada in 1956 were the highest ever, any peacetime year in this country's history except for 1952, he said. Ontario graded 2,032,196 of these, nearly one-third of the total.

Little Opposition Expected To Agreement to Postpone Interest Due on U.K. Loan

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will ask parliament to postpone payment of 1956 interest due on Canada's $1,185,000,000 loan to the United Kingdom.

In view of previous agitation in the Commons for such action, deferment of the $22,200,000 payment, sought by dollar-short Britain, likely will be approved without much opposition, if any.

Finance Minister Harris announced the government's intention Wednesday after Canada and Britain agreed to change the repayment terms of the loan made in 1946.

The agreement, signed by Mr. Harris and Sir Saville Garner, U.K. high commissioner to Canada, would:

1. Postpone until 2001 payment of the $22,200,000 in interest due for 1956.

2. Allow Britain to make seven annual instalments of equal repayments of $37,700,000, including interest and principal, during the remaining 45 years of the loan.

DEPENDS ON U.S.

The changes, however, can only be carried out if the United States Congress approves a similar revision of the agreement providing a U.S loan of $3,750,000,000 to Britain in 1946.

Mr. Harris said repayment of postponed instalments would start in 2001, when the normal term of the Canadian loan expires, but Britain could repay the deferred sums sooner if she wished. Meanwhile, the deferred payments would be subject to the 2-per-cent interest—the rate of the original agreement.

The high commissioner's office said Britain is "very happy" with the new arrangements. Britain asked Canada and the U.S last fall to waive the interest payments because it found itself low in gold and dollar reserves.

It made its request to Canada, the U.K. paid $15,500,000 on the principal owing for 1956 and deposited $22,200,000 in interest with the Bank of Canada, pending a decision.

ANCIEN FUND

TIAPLES (Reuters)— Excavators preparing the site of a new service station at Torre del Greco, on the coast near here, Wednesday opened up tombs containing hundreds of ancient wine jars and cups. Experts said the tombs dated from the fourth century B.C. and formed part of a cemetery of the Samnites, a tribe which inhabited the region before being conquered by the Romans in the third century B.C.

St. Laurent Hopes Force Will Not Be Needed in Suez

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he hopes it will become necessary to use force next week to overcome resistance to United Nations majority decisions on Suez canal clearance.

But in an apparent reference to Britain and France, he commented Wednesday, he said:

"It is quite true that unless there is acquiescence—and there should be acquiescence — in the attitudes adopted by the majority of members of the United Nations the only alternative would be the use of force to overcome resistance, and I hope that that will not become necessary."

He spoke shortly before Defence Minister Campney announced that the government has agreed to send an additional 144 army personnel, including a 105-member reconnaissance unit, to the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East.

The army later announced that Maj. Richard B. Tuckaberry, 36, of Ottawa has been appointed commanding officer of the unit. To be called the 56th Canadian Reconnaissance Squadron, Royal Canadian Armored Corps.

Its 29 scout cars, wireless vehicles and related equipment were to leave Saint John, N.B. at once by ship for the Middle East. The unit personnel are scheduled to fly from Ottawa's Uplands Airport on Monday.

Another 39 army administrative personnel also were to leave Montreal by RCAF airlift today to join some 1,100 other Canadian service personnel already serving with the UNEF.

After Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) had asked whether the government is making any demand that work on clearing the Suez proceed without any further delay, the prime minister referred to the $1,000,000 loan Canada made to the UN toward clearing the canal, Finance Minister Harris, answering Michael Sarr (PC — Ontario), said the money was given to the UN Feb. 22.

Mr. Green said it appears that the prompt clearing of the Suez Canal is yet dependent on the whims of this (Egyptian) dictator Nasser.

Mr. St. Laurent said the government's demand on the Suez question are being made to the UN. He understood External Affairs Minister Pearson was returning to the UN for further conferences with Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold.

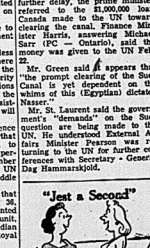
India's Envoy Has Apologized For Attack



LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India's envoy to Britain, has apologized officially for an attack on the Queen published in India.

A spokesman at Mrs. Pandit's high commission office said that on instructions from the Indian government she has written the Queen offering apologies and referring to the high regard in which the Queen is held in India.

The attack—sarcastic comment on a speech made during the Queen's state visit to Portugal—appeared in The Economic Review, a publication of Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Government officials said the remarks attributed to the Queen by the Economic Review actually were spoken by President Lopez of Portugal.

Police Probing Death of Farmer Near Pembroke

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police have opened an investigation into the death of 40-year-old Willard Francis Darby, a district farmer, who is reported to have died of a fractured skull. Police said there is a suspicion of foul play.

Darby was reported to have died late Tuesday night at his farm home at Meath, some six miles east of this community 110 miles northwest of Ottawa. At first police had believed he died of a blood clot but police said further investigation showed a fractured skull.

Inspectors James McDermott and Vern Whitley of the provincial police criminal investigation branch at Toronto are expected to arrive today to conduct further inquiries. Dr. J. O. Patton, Ottawa pathologist, also has been called in.

Police said three persons were reported to have been in the Darby house about the time of death. They were Darby's wife, his 15-year-old daughter, Joyce, and a man identified only as Peter Pappin. All have been questioned by police.

The death was reported by a Pembroke taxi driver, Harry Ball. Police said he received a call to pick up a sick man at the Darby home Tuesday night. On arrival, he discovered the dead man and notified police.

VIOLENCE HALTS ISRAELI WITHDRAWAL FROM GAZA

A lone Swedish sentry stands on a bleak road barrier between territory under United Nations Emergency Forces command and the disputed Gaza Strip. A series of riots and looting marred the long-awaited withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip. Deaths of one Arab refugee and one Israeli soldier prompted U.N. officials to suspend withdrawal operations temporarily.

Little Benny's Notebook

I went to the market with ma to help her carry things home, and she was feeling tomatoes to see if they were worth that much a pound, and I said, Hay ma, there's a lady over there handing out free sampels of peenut butter spred on crackers, let's go over.

Peenut butter is off my list, it's too fattening, ma said, and I said, But G. ma, just one little sampel cant add much to you.

As a matter of fact I dont like peenut butter, ma said. I wouldn't eat it if it was garanteed to reduce my weight instead of encurraging it, she said, and I said, Gosh, how can anybody help liking peenut butter? It's one of my most likeable things, I said.

All right, go and ask for a sampel, ma said, and I said, Aw heck, ma they never give sampels of anything to kids unless they're with somebody.

Then explain that you're with your mother and she's over in the vegetables, ma said, and I said, Jimminy roozalem, ma, she'd think I was just making that up. Come on over and get a sampel, ma. I bet you'll find your taist has changed and you'll think it's grate.

Oh yes, it would be just fine if I became a peenut butter fiend and found my weight increasing by new leeps and bounds, ma said. Now you can keep on argewing to the empty air, because that's the end of the whole ridiculous subject as far as I'm concerned, she said.

The result being I went over and held out my hand for a sampel as if I had as mutch right to it as anybody elts, and the lady spred some peenut butter on a cracker and handed it to me like somebody being paid for handing out free peenut butter, no matter who. to.

Student's Death Attributed to Dislocated Neck

TRENTON (Special) — A freshman accident instantly killed a 16-year-old high school student in Trenton late yesterday afternoon.

Trenton police believed Clinton Lyle Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Potter, 43 North Murray St., Trenton, was riding his bicycle east on King St. when it flipped and threw him to the pavement. The mishap occurred almost at the intersection of King and Queen Sts. and in front of St. George's parsonage.

Dr. W. S. Bailey was called, but upon arrival on the scene could do nothing for the boy. Coroner Dr. John W. Farley attributed death to a dislocated neck.

The boy is resting at the Weaver Funeral Home on Dundas St., W. Trenton police constables Max Gainforth and Russell King investigated.

No inquest will be held.

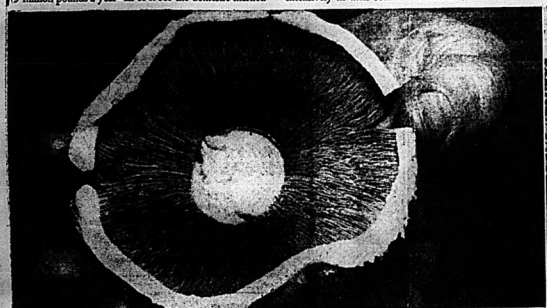
Canada Produces 5 Million Pounds a Year

Mushroom Business Mushrooms



Mushrooms, acclaimed by connoisseurs as "the aristocrat of foods" are being produced in Canada at the rate of 5 million pounds a year—all of it for the domestic market.

The sharp increase in consumption is credited to the recent influx of New Canadians who used mushrooms extensively in their former homelands.

Mushrooms thrive in the dark. About 24 days after planting they are ready for picking—a job that is done by experts who move about in the semi-blackness wearing mining lamps. Two pounds per square foot is considered a good crop yield. The mushroom is a heavy soil feeder, requires a rich compost in which to grow.

There are over 700 kinds of edible mushrooms, but only one kind, "agaricus campestris" is grown commercially in Canada. Contrary to popular belief, the mushroom does not have to be peeled. In fact, some of the nutritive qualities are in its thin layer of skin.

Many housewives prefer the small white "button" mushroom, not realizing that colour is immaterial, the more mature the mushroom, the more flavourful it becomes.

Canadian mushroom growers utilize the finest research methods available. Above, a scientific test is made to check for possible microbes in top soil.

Dodger Move To Los Angeles Hangs in Balance

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Hopes may be deceiving, but it looked as if the New York City board of estimate better get a move on if it doesn't want Brooklyn Dodgers to start transferring to Los Angeles apparently has more than tentative plans for a ball park, but hasn't a major league ball club. Brooklyn has a major league ball club, but not even tentative plans for an adequate ball park.

That's the way the situation stood today after Los Angeles officials had completed their one-day sales pitch to Dodger officials and went home smiling optimistically.

The six-man delegation, confident Los Angeles can "propose a comprehensive program the Dodgers cannot resist," feels, as do most observers, that major league baseball is on its way to the West Coast. The Los Angeles group assures sure the big league team will be the National League champ.

NEVER TO STAY

There is indication, however, that Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, would prefer to stay in Brooklyn—on his terms. That would mean a reasonably quick decision by the board of estimate and sports authority on some tangible plans for a new ball park.

O'Malley revealed Wednesday after listening to the Los Angeles plan—that he had been in contact with Brooklyn Borough president Cashmore and that the board of estimate and the sports authority had met, but that no announcement of action—if any—could be made until the two groups had talked with New York Mayor Robert Wagner.

O'Malley, previously quoted as saying he needs six months hold the Dodgers' fate, said there is no deadline for action by the board of estimate.

Training Camp Notes

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Vic Wertz doesn't care how many home runs he hits for Cleveland Indians this year as long as he drives in a run a game.

The bald-headed first baseman was the No. 2 home run hitter in the American League last year with 32. "RBIs (runs batted in) are more important," he said today. Wertz batted in 106 last year.

Wertz figures on being the Indians' first baseman again, but he'll play anywhere he's needed. Before he came to Cleveland he was an outfielder.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Ed Mathews, one of the Milwaukee Braves who didn't wilt under the pennant pressure drive last September, is relying on a lighter bat and heavier frame to help bring about his biggest season in 1957.

The young lefthanded slugger is carrying some 20 extra pounds—at about 205—into camp along with a supply of light 32-ounce bats, blamed last year's perplexing season in part to his too - thin trimmed physique and his belief that a heavier bat would produce more home runs. The decisions, of his own choosing, nearly proved disastrous.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sal (the Barber) Maglie, Brooklyn's close-shave pitcher, has himself a time keeping Dodger mates loose at the plate during batting practice. In his second turn on the mound, Sal put a first pitch right under Peewee Reese's chin, then sent Gil Hodges to the dirt. When Sandy Amoros stepped up, Maglie asked if he had his batting liner on. Sandy nodded yes confidently—then got nicked on his other extremity.

At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP)—Unheralded Pylades upset the heavily favored Terrang and Duc De Fer to win the $28,050 Santa Barbara handicap before 23,500 fans at Santa Anita Park Wednesday.

Jockey Paul Sterling pushed the four - year - old bay, owned by R. O. J. Streuber, into an early lead and held off a strong run in the stretch by Poltex Stable's Terrang to win the 1 1-16-miles feature by 2½ lengths. Duc De Fer, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, was third.

Pylades' time was 1:42 and he paid $26.70, $8.70 and $4.80.

The race had been figured as a battle between Terrang and Duc De Fer, with Porterhouse, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, another favorite. He was fourth.

SIGN IMPORT

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have announced the signing of their sixth import of the 1957 season.

He is Ernie Warlick, 26, a six-foot-four 220-pound end who has played for the U.S. armed services for the last four years. A native of Hickory, N.C., he was named Negro all-American for three straight seasons while playing at North Carolina College.

Indians' New Manager Rich In Mound Talent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freshman manager Kerby Farrell of Cleveland Indians, already rich in pitching talent, has some eager "phenoms" on hand to keep the veterans on their toes.

It's not often that when a manager takes over the helm of a big league ball club he is endowed with such established performers as Early Wynn, Bob Lemon, Herb Score, Mike Garcia, Don Mossi, Ray Narleski and Art Houtteman.

Not only does the 42-year-old Farrell have this formidable nucleus, but he's also brought an impressive rookie crop of hurlers with him from Indianapolis of the American Association. Indianapolis won the pennant last year and then went on to sweep the league's playoffs and the little world series.

WAS FARMED OUT

One of Farrell's top moundsmen was Leo (Bud) Daley, who compiled an 11-1 won-lost record and 2.31 earned-run average after being farmed out in July by former Cleveland skipper Al Lopez. The 24-year-old southpaw had a 1-0 slate in only 21 innings of relief with the Tribe, but thinks he'll have a better chance to stick this season. "Things have changed," he explained, pointing to Farrell. "Kerby knows what I can do," said Daley. "I can start and I can relieve. I can pitch every day. Last year Lopez didn't want relievers pitching batting practice. He wanted our arms fresh. But it doesn't bother me any arm, Kerby knows that."

Other pitching prospects who contributed to Farrell's and Indianapolis' success in 1956 and are in the Cleveland camp are Stan Pitula (15-4), Hank Aguirre (10-6) and then 3-5 with Cleveland and Dolan Nichols (12-6). Two other promising hurlers, Ed Gaspar (11-7) and John Grey (10-7) still are unsigned.

Another mound hopeful is Pete Mesa, who posted a 15-12 mark with San Diego of the PCL and then captured 14 in a row in the Mexican winter league.

SOFTBALL

While those two unofficial harbingers of spring, Herby (The Ole Clucker) Henn and Al (Fireball) Adams have not as yet made their annual retirement announcements, thus thwarting any efforts of topflight clubs to seek their services, softball, vintage OASA and City League, will nevertheless go ahead with the usual pre-season plans.

The Belleville District Softball League, which made its presence known in the OASA pardowns last year, and the City Softball League which had such sensational success in its inaugural last season, will put collective heads together come Sunday afternoon. The BDSL will south in the West Moira Fire Hall at two o'clock while the city leaguers will gather around the table an hour later at the Dundas Street Fire Station.

President Cy Barriage of the BDSL requests that all interested in his league, potential rookies, etc., be on hand on Sunday as much business must be wiped off the agenda before the OASA annual convention which takes place this year at Windsor, (that's across the river from Detroit) in the Prince Edward Hotel. There, too, there is a lot of league business which should be taken care of so that last-minute headaches common to all summer sports league executives will be eliminated.

Election of the 1957 season president and executive officers is slated for Sunday meeting as is the appointment of delegates to the annual conclave. Team entries will be accepted and other various odds-and-ends attended to, so it is important that all interested be on hand.

OASA secretary Lloyd Pickard in his latest bulletin reminds leaguers of the annual obligations such as nominations for executive positions, rules changes, and amendments and the registration of umpires to be recommended by the various clubs or leagues.

One important item in the bulletin is that which concerns the issuance of softball equipment to minor clubs and leagues by the Ontario Department of Labor. It is the aim of the department to assist in the promotion of minor sport by the issuance of equipment and softball will get its share.

This assistance, however, is limited to the need, and to the extent of operations of the group requesting assistance. So the time for applying for such equipment is now, assuming the Belleville Minor Softball Association deems such action necessary. Softball equipment for minor age groups may be requested from the department and such requests should be forwarded to "Office of the Athletic Commissioner, Department of Labor, 8 York Street, Toronto." And don't say you weren't advised.

The City Softball League is anticipating similar if not better success than that which attended their inaugural efforts last year. Ten teams faced the barrier last season and concluded a summer's activities that was a distinct credit to softball, the league, its executive and the players. Mead-Johnson copped the league championship after Brown's Bread finished in front of the pack at the completion of the schedule. The league business was excellently handled and the schedule ran off in a hitchless sequence.

One of the main reasons for the league's success was the untiring efforts of its secretary, Leroy McBrien. Leroy kept on top of the league's activities at all times and saw to it that press and radio were kept abreast of the times. He did an excellent job, and the loop's powers-that-be this season will make no mistake in putting Leroy back into the secretarial office.

The City League is filling a long-felt want in softball circles of Belleville. A number of players who are either "over the hump" or do not come up to OASA calibre find an outlet for their softball yens in the league. These in addition to a lot of younger players who are ever minor age. And fandom in the latter stages of the schelule took much interest in the squads and games, with good crowds turning out for late-season tilts and the playoffs. More power to their hats and balls.

Comeback 'Kid' Scores 2 Goals Helps Another in Fine Effort; Richard, Moore Tops for Habs

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

National Hockey League victories have been scarce for Toronto Maple Leafs this season and sometimes even the sweet taste of success has been soured by afterthought.

Last night the fifth-place Leafs surprised everyone by beating the powerful Montreal Canadiens 3-1 and retaining a mathematical hope of finishing in fourth place. But the victory was substantially the work of the team's old men, not the youngsters on whom their future depends.

For sentimentalists, it was a perfect evening. Ted Kennedy, the old-est of the ancients, scored two goals, assisted on the third and was just about the best man on the ice.

To round it out, Sid Smith, Kennedy's old winger, drew assists on all three Leaf goals. The third Toronto marker was scored by George Armstrong. Canadiens' only goal was scored by the incomparable Maurice Richard—his 20th of the season and the 490th of his career.

RETIRING TYPES

The fly in the ointment is the fact that both Kennedy and Smith have made no secret of their intention to retire at the end of the year, and though Kennedy broke his 13-month retirement last December he seems to mean it this time.

The silver lining, as it has been all season, was the play of rookie goalie Ed Chadwick, who stopped 23 shots from the sticks of the league's highest-scoring team and strengthened his claims on the rookie award.

Leafs, who have been the target this week of some of the strongest criticism they have ever received in Toronto, bottled up Montreal's powerful forward line and weakened the Habs' chances of catching the first-place Detroit Red Wings, who now have a three-point lead and two games in hand.

Kennedy opened the scoring at 13:15 when he pumped Smith's rebound past Jacques Plante in a manner that reminded 13,313 fans —who hadn't seen Leafs win since Jan. 19 — of the golden days in the 40s.

ROCKET BANKS ONE

In the second period the Rocket let a 30-footer go that hit Al McNeil's skate and bounced past Chadwick. With Montreal's Don Marshall sitting out a holding penalty, Armstrong broke the tie at 15:04.

With less than two minutes left in the game, Kennedy got his second, and the fifth goal of his comeback.

Move to Reduce Ontario Curling Meets Defeat

KINGSTON (CP) — A move by the Alberta Curling Association to reduce Ontario's representation in both the Canadian curling championships and the Canadian schoolboy championships to one rink foundered at the annual meeting of the Dominion Curling Association here today when no seconder for the motion was found. At present both Northern and Southern Ontario are represented.

The number of clubs and registered male curlers in Canada have reached an all-time high, Walter Cowan of Toronto, secretary of the Association, told the meeting. Total membership of the DCA now is 1,614 clubs and 102,099 curlers, with the greatest concentration in Saskatchewan with 20,-811 curlers and 234 clubs.

Cowan's figures did not include schoolboy or women curlers, although it was estimated 27,459 high school boys play the game. No figures were available on the number of women curlers.

"In 1933, when our association was formed, the number of clubs in Canada was about 800 and the male curling membership about 21,000," Cowan said. In 1945 the number of clubs stood at about the same but the registered membership had increased to about 40,000."

INCREASE PHENOMENAL

Since the Second World War interest in the game "has been phenomenal," Cowan said.

He produced figures to show 226 clubs with membership of 14,301 in Manitoba, throughout Ontario there were 193 clubs with membership of 20,166.

British Columbia had 53 registered clubs and 4,310 curlers, Alberta 292 and 20,355, Quebec 24 and 2,155, Prince Edward Island five and 200, Nova Scotia 27 and 2,070, New Brunswick 24 and 2,770, and Newfoundland four and 414.

There were seven clubs with registered membership of 612 in the Northwest Territories.

In the election of officers, Sam Rothenhil of Sudbury, was named to the presidency, succeeding John Dutton of Winnipeg.

Archie Wilson of Calgary was elected first vice-president and Walter Cowan of Toronto second vice-president and treasurer. Charles Scrimgeour of Winnipeg was elected as secretary.

Wild 20-Minute Battle

Two Fans Knocked Unconscious In Quebec Hockey Loop Brawl

TROIS-RIVIERES (CP) — Players of the hard-hitting Shawinigan Falls Cataracts engaged in a wild 20-minute punching and stick-swinging battle with fans Wednesday night after a Quebec Hockey League game won by Trois-Rivieres 5-1.

At least two spectators were knocked unconscious, several others were cut and bruised and clothes were torn in the melee before 11 police constables reached the rink and restored order.

The fight broke out as the Shawinigan Falls players were leaving the ice. No arrests were made but Shawinigan Falls coach Roger Leger said he is considering laying a charge against a fan who punched him in the face.

FELL TO CEMENT

Leger suffered a badly bruised nose but an examination showed no fracture. One woman was cut in the face by a hockey stick and a male spectator was toppled out of the stands. Other players followed Flemming and soon were battling the fans.

Shawinigan Falls supporters who came here to see their team play for the first time in more than 100 fans became involved, battling up and down the aisles and spilling over onto the ice.

The game had been a rough one although only 10 penalties were called. Flemming had been involved in a few run-ins with Trois-Rivieres players and the fans jeered him loudly in the third period.

LIONS NOT INVOLVED

The Trois-Rivieres team had reached its dressing room before the fight broke out.

The defeat practically wiped out any hope the Cataracts had of overtaking Trois-Rivieres for the last playoff berth.

Claude Vinet, Rene Pepin, Ron Atwell, Bev Bolt and Camille Bedard scored for the Lions, Dick Wray got the Shawinigan Falls goal.

Dutchies Oust Stratford 4-1

Right winger Paul Knox is rapidly establishing himself as the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen's play-off player.

Knox scored only 18 goals during the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A western division season, but he has come to life in the semi-finals.

Wednesday night Knox had his second three-goal night of the series as Dutchmen defeated Stratford Indians 8-5 and won their best-of-seven series 4-1.

Windsor Bulldogs made them selves favorites to meet Dutchmen in the finals as they won a tight 2-1 decision from Chatham Maroons before 5,400 Windsor fans and took a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven set.

CORNWALL LEADS

In the OHA's eastern division Cornwall Cheviers took a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final by defeating Belleville McFarlands 4-1 in the Porcupine Mines senior league Timmins Flyers defeated Kapuskasing Huskys 6-2 to move into the league finals. Each team had won three games in the best-of-seven series.

Dutchmen were the highest-scoring team in the western division during the season, though they finished second to Windsor, one of the lowest scoring. Most of the goals came from Jerry Theberge, who had 40, and Wednesday night Theberge backed up Knox's three with a pair. Butch Martin, Ralph Hosking and Jack McKendry got the others.

Indians' goals were divided among five players—Danny Flanagan, Bob Mader, Joe Scherzil, Herve Dejordy and George Aitken.

THIRD IN A ROW

The victory was Dutchmen's third in a row over the Indians, who couldn't match their precision passing and sharp defensive work.

At Windsor only the sparkling netminding of Chatham's Marve Edwards kept the score respectable. Edwards made 29 saves, while Don Head had a lazy, 14-shot evening in the Bulldogs nets.

Gord Haidy and Reg Abbott scored for Windsor. Ted Power got the Maroon goal that gave them a brief 1-1 tie in the first period.

Rheal and Moe Savard, R. Muir and Barry Kwong scored for Cornwall and Johnny Muretich collected McFarlands' only goal. The two teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the first period, but the Cheviers scored twice in the second and once in the third to polish Belleville off.

Fan-Police Altercation Livens Cornwall's 4-1 Win Over McFarlands

Referee Threatens to Forfeit Game If Surface Not Cleared; Chevies Full Value for Win

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

CORNWALL — Officially the Belleville McFarlands lost the first game of the Eastern Ontario senior "A" semi-finals to the Cornwall Chevies by a score of 4-1 here last night—but they almost came home with the victory handed to them on a fan platter.

It happened in the third period when fans poured on the ice following an altercation in the pens between an irate Cornwall fan and a local policeman. The fan, an elderly man, objected to being removed from the rink after being ordered by police and made no bones about it. He promptly "socked the cop" a couple of times and near-belled reigned.

Fans and ushers jumped on the ice while members of the McFarlands and Chevrolets stood around and watched the proceedings. Minnie Menard was selected for some of the fan-serial attacks but nothing happened. The siren shrilled and it was announced that Referee George Franchuke of Ottawa would forfeit the game to Belleville if the ice was not cleared.

Franchuke handled the situation well. He ordered the fan removed from the arena when he overheard the man address him by an unprintable name. He immediately sought the aid of the police while nearly 1,600 fans stood and roared their disapproval.

As was mentioned the Chevies won the game on the ice by a 4-1 score and they were full value for their victory. The teams clash again here tomorrow night in the second game of the best-of-seven series.

The McFarlands after a brief but brilliant first five minute splurge in the first period, when they scored their only goal, looked anything like semi-finalists. On the other side of the game lodged the Chevies rose to some sort of hockey heights with a brilliant all-round display that was strong and backed by the brilliant Demaray in the nets.

The McFarlands, it appeared, got one of their poorer efforts off their chests. They passes were not clicking and the club all-around was guilty of sloppy play at times. They did not show the brilliant inside the blueline play that characterized their last two games while a stubborn Chevy defence and Demaray did not help matters. On two occasions they had a two-man advantage and twice failed to capitalize on the extra-man power.

The game was cleanly played although the checking was heavy and rugged the most of the time. The referee handed out eleven penalties all minors, six going to the McFarlands. None of the penalties was costly in fact Moe Savard scored the second Cornwall goal while his club was a man short, the centre beating Cordie Bell on a clean breakaway from a Belleville gangling attack.

The Savard brothers sparked the Cornwall attack each scoring with Moe assisting on another. Ronnie Muir and Larry Kwong were the other Chevy sharpshooters with Neil Burke playing fine hockey to earn two assists. Johnny Muretich scored the lone Belleville marker with Bobonic and Ike Hildebrand drawing helpers. Paul Payette stood out for the Macs and narrowly missed an open part of the net in the first two minutes of play. Cordie Bell and Demaray shared spotlight honors, both goalies coming up with sparkling efforts.

The first period was not playoff, hockey by any stretch of the imagination, both teams appearing to play it cautiously. Play was a close - checking affair mainly around centre ice.

Paul Payette drew a roar from the crowd after three minutes, when he missed the open net from close in.

Johnny Muretich put the Macs one up at 3.40 on a nice passing play with Bobo Bobenic and Ike Hildebrand.

Less than a minute later the Chevies tied the count on a ganging attack spearheaded by Moe Savard with brother Moe and Belmore in on the play.

Playoff roughness was apparent as the game was delayed by the coaches switching lines.

The teams split the only two penalties of the period with Moe Benoit and Gerry Plamondon drawing minor. rawd

The second period defences held and no scoring damage was done.

Strangely enough while the Chevies slammed home two goals they were scored in the second period that was productive of brilliant penalty-killing by both sides. Referee Franchuke of Ottawa handed out five penalties, four of them coming in clusters.

Bobenic and Crawford drew sentences within a minute of each other and the Chevies applied terrific pressure, Gordie Bell was little-short of sensational in the Macs nets with Paul Payette, Moe Benoit and Lionel Bolley checking the Chevies cold in a fine display.

Three minutes later the situation was reversed, Limoges and Belmore went off with a minute interim and the Macs applied the heat.

Devaney kicked out several labelled shots from close-in then with his team still a man short Moe Savard broke into the clear, raced on Bell and beat him cleanly.

The Chevies were scarcely back at full strength when the Macs almost hit the hemp on a brief offensive. The pace was fast and with three minutes to go Ronnie Muir put the Chevies two up. Guy Henri slipped away in flat pass across the goalmouth and Muir tipped it in.

The Chevies' consistent checking and clicking offensives again paid off in the third period. Again they held the fort when the Macs held a brief two - man advantage. The Belleville crew were not clicking as usual around the nets and a stiff Chevy defence and Devaney's brilliance held them scoreless.

Larry Kwong put the final clincher on the victory after seven minutes, beating Bell on a neat passing play with Pete Payette and Jeannotte. The Macs swarmed around the Chevy goal but could not get anywhere. Then came the referee - fan - policemen fracas and the game was delayed.

On the resumption of play the McFarlands battled hard then MacDonald and Moe Savard got the gate. Burke followed them seconds later but the Macs failed to capitalize on the advantage. The game ended with the Macs driving.

CHICAGO (AP)—The middleweight championship bout between Gene Fullmer, the titleholder, and Sugar Ray Robinson has been delayed one week.

The International Boxing Club said Wednesday the match will be held May 1 in the Chicago Stadium. It had been set for April 24. The IBC said the change was requested by the sponsors of a telecast of the fight.

Bobo Olson Having Income Tax Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former prize fighter Carl (Bobo) Olson, challenging a $126,000 back-tax claim, says he received a straight salary while packing in big gates as middleweight champion in 1954 and 1955.

Olson said in papers filed with the U.S. tax court that Sid Flaherty promotional enterprises paid him $31,444 for both years. Net purses for the period were estimated at almost $400,000.

The government insisted California law entitled him to two-thirds of the purse for each bout but the ex-champ argued he didn't share in his winnings in the conventional way.

Tuesday Bobo petitioned a court in Redwood City, Calif., for a $750 cut in support payments to his estranged wife and their four children.

He said he was having a hard time on earnings of $640 a month in a Vancouver, Wash., night club job to take care of them plus fireman, Judith Crabbe, Last May children borne him by another woman.

Olson's petition was opposed by Mrs. Olson mentioned in the claims from state and federal governments.

Hershey Bears Virtually Nail Playoff Berth

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dunc Fisher, 29-year-old veteran right winger from Regina playing his sixth season in the American Hockey League, moved to within five goals of the 50-mark Wednesday night as he paced Hershey Bears to a 6-3 victory over Springfield Indians.

Fisher scored his 31st and 32nd goals in the win which put the fourth-place Bears three points away from clinching the last AHL playoff berth.

With eight games to play, Hershey leads fifth - place Buffalo Bisons, who have seven games left, by 61 points.

Bob Solinger, who recently became a 200-pound man, Loren Dahlke Kullman and Larry Zeidel were the other Hershey scorers while Maurice Cullen, Ken Schinkel and El Slowinski scored for the last-place Indians.

Curling 'Stones' Had Big Day

VANCOUVER (CP) — Boy, oh boy! what a day it was for the Stones.

At Kingston Wednesday, Reg Stone of Trail, B.C., fashioned a thrilling victory in the Canadian curling championships by scoring a come-from-behind 13-10 win in an extra end over Prince Edward Island.

At home here in suburban Burnaby, Reg's father Alfred was playing cribbage with a friend.

Minutes after hearing of his son's sensational win, Mr. Stone senior turned up a perfect cribbage hand of 29.

"I've been playing crib for more than 50 years," said the happy 69-year-old father, "but this is the first time I've scored a perfect hand."

BC, Alberta Still Unbeaten In Curling Championships; Matt Baldwin Campbell Jinx

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP)—The curling Campbell brothers from Avonlea, Sask., probably get nightmares when they consider Matt Baldwin. They just can't get past the Alberta skip in major competition.

The risks clashed Wednesday in the fifth round of the 10-game round-robin Canadian championships. Baldwin won 8-7 on an extra end. In 1954, when the Edmonton rink won the title, the Campbells were his early victims and finished in the runner-up position.

The 30-year-old Baldwin added a sixth-round win victory over Ontario and the double win, coupled with the two big triumps for the unpredictable Reg Stone quartet from Trail, B.C., left the two the only undefeated rinks in the 'spiel with identical 6-0 records.

TWO RINKS FOLLOW

Saskatchewan and Manitoba followed with 4-1 won-lost records as the competition went into its fourth day with morning, afternoon and night rounds on the schedule. B.C. and Alberta teams in the night round and there could be a scramble among the leaders.

Wednesday's play was the most dramatic of the championships. Stone produced one of his more typical driving finishes to defeat Prince Edward Island 11-10 on an extra end in the fifth round and then smothered New Brunswick 13-5 in the sixth draw.

Manitoba stayed in line with two decisions—13-5 over Newfoundland and 10-9 over Prince Edward Island. Nova Scotia was another two game winner, defeating Quebec 13-6 in the afternoon and Newfoundland 12-4 at night. But the Bradgewater, N.S., rink — in its first appearance in the championships — was dealt its first defeat, a

Hidden Message for Mankind Made 'The Enemy' Top Drama

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A good drama always tells a good story. One mark of a superior drama is that it tells a fable as well as a good story.

This is one measure of why The Enemy by Pearl Buck was superior drama when presented on the Robert Montgomery Show (NBC-TV) Monday. It is a measure of why The Defender by Reginald Rose, which completed its second part on Studio One (CBS-TV) on the same evening, was a disappointment.

The Enemy told a good story. A Japanese surgeon and his wife, who had been educated in America, were torn between a sense of patriotism and humanity when they saved the life of a wounded American sailor washed onto their beach instead of letting him die.

The Enemy was a fable of the ascendancy of humanitarianism over duty in mankind.

GOOD STORY

Reginald Rose told a good story too in The Defender, which Studio One presented in two installments. It concerned the trial of an incoherent and not very bright delivery boy who on the flimsiest of evidence as accused of murdering a woman.

This basically absorbing story failed to develop flawlessly. It exceeded dramatic licence in his presentation of what actually can happen in an American courtroom. Although Ralph Bellamy did all that he could with the lines and situations given him as the defence lawyer, the character emerged as bumbling and naive. Finally, a trick ending put too great a burden on credulity.

Teenage Favorite Sonny James Turns Down Nightclub Offers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's a singing favorite of teenagers who doesn't smoke, drink, cuss, bump or grind. He won't even sing in places where booze is sold.

This remarkable young man is Sonny James, whose Capitol recording of Young Love has taken off like crazy. It is over the 2,000,000 mark and still selling.

Sonny is 26, six-foot-three and has a likable manner. No sideburns, but he does have a curly mop of hair that perches over his forehead. He's handsome in a rugged, backwoods way.

The backwoods are where he's from, Hackleburg, Ala., to be exact. And whenever he gets a break in his schedule, he hustles back to Hackleburg to see his folks, who run a clothing store.

Lately he hasn't had much time to get home. Here briefly to appear on the Bob Hope TV show, he's taking off for an extensive tour of one - night appearances. These will be in auditoriums and theatres only, no night clubs. He has even turned down whopping offers from Las Vegas.

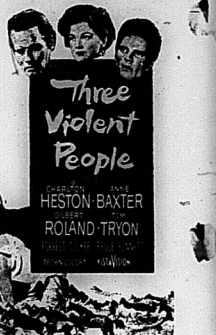
"I've got two reasons for not playing where liquor is served," he said. "One is religious. I never go into that much, because I try not to feature my religion in publicity. But I am a member of the Church of Christ and I don't believe in drinking.

"The other reason is that I don't want to appear anywhere that young people couldn't enter; I wouldn't want to be the reason teenagers were brought into a place where there was drinking.

"After all, the young folks are the ones who have brought me success. They buy the records today. Oh, I'm grateful for the older ones, too, but they don't buy the records until the teenagers start it all."

This is Sonny's first break into the pop field, and a lot of disk jockeys thought Young Love was his first record. It isn't. For four years, he has been busy in that vast field, unknown to many Americans — country music.

"I've done folk tunes and hymns mostly," said Sonny, who speaks in lilting southern tones. "I've had a lot of luck in that field, but there is a limit to how far you can go. At the most, you can sell 300,000. I was waiting for the right time to get into the pop field,"



AT THE PARK — Tony Martin, forsaking his usual singing roles for a straight dramatic one, plays the role of an army officer in "Quincannon, Frontier Scout", United Artists release which opens tonight at the Park Theatre. The picture was filmed in color by De Luxe. On the same program a thrill a minute drama "Timetable", starring Mark Stevens and Felicia Farr. Both hits are first showings.

AT THE BELLE — Top hand Gilbert Roland welcomes cattleman Charlton Heston's new wife, Anne Baxter, in a scene that is a prelude to a powerful story of love and hate on the raw southwest border in "Three Violent People", opening today at the Belle Theatre. The Technicolor drama of Texas' rancher-carpetbagger wars, co-stars Tom Tryon, Forrest Tucker and Bruce Bennett.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

BY FRANCES DRAKE

For Friday, March 8, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Be systematic, of course, in planning your schedule but don't be so set in your ways that you cannot appreciate and adopt new ideas and methods which always appeal to the eager mind.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Lack of interest in activities could be a stumbling block to the achievement that is possible today. Pep up; remember proper use of time is a potent factor in advancement.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may enjoy some of the day's offerings and you may not like others at all. But be sensible. Do what you must willingly, graciously; matters will run smoother, faster, surer.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't promise more than you can deliver. But don't make this an "all work and no play" day either. There are wonderful pastimes, interests, activities that you can, and should, enjoy.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You do many things ably when living up to your best. Bear this in mind now when there are temptations to lax, to procrastinate. Heed your finer leanings; be consistent.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — You may have to curtail some desires in favor of extensive achievement, expansion or other plans big, on the whole, for getting things done and planning future activities.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Right cooperation with superiors, employees, fellow associates will facilitate, speed completion of your tasks, also build harmony and good will.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Always increase tempo gradually. Never rush and bring on fatigue. Today perseverance will overcome uneasiness, good humor will counteract ill will and "being yourself" will boost your stock apiecny.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Benefic aspects for advancement through individual effort, keen judgment. Don't be too sensitive. Strengthen mind with intelligent reading, body with health-exercises.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Because you have achieved in the past is no reason to "put off" or lay back now. One can never live on past laurels and keep going forward. Use your talents now.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Good influences. No matter what your work or activity, you can advance notably. Optimism important; sociability and good judgment, too.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You are urged to be accurate, get all the facts possible, listen to all sides of matters in which you are involved and then go forward — with some better-than-average effort.

You born today are often noted for philosophical knowledge, understanding of human needs, for kindness to animals; are faithful, trustworthy, responsible, and very sensitive — at times too sensitive for your own good. Aim not to be upset or worried over the indisposition of others. Have faith in the ability God gave you, and keep a song in your heart; it will show outwardly, bring happiness.

Birthdais of: Oliver Wendell Holmes, Amer. jurist; Sir William Hamilton, Scottish philosopher.

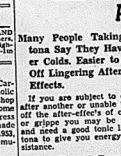
BUILD UP STRENGTH AND ENERGY to Guard Against COLDS—FLU

Many People Taking Syntone Say They Have Fewer Colds, Easier to Throw Off Lingering After-Effects.

If you are subject to one cold after another or unable to throw off the after-effects of colds, flu or grippe you may be rundown and need a good tonic like Syntone to give you energy and resistance.

Best Tonic I Ever Used



Telling of his experience with Syntone in helping to build up rundown condition, Mr. William Warrener, 44 Mitchell St., St. Thomas, Ont., said recently:

"I was feeling so rundown that I got tired of dragging myself around, hating to get up in the morning, and feeling tired and worn out all the time. I started my days work, My appetite and digestion was poor, I suffered from indigestion, and at times I was troubled with backache and pains in my limbs, joints and muscles.

"One day I noticed an ad. in the paper about Syntone and before I finished one bottle I knew I was getting better. After I had taken a few bottles I had at last found something good. I kept on taking it and I am now a different person. I feel that I have new pep and energy, and sleep soundly at night, nervousness and constipation are gone. I am relieved of the aches and pains."

Why not let this Great Herbal Medicine help you as it has thousands of others? You'll be glad you tried Syntone.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Canadians Are Usually Found Wherever There Is Trouble

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—Where of three top-rank terrorists who there's trouble you'll usually find had taken part in a number of am-Canadians among the trouble-bushes in which British troops shooters. This is the opinion of Air Commodore A. J. (Tony) Shelton, Prince Edward Islander in the RAF.

He's been in many of the world's trouble spots, and he always finds somebody from Medicine Hat or Musquodoboit, though sometimes they aren't wearing Canada flashes on their shoulders.

He is one of several Canadians in Cyprus directly or indirectly involved in flushing out the desperate EOKA underground.

REMAINED IN RAF

He is air officer in charge of administration for RAF Levant and the staff here includes Group Capt. O. R. Donaldson of Revelstoke, B.C., in charge of plans, and Wing Cmdr. Ben Fleming of Amherst, N.S., personnel.

All three are graduates of the RCAF who remained with the RAF after the Second World War.

More actively engaged against EOKA are men like Flt. Lt. J. E. McCrea whose children—Joan, 9, and John, 7—live with heir uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, in Toronto. "And that's where I'm heading after my stint of service with the RAF," said McCrea.

CARRY COMMANDOS

McCrea flies in the hard-hitting Sycamore Helicopter Squadron which has been swooping out of the skies with loads of commandos to round up some of the EOKA ringleaders and their followers.

His job comes under the general heading of "internal security" and it includes treetop spotting patrols as well as commando drops.

"It's a hard flying chore up in the mountain tops," said McCrea. "But at least we're quite safe because the terrorists are afraid to shoot at us or they'll give themselves away. And even as it is they have a hell of a time hiding from us.

"As soon as a patrol chopper spots anything suspicious, he calls in for help and in less time than it takes to tell, we have a swarm of Sycamores buzzing around the area dropping commandos who soon flush out and question or arrest the suspects."

The Canadian credited with the most spectacular work is a gunner with the Royal Artillery, Sgt. Harold Redknap, 40, of Winnifred, Alta.

Egyptian Frogmen Prepare Last Ship For Salvage Crews

Begin Removing Explosives From Last Canal Obstacle

Ship Captained By Canadian Collides With U.S. Tender

Captain of the Liberian freighter Elna II, which collided with a U.S. army tug, Arabie Mission to San Francisco, Alexander Kabakoff above, of Toronto, Ont., was knocked unconscious. The two ships collided and exploded in flames on the Delaware river. Kaare, 62, regained consciousness in time to direct his 23-man crew safely to lifeboats.

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian frogmen today started removing explosives from the sunken United Egypt Bonnet, last remaining obstacle to the passage of ships up to 10,000 tons through the Suez Canal.

The removal of explosives, announced today by the Egyptian canal authority, began as a yacht and a tug-boat began moving through the canal from Port Said on the Mediterranean end of the waterway.

Movement of small craft resumed amid expectations that the canal will be open by the end of the month to ships up to 10,000 tons—about 70 per cent of the normal traffic including tankers.

The United Nations relief chief Gen. Raymond Wheeler, has estimated the raising of the Egyptian Bonnet, half way along the 103-mile canal, and removal of the frigate Akabir, at its southern end, will take three weeks after Egyptian authorities have salvage teams to start work. He said two teams were ready to begin salvage work as soon as Egypt granted them permission.

WORK DELAYED

Egyptian authorities have refused to allow salvage teams to work on the ships on the stated grounds that they were mentally disposed. It is believed, however, that the Egyptians were holding the removal of explosives until Israel withdrew its forces from Sinai and the Aqaba coast.

Shipping quarters believe the Akabir need not be removed immediately since it presents no danger to navigation.

The yacht and tug began the journey from Port Said south after the canal was opened today to ships up to 500 tons which pay tolls to Egypt.

But neither the 147-ton yacht Krewit Maralvi nor the 228-ton Greek tug Mihalis Angelos, most since they are under the 300-ton limit at which tolls begin.

The Egyptian and foreign pilots were reported standing by to resume work on the canal at a moment's notice.

MUST PAY EGYPT

Dag Hammarskjold, asked whether British and French ships would be able to use the canal, said: "All ships who pay tolls to Egypt will be allowed transit."

There was no specific mention of Israel, which has been barred from the canal since the Arab-Israeli fighting eight years ago. Foreign diplomats interpreted the Egyptian statement as indicating that the Nasser government flatly rejects Western proposals for free passage, and that Egypt and the World Bank pending a final settlement of the dispute.

The canal was blocked by sunken ships, wrecked bridges and debris left behind when British and French forces attacked Egypt last fall. Most of the damage was done by the Egyptians themselves.

The UN originally set March 15 as the target date for the 10,000-ton phase of the clearance, with ships able to use the waterway, five weeks later for the largest ships able to use the waterway.

The most distinctive which began to move slowly across Ontario Thursday has become involved with an intense system centred in North Carolina. A very complex storm has developed, with rain, snow and drizzle extending northward as far as Ohio and Eastern Ontario. This storm is forecast to move northeastward off the coast, but cloud will persist in the region near Lake Ontario with a chance of snow.

A second storm is moving rapidly south - eastward from the Prairies and cloud associated with it will move into Southern Ontario Saturday morning.

Civil Servants Asking 10 PC Wage Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Four civil service organizations today demanded a 10 per cent across-the-board wage increase for Canada's 140,000 civil employees.

They coupled the demand with a charge that the civil service commission's "possible inability" to secure information for the implementation of stated government wage policies had allowed inequities to grow at an alarming rate."

The criticism was made in a brief presented to Finance Minister Harris by a joint salaries committee of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, the Federated Association of Letter Carriers, the Civil Service Federation of Canada and the Civil Service Association of Canada.

The submission said a rising trend in industrial wages since the last civil service increase in April, 1956, justified an immediate 10-per-cent increase. It should be retroactive to Feb. 1, 1957.

NEEDS MONEY POOL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was advised today a special Joint Thursday that the United States should create a pool of money which could be tapped by needy countries — allies and neutrals alike — to develop their economies. The international development advisory board said this money pool should be administered by the International Cooperation Administration, which runs the foreign aid program.

Oxford Settles Controversial Issue, Bass Fiddle Now Defined as Vehicle

OXFORD, England (AP) — An Oxford University student learned a basic traffic fact today—his bass fiddle is a vehicle.

The undergraduate, Toby Jessel faced a problem that has troubled bassmen for years—the instrument is too big for taxis and too heavy to carry.

"I thought I'd solved my problem by getting a motor-cycle with the hired wheel to the bottom of the instrument," Jessel said.

Proudly with his bull fiddle along one of Oxford's crowded sidewalks, Jessel was stopped by a policeman.

"See here," said the officer, "that thing you're pushing—it's a vehicle. You must get in the road with it."

Jessel complied, but this only added to his troubles.

"When I started pushing the instrument through the streets on night jobs, I was stopped again," said Toby. "The police said I'd have to have head lights and a red light. This was too much."

Jessel appealed to the chief constable, who sent around a "bogus" order a few months later. The sergeant found the fiddle was 23½ inches wide, and as inch under the regulation minimum width to be classed as a vehicle.

The fiddle is more than six feet high, and that put it back in the vehicle classification.

The sergeant said the problem was getting too big for him and appealed to a police inspector, who gave this final ruling:

"Mr. Jessel, you will not be required to have head lights and a tail light, we feel it would be helpful if you carry a torch (flashlight) to give adequate warning of your approach."

Jessel promised to buy a light.

ONTARIO MEDICAL MEN ATTACK HOSPITAL PLAN

Say It Is Not Aimed At Aiding Needy

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for the Ontario medical profession have attacked aspects of the proposed provincial hospital insurance scheme on the grounds that it includes compulsion and allegedly is not aimed primarily at aiding the needy.

"I am against compulsion," said Dr. Glen Sawyer of Toronto, Ontario Medical Association secretary, in a panel discussion Thursday night on the Ontario plan and the federal national hospital insurance offer.

With him were Dr. M. O. Klotz of Ottawa, the association's immediate past president; Health Minister Martin, and George Gathercole, deputy provincial economics minister. Chairman was Richard Davis, Canadian Welfare Council director.

Mr. Gathercole suggested Dr. Sawyer was wrong on the question of aiding the needy. The paramount objective of the Ontario plan was to provide for indigents, to put up provincial sums to relieve municipalities of bearing the burden.

OTHER POINTS

Mr. Gathercole made these other points about the Ontario plan:

Everyone residing in Ontario will be able to join, merely by sending premiums to the Ontario hospital services commission. Premiums are not itemized agents, such as the Blue Cross.

The scheme will reduce current insurance costs and provide increased benefits. Everyone will be able to remain in hospital as long as required.

The plan will not only cover standard hospital care but also hospital acts for the mentally ill and the tubercular, those who are chronically ill and those convalescing.

Initially about 4,500,000 persons or 80 per cent of the province's population—will be covered. It will be made compulsory for most low earners with premiums deducted from payrolls.

ON COST BASIS

The Blue Cross and other private health insurance agents collaborating with the Ontario commission will do so only on a cost basis. No profit-making will be allowed. Premiums will cover standard ward care and diagnostic services, either in hospital or in outside clinics. Those wanting semi-private or private rooms will be able to get them by paying the difference in room costs or by taking out extra additional insurance with the private agencies.

Mr. Martin, who earlier maintained that the hospital insurance plan was neither socialism nor compulsion, told the conference that it is currently limited benefits offered by existing insurance bodies. And he said, he said, would be much cheaper.

British Conservatives Hold Eden's Seat by Slim Margin

LONDON (CP) — By-election victories in Sir Anthony Eden's old riding and in another safe Conservative seat added today to the government's parliamentary strength. But the Opposition read the results as continuing Labor's post-Suez gains.

The government majority in the former Eden riding of Warwick and Leamington was slashed by five-sixths in Thursday's by-elections, while the Conservative edge in Bristol West was cut by one-third.

Labor in recent weeks has won the Conservative seat of Lewisham, defeated a Conservative backed Liberal at Carmarthen in Wales and increased its majority in Wednesday, where the local government share of the votes dropped 11% per cent.

Three more by-elections are in the offing, with the present Labor breakdown in the 630-member House standing at 342 for the Conservatives, 279 for Labor, five for the Liberals and one independent.

Labor said the drop in government popularity in Warwick and Leamington is the greatest blow the Conservatives have suffered. And the government, as an aftermath of the by-elections, was reported to be taking a second look at its more controversial legislation.

Eden vacated his seat after resigning as prime minister in January. The Bristol vote was caused by the elevation to the House of Lords of Sir Walter Monckton, former paymaster-general in the Eden cabinet.

Results in Warwick and Leamington showed Conservative John Hobson with 24,580 votes compared to Laborite William Wilson's 22,795. But the slim Conservative majority of 2,157 was down by more than 11,000 from the 1955 general election. The Conservative share of the total votes slumped by the record figure of 12 per cent.

At Bristol West, Robert Cooke held the seat for Conservatives with 24,585 to the 10,423 for Labor's William Rodgers. But again the 14,162 majority was down from the 22,001 margin the Conservatives held in 1955.

The Conservative share of the total vote at Bristol West fell 5.1 per cent from the 1955 election.

Socialists say the results are fresh proof the electorate has lost confidence in the government.

Unconditional Grants Act Approved in Second Reading

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition members of the Ontario Legislature have attacked the municipal grant system as undermining the structure and stability of local government.

The discussion arose Thursday in the consideration of the Unconditional Grants Act, whereby provincial revenue is shared. He said the grant system encouraged municipalities to expend more and more on the province instead of developing their own sense of responsibility.

Municipalities tend to spend the money before they get it, he said, with the result that the purpose of the grants—to reduce taxes—is defeated.

The province and municipalities should each attack their responsibilities and the whole problem should be attacked from this basis, he said.

Mr. Wintermeyer said "in terms of principle, the government is following the right course by promoting irresponsibility."

CCF Leader MacDonald said the bill contained no assurance that the benefit of lower municipal taxation would be passed on by owners of big apartment houses to their tenants.

Premier Frost said the reduction should be passed on to apartment tenants but he does not want to reinstitute rent control.

Liberal Opposition leader Oliver said the present unconditional grants given to cover the rents of municipal services and administration of justice are dangerous because they are tied to the cost of service in any particular area.

It should be taken to give the municipalities more authority to do the things they want instead of being dependent on the provincial government.

The bill, authorizing payment of increased unconditional grants under various formulas, sent the government to lower municipal taxes to home owners and farmers by 10 per cent in all mills, was given second reading and approved in principle. Previously, the grant applied to all taxpayers.

Right of Egypt to Oust UN Force Disputed by St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has left the Common governing as to whether Egypt can resort to force if Egypt doesn't acquiesce to United Nations decisions about the Middle East.

But he did make clear in the House Thursday that he does not believe collective UN force would be used. He also said that Canadian government doesn't agree with Egypt's stand that it can order UN troops off Egyptian territory. Force any time it wishes.

It all started when Conservative Howard Green (PC — Vancouver Quadra) asked Mr. St. Laurent whether the Canadian government is pressing for quick clearance of the Suez Canal. He added that it appears that "the prompt clearing of the Suez Canal is yet deeper in the mud of politics in Egyptian dictator Nasser."

Mr. St. Laurent replied then that Canada is making its "demands" on this to the UN and added:

"It is quite true that unless there is acquiescence—and there should be acquiescence — in the attitudes adopted by the majority of members of the United Nations, the only alternative would be the use of force to secure compliance.

"I hope that that will not happen."

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) Thursday asked whether Canada supports Egypt in referring to collective action by the UN or to the action of individual nations on their own.

"No, I was not referring to collective action by the United Nations," replied Mr. St. Laurent. "What I was pointing out . . . was that the only alternative to obtaining acquiescence of the government of the land where the (United Nations Emergency) force was to be placed would be the assumption of the use of force."

Replying to George S. White (PC — Hastings-Frontenac), defence Minister Camoney said part of the cost of Canada's contribution to the UNEF is usually borne by Canada as part of it by the UN. The government expected to recover part of the expenditures from the UN later.

LEGALIZES ABORTION

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China has legalized abortion and sterilization to keep her population of more than 600,000,000 within bounds, it was announced in Peiping Thursday. The New China News Agency quoted Health Minister Madame Lee Teh Chuan as making a strong plea for the control and planned families to improve welfare and the health of the people.

Senator Daigle Of Montreal Dies in Florida

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Armand Daigle, 64, of Montreal, a member of the Upper House since 1945, died today in Miami Beach, Florida, following a long illness.

A lifelong friend of Prime Minister St. Laurent, the Senator Daigle had been in Florida since the spring session of the Parliament that last year. He also spent the previous winter in Florida.

A Liberal party worker in Quebec for many years, he was executive of several industrial companies and large Canadian businesses.

His health increases vacancies in the 102-seat Senate to 16. Present standings: 78: Progressive Conservatives five; Independent Liberals, two; Independents, two; vacancies 15.

RULE QUEBEC'S 'PADLOCK LAW' BEYOND POWERS

Supreme Court Holds Law Is Ultra Vires

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today ruled in an 8-to-1 judgment that Quebec's anti-Communist padlock law is beyond the province's legislative powers.

The judgment can be appealed to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London.

Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau dissented from the majority judgment. Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin read the judgment to the court, ruling the padlock law wholly ultra vires of the provincial legislature.

The judgment upset the intervention of the Quebec attorney-general in the case which arose from the padlocking Jan. 27, 1949 of an apartment in Montreal, leased by John Switzman, a member of the Labor - Progressive (Communist) party. Mrs. Fred Ebbling, Mrs. Ebbling sued her former tenant for damages and asked the court to push the lease which now has expired.

These two actions were dismissed her damage claims but annulled the lease. The judgments of the Quebec courts dismissed the constitutional validity of the padlock law following the intervention of Quebec attorney-general in Mrs. Ebbling's damage action, carried to the Supreme Court.

REASONS NOT KNOWN

The padlock law, enacted in 1957, empowered the Quebec Attorney-General to padlock any house identified by the act to include every possible kind of structure—for a period of 12 months on police evidence that it is used to propagate communism.

The law was upheld as valid by Mr. Justice Frederick P. Collins of the Quebec Superior Court and by a 4-to-1 judgment of the Quebec Court of Appeal. Mr. Justice Gregor Barclay dissenting.

CAN GO OVERSEAS

Since the case was initiated in January, 1949, the Supreme Court's judgment may be appealed to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London. Appeals to the latter were abolished in 1940 on cases initiated after Dec. 9 of that year.

International Boxing Club Ruled Monopoly

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled today the International Boxing Club of New York, Inc., is a monopoly to restrain trade.

He found the club, its officers and affiliates guilty of monopoly to restrain interstate trade and commerce in promoting and presenting professional championship bouts throughout the United States.

"The defendants, as a result of their activities, have realized large profits during the period covered by the complaint (June 1, 1949, to May 31, 1953)," Ryan said in supplementing the promotion of champion-ship contests in the United States," the judge said in a 58-page opinion.

Sinatra Deaf to 'Lover Boy' Calls But Subpoena Served Nevertheless

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A pretty policewoman says she knocked on Frank Sinatra's front door about 8:30 p.m. Feb. 16 and called "daddy," "darling," "lover boy" or "Frankie" in an effort to arouse the singer.

Mrs. Glory Dawson testified Thursday that Sinatra failed to follow Los Angeles policemen serve a subpoena on Sinatra.

Defense lawyers have called no sign of life at Sinatra's darkened home near Palm Springs, the plaintiffs men entered with a key they found sticking in the door. She said he shined a flashlight in Frankie's eyes and shook him awake while a colleague read the subpoena aloud and the "antagonistic" singer sputtered profanity.

The testimony was given at deposition hearings in suit filed by jet Milton Rudin, are intended to determine whether Sinatra has a case for action and, if so, who he should sue.

The deposition—served 100 miles away in another county by Los Angeles police—brought Sinatra in person to legislative hearings here on private detectives and wiretapping charges. The singer's version of the "wrong door" raid which witnesses said was aimed by Joe DiMaggio at his ex-wife, Marilyn Monroe, but took them by mistake into another woman's apartment.

Officer Richard Williams testified that, after Sinatra had awakened, the crooner told him: "If you're the cops you could have got a bullet in you."

Heroism of U.E.L. Scouts, Messengers Given in Paper

The heroism of intrepid scouts and messengers of the United Empire Loyalists, some of whom died in the course of duty during the American Revolutionary War of 1775-1783, was vividly portrayed with other events in a paper read at the bi-monthly meeting of the Bay of Quinte Branch, United Empire Loyalists.

The paper, written by Mrs. Grace Maidens Bennett, was read by her daughter, Miss Jane Bennett. Mrs. Bennett is a great-great-granddaughter of such famous Quinte pioneers as Captain Johannes Wallen Meyers, Squire John R. Bleecker and was born in Sidney and at the age of six came to reside in Belleville.

Early in life she developed a penachant for delving into the history of her ancestors and other Loyalists of the district. She visited Ottawa, New York and Washington in her research.

It was in the Fort Ticonderoga museum she actually saw and examined the famous "Silver Bullet" the famous dispatch receptacle of the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Bennett in her paper points out the remarkable services rendered by the messengers, who rendered valuable service to the British forces. "The sharpshooter veterans of the French and Indian wars knew how to fight. Hungry British soldiers through a trackless wilderness. They knew the country like the palms of their hands, the trails, the neutral settlers of the backwoods and strategic positions."

From the background of peace-loving Loyalists emerged men who gave unstintingly of their time and rendered important service to the Crown, acting as scouts and messengers.

Among them who earned an enviable reputation as a dressed carrier and who was later commissioned, was Captain Meyers, who was personally selected by Sir Henry Clinton, British commander of New York, to carry special despatches to Governor Haldimand through hostile country to Quebec.

CAPTURED ON MISSION

Among other messangers was Daniel Taylor, captured while on a special mission and executed. He feared the loss of the Silver Bullet which contained secret despatches and swallowed it. Forced to take an emetic he disgorged the Bullet and was immediately hanged as a spy. His brother Neil was hanged at the same time from a nearby tree.

Another messanger, Rulif Ostrom, who later settled in Sidney township, also was captured while carrying the "Bullet". He slipped it in his mouth then took it out as if it were tobacco and tossed it into a camp-fire thus saving his life. Others were Edward Hicks, who settled in Prince Edward county, the Rev. Samuel Scherlferger, John Roff, Martin Frallick, Thomas Lovelace, Joseph Bettis and John Taylor #1 of whom later helped to develop what became Upper Canada.

Appreciation of the paper was expressed by Mrs. W. F. Gatsell, Toronto, honorary vice-president and a long-time member of the Toronto branch.

Greetings were read from the Dominion Council Toronto Branch UEL by Mr. Macauley Jones, a grandson of Belleville but resident of Toronto for many years. Mr. Pope urged members to perpetuate the spirit of loyalty as exemplified in their ancestors.

A list of 25 applicants for membership was presented by Dr. Burleigh, investigating committee chairman. These were unanimously voted into membership.

The annual meeting of the branch will be held in Adolphustown on Wednesday, May 1 when officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A special speaker will be present. Applications for membership received by April 25 will be dealt with so that those approved will be advised at the annual meeting.

Accused Sent To Reformatory For Car Thefts

In police magistrate's court here yesterday afternoon Leroy A. Buck, 18, of Belleville was found guilty of stealing two cars, one belonging to Eugene Lang of Belleville, and the other the property of Douglas Singleton.

Before Magistrate R. C. Jackson Buck passed sentence, Buck said, "Your Honor, the only time I ever do anything like this is when I drink."

The magistrate expressed surprise to hear that statement and decided, that in view of Buck having violated his parole from the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, where he had been serving a sentence for breaking and entering, that the best thing to do would be to send the youth back to Guelph to be dealt with by the proper authorities there.

Crown Attorney John A. Pringle agreed with the magistrate's suggestion, adding that there was still time for the lad to reform.

Buck's sentence was one year definite and one year indeterminate on each of the two car theft charges, to run concurrently.

Buck was arrested on March 2 in Kingston by O.P.P. Constable Gordon Oliver spotted a stolen car proceeding westerly on Highway 2 east of this city. The car the convicted man was driving at the time of his arrest was owned by Kingston man. The previous night, Buck had stolen Lang's car from a lot behind a store on Front St. It was recovered damaged, at the corner of College St. and Cantifton Road by city police constable David Kent, after Buck had him where it was.

Delbert S. Miller, 20, of Belleville, was remanded one week for sentencing yesterday after Magistrate Jackson asked probation officer to submit a pre-sentencing report on the youth's activities.

Miller pleaded guilty to stealing 126 scrap car batteries from a local business between January 17 and the time of his arrest by Constable Jack Scott, in February.

The theft charge was laid in conjunction with another charge last month.

A local pool room operator was fined five dollars and assessed costs of $15 after he was found guilty of allowing three juveniles to engage in a game of snooker in his establishment.

Inspector Clair Hayes of the city police said this particular pool room had received numerous warnings against allowing youths under the age of 18 years from playing billiards.

Constable Jack Kent caught three 15-year-olds in a local billiard hall on the afternoon of February 14. At the same time, he informed the man in charge of the hall that he would be charged.

A well known transient in Belleville police was fined $10 after being convicted of charges of begging in Belleville. If he fails to pay the fine, the man will repose in the common jail for ten days, dating from the time of his arrest. Residents of an area in Belleville complained to city police about the man's hostility when he was refused his request.

Two other gents were fined $10 and costs of three dollars after they were convicted of being intoxicated in a public place; a third man was fined $10 and costs on a second offence.

Roy Bryans of the Quinte district was found guilty on four charges of false pretenses and received six months in jail on each to run concurrent.

"LOW PRICE" IS ONE OF THE REASONS!

Getting Out Of Way Costly For Motorist

Getting out of the way of firemen answering a call to the city public works yard, proved costly for a Belleville motorist early yesterday afternoon when his car skidded over the curb and bumped into a parking meter on Front St.

John R. Ward, 339-A Lyster Ave., was southbound on Front St. when he heard the fire siren wailing. He pulled to the right and applied his brakes but the slippery street failed to provide the needed traction and his car slid into the metal stand.

Damage to the car was about $75 and to the meter post about $5.

And as it turned out the firemen were not needed. Public works employees were heating a bulldozer engine when a bit of spilled fuel caught fire. Firemen were called as a safeguard, but the blaze went out on their arrival.

Midland Defeats Legion Juveniles In First Playoff

TRENTON (Special) — The Legion juveniles trail by two goals on the round as the result of a 3-3 defeat at the hands of Midland Canadiens here in the first of the two-game semi-final series in the Quinte Street arena last night.

The invaders struck a knockout punch in the first period with a sustained four minutes ganging attack good for three goals. Campbell from Arbour inspired the drive and was still young strong at the beginning of the second period when he beat goaltender Jack Kelly in the Legion handout to send his side four out in front.

Legion ice definitely hindered Legion snipers but Vicko Kenlanda found the mark and Gray half-way through the game. Lavery was credited with an assist on this play. Trenton's second goal followed a Drake to Lewis to Austin combination.

With five minutes of the period remaining Wright, between the Legion pipes, found his high one with his head and time was called until necessary work was needed.

As play resumed and the Trenton goaltender was still a little shaky, Bonnetta connected with a shot into the open side. From then on throughout the first period Trenton kept pressing Midland. Centre Guy Austin came through with his second score of the evening on Scalletta's passout from Gardiner but his sharpshooting teammates failed to find a hole behind the lanky opposing netminder, although they doubled their shots on goal in this period. In the dying minutes with the locals in the Midland end most of the time, Austin on top of badly cut-up ice reduced a good brand of hockey to an old fashioned shinny match with the referees finding tenners on both sides becoming harder and harder to control.

Midland drew six penalties to Trenton's one.

The teams: Midland — goal, Roger Gray; defence, Joe Huston, Jim Wilcox; centre, D. Wilcox; wings, C. Bourgois, G. Brand; alternates, Arbour, Deschamps, Merkley, Campbell, Hayes, Hendrickson, Dumois, Brodeur.

Referees: Bill Mulholland, of Warkworth and R. Utman, Stirling.

Alberta Clinches Canadian Curling Championship

KINGSTON (CP) — Matt Baldwin's Edmonton rink won the Canadian curling championship today with a hard-fought 7-4 decision over Manitoba in the 10th round of the 11-round tournament. The Alberta victory, Baldwin's ninth in as many games, put him out of reach of second-place Saskatchewan when the final draw of the 10-game tournament ends this afternoon.

The Saskatchewan rink, which went into today's play tied with Manitoba in the runner-up spot with six victories in eight starts, defeated Quebec 9-7 to take undisputed possession of the No. 2 spot.

The title was the second for the 30-year-old Baldwin. He skipped the winning rink in the 1954 championships, missed out in 1955 and last year finished among the also-rans in the Canadian finals.

Near-Capacity Crowd Enjoys Showing of Kampus Kapers By BCI Students and Staff

The first performance of the three-night-run of Kampus Kapers put on by the students and faculty at Belleville Collegiate Institute netted a near capacity and a terrific impact on the near-capacity crowd.

Settings, costumes, arrangements, music and performers all combined to produce the best showing of Kampus Kapers in the school's history. The students in the limelight and those behind the scene were a real credit to their school.

Anyone who misses the 1957 version of Kampus Kapers is missing the best amateur entertainment to come this way this year. The variety night will be played again tonight and Saturday night in view of the fact that the last year's two-night-run was not sufficient to satisfy the hundreds of people now converged on the high school for an evening of lively entertainment.

The Glee Club, under the baton of Mr. C. Templer, opened the evening's entertainment by singing Hi Ho, Hi Ho, Look for the Silver Lining and I Could Have Danced All Night, Mr. L. Read was at the piano.

Master of ceremonies was Bob Vaughan.

50-MEMBER SCHOOL CHOIR

Guests of the high school tonight, as they did last night, may hear the 50-member school choir, under the direction of Mr. Clifford Templer, perform such stirring pieces as Prayer of Thanks, "Bow Down Thine Ear, O Lord," and "Onward Christian Soldiers." Sprinkled throughout the performance were such well known songs as "Mr. Sandman," "When You Wish Upon A Star," "Some Day My Prince Will Come," and "Oh, Jealous Lover," sung as solos by Gordon Orr, Judith Arnold, Lyn Plunkett, Lyn Sweet and demure Margaret Sue Brant pleasantly startled the audience when she walked on stage with a banjo-ukelele and sang a few western tunes.

Breath-taking high bar acts and gymnastics were performed by Mr. W. Ewald's gym classes. The Pyramid Club were featured by shattering for several minutes with their stunts.

Aloha Oe! A little touch of Hawaii, that beautiful isle of the banyan tree and pineapple, nestled in the Pacific, was brought by two hula "girls" as they entertained their "relatives" (friends) with a pantomime version of "The Hawaiian Chant." The girls were by one of the top hits of a few years back, "Tennessee Fer You." Assisting Peter van Everdingen and Jack Wilson was Spike Jones and His City Slickers (on record, of course).

BALLET SOLO

Dainty Gail Hendricks offered a ballet solo and directed a colorful ballet spectacle with the assistance of four other ballerinas. The girls were from the Barbara Barlow School of Dancing.

Of course, the evening would not be complete without a performance by Greg Sharpe at the piano keyboard. The 18-year-old master of the piano rendered two of Chopin's compositions, Polonaise in A Flat Major, and Prelude —Op. 28 No. 2.

Fourteen of the school's male teaching staff donned their colorful 15-minute session on the stage and provided the audience with plenty of laughs. They cut blackened faces and black coveralls to give the appearance of being negro pickers from the deep south.

Amid shrieks of excitement (from the females, of course), Elvis' effigy appeared on the stage and warbled a few songs that warmed the cockles of the heart?

Ex-Goldeye, Ken Thompson, Mr. Millard and G. Putman will likely be signing autographs from now until June after giving their ver-

Under the direction of Mr. F. Marchand, the drama club presented "Black Outs." The performances of the cast were wonderful.

The efforts of the stage crew, under the management of Stuart Parry, did a commendable job. Make-up convener Barb Robb is also to be congratulated. Indeed, the whole cast and organization are credited with presenting an unforgettable version of Kampus Kapers.

The show will be presented tonight, starting at eight, and again tomorrow night. This is one variety night no one should miss.

Wing Association Will Establish Memorial Fund

Last night at the regular monthly meeting of 418 (Belleville) Wing of the RCAF Association, ground cover was laid for the establishment of a purposeful memorial to the airmen of Belleville and district who gave their lives in World War II and who died during post-war years.

Plans were made for the creation of a memorial scholarship fund, to provide annually an award of merit to a deserving Belleville Air Cadet so that he may continue his education.

It is intended that this fund will commemorate the sacrifice of city and district airmen who died in the line of duty, in war and peace.

Association members have received the success of this project by unanimously pledging their active support to provide the financial backing. Also, along with Air Cadets, will participate in an Association tag day early in April.

Five committee chairmen were appointed last night. Russell Dorland will head the program team, Bill Brown the publication lead the membership committee. Harry Mutt will oversee the Air Cadet activities. Walters is in charge of the project committee and Bill Phillips is chairman of the entertainment committee. Bill Brown was delegated to act as sergeant-at-arms.

Thirteen new members have joined the association since the February meeting nine of whom signed on last night.

The next meeting of 418 Wing will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 4, when members will visit No. 102 Communications Research Unit at RCAF Station, Trenton.

COF Officials Head Ceremonies At Trenton Court

Officers from Courts Belleville and Friendly City, Canadian Order of Foresters, officiated at special ceremonies at Court Trent No. 474 Trenton, under Master Mason Post.

Lack Evidence For Prosecuting Stamp Schemes

OTTAWA (CP)—Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier Thursday said in his opinion, investigations of trading stamp schemes operating here have not produced evidence to warrant prosecutions.

Mr. Mercier, along with Police Chief Thomas MacDonell, received a delegation representing 12 Ontario organizations opposed to trading stamps and urging immediate prosecution of the schemes.

The trading stamp promotion plan has been "thoroughly investigated by local police," Mr. Mercier told the group.

But he said in an interview afterwards the "door is not closed" to individual prosecutions.

A brief presented by the delegation, led by the Canadian Association of Consumers, urged prosecutions and a test case "to any weakness in the Criminal Code may be ascertained and corrected by legislation."

"We are certainly not going to let the matter drop," said Mrs. A. E. Ames, president of CAC's vice-president and spokesman for the delegation.

SNUB

The Associated Press carried the following despatch under a Washington dateline:—

"The White House said Tuesday night Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) is the only member of Congress President and Mrs. Eisenhower did not invite to one of their formal dinners and receptions this year. McCarthy said he was "amused" by the snub."

McCarthy may be amused. We are not.

There are two schools of thought where McCarthy is concerned.

One regards him as a courageous patriot, a man who fought apathy and corruption in high places to expose the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

The other regards him as a mountebank, a publicity seeker, an enemy of civil liberties, unscrupulous and unfair in his hunt for personal glory.

We happen to belong to the latter school but—

But it's still an elected member of the U.S. Senate.

With all his faults, McCarthy is not unique. There are other members of Congress who share them.

There is no particular reason why he should be singled out for a snub. There is no good reason why the White House should call attention to the snub after it was administered.

It would have been much more courageous for Eisenhower to have bluntly assailed McCarthyism when its tide was at the flood, about the time when Eisenhower was seeking the elected presidency for his first term, than to refrain from inviting McCarthy to a dinner now, when Eisenhower is firmly established in office and McCarthy's fortunes have waned.

It would have been more courageous—and it would have meant something, too.

NEHRU APOLOGIZES

The danger of "official organs" has once again been highlighted.

"Economic Review," an official organ of the ruling Congress Party in India, carried an article by its editor which attacked Queen Elizabeth for her visit to Portugal and some of her speeches there.

British newspapers were enraged. One carried it under a headline "Nehru Insult to Queen."

The same day, in New Delhi, Nehru apologized to the Queen for the article. He described it as "wholly intemperate and in very bad taste."

There may be some who will be less than satisfied with this apology. They point out that Nehru is merely endeavoring to escape responsibility for the article.

Yet the very tone of the article suggests that Nehru had nothing whatever to do with its publication, that the official organ of the party of which he is the leader ran the article without consulting him in any way. Commonsense suggests that this is likely to be the case, since no statesman as busy as Nehru could possibly censor everything published in his party's official organ. Nehru himself, while he may have no use for royalty as an institution, no love for the record of the British in India, is distinguished for the moderate tone of his utterances, for his temperate views. He may not have been shocked by the main theme of the article but he was almost certainly shocked by the way in which this theme was presented.

The man who lets another speak for him may lighten his burden momentarily, but is almost certain to regret the day he delegated this responsibility. The party with an official organ places itself in a position. The prompted apology cannot remedy the harm done by an unwise article.

WINTER—ADHESIVE TAPE ON A HAIRY LEG

Winter is like a strip of adhesive tape on a hairy leg.

After a while, its presence becomes thoroughly irritating. At times its outer surface, turning white as it once snowy white into a grey which matches the wearer's mood, the arrival of the time for the strip's removal drags like the feet of a boy bound for school on the opening day of fishing.

Finally, though, the appointed hour is reached and the adhesive strip must be removed. Suddenly the wearer is faced with the unpleasant task of tearing the hair out of the tape firmly in his two hands, brace himself, grit his teeth and rip the irritating bandage away in one agonizing second, shredding the hair from the leg beneath? Or shall he choose finesse, easing the tape away from the flesh a fraction of an inch at a time, substituting for one moment of intense pain a succession of dull aches, as each separate hair is forced to make its presence known sticking with the flesh which grew it or the tape to which it has become so closely attached during many days of tight embrace?

Winter is like the tape and winter leaves us the same way, either in a sudden, flood-producing, mud-creating scamper or inch by slowly yielded inch, over a period of several weeks.

The difference between winter and the adhesive tape is that we do not make the choice between the two methods of removal.

For those who prefer the sudden exit, though, yesterday's snowfall may have been just what the doctor ordered. Wrapping us deep in winter again at a time when the calendar is getting ready to say to the official entrance of spring and the sun is doing its best to warm up to proceedings, that snow may set the stage for one of those mucky but glorious shows which sees winter depart overnight.

Let's hope so. There is something to be said for the slow strain of winter, but only if it has to be started from scratch over and over again.

MASCULINE TITLES

All sorts of post man grows to fill
With titles, too.
A father first, some day he will Be grandpa new.

If luck he has, to some denied,
Live out the text,
To him will come the joyous pride
Great grandpa next.

Each post will bring him duties new

By which love's earned.
But all he is supposed to do
Is quietly learned.

Father to grandfather men grow
With passing years.
The meaning then he'll surely know
Of smiles and tears.

Time fits us all for every place
We live to fill
If wisely we can learn to face

Taxes Make Cars Costly

Shrewsbury, La. Times

Sometimes people ask, Why can't automobile manufacturers make a good car to sell for about $1,000?

Manufacturers—several of them do make good cars that, so far as profit and cost of construction are concerned, could sell for around $1,500.

But there is a little matter of approximately$158 on each car of this type for various kinds of taxes on materials, parts and their transportation.

Then, there is another matter of approximately $150 in corporation income and other taxes paid by the manufacturer.

Next comes an average estimated $34.81 property and similar taxes paid by dealers.

All the adds up to very close to $500, making the $1,500 car approximately a $2,000 car so far as the buyer is concerned—all of the figures cited coming from data compiled by the automobile industry.

Oh, yes, there is also the state sales tax. Price the car at the original $1,500 alone, but on the total price of close to $2,000 and thus additional thousands in taxes as well as a tax on the car to a certain extent. That's added about $40 more to the total cost.

So, there's your $1,500 car—but it is more than that. The point is that's true in just about everything a person buys today. The production and distribution cost between the manufacturer and the consumer is hiked by 30 to 40 per cent—in most cases—by various forms of taxes either on the product itself or the means to produce it, and in either case the consumer pays the bill in the end.

And, don't forget the minute you start driving this $1,500 car you begin paying taxes in the form of gas, a tax on oil, a driver's licence tax, annual car tax, etc.

Letter To The Editor

Lengthening Store Hours Is Opposed

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

We noted your Tuesday correspondent's agreement with a previous letter re the revision of store hours. The first letter, however, did not deal with the seven o'clock closing but wanted the stores closed on Monday.

We are now all stores open at 8.30 a.m., and close as usual at 6.00 p.m.? We are in our store at 8.30 a.m every week day with our work done ready to serve and very often we are serving customers before nine o'clock If the proposed seven o'clock closing goes into effect, are housewives going to wander around stores while their families are home waiting for their evening meal?

Does the store owner have cognizance of the fact that salespeople, centered all their hours do a better job of selling? Does the peremptory attitude of hourspotting without consulting personnel tend to w a r d s goodwill? Where salespeople are doing an excellent job of selling, is this dictatorial manner a morale builder. Have we on right now this democratic Canada of ours? When factories and civil servants are gaining shorter hours do the stores have to revert to the "Dark Ages." Store owners wander why they cannot get competent younger people.

If customers cannot get their shopping purchases in the course of a hour week, when do they think we salespeople shop, All we have is that noon hour, and that is usually lunch. The seven o'clock closing would smashing that hour completely before 8.30 a.m., not seeing them again until 7.30 p.m. and only 1½ or 2 hours to be together. A great deal of the unrest and unhappiness in the world is due to the little time families have together.

"A family that prays together, stays together." How much happier we would be if people would polish up on their manners and use them; and if only we would repeat to ourselves daily—"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them . . ."

Yours truly,
"A Store Manager."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At the present club the other day an indignant citizen who was a guest declared:

"Why do newspapermen think yeh know everything!"

"No," replied the wisest amongst us, "it isn't our function to know everything. It is our function to know who knows."

And a better epigram to describe the true function and duty of newspapers I never heard.

True, there used to be a familiar cartoon type of newspaper man who wore either a Christie stiff hat slightly green with age, and carrying a typewriter, or else a wide-brimmed hat rakishly balanced on the back of his unruly hair. This was later followed by a cartoon type embodied by Ben Hecht's "Front Page" movie, hat on the back of head, coat collar turned up, cigarette stub in downturned mouth, full of hardboiled cynicism. But in our day and age, and carrying it further

Marmora Shades Campbellford in Midget Playoff

MARMORA (Special) — Marmora midgets will carry a one-goal margin into the second game of their OHA midget "C" goals-to-count series here on Saturday night by virtue of their 4-3 victory over Campbellford last evening.

The two clubs met in a similar series but finished with the same totals goals, forcing a replay. Last night's game was played in Campbellford.

Dean Lavender was the hero for Marmora last night as his two goals late in the final period told the story. The clubs battled evenly all the way with neither team scoring in the first period. Ralph Fry tallied the game's initial goal in the second to put Campbellford ahead but Lavender got that back before the period's end.

The home club struck quickly in the final heat as Johnny Johnston tallied twice for a 3-1 Campbellford lead. Harold Maloney chipped one to put Marmora back in the game. Lavender followed with his second marker of the contest to tie the score at 3-3 and then fired the winner.

Another Landslide Seems Imminent on Cape Diamond

QUEBEC (CP)—Canada's worst landslide occurred at Frank, in southern Alberta, April 29, 1903. The summit of Mount Turtle toppled down and 70 persons lost their lives.

Slides of recent years in the clay lowlands of the St. Lawrence brought discussions in which it was noted that all landslides do not occur in such soil formations. Slides in rocky, mountainous areas are considered the most dangerous of all.

Cape Diamond, the rocky cape on which Quebec City is built, was the site of disastrous slide in 1889. Part of the cliff crumbled and crushed 49 persons in homes built at its base.

There have been six slides on Cape Diamond since 1856 and geologists say that another seems imminent. A fissure has been noted in the cliff some 200 feet from the site of the 1889 slide.

URGES PRECAUTIONS

Dr. Paul - Emile Augur, who holds the chair of applied geology at the sciences faculty of Laval University, said in an interview: "It is imperative that all precautions be taken with the shortest possible delay."

There are no homes now in the old area, but a road winds past the base of the cliff, a particularly busy artery during the summer.

Municipal authorities have been informed of the finding of this fissure in the cape's wall and measures are expected to be taken shortly to forestall the danger.

Dr. Augur says the quickest way to remove all danger is to blow away with dynamite that part of the cape which threatens to collapse.

He says group dances on platforms atop the cape should be avoided all together.

"I trembled when, a few years ago, dances were organized atop Dufferin Terrace," he said.

HISTORIC SLIDE

Quebec history contains a reminder of a famous landslide in the name of a village—Les Eboulements (the landslides). The slide followed an earthquake in February, 1663. No one was killed. Les Eboulements is 70 miles downriver from Quebec City in Charlevoix County. Its quaint parish church is perched atop a 1,500-foot mountain.

Jacques Beland, Quebec government geologist, thinks the best way to prevent landslides in areas built on the banks of rivers is clay - soil areas is to disperse buildings. The concentration of a large number of buildings near a river bank should be avoided.

Beland, Leon Gu. Morin of the University of Montreal has expressed the opinion that the distance between buildings on a river bank should not be less than 10 times the height of the bank.

To reinforce the banks themselves Mr. Beland suggests a cement wall should be erected. Its base should rest on solid rock and be wide enough to withstand the pressure of the bank.

As for rocky areas, Mr. Beland thinks that cementing the fissures and introducing steel rods horizontally into a rising body of rock would be good preventive steps.

Mr. Beland feels that municipal authorities should ask the advice of land specialists before approving important construction projects.

"If geological considerations were taken into account in connection with construction work some catastrophes could be avoided," he said.

TO JOIN UNEF

MONTREAL (CP) — Thirty-six army officers and men left here Thursday in an RCAF North Star on the first leg of their journey to join Canadian units of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East.

Evict Five Indians From Reservation

MONTREAL (CP) — Five Indians from the Caughnawaga reservation Thursday were evicted from land expropriated by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, climaxing months of stubborn court battles in which the Indians lost every round.

Bailiff Rene Clouette, accompanied by a provincial policeman and an RCMP officer, served the eviction order on the group, who claimed they had sovereign right to the land, granted them by Louis XIV of France and George III of England.

The Seaway Authority expropriated the land to improve the southern approaches to Mercier Bridge, leading to Montreal Island.

The Indians contested the expropriation and lost two months ago in Superior Court. They appealed that judgment and lost. They had said they did not want money for their land and properties—only their rights.

They moved quietly to other homes in the small reservation, reserving the right to take whatever further legal procedure they desire.

Mr. Andrew Cranston of Welhington, is spending a few weeks with his daughter, Mrs. George Read and Mr. Read.

Pr. Charles H-S Assoc. Holds Panel Discussion

The March meeting of Prince of Wales Home and School Association was held on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Cooke, vice president, in the chair.

Mrs. Armstrong read the Scripture, "The story of the Last Supper." Following this reading, Mrs. Slack had a reproduction of the famous painting, "The Last Supper", by Leonardi da Vinci, shown on the screen. She gave a moving commentary on the individual reactions of each disciple captured by the artist as Jesus said one would betray Him. This was well done and greatly appreciated as the Lenten season is ushered in.

Business was attended to.

Mrs. Mastin's classroom won the phonograph record given to the classroom with the most parents out.

A spelling bee followed with pupils from grades 6, 7 and 8 participating. A time limit was set and it was found the pupils could not to be out-spelled. The bee ended with all but three pupils still in the race.

SHORT PLAY PRESENTED

A short play entitled "The Interpreter", was presented by the Theatre Guild. Mrs. Vera Thompson was director and the cast included: Mrs. Nicki Thomas, Mrs. Betty Barry, and Mrs. Winsome Lewis. The theme was a lively discussion regarding home and school association. This proved to be amusing as well as enlightening.

A panel discussion was arranged with Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Slack, Mrs. May, Mrs. Murray and Mr. Sproule participating. Many appropriate questions were asked from the floor and were ably answered by the panel. This helped to clarify many misunderstandings regarding relationships between parents, teachers, school boards and the home and school association.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were served.

Avondale Neighbors Aid Sponsors Pie Social

A most successful pie social and euchre under the auspices of the Avondale Neighbors' Aid was held in the school on Monday night.

The winners of the euchre were: ladies high, Mrs. John Thompson, men's high, Mrs. A. B. Woods (substitute); ladies low Mrs. Ken Smith; men's low, Frank Reid; lone hands, Mr. Hillier.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Verna Summers.

The euchre was convened by Mrs. C. Holmes. The pie social followed bringing an enjoyable evening to a close.

Variable March Has Its Wealth Of Notables

The month of March, so named in honor of the Roman god of war, Martius, is a month of variables; sometimes smiling; sometimes weeping; sometimes combining in a single day weather pertaining to the entire year. But withall, it is a month after the steady cold of January and February, in which many look forward as the forerunner of balmy breezes, greening fields; gurgling streams, and long, luxurious days spent in the wide, open spaces.

It is this month that awakening nature begins the run of sap in the maples; the clanking of tin buckets is heard, and delectable aroma of boiling sap, is wafted among the tall, leafless branches, a harbinger of delicious maple sugar which is cooling and hardening in the sugar shanty, nestling in the heart of the maple woods. Who has not been thrilled with the first taste of the sap as it drips drop by drop into the bucket beneath, or stood on tip-toe to spoon out the delightful syrup in the simmering?

SIGNS OF SPRING

It is in March the crocuses lift up their lovely heads of white, blue, rosy-pink, and mauve, beckoning to all that Spring has come; that the lilac buds begin to swell and swell, and the downy catkins in the sedgy, spongy moist, dark brown leathery jackets, awaiting the sun-spotted skies of April. All things show forth awakening life; the caw, caw of the crow is heard in the woods to the north.

Those born in the month of March, as astrologers say, are blessed with fine executive ability, are artistic, sensitive and styled with intuitiveness, fond of travel, and of an inventive disposition, though sometimes having a tendency to look on the dark side of things rather than dismiss moments come.

It is a month of unrest, and changing conditions, naturally, physically and oftimes politically, of which we hear daily in the stirring words. Looking back in history these last are true of the "Ides of March", when Julius Caesar was slain neath Pompey's statue to make Rome safe for the Romans.

EXTENSIVE EXPERIMENTS ...

"The characteristics which were the special factors in the success of his work were, the large extent of his experiments, his keenness of perception of slight variations in plant qualities and the rapidity with which he developed new qualities, the rapidity being due to a combination of multiple hybridizing, selection and grafting of seedling plans on mature stocks, so that immediate results in the flowers and fruits were obtained from seedling stems. But the final and most important factor in Burbank's success was the inherent personal genius of the man, with innate sympathy with nature, aided by the practical education in plant biology derived from 50 years of constant study and experiment, enabled him to perceive correlations and outcomes of plant growth which seem to have been visible to no other man."

Among the offerings of his painstaking experiments have given to the present generation and those to come are some 60 varieties of plums and prunes among which are Burbank plums, the Chabo, the October; the Formosa; the Bartlett, like the Bartlett pear in flavor; Santa Rosa; Sugar, and the Giant and Standard.

BUSH BERRIES

Besides the prunes, Luther Burbank spent much time and care in perfecting dewberries, blackberries and raspberries, "the Phenomenal," a hybrid between the Western dewberry and the red raspberry, which ripens ahead of most raspberries, having enormous proportions and of exquisite quality. He not only worked with fruits and vegetables but with nuts, resulting in the "Paradox" and the "Royal," a type of walnut.

Among the flowers were the Santa Rosa roses; the Splendor; the Fragrance, and those flowers so nice for cutting, the Shasta and Alaska daisies; the lovely double clematis; the Nicotunia, a cross between the large, fragrant nicotiana and a petunia; many gladiolli; dahlias, and a brilliant flame-colored poppy, and a crimson California poppy. These are but a few of the manifold experiments of Luther Burbank, a son of March and his offerings which most enjoy today, but whose originator many have forgotten.

Dance Dress

By ALICE ALDEN

The floor-length evening gown is very much at home in the ballroom these gala nights, but please don't sell the short-skirted dance dress short. It still has a host of admirers and every designer has included it for spring. Roxanne created this handsome number. It is a dress that is not only short of skirt but covered up as well, and yet is beautifully beguiling and ever so youthful. It is fashioned of brown woven dotted net with a high-wrapped cummerbund of green and chartreuse satin.

GODERICH (CP)—Twin sisters, Mrs. John McPhee and Martha McIlwain Thursday celebrated their 90th birthday together at a party.

Cleaners Ruin Social Evening

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Shirley Comer was anticipating a big social evening and she planned to wear a pink skirt, a pink hat and a long pink suede coat. Her suede coat was brown so Mrs. Comer sent it to be dyed pink. To make sure the colors matched, she sent the dyers the skirt, too.

The dyers made the skirt brown to match the coat. But they promised Mrs. Comer they would send both articles to a New York expert to be dyed pink. This time Mrs. Comer included the pink hat.

Mrs. Corner told a common pleas court jury Thursday that the dyers then lost all three articles, causing her "great mental anguish."

She sued for $1,000. The jury awarded her $327.50.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE YOU'RE JUST KIDDING YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 26 years old, and the only time in the career I used to go with who isn't married.

My friends think I have a very bad attitude, because I tell them that I saw so much unhappiness in marriage when I was young that I never want to marry and run the risk of having it myself.

My mother went out to work because my father wouldn't, but he would run around with women and come home drunk. My mother didn't earn much money, and there were times when we didn't even have enough to eat or the right clothes to wear.

Ever since I was old enough to work, I've had a job and earned my money to get the things I never used to have. My mother died some time ago, I don't even know where my father is and my brothers and sister are all married, so I have no financial responsibilities and can do as I please.

To me, my life is ideal. Do you think I should tell my friends when they tell me I don't look at things in a normal way?

— Lucille K.

Dear Lucille L.:

Your letter is certainly right when they tell you your attitude is not normal, for every normal woman wants to marry and have a family.

Also, it is hardly normal, and certainly very immature, for you to sell yourself on the idea that the only way to be certain of not having an unhappy marriage is to have no marriage at all. That just doesn't make sense.

I wonder if you may not perhaps be kidding yourself, without knowing it, about your reasons for remaining single. It is not at all uncommon for young women who are unmarried to be so sensitive about it that they do what the psychiatrists call "rationalize" the situation. Or, to put it in everyday language, they think up a lot of reasons to explain why they're single so that it will seem to have been their own choice.

Because your mother had a bad marriage, and you may have seen other unhappy marriages, there is no earthly reason why you should have one, too. As a matter of fact, I would say that you would be far more likely, just because of the marital unhappiness you've seen, to be doubly careful about the man you chose for a husband.

So my advice to you would be, first, to make sure that you're not pulling the wool over your own eyes in regard to your reasons for being single, when the real reason may be that no man has yet proposed to you. And, second, if after being completely honest with yourself about this, you begin to realize that, in reality, you have been deceiving yourself, then start right away to develop yourself into a person who will be more interesting and attractive to men of your own age.

At 26, there are still plenty of young unmarried men about and if you go at it the right way, it's more likely than not that one of them—or even more!—will eventually find you out.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

A LONG FACE BECOMES OVAL THROUGH HAIR AND MAKE-UP MAGIC

If face is long, a hairdo built out at the sides creates an illusion of width.

You with the long face, smile, because there's plenty you can do —easily and quickly—to give your face a more oval appearance.

Take it from make-up and hair design master Eddie Senz, of New York, a change in hair lines and a little more know-how with make-up can do the trick.

"Strive for the illusion of width in every feature," he says. "Eliminate any droop of the eyebrows. Curve them up and out. Shape your mouth, regardless of its natural outlines, so that it becomes horizontally full and wide.

"Start your cheek rouge at a point between the nose and outer side of your face to increase the distance 'tween your cheeks. In other words, carry the rouge out to the hairline to round the planes of your face . . . to foreshorten the length."

"Keep your hair soft and full . . . build it out. Never follow the fad for extremely short, closely cropped hair. Yours is the structural type that requires a frame of soft easy flowing fullness that terminates just below the ears . . . even longer if you also have a long neck. Add a one-sided bang to deceive the eye on the span from hairline to chin. Never, never go in for center parts. Instead, wear a low side part and curve it back to add one more swirling line to the total effect. An angular part does just the opposite . . . and remember, girls, it's the extra curves you're after to get away from the long-face effect. Avoid all high silhouettes in your hairdo. A close-to-the-head top arrangement of your hair will better reduce the length of your face. Fanning out the sides, especially near the top, will broaden the contour and cut down on the elongated outline."

Mr. Senz adds one final word to these would-be "ovals." "If you prefer long hair, be careful not to gather it close to your head and finish it off in a low chignon that cannot be seen from the front. This will defeat your idea of creating width . . . even tend to lengthen your face and neck more. Your most flattering compromise would be a longish bob with ends curled and fulled out to the sides below your ears; even drawn slightly forward over your cheeks. The onlooker then is forced to scan your face and unconsciously measure it from side to side instead of from top to bottom."

Tomorrow Mr. Senz shows the square-face types some tricks to give her face an oval loveliness.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: COURTESY TO THOSE WHO SERVE

A woman who is a gentlewoman and a woman who is a gentleman invariably treats with courtesy and consideration all those who serve, serve in any capacity. This courtesy is a distinguishing characteristic of a well-bred person.

WHY NOT COMBINE THE TWO OCCASIONS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to be married very informally soon (not to wear a bridal gown and veil, just an afternoon dress), and I am planning to have a wedding breakfast at a restaurant just for the members of the wedding party. From 1 o'clock to 6 o'clock I would like to invite a small group to a gathering in a private room adjoining the restaurant; the members of my family, the members of the groom's family, and a few intimate friends. I am not going to invite distant cousins, or friends I don't see very often. Do you think this would cause hurt feelings? Whatever suggestions you give me I will follow. — A.

"Hurt feelings" are, as a rule, unpredictable in such circumstances . . . your job is to make plans which, under the circumstances, will include as many as possible of those most closely "concerned" with the wedding, family, relatives, friends. In fact, your first plan . . . to invite only the members of the wedding party to the wedding breakfast . . . would very well cause your parents and your groom's parents to have "hurt feelings," and I would not blame them. The two sets of parents (if not more members of the immediate families, sisters, brothers) should be invited to the wedding breakfast.

My suggestion is: Instead of having a sit-down wedding breakfast after the ceremony, you plan to have a simple buffet breakfast, inviting those you are planning to invite to the breakfast and also those you are planning to invite to the 5-hour afternoon gathering. Cut the time to 2 hours, 3 at the most; serve a simple breakfast, buffet style (which could be less expensive than the combined costs of the sit-down breakfast and the 5-hour gathering); and invite only those you mention. This is the customary procedure in this circumstance, and it makes sense.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I am an avid reader of your articles and do derive much enjoyment and benefit from them . . . I am continually studying and adding to my store of cooking knowledge . . . am the lucky recipient of a beautiful copper chafing dish (with sterno heating) but am not familiar with its use . . . could you send me some suitable recipes for it? Is it used mostly as a serving dish to keep things hot or are some dishes cooked in it? May M.

ANSWER:

You can cook in your chafing dish. Such things as Welsh Rare-bit, Curries (Shrimp, Chicken and Lobster), creamed Crab Flakes, and of course, the famous Crepes Suzettes. You can make very presentable creamed eggs in them too for Sunday morning's breakfast. Think of using it for precooked things that require last - minute treatment or quickly - cooked things. I will give you one method of making

WELSH RAREBIT

In chafing dish (or double boiler) melted 2 tablespoons butter and add 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce, 1/4 teaspoon each salt and mustard and 1/2 lb. sharp cheese grated. Stir over heat until cheese is soft. Add 1/2 cup ginger ale (or ale) and 1 slightly beaten egg; stirring until thick and heated through. Serve at once on toast points or crackers.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Baked Chili Fillets (see Thursday); Scalloped Potatoes, Shredded Green Beans, Tomato, Lettuce and Cucumber Salad, Shredded Fresh Pineapple, Cocoanut Macaroons, Coffee.

CREAMED CRAB (or lobster)

Two cups cooked or canned crab meat, 2 tablespoons each butter and flour, 1/4 teaspoon each prepared mustard and salt; 1/4 teaspoon paprika, shake of pepper, 1 cup milk. Melt butter in chafing dish (or in saucean on to of stove) and stir in flour and seasonings. Add milk and cook stirring until thick. Add crab meat and heat through. Serve very hot in patty shells or on toast. Note: This mixture may be scalloped by adding 1/3 cup crumbs, placing in baker-proof shells or casserole, topping with buttered crumbs and baking at 350 deg. F. 15 minutes. I am mailing to you a copy of the release for Jan. 15 with recipe for Crepes Suzettes which are ideally suited to chafing dish.

I've been a long time in writing again because I have a criticism—I like you so well that is why I've put it off . . . why do you say in making cakes to butter tin thoroughly? . . . all I do is put cake tin on piece of waxed paper, run around edge with pencil, cut out paper to fit bottom . . . the wax paper has its own coating and just peels off when cake is turned out . . . If you wish, Mary, I'll send along a nut meringue drop cookie recipe I've given to many . . . how I love my grandchildren. I.B.

ANSWER:

Thanks I. B. for a model critical letter . . . I'll stop all greasting and see how things turn out. Yes, please send the nut meringue . . . and more news of your son.

"Our own home—thanks to a Citizens loan"

"This house was everything we wanted. The price was right, but there was just one catch. We didn't have quite enough cash for the down payment.

"Luckily a friend told us about Citizens' Finance and how they'd lend us up to $2,500 cash.

"At a nearby Citizens office we discussed our problem with the Loan Manager. Before long, he'd arranged everything—got us the money we needed and fixed up a repayment plan that we could handle easily."

Mr. Hazzard is just one of many people who've benefited from a Citizens Finance loan. You will too. Drop in, or give us a call, the next time you want money. All you have are confidential this & big real estate.

Belleville and Quinte Area Building

The beauty of brick is seen in this home, Design H-355-KF. Most of the exterior is covered with brick veneer, with white wood siding for trim. A charming little home, the design is also highlighted by a multi-paned picture window and a planting box.

In back of the living-dining area is a combination kitchen-utility room. Three bedrooms and a bath complete the floor plan.

A SEPARATE DINING ROOM is placed near the kitchen of H-355-KF. Living room is at front, with three bedrooms located at right.

Long, low lines are what America favors in homes. Mr. America likes the way such a house appears. Mrs. America gives it the nod because — look! — there are no stairs to climb!

Plans such as the two pictured here are popular in the north, south, east and west. Both are three-bedroom dwellings with living, dining and kitchen areas planned for convenience and comfort.

SMALL FOYER

In Design H-390, the double-size China closet forms a small foyer, separating the living room from the entry. A storage unit, it makes a handsome room divider.

Step into the living-dining room proper, and the first thing that takes your eye is the brick fireplace. It's set in the centre of a scored plywood wall, opposite a large picture window looking out on the front grounds of the home.

WORKING LAYOUT

From the dining area, a doorway leads into the kitchen which, combined with the utility room, makes a large working layout. Cabinets and appliances are arranged in an L to save steps.

Sleeping quarters consist of three bedrooms.

The full bath has a separate towel cabinet, and there's a linen closet in the hall nearby.

All told, H-390-KF comprises 10,922 cubic feet.

FOR SMALL FAMILY

In the other design, H-355-KF, bedrooms are on the right side of the plan. Again there are three, so this, too, is a home for the small family. All, except the front bedroom, are cross-ventilated, and all have good closet accommodations.

The bath is long and narrow. It has its own linen closet and a built-in vanitory.

The living room is at the front of the house, separated from the entry by a divider, this time a built-in bookcase that creates the illusion of a hall. A fireplace highlights one wall of the living-room, which is adjacent to a window wall.

The dining room, next to the kitchen, is a separate room at the back of the house.
